| Tuesday, Ju  | ine 20, 2017    |             |                                                                                                                 | consulting | A                                                                                                              | 1     | $ 900.00 | $900.00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|              | , June 21, 2017 |             |                                                                                                                 | consulting |                                                                                                                | 1     | $ 900.00 | $900.00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Thursday, J  | une 22, 2017    | 1           |                                                                          | consulting |                                                                                                                | 1     | $ 900.00 | $900.00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Friday, June | 23, 2017        |             |                                                                                                                 | consulting |                                                                                                                | 1     | $ 900.00 | $900.00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Saturday, Ji | une 24, 2017    |             |                                                                                                                 |            |                                                                                                                | 1     |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Sunday, Jur  | ne 25, 2017     |             |                                                                                                                 |            | Construction of the local data                                                                                 | 1     |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Monday, Ju   | ne 26, 2017     |             |                                                                                                                 | consulting |                                                                                                                | 1     | $ 900.00 | $900.00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Tuesday, Ju  | ine 27, 2017    |             | , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , ,                                                                    | consulting |                                                                                                                | 1     | $ 900.00 | $900.00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Wednesday    | , June 28, 2017 |             |                                                                                                                 | consulting |                                                                                                                | 1     | $ 900.00 | $900.00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Thursday, J  | une 29, 2017    |             |                                                                                                                 | consulting |                                                                                                        | 1     | $ 900.00 | $900.00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Friday, June | 30, 2017        |             |                                                                                                                 |            |                                                                                                                |       |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|              |                 |             |                                                                                                                 |            |                                                                                                                |       |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|              |                 |             |                                                                                                                 | CONSULTI   | NG SUB                                                                                                         | 21    | $ 900.00 | $18,900.00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|              |                 | OPERATING E | XPENSE                                                                                                          |            |                                                                                                                |       |           | L                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| LODGING      | TRAVEL          | MEALS       | FLIGHT                                                                                                          | OFFICE     | OTHER                                                                                                          | ]     |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| $0.00       | $0.00          | $0.00      | $0.00                                                                                                          | $0,00     | $0.00                                                                                                         | EXPEN | SES TOTAL | $0.00                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

CONSULTING SUB PLUS GST (5%) CONSULTING TOTAL $19,845.00

INVOICE TOTAL

$18,900.00

$945.00

$19,845.00

20

1190 F Online Image Romestal Son de - Routeur

exhibit 30

| Cheque Item I                                                | mage                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                 | User: Navin Mishra                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Request #:                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Request Desc:                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Transit - FI #:                                              | 00109-308                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Account#:                                                                                                       | 3602000497                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Sequence #                                                   | 1143587844                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Amount:                                                                                                         | 519,845 DR TAC                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| )ate:                                                        | 07/07/2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                                              | ana ana amin'ny tanàna mandritry amin'ny tanàna mandritry dia mandritry di | 1 1 7 8 6 1                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 3                                                            | CALGARY SINGENERGY I444.6 AVE. S.W., SCALGARY, ALBERT                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | VVESTMENT CORP.                                                                                                 | 000105                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|                                                              | CALGARY, ALBERT,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | A 12P 218                                                                                                       | 2017-07-01                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 1 0-                                                         | J                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                 | 7 7 7 14 14 14 16 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| PAY 5 61                                                     | lepp (aro                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                 | $ 19, 8 KS 2°                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| UNKE                                                         | , thusand right                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | hundred and Pressily file                                                                                       | CAP DOLLARS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A MANK OF                                                    | P CHINA (CAMADA), 55 MD STREST 5.W./. ALBERTA TEP 188                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 1 "Mq"                                                                                                          | DENERGY INVESTMENT CORP                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| CALGARY                                                      | L ALBERTA TEP 188                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                 | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| " Steven                                                     | Gilen - Tino Id                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                 | AS /                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| i op mensionen and                                           | a han a fa bha ann an a                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                 | for the second s |
| v*⊆0C 1                                                      | 0.51ª #00.109#3G8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | H: 100 200 3 4 7 7 0 7 #                                                                                        | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Announce and a second                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | a and a construction of the second | apara 1920 metalogue - Canada and an                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | nannan na sharan na sharan na amin a sannan anna a sharan sharan a sharan a sharan a sharan a sharan a sharan a | Frinter (Dyl 102)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                 | s dinner (Con 1975).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| and March                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Endotsement - 1 chalone of Brams                                                                                | 111 (1) - 11 - 11 - 11 - 11 - 11 - 11 -                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 201/21/07Lailm4                                          | 6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 5060 00009895                                                | 00000808095249395                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 794059900 . JN                                               | าการการกระการราชสมุ                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 11017 - 26次 8694161 第567 - 135, 111月 - 40869 - 1249, | 9                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | BACK/VERSO                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| тр к оял я ( 24 6 ,                     | 5(1)-                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                                              | •                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                                              | alar a su a                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

PfmM Close

https://tdct.symcor.biz/webir/e2385211/printSelectedImages.action?&request_type=CHQ... 10/2/2020

يمتعمر

DATE: 31-Aug-18

Bill to: Calgary SinoEnergy Investment Corp 1500, 444-5th Ave SW Calgary AB Canada T2P 2T8

Bill from: Eileen Corp #424 3130 66 Ave SW Calgary AB Canada T3E 5K8 Tel: (403) 660-1211

BN(GST) #: 826536245 RT0001

OPERATIONS INVOICE

| DATES                      | WORK INFO                                          | NOTE           | DAYS | RATE      | AMOUNT      |
|----------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|----------------|------|-----------|-------------|
| Wednesday, August 1, 2018  | ala alan ana ana ana ana ana ana ana ana    | field          | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Thursday, August 2, 2018   |                                                    | field          | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Friday, August 3, 2018     |                                                    | field          | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Saturday, August 4, 2018   |                                                    | field          | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Sunday, August 5, 2018     |                                                    | consulting     | 1    | $ 900,00 | $900.00    |
| Monday, August 6, 2018     |                                                    | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Tuesday, August 7, 2018    |                                                    | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Wednesday, August 8, 2018  | anna an imrean ann ann ann ann ann ann ann ann ann | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Thursday, August 9, 2018   |                                                    | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Friday, August 10, 2018    | a an           | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Saturday, August 11, 2018  |                                                    | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Sunday, August 12, 2018    | (                                                  |                |      |           |             |
| Monday, August 13, 2018    |              | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Tuesday, August 14, 2018   |                                                    | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Wednesday, August 15, 2018 |                                             | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Thursday, August 16, 2018  |                                                    | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Friday, August 17, 2018    |                                                    | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Saturday, August 18, 2018  |                                                    | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Sunday, August 19, 2018    |                                                    | field          | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Monday, August 20, 2018    |                                                    | field          | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Tuesday, August 21, 2018   |                                                    | field          | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Wednesday, August 22, 2018 |                                                    | field          | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Thursday, August 23, 2018  |                                                    | field          | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Friday, August 24, 2018    |                                                    | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Saturday, August 25, 2018  | (*             | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Sunday, August 26, 2018    |                                                    |                |      |           |             |
| Monday, August 27, 2018    |                                                    | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Tuesday, August 28, 2018   |                                                    | field          | 1    | $ 900.00 |             |
| Wednesday, August 29, 2018 |                                                    | field          | 1    |           | $900.00    |
| Thursday, August 30, 2018  |                                                    | field          | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
| Friday, August 31, 2018    |                                                    | consulting     | 1    | $ 900.00 | $900.00    |
|                            |                                                    | CONSULTING SUB | 29   | $ 900.00 | $26,100.00 |

OPERATING EXPENSE

LODGING TRAVEL MEALS FLIGHT OFFICE OTHER $950.75 $2,676.36 $282.44 EXPENSES TOTAL $3,909.55 CONSULTING SUB $26,100.00 PLUS GST (5%) $1,305.00 CONSULTING TOTAL $27,405.00 INVOICE TOTAL $31,314.55

TDCT Online Image Retrieval Services:: Requests

exhibit 30-2 Page 1 of 1

| Cheque Item In                                                                                                 | nage                                                                                          |                                                                                                         |                          | User: Navin Mishra             |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|--------------------------------|
| Request #:                                                                                                     |                                                                                               |                                                                                                         | Request Desc:            |                                |
| Transit - FI #:                                                                                                | 14051-006                                                                                     |                                                                                                         | Account #:               | 1452121                        |
| Sequence #                                                                                                     | 1145248722                                                                                    |                                                                                                         | Amount:                  | $31,314.55 CAD                |
| Date:                                                                                                          | 10/12/2018                                                                                    |                                                                                                         |                          |                                |
| New Star Energyc/o Long Run Expl600, 600 3rd AveaCalgary, AB, T2P (                                | Ltd. KGrauton Ltd. KGrad SW                                                           | хал сайдааг айсан айсан айсанRiaast I faak of СальбаI - dh Avenus S.WHgary, Alberts ТЭР 4М9 | 2 (DATE Y            | 24683                          |
| 10 EILEE106 424 - 3                                                                                        | N CORP.8130, 66TH AVENUEARY AB                                                        | S 55 CENTS sw                                                                                    | SNet                 | 31,314.55w Star Epergy Lid |
| يىن مەرىپ بىرى ھەرىپىدىنى بىرىمىيىرىشىدىنى بىرىمىيىرىشىدىنى بىرىمىيىرىشىدىنى بىرىمىيىرىشىدىنى بىرىمىيىرىشىدىنى | n merDin gen felsem en og sjoge stat sjoer i die gelekte (* * * <sup>10</sup> * sekter ek | ana da una manga angka sana matapanang pananang m                                                       | PER                      | 43                             |
|                                                                                                                | #O24683#                                                                                      | 11405110061                                                                                             | 14052100210              |                                |
| 20181012701810127009/2                                                                                 | ي مينا                                                                                    | Endorse                                                                                                 | ment-Signabre or Starrip | 545315                         |
| 2400 1004-5053 1000424534225 000000hor: nor                        |                                                                                               | BACK/ENDC                                                                                               | )8                       |                                |

Print Close

https://tdct.symcor.biz/webir/e2385211/printSelectedImages.action?&request_type=CHQ... 10/5/2020

This is Exhibit "61" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Deposit in Henenghaixin Corp and West Lake Account

"Michael Lam" <lam.m@snencn.cn> 收件人: "steven neu" <steven.n@snencn.cn> 抄 送: "Zhao, Derek" <dzhao@atb.com> 时 间: 2017-3-23 22:43:41 附 件:

Hey Steven,

Derek called me yesterday saying Alan wants to order some cheques from West Lake's account, but because we don't have any money in West Lake's account, so Derek couldn't process it.

Can you please write a cheque from Henenghaixin's Bank of China account to Henenghaixin's ATB account? It can be just $1000 to keep it going.

Thanks, Michael This is Exhibit "62" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Steven Neu

To: Subject: steven neu 回复:西湖银行支票签发 approval.

It will be a lot of work; but I believe it is necessary to gain control and it has no different than when they were in receivership.

Michael

Thanks, Michael Lam This is Exhibit "63" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Steven Neu

To: Subject: Michael Lam Hayter North Abandonment Cost Over Run

From: Michael Lam <lam.m@snencn.cn> Sent: Wednesday, May 17, 2017 11:59 AM To: Steven Neu <sneu@westlakeenergy.ca> Cc: 邓小泊 <deng.xb@snencn.cn> Subject: Re:RE: Hayter North Abandonment Cost Over Run

Steven,

Since Shuyi is in West Lake office now; feel free to run her through this sample case, explaining to her the importance of keep track of all costs and the reason of such cost overrun?

Thanks! Michael This is Exhibit "64" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Steven Neu

From: Sent: To: Subject: Steven Neu Sunday, October 18, 2020 5:50 PM Steven Neu Henenghaixin 以及 West Lake銀行狀況

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn] Sent: Wednesday, June 14, 2017 10:56 AM To: Steven Neu; 邓小泊 Subject: Henenghaixin 以及 West Lake銀行狀況

Steven,

ATB 的 Derek 剛剛打電話給我,說你想了解多一點 Henenghaixin 以及 West Lake 的銀行狀況以及cash balance.

你有沒有某些資料是特別想知道的?

我可以提供給你。

Thanks!

Michael

This is Exhibit "65" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Re:Needs approval in AP Nexus

"Michael Lam" <lam.m@snencn.cn>

收件人: "Federica Petraschuk" <fpetraschuk@westlakeenergy.ca>

抄 谜:"steven neu" <steven.n@snencn.cn>

时间:2017-7-18 3:49:24

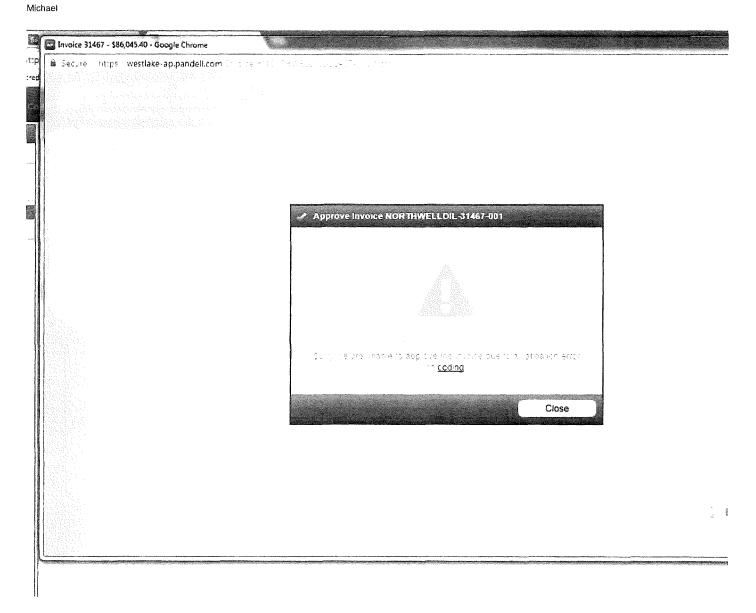

| 附 | 件: | image.pog           | 下或即性 |
|---|----|---------------------|------|
|   |    | image001.jpg        | 下载助供 |
|   |    | image002,100 | 下鼓时件 |
|   | 打住 | 回下载全部附住             |      |

Hello, I have approved most of it;

Steven, would you mind taking a look at the drilling related one?

