The attached structure chart shows the Canadian ownership structure for JTI-Macdonald TM Corp. in 2000 and the following notes provide some additional information regarding the inter-corporate debt.

1. JTI-Macdonald Corp. ("JTI-MC") carries on the business of manufacturing and distributing cigarettes and tobacco products in Canada. JTI-MC is the successor corporation following the amalgamation of RJR-Macdonald Corp. and JT Nova Scotia Corporation in June 1999.
2. The shares of JTI-MC are wholly owned by JT Canada LLC II Inc. ("LLC2"), which is a wholly owned subsidiary of JT Canada LLC Inc. ("JT LLC").
3. JT LLC is wholly owned by JT International Holdings BV ("JIH BV"), a corporation resident in the Netherlands.
4. For creditor-protecting purposes, during 1999 a JTI-MC predecessor corporation transferred its trademarks pursuant to section 85 to JTI-Macdonald TM Corp. ("TM Holdco"), a new corporation incorporated in 1999. JT LLC then lent $1.2 billion to TM Holdco¹. The trademarks were pledged as security for the loan due from TM Holdco to JT LLC in the original amount of $1.2 billion. TM Holdco used the borrowed funds to loan at interest to one of JTI-MC's predecessor corporations².
5. LLC 2 and JT LLC are limited liability corporations incorporated under the laws of Nova Scotia. JTI-MC and TM Holdco are Nova Scotia unlimited liability corporations.
6. During 2000, JT LLC lent $410 million to JTI-MC as evidenced by the "JTI-MC Debentures". Subsequently, JT LLC transferred the JTI-MC Debentures to TM Holdco³ in exchange for TM Holdco issuing notes payable totaling $410 million⁴.