Also I was trying to approve the northwell oilfield invoice but the system were saying wrong coding?? Let me know if I have clicked the wrong button!

Thanks!

在 2017-07-18 03:17:29, "Federica Petraschuk" <fpetraschuk@westlakeenergy.ca> 写道:

This is Exhibit "66" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Fw:Re:TB 进展

"Harold Wang" <wang.h@snencn.cn>

收件人: "steven neu" <steven.n@snencn.cn>, "斯蒂文" <sun.s@snencn.cn>

抄 送: Jason <jasonge@snencn.cn>, "王海玲" <wang.hl@snencn.cn>

时间: 2017-1-12 4:59:23

附件:

孙总,

请转10万加元至henenghaixin的中银账号作为短期借款?以下为董事长批准的文件。

谢谢,

王好

------ 转发邮件信息 ------

发件人: "邓董事长" < deng.tz@snencn.cn>

发送日期: 2017-01-08 15:46:47

收件人: "Harold Wang" <wang.h@snencn.cn>

抄送人: "steven neu" <steven.n@snencn.cn>,"杨文涛" <yang.wt@snencn.cn>,"邓小泊"

<deng.xb@snencn.cn>,"chen.r@skywidepe.com" <chen.r@skywidepe.com>,"黄总" <huang.b@snencn.cn> 主题: Re:TB 进展

王好总:

关于TB的相关安排,我都赞成。其中管理层雇佣合同可尽快谈定,办公室就用LR的19层, 临时需要资金可在卡尔加里中天借一点。

请TB管理层就以下事项做些工作:1、制订1季度钻井方案,2月份开钻?4月就是雨季了, 不抓紧钻井业务,17年业绩会受影响。2、你能否和施工方谈谈条件,按此前LR做法,钻井 施工给60-90天账期?3、以TB条件,能做原油套期吗?比例能到多少?

另外为保证对TB的付款,根据国内的资金到帐时间,我在考虑分期支付的做法:即在1月先付1亿加元,加上此前2600万加元保证金,差不多一半;2月份再付全部余款。我们1月份付过去1.5亿加元,除付1亿加元给债权人外,账上有几千万加元,钻井公司就愿意施工了。你觉得如何?如果可行,你和债权人(托管人)商量商量,安排一个补充协议?我想这比2月份再付款应该来得好吧。

等你的意见。

在 2017-01-05 09:09:32, "Harold Wang" <wang.h@snencn.cn> 写道: 董事长,

在未来的一两周内,我们会着手以下几件事情:

1. TB有一块优质资产(API22以上)叫Frog Lake,当地的土著人也拥有一部分股份,在TB的控制人发生变化时可以有跟随出售权。我方会和管理层制定一个价格,看看能不能把他们的权益一起买走,当然太贵了就算了

2. TB的竞争法审批上报(预计两周可以获批)

3. TB在Alberta省、萨省和BC省都有资产,要分别申请运营许可

4. 与TB管理层敲定雇佣合同

5. TB搬家至Long Run现有的办公室。由于TB在交割后就没有办公室了,但Longrun的新楼还没有好,建议TB员工 搬到Longrun的19楼或其他楼层

项目2和3都需要一些费用或者定金,建议从卡尔加里中天或者阿尔伯塔中天借款10万加元作为其费用。

另外,附件为合能海星董事会决议,同意签署买卖协议收购TB,请各位董事补签。

请给出宝贵建议。

谢谢,

--邓天洲 中天能源股份有限公司 Sinoenergy Corporation Mobile: 13910000578 Tel: 86-10-84931428 Email: deng.tz@snencn.cn 地址: 北京市朝阳区望京SOHO塔2-B座29层 邮编: 100102

This is Exhibit "67" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

—. Long Run

- 资产买卖
  - 1. Kaybob 出售青岛建行已经批复,交割预计在买方获得阿尔伯塔能源局的经营 资质批复后 2 日之内完成

(在 Kaybob 出售后,请加拿大团队考虑并安排 Boyer 区块资产的出售。)

- 生产
  - 1. 现产量为 23,350 日桶当量,产量较上周减少了 546 日桶当量,主要来自于寒 冬 Boyer 天然气产量减少和 Kakwa 的处理厂小故障,红水则增加了 230 日桶
  - 下周预计日产量到达 24,150 桶
     (红水产量增加太慢,请吴总、牛总了解一下红水现场地面工程的施工情况,给 我一个邮件。不能让地面工程进度拖后腿!)(吴总应尤其关注)
- 二. Twin Butte
  - 二月打井计划
    - 青蛙湖的土族想把他们 50%的份额卖给我们,但是对我们的出价感到不满, 以至于对我们交割完提前打井比较不配合。我方正在与部落沟通 (从目前情况看,一季度打井是有困难了。请牛总安排把青蛙胡土族区块 的情况如资源控制面积、储量、日产量以及我方出价告我,我会和你们商 量如何办理。)

葛总(Jason):

 财务部内部反复讨论目前累计的冬季作业账单和现金流,分析哪些账单还可以再推迟,哪 些账单推迟可能会带来的极大影响。并召开和总部海玲总的专题电话会议,希望在月底前 收到 2000 万加元来应急。同时也希望建行剩余的 1.2 亿加元贷款今早到位,后面几个月 将是冬季作业账单的集中付款期。

(总部黄总已安排 2000 万加元月底前到位,另外约 1.4 亿加元在安排中,不会影响付账。)

2. 大 D 的问题: 和律师交流了大 D 的合同情况及潜在风险。基本可以确定赔偿金额在合同中是非常明确的,没有大的其它法律风险。只是会有一些运营方面的风险,即对未来几个月钻井作业的影响。如果 2016/2017 冬季作业完成后(3.15),暂时没有安排作业任务,这种风险会大大降低。但这种风险个人认为是可控的。当然另一种选择是继续留用大 D,直到我们找到合适的替换人选或者留用他到明年,利用这段时间,在日常工作中我可以逐步影响他,辅导他学会尊重董事会,学会和新董事会成员的交流沟通。请总部尽快决定如何处理此事?

(大 D 的处事方式是不可能改变的,而只要他在,总部 100 个员工,现场 150 个员工的 状态也不会改变,请小泊总加快新的 COO 的物色和沟通,争取 3 月中旬到位。)

王好:

- 讨论和确定了公司几个离职骨干员工的工作缺口安排。在不新增人员的情况下,重新安排 了有关工作,节约了人员成本。 (很好。)
- 董事会明确了我的工作职责后,我已经着手对公司人事、IT等部门的管理控制流程的梳理,预计在下月前完成对人事、财务、IT等关键控制流程点的掌控,替总部把好 LR 的财务资金关,加强财务管理、人事招聘及合同工使用的成本控制。(目前控制点非常薄弱和不合理)

(我希望葛总完全控制住财务、人力资源环节,尤其是财务。您加盟 LR 对我方极其重要。控制住财务系统才算是我方基本控制了公司,历史上我方对 NS 等平台过了很久才有效控制的,因为葛总的到任对 LR 的时间缩短了。)

Steven Neu (牛总):

• TB: 我方提出的一百三十五万购买青蛙湖原居民的资产权益被他们拒绝。目前看来, 比较大的可能性是西湖公司接管 TB 后和他们维持原状。三月份我们将会与原居民的代 表会面商谈此事。

(见我前面的意见,我等牛总的报告。)

• TB: 如果月底不能完成交割,将按王好总的要求从账户上转出 500 万加币进托管人账 户。

(看来月底交割有困难,主要是政府批文一直出不来,资金也未全到账。实在不行就 再从 CPAC 胡海处借点资金补充。)

NS: 与新任 CEO Bill 及其技术人员讨论了近期的钻井计划。Bill 介绍说由于地质师和生产 VP 的相继辞职,他们的工作进展受到影响,另外,他们也需要对该地区整个钻井计划以及注水计划做一个全面的评估。Bill 明确表示,无法在春季休整之前提供并位进行钻井作业。我提出让Bill 尽可能提供给我一些钻井和地质方面的资料,我可以帮助他们进行一些准备工作。

(执行力不够啊!这个事让我很失望,既然大家(杨总、牛总、Bill)都认可的事,包括给大D也做了工作,现在说三月份打不了井…)

- PetroX: 与杨总和 PetroX 的两位负责人 Ed Tam 和 Alan Chan 见面,他们介绍了目前的资产状况。下一步计划是杨总雇佣一名熟悉 VIKING 产层的地质师做进一步的资料整合和评估,看是否能找到合适的有商业价值的井位。这名地质师将会暂时借用上海能源办公室工作。TB 的钻井计划将在 6 月份开始实施,地质研究结果应在这之前提交。(按这个计划去做吧。)
- LR 钻井和投产井数据

| 区域       | 计划  | 已钻  | 投产 | 取得典型产 | 取得典型数据并量  | 最新日期产量 (桶) |  |  |
|----------|-----|-----|----|-------|-----------|------------|--|--|
|          | 井数  | 井数  | 井数 | 量数据并数 | 地区BOE日总产量 | 平均单井BOE日产量 |  |  |
| 红水       | 112 | 91  | 53 | 47    | 2,305     | 49         |  |  |
| Kakwa    | 8   | 8   | 4  | 4     | 1,779     | 445        |  |  |
| 静河Nville | 9   | 9   | 6  | 6     | 223       | 37         |  |  |
| 静河Gville | 14  | 13  | 7  | 7     | 816       | 117        |  |  |
| 合计       | 143 | 121 | 70 | 64    | 5,123     | 80         |  |  |

(以后加两列,油产量、气产量)

吴迎春:

一. 完成工作

- 优势:组织了与LR销售部门的会议.一是了解 Redwater 原油如何定价,及 Gibson 终端费用.二是了解原油合同:1,000 bb1/d 己套期保值,至17年底.剩余的是90天滚动合同(即:提前90天通知,可终止合同).
   提供了17年底 Redwater 预估产量.牛总也提供了WL现在产量.
   还在协调取样分析
- NS: 一周生产均值 2,750 boe/d. 稍高于上周的.
- LR: 63 口新井共生产 4,670 boe/d(一周均产). (与牛总表格中的 5123boe/d 不一致?)

在 Redwater 地区, Redwater 北部油田, 32 口井投产. 单井均产 52 boe/d, 接近预估值. 刚投产的,还有上升的趋势.

Redwater 中部油田,仍是 4 口井投产. 单井均产 61 boe/d,达预估值.

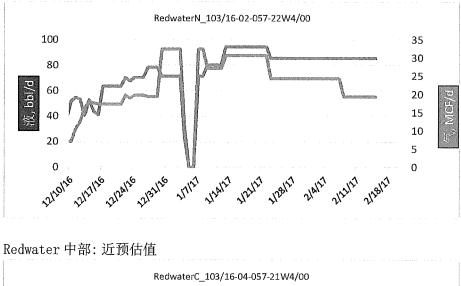

Brudheim 北部油田, 10 口井投产. 单井均产 38 boe/d, 暂低于预估值. 仍有背压高而限产问题.

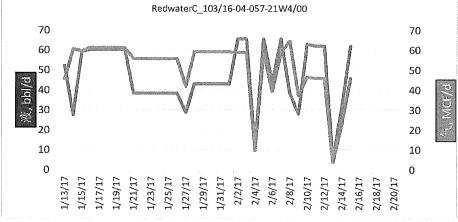

(如我前边所说,调查红水地区钻完井后的地面工程慢的原因,采取措施。我要油产量!)

| 油区                                      | 油田                                    | Dad HHZ                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | ++=                            | 总产                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 液产             | 与产                                              | 液收率                          | なあったまたっせつ                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 10.☆++*⊁      |                                 |
|-----------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------|-------------------------------------------------|------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|---------------------------------|
|                                         | 通田                                    | Pad井场                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 并号                             | boe/d                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | bbl/d          | mcf/d                                           |                              | (预)投产日期                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |               | 注释                              |
| 计                                       |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                | 4,671.6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 2,555.5        | 12,696.5                                        | 54.7                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 63            |                                 |
| eace River                              | Girouxville                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/04-11-0                    | 121.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 66,4           | 327.5                                           | 54.9                         | 12-Oct-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 7             | 己逐步递减,符合预估                      |
|                                         |                                       | 100 10 70 0440                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 102/05-31-1                    | 40.6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 26.7           | 83.7                                            | 65.6                         | 19-Dec-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 远低于预估值,多水                       |
|                                         |                                       | 12P-12-76-21W5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 100/13-11                      | 275.0216.8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 157.4132.5 | 705.6                                           | 57.2                         | 9-Jan-20179-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |               | 好好                          |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 100/12-11103/4-1-76-       | 216.8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 2.8            | 505.913.5                                   | 61.155.1                 | 9-Jan-201714-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |               | 55远低于预估值,多水                 |
|                                         | ·····                                 | 9P-36-75-21W5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 103/4-1-78-                    | 63.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 32.3           | 184.4                                           | 51.3                         | 3-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 在上升,待察                          |
|                                         |                                       | DI-20-72-21442                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 103/12-36                      | 65.1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 36.7           | 170.4                                           | 56.4                         | 3-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 在上升,待察                          |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 103/12-30                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 50.7           | 170.4                                           | J0,4                         | 3-F6D-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | ᡗᠴᠴᠴᡣ᠋᠋᠋᠋᠋᠋᠋᠋᠋᠋᠋                |
| •••••••••                               |                                       | 均产/井                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                | 112.4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 65.0           | 284.4                                           | 57.8                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               | 接近预估                            |
| eace River                              | Normandville                          | 4P-23-78-21W5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 105/04-22                      | 27.6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 16.1           | 69.3                                            | 58.2                         | 12-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 6             | 远低于预估值、多水                       |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 103/5-22-78                    | 37.7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 29.8           | 47.4                                            | 79.1                         | 12-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 远低于预估值,多水                       |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/12-15                      | 32.9                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 24.7           | 49.5                                            | 74.9                         | 17-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 远低于预估值,多水                       |
|                                         |                                       | ·····                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 102/13-15                      | 56.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 40.3           | 97.3                                            | 71.3                         | 14-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 远低于预估值,多水                       |
|                                         |                                       | 12P-13-78-21W5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 102/12-14                      | 40.9                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 25.2           | 94.2                                            | 61.6                         | 8-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 低于预估值,多水                        |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/13-14                      | 32.8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 19.4           | 80.2                                            | 59.2                         | 8-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 低于预估值,多水                        |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                |                                                 |                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       | 均产/井                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                | 38.1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 25.9           | 73.0                                            | 68.1                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               | 低于预估值                           |
| edwater                                 | Brudheim North                        | 4P-13-56-21W4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 100/12-12                      | 83.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 77.0           | 36.2                                            | 92.7                         | 12-Dec-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 10            | 达预估值                            |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/12-12                      | 64.1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 58.2           | 35.5                                            | 90.8                         | 12-Dec-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 达预估值                            |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 103/11-12                      | 66.1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 60.1           | 35.7                                            | 91.0                         | 12-Dec-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 达预估值                            |
|                                         |                                       | 13P-12-56-21                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 100/03-12                      | 26.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 24.5           | 8.8                                             | 94.3                         | 3-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/03-12                      | - .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                |                                                 | #DIV/01                      | 2-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/04-12                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                |                                                 |                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               | 由于两个Pad先后投产                     |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/09-12                      | 1.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 0.8            | 1.2                                             | 80.6                         | 21-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 管线背压高,限制了产                      |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 103/04-12                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                |                                                 |                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               | 在考虑新接管线或罐.(                     |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 103/10-11                      | 50.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 48.2           | 10.5                                            | 96.5                         | 21-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 计划4P-13投产很晚)                    |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 104/10-11                      | 32.3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 30,4           | 11.4                                            | 94.1                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 104/15-11                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                |                                                 |                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 105/15-11                      | 45.7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 43.8           | 11.9                                            | 95.7                         | 16-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/16-12-5                    | 12.7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 11.1           | 9.9                                             | 87.1                         | 16-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       | 均产/井                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                | 38.1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 35.4           | 16.1                                            | 93.0                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               | 接近预估                            |
| edwater                                 | Redwater North                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 100/03-02                      | 67.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 55.461.5   | 32.9                                            | 93.0                         | 8-Dec-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 32            | 更换了抽油机,达预估值                     |
| cuwater                                 | Neuwaler riorth                       | 111-2-37-22004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 100/03-02                      | 38.8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 36.9           | 11.2                                            | 95.2                         | 8-Dec-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 52            | 低于预估                            |
| ·                                       |                                       | 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 - 1997 -                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 100/04-02                      | 86,2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 77.6           | 51.6                                            | 95.290.0                 | 8-Dec-20168-Dec-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 1             | 达到预估                            |
| · · - · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/03-02                      | 45.9                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 41.8           | 25.1                                            | 90.0                         | 8-Dec-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 低于预估                            |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/04-02                      | 43.972.3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 41.867.5   | 25.1                                            | 90.993.4                 | 8-Dec-20168-Dec-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | · · · · · · · | 达到预估                            |
|                                         |                                       | 1. 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                | 88.8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 85.5           |                                                 |                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               | 达到预估                            |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 103/16-02                      | 1. The Tana and Tan |                | 19.4                                            | 96.4                         | 8-Dec-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | attend that find the set of the |
|                                         | · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · | ••••••••                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 104/09-02                      | 118.8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 113.1          | 34.3                                            | 95.2                         | 8-Dec-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 维修好.达预估值好                   |
|                                         |                                       | 4P-11-57-22                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 104/16-02                      | 111.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 107.4          | 24.7                                            | 96.3                         | 8-Dec-201620-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |               | 低于预估值、待察                        |
|                                         |                                       | 4P-11-57-22                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 100/11-2100/12-2           | 39.2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 36.4           | 16.6                                            | 92.9                         | and the second s |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | and the first second second of | 49.3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 47.1           | 13.0                                            | 95.6                         | 20-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 低于预估值,待察达到预估                |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/11-2102/12-2           | 61.942.6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 51.840,5   | 60.6                                            | 83.795.0                 | 20-Jan-201720-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               |                                 |
| • • • • • • • • • •                     |                                       | 5P-6-58-22                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 40,5           | 12.7                                            |                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               | 低于预估值,待察波动                  |
|                                         |                                       | 5P-0-58-22                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 100/13-6102/13-6           | 44.3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                | 20.6                                            | 92.3                         | 18-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       | CD C F9 11                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                | 50.4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 47.2           | 19.0                                            | 93.7                         | 18-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 波动                              |
|                                         |                                       | 6P-6-58-22                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 100/14-16                      | 70.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 62, Z          | 50.0                                            | 88.2                         | 28-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 达到顶 估位于薪件            |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 100/15-6                       | 39.2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 30.4           | 53.2                                            | 77.4                         | 28-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 低于预估达到预估                    |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/14-6102/15-6           | 66.7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 58.5           | 49.1                                            | 87.7                         | 28-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       | 4D 5 50 30                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                | 77.4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 69.5           | 47.4                                            | 89.8                         | 28-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 达到预估                            |
|                                         |                                       | 4P-5-58-22                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 100/16-6                       | 52.9                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 51.1           | 11.1                                            | 96.5                         | 24-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 近预估                             |
|                                         |                                       | AD 1 57 33944                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 102/16-6                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                |                                                 | #DIV/0!                      | 24-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 在清沙                             |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 100/02-02                      | 69.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 68.4           | 6.7                                             | 98.4                         | 28-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 达到预估                            |
| · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·   |                                       | the second se                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 100/07-02                      | 27.7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 26,8           | 5.7                                             | 96.6                         | 28-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 低于预估,背压高                        |
| · · · · · · ·                           |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/02-02                      | 38.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 37,2           | 7.8                                             | 96,6                         | 28-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 低于预估,背压高                        |
|                                         |                                       | the second se                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/07-02                      | 31.6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 29.8           | 10.8                                            | 94.3                         | 28-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 低于预估,背压高                        |
|                                         |                                       | 7P-12-58-23W4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | and the second second          | 24.7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 13.4           | 67.6                                            | 54.4                         | 6-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 刚投产,低产,待察                       |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 103/5-12                       | 40.3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 33.4           | 41.4                                            | 82.9                         | 6-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 刚投产,低产,待察                       |
|                                         |                                       | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 103/16-12                      | 57.4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 47.2           | 61.0                                            | 82,3                         | 6-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 刚投产,低产,待察                       |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 104/4-12                       | 33.9                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 25.7           | 49,0                                            | 75.9                         | 6-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 刚投产,低产,待察                       |
| · · · · · · ·                           |                                       | the state of the s | 104/5-12                       | 31.4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 25.2           | 37.2                                            | 80.3                         | 6-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 刚投产,低产,待察刚投产,低产,待察          |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 104/15-12104/16-12         | 46.036.4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 38.833.5   | 43.1                                            | 84.4                         | 6-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 刚投产,低产,待察刚投产,低产,待察          |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 104/16-12                      | 36.410.8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 33.54.8    | 17.735.8                                    | 91.9                         | 6-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 刚投产,低产,待察刚投产,低产,待察          |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 717-51 1201                    | 10'8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 4.8            | 35.8                                            | 44.6                         | 6-Feb-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       | 均产/井                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                | 52,2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 47.2           | 30.2                                            | 90.4                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               | 近预估                             |
| edwater                                 | Redwater Cerntr                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/09-4                       | 57.3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 47.2           | 57.5                                            | 90.483.3                 | 13-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 4             | 近预估                             |
| - awardi                                | nauwater centtr                       | the second second second second second                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 102/09-4                       | 57.370,1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 47.750.3   | 57.5                                            | and the second second second | 13-Jan-201713-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               | 近10/16达到预估,在上升              |
|                                         |                                       | (1) A second sesecond second sec  | 1                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                | A PERSON AND AND AND AND AND AND AND AND AND AN | 86.1                         | construction from one of the second                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 103/09-4                       | 66.7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 57.0           | 57.7                                            | 85.6                         | 13-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 达到预估,在上升                        |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 103/16-4                       | 50.8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 44.9           | 35.5                                            | 88.4                         | 13-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 近预估                             |
|                                         |                                       | 均产/井                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                |                                                 | 0                            | · · · · · ·                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 计网际社                            |
| /apiti                                  | Kabua                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/01 25                      | 61.2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 52.5           | 52.3                                            | 85.8                         | 10 04 - 2010                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |               | 达到预估                            |
| (4001)                                  | Kakwa                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 102/01-25                      | 239.6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 3.9            | 1,415                                           | 1.6                          | 16-Dec-2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |               | 低于预估值                           |
|                                         |                                       | CD DA CA CUMA                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                |                                                 |                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               |                                 |
|                                         |                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 100/09-24100/12-23         | 336.6598.8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 5.49.7     | 1,9873,535                                  | 1.61.6                   | 9-Jan-201710-Jan-2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |               | 低于预估值达预估值                   |

单井生产曲线举例:

Redwater 北部:达预估值, 平稳

Brudheim 北部:达预估值, 平稳

- 二. 下周展望事项
- LR: 跟进 新井产量
- 优势:协调采样化验,了解 Portland 设施能力,研究增运方案

This is Exhibit "68" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

王好:

- -. Twin Butte:
  - 进一步与托管人落实交易后买壳的步骤
  - 三月钻井事项
    - TB管理层建议我们能在未来两周内在 Horseshoe Lake 打一口 3条腿的探井。这口井之前已经获得了能源局的批准,但我们 必须在5月19日之前钻井,否则将会失去矿权。如果这口探 井成功,我们就会增加2口双腿,3口三腿,8口4腿的井位, 总价值在3000万加元以上。另外,我们还可以购买周边的土 地增加另外5口4条腿的井位。这口探井的费用为107万加 元。现在唯一阻挠的是托管人,托管人一直坚持要打井可以, 必须要放相应的保证金才能打,否则必须等到交割后。而现在 西湖的账上只有不到18万美元。管理层觉得等到5月份很有 可能因为封路打不了井而失去矿权。假设交割日期为3月24 号,我们也来不及了,因为建设井场还要4-5天时间。请指示 是否在下周有一百万加元到账。

(这个主意好!下周会安排大约 5000 万加元到账,除了马上还 CAPC400 万美元外,其余在 TB。)

• 办公室续租至6月底谈判:没有最新的进展。

葛总(Jason):

- 一. 办公室问题:
  - 将19楼出租给了第三方公司,今天签署了租赁合同。租金为$6 每 平方尺。
  - 签署了公司新办公楼装修合同,下周一工程公司进驻开始施工。 力争在6月底前最少完成5、6楼的工程,确保LRE按时搬进去。
     8楼还在讨论楼面设计阶段,预计9月份可以达到搬入要求。
  - 12 楼正在和 NS 谈租赁合同,希望尽早完成。
     (我已多次与葛总邮件讨论,我们要努力把前 LR 管理层给我们弄的办公室这个心病解决掉。)

二. 财务管理:

- 当地年末财务审计工作已近尾声,预计下周末完成最终的财务审 计工作;
- 积极配合国内审计,提供大量审计资料。
- 根据新的产量预测,完成了2017年全年的财务预测(没有考虑下半年钻井计划)。计划将1季度的预测发回总部供参考。
   (为了确保以2017年12月31日为基准日的LR资产全部装入上市公司,2017年的经营业绩至关重要,所以预测一定要有下半年钻井计划。先把1季度预测发回总部,我们研究后再订其后计划。)
- 三. 天然气套保:

- 根据生产部门预测的产量, 套保了 5000 GJ 每天的实物交易量, 价格为$2.5/GJ。
- 财务套保策略批准后,准备逐步完成15000 GJ的对冲交易量, 但近两天天然气价格都没有达到我们的目标值$2.6/GJ,因此仍 为锁定。等下周天然气价格再看。
   (天然气套保葛总提出的财务套保很有意义。请Lake、王好总 和葛总专题研究一次,就LR情况拿出套保方案,而后推广到 NS、TB、上海能源。)
- 四. Kaybob 资产处置完成后的财务影响:
  - 全年产量平均减少 575 boed,对收入的影响约为 7 百万左右, 但由于操作成本高,没有处置前,是负现金流。
  - 由于此地区的操作成本高,处置后,整个公司生产操作成本可以 下降$0.72/boe。
  - 处置后减少了今年的弃置成本支出约$2.8 百万。
  - 减少了此地区的井场维护等费用支出$2.0百万。
  - 收入$1.0百万的交易对价。
     (kaybob的处理是很成功的,可以对贡献者适当奖励。明年初还有 Boyer 的处置,要有好思路。)
- 五. 人事及公司管理方面:
  - 已经完成年度公司员工工资更新,正在准备给董事会的有关报告,提交批准年度薪酬调整。建议此项可一并和新的薪酬体系同时实施。
  - 希望尽快展开公司组织机构重组和成本削减计划,包括人员削减、费用成本重新梳理削减。要严控成本,否则以LR的资产性质本身,盈利是比较困难的。
  - 完成目前手头紧急工作后,希望尽快能给董事会提交新的分级有 限授权书,批准后实施。否则担心内控出现大的风险。
  - 建议如果没有下半年钻井计划,内部技术部门尽快对公司资产本 身展开深入研究,做出公司 3-5 年油气资产开发计划。这同时是 我们团队对资产的再认识的过程,有利于提升未来井的经济性和 资产的盈利能力。此事可以由地质油藏部门牵头,财务预算部门 配合完成。

(我近期会去一趟加拿大,届时与各位领导一起研究上述问题。)

牛总 (Steven):

- -. Twin Butte:
  - 为了不耽搁公司交割后很快转入正常运作,通过律师签署一份临时雇佣协议,象征性付费250元加币,授权TB原数据管理员帮助West Lake设置用于向政府汇报的DDS数据传输系统。
     (好。)
  - TB在进入托管之前已经签署 PROVOST 周边以及其它区域六千多公顷土地购买协议,有比较大的潜力,可能井位总计 96 条腿(部分已经列入 2017、2018 钻井计划),价格两百余万,为完成未来两

年打井任务,管理层建议我们购买下来。这笔 200 万款项,交割 完成后需要立即支付。

(同意!资金会安排好,实际上 TB 净现金流也够的。)

BC省能源管理局需要 West Lake 出示 200 万信用证, 另外 G&A 管理需要办理额度不超过 13 万的信用卡。完成交割后, 我们需要打入 ATB 帐户两百余万现金办理相关帐户。

(下周新的资金到位后小林总协助办理。)

 青蛙湖地区原居民 5 月份将进行重新选举。原居民自治区一般是 家族式管理,但要经过民众选举,一个家族落败后,新上任家族 实施新政时各方面会有较大变动。选举结束后我们将接触胜出者, 逐步建立合作关系。

(可以等待。既便选举完成也不必急于谈判。这个 Joe 不好谈, 只有拖他的耐性。有王好总上面说的探井区和牛总说的 6 千公顷 地,打新井的井位就 TB 而言似乎没压力。)

- 二. New Star:
  - 开始准备 2017 年第一阶段 6 口井具体钻井计划。目前接到两家套 管公司报价, 管材价格较 2016 年 8 月 LR 竞标时, 涨幅高达 50%。 (最近油价暴跌, 看看套管公司的态度?)
- 三. Long Run:

| 区域       | 计划井数 | 已钻井数 | 已连接井数 |
|----------|------|------|-------|
| 红水       | 119  | 113  | 77    |
| Kakwa    | 8    | 8    | 6     |
| 静河Nville | 9    | 9    | 8     |
| 静河Gville | 14   | 14   | 11    |
| 合计       | 150  | 144  | 102   |

● 已钻井和完成生产管线连接井数量:

红水5号钻机在钻进最后一个井场,13口井已经完钻7口。

 作业成本估算见附件。
 (钻井确实很顺利。我上次在卡尔加里时曾要求把静河的几口井 停下不打了,看来还是打完了?)

小林总 (Michael):

- -. New Star:
  - 配合中國進出口銀行為新星作出資產評估;中國進出口銀行聘請 了 Calgary 德勤對新星作出資產評估,同時 Calgary 德勤也是新 星和 LR 現有的核數師,所以提供資料的時候增加了複雜性。 (如果找境外机构评估,NS 评到1亿加元都难。为什么这么做?
     比进出口银行总行要求还多?事先也没人跟我提过,这是个败笔!)
  - 配合海玲總以及房經理為中國 BDO 審計提供資料。

- 開始加拿大報稅工作。
- 著手研究長城提供的打井報價。
- 二. 控股公司:
  - 按加拿大統計局要求為各 LongRun 和 NewStar 填寫了統計數據以 及電話會談。

 吴总:

- 一. 优势:
  - 周五收到 ARC 的一些资料,进一步研究。
  - 等待美国 Bakken 的油样. 然后与 TB Lloydminster 混对, 做全面分析 (Crude Assay 级)。
     (要抓紧!)

- 一周生产均值 2,769 boe/d. 平稳。
- 打井计划将于4月初出来,报总部。
   (打井计划还没出来?)
- Ξ. Long Run:

| 新井生产总结         |       |       |                       |
|----------------|-------|-------|-----------------------|
|                |       | 单井均产, |                       |
| 油区/油田          | 投产井数  | boe/d | 评论                    |
| LR总计           | 85    | 6,142 | 总产                    |
| Redwater油区     |       |       |                       |
| Redwater北部油田   | 44    | 56.6  | 接近预估值,问题:砂堵,背压高等,在处理中 |
| Redwater中部油田   | 12    | 41.6  | 近期投产的两个并场不好,待察        |
|                |       |       | 暂低于预估值、一并场有背压高而限产     |
| Brudheim北部油田   | 7     | 45.5  | 新管线已接好,本周六将全投产        |
| Peace River油区  |       |       |                       |
| Girouxville油田  | 9     | 140.1 | 接近预估值                 |
| Normandville油田 | 8     | 69.5  | 远低于预估值,多水             |
| Kakwa油田        | 5     | 314.8 | 低于预估值                 |
| (统计说明:一周均产     | 无产量数据 | 的不管投产 | E)                    |

[(统计说明:一周均产,无产量数据的不算投产) (各单井状况,详见附件)。

(红水已打井113口,只有63口投产,能不能把地面工程做快点? Lake 到后和团队研究一下,如果马上调整 COO,这也是最紧要的事 情!)

- 在 Redwater 油区,共有 64 口新井在生产.另有 14 口井,"准 投产",没有产量数据.其中 13-12 井场的 6 口井,新管线已接 好,本周六将正常生产.这周刚投产的 4-12 井场的 8 口井及 4-30 井场的 2 口井,尚无产量数据。
   (什么原因?你们要问啊!)
- 投产不久的的 7-15 和 16-22 并场共 8 口井, 生产仍不太理想. 待察。

(请牛总和吴总马上去趟现场,了解原因,提出方案。)

- 成本控制:
  - 去年第4季度成本高,近$15/boe.从绝对数($)上看,第4 季度比前三季度均值高2百万$.与葛总讨论后,决定与Wes 召开专门会.第一,还是肯定LR 16年成本控制的努力.去 年全年单位成本12.46$/boe还是接近目标.第二,讨论如何 进一步控制减少成本。

(不可能有这么高的成本! 我写了这么多邮件, 吴总你还是要 肯定 16 年成本控制的努力?你的敏感性在哪里?)

- 四. 下周展望事项:
  - NS: 打井计划
  - LR: 跟进 新井产量
  - 优势: 跟进化验, 研究 ARC 设施

This is Exhibit "69" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

OGE Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor NOTARY * PUBLIC A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

| $2 mil executed - Henenghaixin Corp's wiring in | nstruction t | to BLG |
|--------------------------------------------------|--------------|--------|
|--------------------------------------------------|--------------|--------|

"Michael Lam" <lam.m@snencn.cn>

收件人: "Jin, Xlaodi" <XJin@blg.com>

| 抄 | 送: | "wang.h@snencn.cn" <                                                                                                          | wang.h@snencn.cn>, | "邓小泊" | <deng.xb@snencn.cn>,</deng.xb@snencn.cn> | "steven neu" | <steven.n@snencn.cn>,</steven.n@snencn.cn> | "Jones, Michelle" | <mjones@blg.com>, '</mjones@blg.com> | 'Haggard, |
|---|----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-------|------------------------------------------|--------------|--------------------------------------------|-------------------|--------------------------------------|-----------|
|   |    | Karen" <khaggard@blg< td=""><td>g.com&gt;</td><td></td><td></td><td></td><td></td><td></td><td></td><td></td></khaggard@blg<> | g.com>             |       |                                          |              |                                            |                   |                                      |           |
| 时 | 间: | 2017-3-30 20:32:35                                                                                                            |                    |       |                                          |              |                                            |                   |                                      |           |

| 附 | 件: | image001.png                                   | 下载附件 |
|---|----|------------------------------------------------|------|
|   |    | New Star - BLG for HNHX - $2 mil 20170330.pdf | 下载附件 |
|   |    | 打包下载全部附件                                       |      |

Morning all,

Please find the confirmation for the executed payment, CAD $2 mil, from New Star to BLG, for acquisition of Twin Butte Assets on behalf of Henenghaixin Corp (443818-1)

Please let me know once you have received it. Thanks Michael 在 2017-03-30 11:52:38, "Jin, Xiaodi" <XJin@blg.com> 写道:

Thank you Michael,

The receiving information looks good on my end.

Xiaodi Jin | Borden Ladner Gervais LLP

T 403.232.9523 | C 403.796.4652

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn] Sent: March-29-17 9:38 PM To: 王好; Jin, Xiaodi; 邓小泊; steven neu Subject: Henenghaixin Corp's wiring instruction to BLG

Good Evening all,

Please find the attached wiring instruction from Henenghaixin to BLG; I left to wiring amount blank simply because I want to leave enough money for Dave and Alan's special payment and I need to check the balance with the bank to avoid bouncing or any delay.

Our intent is to wire out CAD $231 mil first thing in the morning.

Also please find this screen shot from New Star's bank account; I added BLG as a biller; and I have queued a transfer of CAD $2million to BLG's account to go out first thing in the morning.

Please help me double check all account details!

Cheers and thanks!

Michael

| (=) N https://con                                                                  | mercial.bnc.ca/SBIComWeb/EventDispatch/payseGenericBrowse%7CBrowse 🖉 🛪 🔒 Ba                                               | inque Nationale du Canada [CA] 🖒 🛛 🖬 The Bank f                                    |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| NATIONALBANK                                                                   |                                                                                                                           |                                                                                    |
| INTERNET BANKING S                                                                 | OLUTIONS - BUSINESSES                                                                                                     |                                                                                    |
| SummariesAccounts                                                              | View a biller                                                                                                             |                                                                                    |
| Reconciliation of cheques                                                          | Another transaction 2 Help A Print                                                                                        |                                                                                    |
| Transactions                                                                       |                                                                                                                           |                                                                                    |
| Transactions to sign                                                               | Biller identification                                                                                                     |                                                                                    |
| <ul> <li>Payments</li> <li>Government remittances</li> </ul>                       | Name : Borden Ladner Gervais LLP                                                                                          |                                                                                    |
| <ul> <li>Fund transfers</li> <li>Wire transfers</li> </ul>                         | Identification number : BLG                                                                                               |                                                                                    |
| Foreign exchange                                                                   | Bank account                                                                                                              |                                                                                    |
| <ul> <li>Digital deposits</li> <li>Salary deposits</li> </ul>                      |                                                                                                                           |                                                                                    |
| Transaction update                                                                 | Transit no.: 00009 Institution: 0003 Account no.: 1642529                                                                 |                                                                                    |
| Manage billers /beneficiaries                                                  | $(\widehat{\boldsymbol{2}})$ Where to find this information an a cheque                                                   |                                                                                    |
| Account statement /cheque                                                      |                                                                                                                           |                                                                                    |
| <ul> <li>View / Download</li> <li>Retrieve</li> </ul>                              | Address                                                                                                                   |                                                                                    |
|                                                                                    | Number, Street, Suite : 520, 3rd Ave SW, 1900                                                                             |                                                                                    |
| Other services* Cheque images                                                  | Post office box , Station ;                                                                                               |                                                                                    |
| * Stop payment                                                                     | City : Calgery                                                                                                            |                                                                                    |
| PAD-Refusal                                                                        | Province, Country ; Alberta, Canada                                                                                       |                                                                                    |
| <ul> <li>Credit reference</li> <li>Letter of credit</li> <li>Investment</li> </ul> | Postal code : T2P0R3                                                                                                      |                                                                                    |
| * More                                                                             | Contact                                                                                                                   |                                                                                    |
| * Add a user                                                                       | Title : Trust Clerk                                                                                                       |                                                                                    |
|                                                                                    | Name : Karen Haggard                                                                                                      |                                                                                    |
| Questions ?                                                                        | Language : English                                                                                                        |                                                                                    |
| (514) 394-4494 (options 2-3)1-844-394-4494 (options 2-3)                       | Phone number : (403) 232-9462                                                                                             |                                                                                    |
| 1-644-334-4454 (options 2-3)                                                       |                                                                                                                           |                                                                                    |
|                                                                                    | Fax number :Email address: khaggard@blg.com                                                                           |                                                                                    |
|                                                                                    | Payment notice                                                                                                            |                                                                                    |
|                                                                                    | Notice type : (-/) No notice () Email notice () Fax notice                                                                |                                                                                    |
|                                                                                    | History                                                                                                                   |                                                                                    |
|                                                                                    | A Added on: 2017-03-29 at 10:59 PM ET by SHING TAK MICHAEL LAMModified on: 2017-03-29 at 11:03 PM ET by Shing Tak Lam |                                                                                    |
|                                                                                    | Another transaction   ? Help   🕮 Print                                                                                    |                                                                                    |
|                                                                                    |                                                                                                                           | Legal information - Confidentiality policy - ABC's o@ NATIONAL BANK OF CANADA. |

This is Exhibit "70" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Payments

A SHING TAK MICHAEL LAM NEW STAR ENERGY LTD (183461)

|                         |                             |              |                       |                   | NEW STAR ENERGY LID (183 |
|-------------------------|-----------------------------|--------------|-----------------------|-------------------|--------------------------|
| st payment              |                             |              |                       |                   |                          |
| Transaction carried out |                      |              |                       |                   |                          |
| DPlease keep the payme  | ant number in your fi       | les.         |                       |                   |                          |
|                         |                             |              |                       |                   |                          |
| Payment Nº: 796         |                             |              |                       |                   |                          |
| From : 0006-1405        | 1-1452121                   |              |                       |                   |                          |
| Account name : NEW STA  | R ENERGY                    |              |                       |                   |                          |
| Payable to : Borden La  | dner Gervais LLP [          | BLG ]        |                       |                   |                          |
| To account: 0003-0000   | 9-1642529                   |              |                       |                   |                          |
| Payment date: 2017-03-3 | n                           |              |                       |                   |                          |
| Notice : [V] Witho      |                             |              |                       |                   |                          |
| Notice : [ # ] With     | at notice                   |              |                       |                   |                          |
| Reference number        | Invoiced on(YYYY-MM-DD) | Amount       | Discount($ ou %) | Amount to be paid | Description              |
|                         |                             |              |                       |                   |                          |
| 443818 1                | 2017-03-29                  | 2,000,000.00 | 0.00                  | 2,000,000.00      | Xiaodi Deposit for HNHX  |

Status: In process

History a Added on: 2017-03-30 at 8:27 AM ET by SHING TAK MICHAEL LAM a Signed on: 2017-03-30 at 8:27 AM ET by SHING TAK MICHAEL LAM a Extracted for processing on: 2017-03-30 at 8:27 AM ET by the system

Valid on 2017-03-30 at 8:27 AM ET

This is Exhibit "71" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor NOTARY × PUBLIC A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta FO

| Re: Henenghaixin Corp - Outgoing Wire to C poration                                                                                          | anadian Advantage Petroleum Cor                          |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| "Michael Lam" <lam.m@snencn.cn></lam.m@snencn.cn>                                                                                            |                                                          |
| 收件人:"Ammad, Zeb" <zammad@atb.com></zammad@atb.com>                                                                                           |                                                          |
| 抄 送: "steven neu" <steven.n@snencn.cn>, "Zhao, Der<chilling@atb.com>时 间: 2017-3-25 5:32:25</chilling@atb.com></steven.n@snencn.cn> | ek" <dzhao@atb.com>, "Hilling, Corey J."</dzhao@atb.com> |
| 附 件: image004.jpg                                                                                                                            | 下载附件                                                     |
| image005.jpg                                                                                                                                 | 下载附件                                                     |
| image001.jpg                                                                                                                                 | 下载附件                                                     |
| 打包下载全部附件                                                                                                                                     |                                                          |
|                                                                                                                                              |                                                          |

Thank you!

Thanks, Michael Lam

On 03/24/2017 15:04, Ammad, Zeb wrote:

Hi,

This wire has been processed as per your request. Confirmation number is (PO#: 000055799881).

Thankyou.

Regards,

Zeb R.Ammad MBA

Client Service Officer | Energy & Commercial | Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-731-3825 | Fax 587-597-3760

Suite 600, West Tower, Eighth Avenue Place, 585 8th Ave S.W, Calgary, AB T2P 1G1

atb.com

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn]
Sent: Friday, March 24, 2017 3:03 PM
To: Hilling, Corey J. <CHilling@atb.com>
Cc: Ammad, Zeb <ZAmmad@atb.com>; Chan, Cynthia <CChan@atb.com>; Guminski, Janek <JGuminski@atb.com>; Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn>
Subject: Re: Henenghaixin Corp - Outgoing Wire to Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corporation

Thanks please go ahead. Michael

Thanks, Michael Lam

On 03/24/2017 14:54, Hilling, Corey J. wrote:

I confirm Heneghaixin Corp buys $4,000,000 USD at the rate of 1.3415. ref 243

Corey (C.J.) Hilling, MBA Associate Director Financial Markets Commodites, Foreign Exchange and Interest Rates

Office 403 974-3580 | Mobile 403 804-9519 600-West Tower, Eight Avenue Place

585 8th Ave SW, Calgary, AB T2P 1G1 atb.com

ATB

From: Ammad, Zeb
Sent: Friday, March 24, 2017 2:41 PM
To: Chan, Cynthia <CChan@atb.com>; Guminski, Janek <JGuminski@atb.com>; Hilling, Corey J.
<CHilling@atb.com>
Cc: Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn>; Michael Lam <lam.m@snencn.cn>
Subject: FW: Henenghaixin Corp - Outgoing Wire to Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corporation

Hi,

Henenghai Xin would like to purchase 4M USD to send out to the attached wire.

Please provide rate and ref.

Thankyou.

Regards,

Zeb R.Ammad MBA

Client Service Officer | Energy & Commercial | Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-731-3825 | Fax 587-597-3760

Suite 600, West Tower, Eighth Avenue Place, 585 8th Ave S.W, Calgary, AB T2P 1G1

atb.com

From: 林成德 [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn] Sent: Friday, March 24, 2017 2:18 PM To: Ammad, Zeb <ZAmmad@atb.com>; Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com> Cc: steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn> Subject: Fw: Henenghaixin Corp - Outgoing Wire to Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corporation

Thanks!

Thanks, Michael Lam

----- Forwarded Message ------

From: Michael Lam

Date: 03/24/2017 12:05

To: Ammad, Zeb, Derek Nielsen, steven neu

Cc: hunter.woo

Subject: Henenghaixin Corp - Outgoing Wire to Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corpor ation

Hello Zeb,

We would like to wire USD $ 4,000,000 from Henenghaixin Corp to Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corporation, authorised by Steven Neu and myself.

Please find the attached authorisation form as well as CAPC's bank info as attached.

IF we don't have enough USD in the account; please transfer USD $4,000,000 equivalent into our USD account.

Thanks a lot,

Michael

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL here.

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please click here.

This is Exhibit "72" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor NOTARY * PUBLIC A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

王好:

- -. Twin Butte:
  - 进一步与托管人落实交易后买壳的步骤
  - 三月钻井事项
    - TB管理层建议我们能在未来两周内在 Horseshoe Lake 打一口 3条腿的探井。这口井之前已经获得了能源局的批准,但我们 必须在5月19日之前钻井,否则将会失去矿权。如果这口探 井成功,我们就会增加2口双腿,3口三腿,8口4腿的井位, 总价值在3000万加元以上。另外,我们还可以购买周边的土 地增加另外5口4条腿的井位。这口探井的费用为107万加 元。现在唯一阻挠的是托管人,托管人一直坚持要打井可以, 必须要放相应的保证金才能打,否则必须等到交割后。而现在 西湖的账上只有不到18万美元。管理层觉得等到5月份很有 可能因为封路打不了井而失去矿权。假设交割日期为3月24 号,我们也来不及了,因为建设井场还要4-5天时间。请指示 是否在下周有一百万加元到账。

(这个主意好!下周会安排大约 5000 万加元到账,除了马上还 CAPC400 万美元外,其余在 TB。)

● 办公室续租至6月底谈判:没有最新的进展。

葛总(Jason):

- 一. 办公室问题:
  - 将19楼出租给了第三方公司,今天签署了租赁合同。租金为$6 每 平方尺。
  - 签署了公司新办公楼装修合同,下周一工程公司进驻开始施工。 力争在6月底前最少完成5、6楼的工程,确保LRE按时搬进去。
     8楼还在讨论楼面设计阶段,预计9月份可以达到搬入要求。
  - 12 楼正在和 NS 谈租赁合同,希望尽早完成。
     (我已多次与葛总邮件讨论,我们要努力把前 LR 管理层给我们弄的办公室这个心病解决掉。)
- 二. 财务管理:
  - 当地年末财务审计工作已近尾声,预计下周末完成最终的财务审 计工作;
  - 积极配合国内审计,提供大量审计资料。
  - 根据新的产量预测,完成了2017年全年的财务预测(没有考虑下半年钻井计划)。计划将1季度的预测发回总部供参考。
     (为了确保以2017年12月31日为基准日的LR资产全部装入上市公司,2017年的经营业绩至关重要,所以预测一定要有下半年钻井计划。先把1季度预测发回总部,我们研究后再订其后计划。)
- 三. 天然气套保:

- 根据生产部门预测的产量, 套保了 5000 GJ 每天的实物交易量, 价格为$2.5/GJ。
- 财务套保策略批准后,准备逐步完成15000 GJ的对冲交易量, 但近两天天然气价格都没有达到我们的目标值$2.6/GJ,因此仍 为锁定。等下周天然气价格再看。
   (天然气套保葛总提出的财务套保很有意义。请Lake、王好总 和葛总专题研究一次,就LR情况拿出套保方案,而后推广到 NS、TB、上海能源。)
- 四. Kaybob 资产处置完成后的财务影响:
  - 全年产量平均减少 575 boed,对收入的影响约为7百万左右, 但由于操作成本高,没有处置前,是负现金流。
  - 由于此地区的操作成本高,处置后,整个公司生产操作成本可以 下降$0.72/boe。
  - 处置后减少了今年的弃置成本支出约$2.8 百万。
  - 减少了此地区的井场维护等费用支出$2.0百万。
  - 收入$1.0百万的交易对价。
     (kaybob的处理是很成功的,可以对贡献者适当奖励。明年初还有 Boyer 的处置,要有好思路。)
- 五. 人事及公司管理方面:
  - 已经完成年度公司员工工资更新,正在准备给董事会的有关报告,提交批准年度薪酬调整。建议此项可一并和新的薪酬体系同时实施。
  - 希望尽快展开公司组织机构重组和成本削减计划,包括人员削减、费用成本重新梳理削减。要严控成本,否则以LR的资产性质本身,盈利是比较困难的。
  - 完成目前手头紧急工作后,希望尽快能给董事会提交新的分级有 限授权书,批准后实施。否则担心内控出现大的风险。
  - 建议如果没有下半年钻井计划,内部技术部门尽快对公司资产本 身展开深入研究,做出公司 3-5 年油气资产开发计划。这同时是 我们团队对资产的再认识的过程,有利于提升未来井的经济性和 资产的盈利能力。此事可以由地质油藏部门牵头,财务预算部门 配合完成。

(我近期会去一趟加拿大,届时与各位领导一起研究上述问题。)

牛总 (Steven):

- -. Twin Butte:
  - 为了不耽搁公司交割后很快转入正常运作,通过律师签署一份临时雇佣协议,象征性付费 250 元加币,授权 TB 原数据管理员帮助West Lake 设置用于向政府汇报的 DDS 数据传输系统。(好。)
  - TB在进入托管之前已经签署 PROVOST 周边以及其它区域六千多公顷土地购买协议,有比较大的潜力,可能井位总计 96 条腿(部分已经列入 2017、2018 钻井计划),价格两百余万,为完成未来两

年打井任务,管理层建议我们购买下来。这笔 200 万款项,交割 完成后需要立即支付。

(同意!资金会安排好,实际上 TB 净现金流也够的。)

BC 省能源管理局需要 West Lake 出示 200 万信用证, 另外 G&A 管理需要办理额度不超过 13 万的信用卡。完成交割后, 我们需要打入 ATB 帐户两百余万现金办理相关帐户。

(下周新的资金到位后小林总协助办理。)

 青蛙湖地区原居民 5 月份将进行重新选举。原居民自治区一般是 家族式管理,但要经过民众选举,一个家族落败后,新上任家族 实施新政时各方面会有较大变动。选举结束后我们将接触胜出者, 逐步建立合作关系。

(可以等待。既便选举完成也不必急于谈判。这个 Joe 不好谈, 只有拖他的耐性。有王好总上面说的探井区和牛总说的 6 千公顷 地,打新井的井位就 TB 而言似乎没压力。)

- 二. New Star:
  - 开始准备 2017 年第一阶段 6 口井具体钻井计划。目前接到两家套 管公司报价,管材价格较 2016 年 8 月 LR 竞标时,涨幅高达 50%。 (最近油价暴跌,看看套管公司的态度?)
- Ξ. Long Run:

| 区域       | 计划井数 | 已钻井数 | 已连接井数 |
|----------|------|------|-------|
| 红水       | 119  | 113  | 77    |
| Kakwa    | 8    | 8    | 6     |
| 静河Nville | 9    | 9    | 8     |
| 静河Gville | 14   | 14   | 11    |
| 合计       | 150  | 144  | 102   |

• 已钻井和完成生产管线连接井数量:

红水5号钻机在钻进最后一个井场,13口井已经完钻7口。

 作业成本估算见附件。
 (钻井确实很顺利。我上次在卡尔加里时曾要求把静河的几口井 停下不打了,看来还是打完了?)

小林总 (Michael):

- -. New Star:
  - 配合中國進出口銀行為新星作出資產評估;中國進出口銀行聘請 了 Calgary 德勤對新星作出資產評估,同時 Calgary 德勤也是新 星和 LR 現有的核數師,所以提供資料的時候增加了複雜性。 (如果找境外机构评估,NS 评到 1 亿加元都难。为什么这么做? 比进出口银行总行要求还多?事先也没人跟我提过,这是个败笔!)
  - 配合海玲總以及房經理為中國 BDO 審計提供資料。

- 開始加拿大報稅工作。
- 著手研究長城提供的打井報價。
- 二. 控股公司:
  - 按加拿大統計局要求為各 LongRun 和 NewStar 填寫了統計數據以 及電話會談。

 吴总:

- 一. 优势:
  - 周五收到 ARC 的一些资料,进一步研究。
  - 等待美国 Bakken 的油样. 然后与 TB Lloydminster 混对, 做全 面分析 (Crude Assay 级)。 (要抓紧!)
- $\square$ . New Star:
  - 一周生产均值 2,769 boe/d. 平稳。
  - 打井计划将于4月初出来,报总部。
     (打井计划还没出来?)
- Ξ. Long Run:

| 新井生产总结         |      |       |                         |
|----------------|------|-------|-------------------------|
|                | 1    | 单井均产, |                         |
| 油区/油田          | 投产井数 | boe/d | 评论                      |
| LR 总计          | 85   | 6,142 | 总产                      |
| Redwater油区     |      |       |                         |
| Redwater北部油田   | 44   | 56.6  | 接近预估值,问题:砂堵,背压高等,在处理中   |
| Redwater中部油田   | 12   | 41.6  | 近期投产的两个井场不好,待察          |
|                |      |       | )暂低于预估值,一并场有背压高而限产, |
| Brudheim北部油田   | 7    | 45.5  | 新管线已接好,本周六将全投产          |
| Peace River油区  |      | Τ     |                         |
| Girouxville油田  | 9    | 140.1 | 接近预估值                   |
| Normandville油田 | 8    | 69.5  | 远低于预估值,多水               |
| Kakwa油田        | 5    | 314.8 | 低于预估值                   |

(各单井状况,详见附件)。

(红水已打井 113 口,只有 63 口投产,能不能把地面工程做快点? Lake 到后和团队研究一下,如果马上调整 COO,这也是最紧要的事 情!)

- 在 Redwater 油区,共有 64 口新井在生产.另有 14 口井,"准 投产",没有产量数据.其中 13-12 井场的 6 口井,新管线已接 好,本周六将正常生产.这周刚投产的 4-12 井场的 8 口井及 4-30 井场的 2 口井,尚无产量数据。
   (什么原因?你们要问啊!)
- 投产不久的的 7-15 和 16-22 井场共 8 口井, 生产仍不太理想. 待察。

(请牛总和吴总马上去趟现场,了解原因,提出方案。)

- 成本控制:
  - 去年第4季度成本高,近$15/boe.从绝对数($)上看,第4 季度比前三季度均值高2百万$.与葛总讨论后,决定与Wes 召开专门会.第一,还是肯定LR 16年成本控制的努力.去 年全年单位成本12.46$/boe还是接近目标.第二,讨论如何 进一步控制减少成本。

(不可能有这么高的成本! 我写了这么多邮件, 吴总你还是要 肯定 16 年成本控制的努力?你的敏感性在哪里?)

- 四. 下周展望事项:
  - NS: 打井计划
  - LR: 跟进 新井产量
  - 优势: 跟进化验, 研究 ARC 设施

This is Exhibit "73" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

ROGE Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 NOTARY Barrister & Solicitor * PUBLIC A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

3月17号会议纪要(修改)

"王卓" <wang.z@snencn.cn>

- 收件人: "邓董事长" <deng.tz@snencn.cn>, "黄总裁" <huang.b@snencn.cn>, "陈爱国" <chen.ag@snencn.cn>, "王海 玲" <wang.hl@snencn.cn>, "孟兰" <meng.l@snencn.cn>, "崔怡彬" <cui.yb@snencn.cn>, "邓小泊" <deng.xb@snencn.cn>, Jason <jasonge@snencn.cn>, "王好" <wang.h@snencn.cn>, "steven neu" <steven.n@snencn.cn>, "杨文涛" <yang.wt@snencn.cn>, "吴迎春" <wu.yc@snencn.cn>, "林成德" <lam.m@snencn.cn>, "陆蓉" <lu.r@snencn.cn>, "邹骏昊" <zou.jh@snencn.cn>, "段玥佁" <duan.yy@snencn.cn>
- 时间: 2017-3-20 10:26:52

附件: 3月17一周纪要 (修改).docx

下载附件

各位领导, 您们好:

附件为已添加邓董事长审阅意见3月17日会议纪要,烦请各位查收。

This is Exhibit "74" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

| RE  | : Tr  | ansfer from Henenghaixin to                            | Calgary Sinoenergy                               |
|-----|-------|--------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------|
| "Wa | agsta | aff, Andrew" <awagstaff@atb.com></awagstaff@atb.com>   |                                                  |
| 收作  | 夫:    |                                                        |                                                  |
| 抄   | 送:    | "steven neu" <steven.n@snencn.cn></steven.n@snencn.cn> | , "Ammad, Zeb" <zammad@atb.com></zammad@atb.com> |
| 时   | 间:    | 2017-4-13 4:41:12                                      |                                                  |
| 附   | 件:    | image001.jpg                                           | 下载附件                                             |
|     |       |                                                        |                                                  |
|     |       |                                                        |                                                  |

Hi Michael,

This is done.

Cheers

Andrew Wagstaff

Client Service Officer

Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 780-392-2815 | Fax 780-422-4998

ATB Place, 25th Floor, 10020 100 Street NW, Edmonton, AB T5J 0N3

atb.com

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn]

Sent: Wednesday, April 12, 2017 2:31 PM

To: Wagstaff, Andrew <AWagstaff@atb.com>; Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; Loh, Vanessa <vloh@atb.com>

Cc: steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn> Subject: Transfer from Henenghaixin to Calgary Sinoenergy

Hello ATB team,

Can you please help me transfer CAD$15,000,000 from Henenghaixin Corp (760-00762433600) to Calgary Sincenergy Investment (760-00548654800)

Both of them are ATB account.

Thanks,

Michael

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL here.

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please click here.

This is Exhibit "75" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

RE: Re:Transfer: From Henenghaixin Corp to Calgary Sinoenergy Investment "Ammad, Zeb" <ZAmmad@atb.com> 收件人: "Michael Lam" <lam.m@snencn.cn> 抄 送: "Loh, Vanessa" <vloh@atb.com>, "Zhao, Derek" <DZhao@atb.com>, "steven neu" <steven.n@snencn.cn> 时 间: 2017-4-18 23:29:35 附件: image002.jpg 下载附件

Hi Michael,

This transfer has been completed.

Thankyou.

Regards,

Zeb R.Ammad

Client Service Officer | Energy & Commercial | Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-731-3825 | Fax 587-597-3760

Suite 600, West Tower, Eighth Avenue Place, 585 8th Ave S.W, Calgary, AB T2P 1G1

atb.com

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn] Sent: Tuesday, April 18, 2017 8:53 AM To: 我 <lam.m@snencn.cn> Cc: Ammad, Zeb <ZAmmad@atb.com>; Wagstaff, Andrew <AWagstaff@atb.com>; Loh, Vanessa <vloh@atb.com>; Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn> Subject: Re:Transfer: From Henenghaixin Corp to Calgary Sinoenergy Investment

Hello all,

Please let me know when this is completed.

Thanks,

Michael

At 2017-04-18 08:23:46, "Michael Lam" < lam.m@snencn.cn> wrote:

Hello ATB Team,

Can you please help me transfer CAD $10,000,000 from Henenghaixin Corp's chequing account to Calgary Sinoenergy Investment's chequing account?

Thanks,

Michael

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL here.

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please click here.

This is Exhibit "76" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

RE: Re:RE: Re:Transfer from Henenghaixin Corp - Calgary Sinoenergy Investm ent

"Hassanaly, Rizwan" <RHassanaly@atb.com>

收件人: "Michael Lam" <lam.m@snencn.cn>

抄 送:

时间: 2017-6-2 23:51:04

| 附 | 件: | image002.jpg | 下载附件 |
|---|----|--------------|------|
|   |    | image003.jpg | 下载附件 |
|   | 打住 | 回下载全部附件      |      |

Hi Michael,

This has been completed.

Thank you and have a great weekend,

Riz

Rizwan Hassanaly, B.Comm

Client Service Officer | Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-974-7985 | Fax 403-663-3160

Suite 600, West Tower, Eighth Avenue Place, 585 8th Ave S.W., Calgary, AB, T2P 1G1

atb.com

To: Hassanaly, Rizwan <RHassanaly@atb.com>

Cc: Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; Ammad, Zeb <ZAmmad@atb.com>; Aiello, Stephanie <SAiello@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn>; Eurich, Brayden <BEurich@atb.com>

Subject: Re:RE: Re:Transfer from Henenghaixin Corp - Calgary Sinoenergy Investment

Thanks Riz;

Can you also help us transfer another CAD $500,000 to Calgary Sinoenery's account please.

Thanks,

Michael

在 2017-06-02 23:05:08, "Hassanaly, Rizwan" < RHassanaly@atb.com > 写道:

Good Morning Michael,

The transfer has been processed.

Thank you and have a great day,

Riz

Rizwan Hassanaly, B.Comm

Client Service Officer | Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-974-7985 | Fax 403-663-3160

Suite 600, West Tower, Eighth Avenue Place, 585 8th Ave S.W., Calgary, AB, T2P 1G1

atb.com

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn] Sent: Friday, June 02, 2017 8:39 AM To: 我 <lam.m@snencn.cn> Cc: Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; Ammad, Zeb <ZAmmad@atb.com>; Aiello, Stephanie <SAiello@atb.com>; Hassanaly, Rizwan <RHassanaly@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn> Subject: Re:Transfer from Henenghaixin Corp - Calgary Sinoenergy Investment

Hello again,

I should be more specific, I would like to transfer to Calgary Sinoenergy's ATB CAD Chequing Dollar account.

Thanks,

Michael

在 2017-06-02 22:37:07, "Michael Lam" < lam.m@snencn.cn> 写道:

Morning,

I would like to transfer

CAD $22,000,000 to Calgary Sincenergy Investment Corporation from Henenghaixin's account.

Thanks,

Michael Lam

1-780-616-4966

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL here.

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please click here.

This is Exhibit "77" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

OGER

NOTARY

OF

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

RE: Re:Re:Transfer from Henenghaixin Corp - Calgary Sinoenergy Investm "Hassanaly, Rizwan" <RHassanaly@atb.com> 收件人: "Michael Lam" <lam.m@snencn.cn> 抄 送: 时 问: 2017-6-2 23:51:04 附 件: image002.jpg 下载附件 image003.jpg 下载附件 j1包下载全部附件

Hi Michael,

This has been completed.

Thank you and have a great weekend,

Riz

Rizwan Hassanaly, B.Comm

Client Service Officer | Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-974-7985 | Fax 403-663-3160

Suite 600, West Tower, Eighth Avenue Place, 585 8th Ave S.W., Calgary, AB, T2P 1G1

atb.com

To: Hassanaly, Rizwan <RHassanaly@atb.com>

Cc: Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; Ammad, Zeb <ZAmmad@atb.com>; Aiello, Stephanie <SAiello@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn>; Eurich, Brayden <BEurich@atb.com>
 Subject: Re:RE: Re:Transfer from Henenghaixin Corp - Calgary Sinoenergy Investment

Thanks Riz;

Can you also help us transfer another CAD $500,000 to Calgary Sinoenery's account please.

Thanks,

Michael

在 2017-06-02 23:05:08, "Hassanaly, Rizwan" < RHassanaly@atb.com > 写道:

Good Morning Michael,

The transfer has been processed.

Thank you and have a great day,

Riz

Rizwan Hassanaly, B.Comm

Client Service Officer | Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-974-7985 | Fax 403-663-3160

Suite 600, West Tower, Eighth Avenue Place, 585 8th Ave S.W., Calgary, AB, T2P 1G1

atb.com

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn] Sent: Friday, June 02, 2017 8:39 AM To: 我 <lam.m@snencn.cn> Cc: Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; Ammad, Zeb <ZAmmad@atb.com>; Aiello, Stephanie <SAiello@atb.com>; Hassanaly, Rizwan <RHassanaly@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn> Subject: Re:Transfer from Henenghaixin Corp - Calgary Sinoenergy Investment

Hello again,

I should be more specific, I would like to transfer to Calgary Sinoenergy's ATB CAD Chequing Dollar account.

Thanks,

Michael

在 2017-06-02 22:37:07, "Michael Lam" < lam.m@snencn.cn> 写道:

Morning,

I would like to transfer

CAD $22,000,000 to Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corporation from Henenghaixin's account.

Thanks,

Michael Lam

1-780-616-4966

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL here.

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please click here.

This is Exhibit "78" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

GE Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 NOTARY Barrister & Solicitor * PUBLIC A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

回复:CAD$ 11.15 million transfer Henenghaixin to Calgary SinoEnergy to Long Run Exploration

??? <lam.m@snencn.cn>

收件人: "Eurich, Brayden" <beurich@atb.com>

抄 送: "steven neu" <steven.n@snencn.cn>

时间: 2017-7-6 3:58:31

附件: image001.jpg

下载附件

Thanksl

Sent from Mail Master

在2017年07月05日 13:53, Eurich, Brayden 写道:

The funds have been transferred to Calgary SinoEnergy and wired out as per your instructions. Confirmation number 59573559.

Thanks, and have a nice day.

Brayden Eurich

Client Service Officer| Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-541-4093

Eighth Avenue Place, Suite 600, 585-8 Avenue SW, Calgary, AB T2P 1G1

atb.com

From: 林成德 [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn] Sent: Wednesday, July 05, 2017 1:38 PM To: steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn> Cc: Eurich, Brayden <BEurich@atb.com>

Subject: 回复: CAD$ 11.15 million transfer Henenghaixin to Calgary SinoEnergy to Long Run Exploration Perfect! Thanks guys!

Sent from Mail Master

在2017年07月05日 13:37, steven neu 写道:

Hey Brayden please go ahead for the transfer. Thanks, Steven.

在 2017-07-06 03:25:29, "林成德" < lam.m@snencn.cn > 写道:

Thanks

Sent from Mail Master

On 07/05/2017 13:24, Eurich, Brayden wrote:

Hi Michael,

I've tried calling but no luck. I will try again in a few minutes.

Brayden

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn]
Sent: Wednesday, July 05, 2017 1:16 PM
To: Eurich, Brayden <BEurich@atb.com>
Cc: Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn>
Subject: Re: CAD$ 11.15 million transfer Henenghaixin to Calgary SinoEnergy to Long Run Exploration

Hello Brayden,

To speed it up faster, would you mind giving him Steven Neu a call at 403-660-1211 to confirm?

He is by his phone.

Thanks! Michael

Sent from Mail Master

On 07/05/2017 13:10, Eurich, Brayden wrote:

Hello Michael, we have received the wire. Henenghaixin is currently a two to sign account.

If Steven can respond to this email approving the transaction then I can go ahead and transfer the money over to Calgary SinoEnergy and wire the money out.

Thanks,

Brayden Eurich

Client Service Officer| Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-541-4093

Eighth Avenue Place, Suite 600, 585-8 Avenue SW, Calgary, AB T2P 1G1

atb.com

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn] Sent: Wednesday, July 05, 2017 12:10 PM To: Eurich, Brayden <BEurich@atb.com>; Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com> Cc: steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn> Subject: CAD$ 11.15 million transfer Henenghaixin to Calgary SinoEnergy to Long Run Exploration

Hello Brayden,

Henenghaixin is expecting a $11.15 million incoming wire; as soon as it is received, we would like to

Step 1) Transfer to Calgary SinoEnergy's ATB Chequing account

Step 2) Wire out to Long Run Exploration, from Calgary SinoEnergy, as per the attached wiring instruction

Please help us keep an eye out for the incoming wiring to Henenghaixin; we would like this capital into Long Run Exploration as soon as possible.

Thanks!

Michael

----- Forwarding messages ------

From: "4070AR321" <4070AR321@longrunexploration.com>

Date: 2017-07-06 02:04:30

To: lam.m@snencn.cn

Subject: Scanned image from Long Run Exploration

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL here.

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please click here.

This is Exhibit "79" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

OGE Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 NOTARY Barrister & Solicitor * PUBLIC A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

Steven Neu

| From:    | Brayden Eurich <beurich@atb.com></beurich@atb.com> |
|----------|----------------------------------------------------|
| Sent:    | Wednesday, July 12, 2017 3:33 PM                   |
| То:      | Steven Neu                                         |
| Cc:      | Michael Lam                                        |
| Subject: | Re: Transfer - Henenghaixin to Calgary SinoEnergy  |

Thanks Steven,

Michael, we have just received the incoming wire, and i have transferred $31,000,000 over to Calgary SinoEnergy account #00548654800.

The confirmation number of the transfer is 654473327.

Please note it is after wire cutoff so i will have to process the wire transaction tomorrow, so please keep an eye out for the confirmation email tomorrow morning.

Thanks,

Brayden Eurich Client Services Officer | Banking Operations CFO Portfolio

Office: 403-541-4093 Eighth Avenue Place, 600, 585 8th Avenue SW Calgary, AB T2P 1G1 atb.com

On 12 July 2017 at 13:42, Steven Neu <sneu@westlakeenergy.ca> wrote: Talked to Michael. Please go ahead Brayden. Thanks, Steven.

On Jul 12, 2017, at 1:18 PM, Brayden Eurich < beurich@atb.com> wrote:

Thanks Michael,

Steven, if you could reply to this email confirming the wire, i will execute the wire once i have confirmation.

Thanks,

Brayden Eurich Client Services Officer | Banking Operations CFO Portfolio

Office: 403-541-4093 Eighth Avenue Place, 600, 585 8th Avenue SW Calgary, AB T2P 1G1 atb.com

On 12 July 2017 at 12:34, Michael Lam <lam.m@snencn.cn> wrote: Hello Brayden,

We are expecting a large capital coming into Henenghaixin and would like to transfer CAD$31,000,000 to Calgary SinoEnergy Investment Corporation.

Can you please help us keep an eye out and execute this transaction once the capital shows up? Steven Neu is copied here; do you need him to reply a "yes" as well?

Thanks! Michael

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL at http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/ATB-and-CASL.aspx

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please use this URL - http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/unsubscribe.aspx

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL at http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/ATB-and-CASL.aspx

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please use this URL - http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/unsubscribe.aspx

This is Exhibit "80" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Steven Neu

| From:    | Brayden Eurich <beurich@atb.com></beurich@atb.com> |
|----------|----------------------------------------------------|
| Sent:    | Thursday, July 13, 2017 10:21 AM                   |
| То:      | Steven Neu                                         |
| Cc:      | Michael Lam                                        |
| Subject: | Re: Transfer: Henenghaixin to Calgary SinoEnergy   |

Hello Michael and Steven,

I have completed the transfer to Calgary SinoEnergy. The confirmation number is 654692901.

Regards,

Brayden Eurich Client Services Officer | Banking Operations CFO Portfolio

Office: 403-541-4093 Eighth Avenue Place, 600, 585 8th Avenue SW Calgary, AB T2P 1G1 atb.com

On 13 July 2017 at 10:12, Steven Neu <sneu@westlakeenergy.ca> wrote: Please do. Thanks Michael and Brayden.

On Jul 13, 2017, at 10:07 AM, Michael Lam <lam.m@snencn.cn> wrote:

Morning Brayden,

Can you please transfer $3,596,491 from Henenghaixin to Calgary SinoEnergy please?

Thanks! Michael

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL at http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/ATB-and-CASL.aspx

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please use this URL - http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/unsubscribe.aspx

This is Exhibit "81" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

OGEX

OTARY

* PUBLIC

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

Steven Neu

| From:    | Brayden Eurich <beurich@atb.com></beurich@atb.com>    |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------|
| Sent:    | Tuesday, September 5, 2017 8:39 AM                    |
| То:      | Michael Lam                                           |
| Cc:      | Steven Neu; Zhao, Derek                               |
| Subject: | Re: Re: Transfer - Henenghaixin to Calgary Sinoenergy |

Thanks Steven,

I have transferred the funds over.

Regards,

Brayden Eurich Client Services Officer | Banking Operations CFO Portfolio

Office: 403-541-4093 Eighth Avenue Place, 600, 585 8th Avenue SW Calgary, AB T2P 1G1 atb.com

On 5 September 2017 at 08:21, Michael Lam <lam.m@snencn.cn> wrote: Hello Brayden, Actually, can you please make it to CAD$110,000 please?

Thanks, Michael

在 2017-09-05 22:19:22, "Brayden Eurich" <beurich@atb.com> 写道: Steven, if you can please confirm the transfer i can go ahead and move the funds over.

Thanks!

Brayden Eurich Client Services Officer | Banking Operations CFO Portfolio

Office: 403-541-4093 Eighth Avenue Place, 600, 585 8th Avenue SW Calgary, AB T2P 1G1

atb.com

On 5 September 2017 at 08:16, Michael Lam <lam.m@snencn.cn> wrote: Morning Brayden,

I would like to transfer CAD$100,000 from Henenghaixin to Calgary Sinoenergy.

Can you please proceed with the transfer?

Thanks! Michael

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL at http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/ATB-and-CASL.aspx

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please use this URL - http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/unsubscribe.aspx

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL at http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/ATB-and-CASL.aspx

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please use this URL - http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/unsubscribe.aspx

This is Exhibit "82" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021 Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

| RE: ATB Master Card application - West Lake    |      |  |  |  |
|------------------------------------------------|------|--|--|--|
| "Ammad, Zeb" <zammad@atb.com></zammad@atb.com> |      |  |  |  |
| 收件人: ??? <lam.m@snencn.cn></lam.m@snencn.cn>   |      |  |  |  |
| 抄 送:                                           |      |  |  |  |
| 时 间: 2017-4-1 5:54:21                          |      |  |  |  |
| 附件: image005.jpg                               | 下载附件 |  |  |  |
| image006.jpg                                   | 下载附件 |  |  |  |
| image007.jpg                                   | 下载附件 |  |  |  |
| image008.jpg                                   | 下载附件 |  |  |  |
| 打包下载全部附件                                       |      |  |  |  |
|                                                |      |  |  |  |

Hi Michael,

This has been completed.

Thankyou.

Regards,

Zeb R.Ammad

Client Service Officer | Energy & Commercial | Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-731-3825 | Fax 587-597-3760

Suite 600, West Tower, Eighth Avenue Place, 585 8th Ave S.W, Calgary, AB T2P 1G1

atb.com

ATB

From: 林成德 [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn]
Sent: Friday, March 31, 2017 3:42 PM
To: Ammad, Zeb <ZAmmad@atb.com>
Cc: Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; Loh, Vanessa <vloh@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn>; David
Middleton <dmiddleton@westlakeenergy.ca>; Alan Steele <asteele@westlakeenergy.ca>
Subject: Re: ATB Master Card application - West Lake

Hello Zeb

Can you please transfer CAD$4,500,000 from

Henenghaixin's deposit account 760-00762433600

То

West Lake's deposit account 760-00756643300

Thanks!

Michael

Thanks, Michael Lam

On 03/31/2017 15:07, Ammad, Zeb wrote:

Hi Michael,

Please provide both account numbers and amount to be transferred.

Thankyou.

Regards,

Zeb R.Ammad MBA

This is Exhibit "83" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

RE: Re:RE: Transfer from Henenghaixin to West Lake Energy

"Wagstaff, Andrew" <AWagstaff@atb.com>

收件人: "Alan Steele" <asteele@westlakeenergy.ca>, "Michael Lam" <lam.m@snencn.cn>

抄 送: "Zhao, Derek" <DZhao@atb.com>, "Loh, Vanessa" <vloh@atb.com>, "steven neu" <steven.n@snencn.cn>, "Ammad, Zeb" <ZAmmad@atb.com>

时间: 2017-4-13 5:16:47

附件: image001.jpg

下载附件

Hi Michael,

That transfer is complete.

Have a great day!

Andrew Wagstaff

Client Service Officer

Banking Operations

CPO Portfolio

Office 780-392-2815 | Fax 780-422-4998

ATB Place, 25th Floor, 10020 100 Street NW, Edmonton, AB T5J 0N3

atb.com

From: Alan Steele [mailto:asteele@westlakeenergy.ca]
Sent: Wednesday, April 12, 2017 3:15 PM
To: Michael Lam <lam.m@snencn.cn>; Wagstaff, Andrew <AWagstaff@atb.com>
Cc: Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; Loh, Vanessa <vloh@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn>
Subject: RE: Re:RE: Transfer from Henenghaixin to West Lake Energy

Yes that is the account all transfers in should go to Account # 00756643300

Thanks

R. Alan Steele

West Lake Energy Corp.

T: (403) 215-2692

C: (403) 863-2124

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn]
Sent: April-12-17 2:45 PM
To: Wagstaff, Andrew
Cc: Zhao, Derek; Loh, Vanessa; steven neu; Alan Steele
Subject: Re:RE: Transfer from Henenghaixin to West Lake Energy

Thanks Andrew; Let's transfer to their CAD chequing account.

Would that be okay with you Alan?

Thanks again,

Michael

在 2017-04-13 04:43:43, "Wagstaff, Andrew" <AWagstaff@atb.com> 写道:

Hi Michael,

Can you just confirm which West Lake Energy account you want to transfer to?

Thanks,

Andrew Wagstaff

Client Service Officer

Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 780-392-2815 | Fax 780-422-4998

ATB Place, 25th Floor, 10020 100 Street NW, Edmonton, AB T5J 0N3

atb.com

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn]

Sent: Wednesday, April 12, 2017 2:34 PM

To: Wagstaff, Andrew <AWagstaff@atb.com>; Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; Loh, Vanessa <vloh@atb.com> Cc: steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn>; Alan Steele <asteele@westlakeenergy.ca>

Subject: Transfer from Henenghaixin to West Lake Energy

Hello ATB team,

Can you please help me transfer CAD$3,000,000 from Henenghaixin Corp (760-00762433600) to West Lake Energy?

Both of them are ATB account.

Thanks,

Michael

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL here.

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please click here.

This is Exhibit "84" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

ROGF

NOTARY

PUBLIC

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

RE: Transfer from Henenghaixin to West Lake Energy

"Ammad, Zeb" <ZAmmad@atb.com> 收件人: "Michael Lam" <lam.m@snencn.cn> 抄 送: 时 间: 2017-4-21 4:23:54 附 件: image002.jpg

下载附件

Hi Michael,

This transfer has been completed.

Thankyou.

Regards,

Zeb R.Ammad

Client Service Officer | Energy & Commercial | Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-731-3825 | Fax 587-597-3760

Suite 600, West Tower, Eighth Avenue Place, 585 8th Ave S.W, Calgary, AB T2P 1G1

atb.com

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn]
Sent: Thursday, April 20, 2017 1:29 PM
To: Wagstaff, Andrew <AWagstaff@atb.com>; Ammad, Zeb <ZAmmad@atb.com>; Loh, Vanessa <vloh@atb.com>
Cc: Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn>; Alan Steele <asteele@westlakeenergy.ca>;
David Middleton <dmiddleton@twinbutteenergy.com>
Subject: Transfer from Henenghaixin to West Lake Energy

Hello Team ATB,

Can you please help us transfer CAD $2 million from Henenghaixin Corp's chequing account to West Lake's Chequing account?

Thanks!

Michael

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL here.

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please click here.

This is Exhibit "85" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 NOTARY Barrister & Solicitor PUBLIC A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

RE: Transfer from Henenghaixin Corp to West Lake Energy "Ammad, Zeb" <ZAmmad@atb.com>

收件人: "Michael Lam" <lam.m@snencn.cn> 抄 送: 时 间: 2017-5-4 0:44:36 附 件: image002.jpg

下载附件

Hi Michael

This transfer has been processed as per your request.

Thankyou.

Regards,

Zeb R.Ammad

Client Service Officer | Energy & Commercial | Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-731-3825 | Fax 587-597-3760

Suite 600, West Tower, Eighth Avenue Place, 585 8th Ave S.W, Calgary, AB T2P 1G1

atb.com

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn] Sent: Wednesday, May 03, 2017 9:46 AM To: Ammad, Zeb <ZAmmad@atb.com> Cc: Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn>; Alan Steele <asteele@westlakeenergy.ca>; David Middleton <dmiddleton@westlakeenergy.ca>; 邓小泊 <deng.xb@snencn.cn> Subject: Transfer from Henenghaixin Corp to West Lake Energy

Morning Zeb,

We would like to transfer CAD $1 million from Henenghaixin Corp's chequing account to West Lake's chequing account.

Thanks!

Michael Lam

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL here.

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please click here.

This is Exhibit "86" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

| RE: Transfer from Henenghaixin Corp - West Lake Energy"Hassanaly, Rizwan" <rhassanaly@atb.com></rhassanaly@atb.com> |       |                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|
| 收                                                                                                                       | 牛人    | "Michael Lam" <lam.m@s< th=""><th>nencn.cn&gt;, "Zhao, Derek" <dzhao@atb.com></dzhao@atb.com></th></lam.m@s<> | nencn.cn>, "Zhao, Derek" <dzhao@atb.com></dzhao@atb.com>                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |  |
| 抄                                                                                                                       | 送     |                                                                                                               | estlakeenergy.ca>, "David Middleton" <dmiddleton@westlakeenergy.ca>, "邓小泊"Aiello, Stephanie" <saiello@atb.com>, "steven neu" <steven.n@snencn.cn>,h@atb.com&gt;</steven.n@snencn.cn></saiello@atb.com></dmiddleton@westlakeenergy.ca> |  |  |
| 时                                                                                                                       | 间     | : 2017-6-2 23:05:23                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |
| 附                                                                                                                       | 件     | : image002.jpg                                                                                                | 下载附件                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |  |  |
| Goo                                                                                                                     | od IV | orning Michael,                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |

The transfer has been processed.

Thank you and have a great day,

Riz

Rizwan Hassanaly, B.Comm

Client Service Officer | Banking Operations

CFO Portfolio

Office 403-974-7985 | Fax 403-663-3160

Suite 600, West Tower, Eighth Avenue Place, 585 8th Ave S.W., Calgary, AB, T2P 1G1

atb.com

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn] Sent: Friday, June 02, 2017 8:41 AM To: Zhao, Derek <DZhao@atb.com>; Ammad, Zeb <ZAmmad@atb.com> Cc: Alan Steele <asteele@westlakeenergy.ca>; David Middleton <dmiddleton@westlakeenergy.ca>; 邓小泊 <deng.xb@snencn.cn>; Aiello, Stephanie <SAiello@atb.com>; Hassanaly, Rizwan <RHassanaly@atb.com>; steven neu <steven.n@snencn.cn>

Subject: Transfer from Henenghaixin Corp - West Lake Energy

Morning,

I would like to transfer

CAD $10,000,000 to West Lake Energy's ATB CAD Chequing Account from Henenghaixin's account.

Thanks,

Michael Lam

1-780-616-4966

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL here.

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please click here.

This is Exhibit "87" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

> * PUBLIC

EOF

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

Steven Neu

| From:    | Brayden Eurich <beurich@atb.com></beurich@atb.com> |
|----------|----------------------------------------------------|
| Sent:    | Friday, July 14, 2017 10:15 AM                     |
| То:      | Alan Steele                                        |
| Cc:      | Michael Lam; Zhao, Derek; Steven Neu; steven neu   |
| Subject: | Re: Transfer - Henenghaixin to West Lake Energy    |

Thanks Alan,

Michael, I have completed the transfer, with the confirmation number 655113153.

Regards,

Brayden Eurich Client Services Officer | Banking Operations CFO Portfolio

Office: 403-541-4093 Eighth Avenue Place, 600, 585 8th Avenue SW Calgary, AB T2P 1G1 atb.com

On 14 July 2017 at 10:01, Alan Steele asteele@westlakeenergy.ca wrote:

Brayden

It would go into the chequing account #0756643300

R. Alan Steele

West Lake Energy Corp.

T: (403) 215-2692

C: (403) 863-2124

From: Brayden Eurich [mailto:beurich@atb.com]
Sent: July-14-17 9:59 AM
To: Michael Lam
Cc: cashmanagementsupport@atb.com; Zhao, Derek; Steven Neu; steven neu; Alan Steele
Subject: Re: Transfer - Henenghaixin to West Lake Energy

Hello Michael,

Can you please provide the account number for West Lake Energy?

Thanks,

Brayden Eurich Client Services Officer | Banking Operations CFO Portfolio

Office: 403-541-4093 Eighth Avenue Place, 600, 585 8th Avenue SW Calgary, AB T2P 1G1 atb.com

ATB

On 14 July 2017 at 08:12, Michael Lam <lam.m@snencn.cn> wrote:

Morning ATB Team,

I would like to transfer CAD$5 million from Henenghaixin's chequing account to West Lake Energy please?

Thanks a lot!

Michael

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again.

Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL at http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/ATB-and-CASL.aspx

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please use this URL - http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/unsubscribe.aspx

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL at http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/ATB-and-CASL.aspx

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please use this URL - http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/unsubscribe.aspx

This is Exhibit "88" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021______

ROGER

* PUBLIC

EOF

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

Steven Neu

| From:    | Brayden Eurich <beurich@atb.com></beurich@atb.com> |
|----------|----------------------------------------------------|
| Sent:    | Friday, August 4, 2017 8:19 AM                     |
| То:      | Michael Lam                                        |
| Cc:      | Zhao, Derek; David Middleton; Steven Neu           |
| Subject: | Re: Transfer - Henenghaixin to West Lake Energy    |

Good morning Michael,

I have completed the transfer into West Lake Energy chequing account.

Thanks!

Brayden Eurich Client Services Officer | Banking Operations CFO Portfolio

Office: 403-541-4093 Eighth Avenue Place, 600, 585 8th Avenue SW Calgary, AB T2P 1G1 atb.com

On 3 August 2017 at 16:18, Steven Neu <sneu@westlakeenergy.ca> wrote:

Confirmed. Thanks. Steven

From: Michael Lam [mailto:lam.m@snencn.cn]
Sent: Thursday, August 03, 2017 4:07 PM
To: Eurich, Brayden
Cc: Zhao, Derek; Steven Neu; David Middleton
Subject: Transfer - Henenghaixin to West Lake Energy

Hello Brayden,

I would like to move CAD$1,500,000 from Henenghaixin's chequing account to West Lake Energy.

Steven N: can you please confirm the transfer?

Thanks all!

Michael

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL at http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/ATB-and-CASL.aspx

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please use this URL - http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/unsubscribe.aspx

This is Exhibit "89" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021 (ROGER)

NOTARY

PUBLIC

OF

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

Steven Neu

| From:    | Brayden Eurich <beurich@atb.com></beurich@atb.com> |
|----------|----------------------------------------------------|
| Sent:    | Thursday, September 7, 2017 10:38 AM               |
| То:      | Steven Neu                                         |
| Cc:      | 林成德; Derek Zhao; Alan Steele                       |
| Subject: | Re: Wire transfer: Henenghaixin to West Lake       |

Michael and Steven,

I have completed the transfer to West Lake Energy's account.

Thanks!

Brayden Eurich Client Services Officer | Banking Operations CFO Portfolio

Office: 403-541-4093 Eighth Avenue Place, 600, 585 8th Avenue SW Calgary, AB T2P 1G1 atb.com

On 7 September 2017 at 09:46, Brayden Eurich <beurich@atb.com> wrote: Thanks Michael and Steven,

I will let you know when i see the funds.

Brayden Eurich Client Services Officer | Banking Operations CFO Portfolio

Office: 403-541-4093 Eighth Avenue Place, 600, 585 8th Avenue SW Calgary, AB T2P 1G1 atb.com

On 7 September 2017 at 09:45, Steven Neu <sneu@westlakeenergy.ca> wrote:

Confirmed, Thx. Steven

| From:林成德 [mailto: lam.m@snencn.cn]Sent: Thursday, September 07, 2017 9:39 AMTo: Brayden Eurich; Steven NeuCc: Derek Zhao; Alan SteeleSubject: Wire transfer: Henenghaixin to West Lake |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Hello Brayden,                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| When CAD $15mm is in, should be in matters of hours, can you transfer the full amount to West Lake Energy Please                                                                                             |
| Steven: would you mind confirming the transfer?                                                                                                                                                               |
| Thanks!                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Michael                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Sent from Mail Master                                                                                                                                                                                         |

If you have received this email in error, please let me know by return email so I can make sure it doesn't happen again. Because emails can contain confidential and privileged material, I'd ask for your help by deleting it and any attachments. Thanks!

We like to keep people up to date with information about new products and services at ATB or changes that could affect you. You can check out more about ATB and CASL at http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/ATB-and-CASL.aspx

If you would like to unsubscribe from our updates, please use this URL - http://www.atb.com/important-information/privacy-security/Pages/unsubscribe.aspx

This is Exhibit "90" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

BOGGE W ANA ×CTPN ないたい 「日本ないないな」 中国 ( 住民住事) 張山 医鼻骨上原的 ( 15 8年1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 18 1) ( 1 「深圳 子部1日 了行为了的"你在你们了一个人的人的。""你是你的"你的"。""你是你你的"。""你是你你的"。""你是你你的"。""你是你你的"。""你们在你们了一一一一个一个一个一个一个一个吗?""你们的你的一个,我不是一个的第一个的第一个。" (李小恭) And IE Day WANG - WALGER 大学にしてい 生液 御川保此遇 ्र् सः य ĩ · (各新他) #一十一百年新派,(B花32) 1812 2014月1-Chull 第525年(20 TIOE) 资料生产资产量子就产(2017 03) 52.789 [17] 北条筒浮粉空影 201 「き」回法 時半 「二、「「「「「」」」 基金 合於生业 亚本建活附配. 0 17 0 下いるないていいち。下はなない、このないので、 (後こに湯) 2.15 · 18(1) · 18(1) and the James with 表的来来了这一样一样。并11州目12年16日。 The the service of th 中天街底台的 99.459 Arr 上場る本 5.40

10mg1um: 第六型王第七四十百世子 《三上 (十八年日 藍山県) 342 联会、中部九代北京 深如川整大道在影响。 ※111 25天 1178 2021 就省保持资金公正也 9.612. (我不知后,原始年) 能不出人生成的 12人的 20年 111/13 15 大能中京到底 世家院生长 土壤化塑材的 241364 255 母兵通道1873 45日云水谷业山1349 除去文、代在云江省1元强内家委化 U141.金加下的素加1.4.4.4. 一時年、白源的月 一時年、北京高大國指領管理公司以(憲部底) 大学を it is all the 下留完年代成为约33 (编+1) * 2 1 m 20 1 109 108 36 船一下"" 李金 + 知息 [66 N] . 14 20 新读和成我就高话的说的。 大臣欲驾兹势谥践。云宫堂 112 1北京医学不学者资源公司 了日本北海仓奉大国游说笔出~ . He the 三七相后时的潮机,012. ないないです。 (11/2)~ (11/2) to Kind fill the the the wind 南京 四本 1 1 1 年出西城後收 32 「燕光天井田物海院で見 林士·环华 (900 万) 男大龙的J 1100 万. P$1.4%. (200 F) 1000 2 WAN X W (2 24 to 72 如外并生人教保险 ther inter 148348

This is Exhibit "91" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

|                                    |                    |                | Date Ceased    |                                                         |                                                |                                                                             |                                                                                |                                                                                                             |  |  |
|------------------------------------|--------------------|----------------|----------------|---------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|
|                                    |                    | OFFICE HELD    | Date Appointed |                                                         | Nov 23, 2016                                   |                                                                             |                                                                                |                                                                                                             |  |  |
| FICERS                             |                    |                | Office         |                                                         | President &Chief ExecutiveOfficer      |                                                                             |                                                                                |                                                                                                             |  |  |
| TORS AND OF                        | HENENGHAIXIN CORP. | Data Cased     | DAIC CEASEU    | Sep 21. 2017                                            |                                                |                                                                             |                                                                                |                                                                                                             |  |  |
| REGISTER OF DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS | HENENGH     | Data Annainted | naue appointen | Nov 23, 2016                                            | Nov 23. 2016                                   | Nov 23, 2016                                                                | Nov 23, 2016                                                                   | Sep 21. 2017                                                                                                |  |  |
| REGIS                              |                    | sser Pt V      | SUDDA.         | 40 Discovery Ridge Court SwCalgary, Alberta T3H 4P8 | 424 3130 66 Ave SwCalgary, Alberta T3E 5K8 | 218-2-29 79 Xibianmen InnerSt Xicheng DistrictBeijing, China 100053 | 1803-12. 88 Lane, HuichuanRd. Changning DistrictShanghai, China 200050 | 20F Rongchao Bldg. NO.4036Jintían Rd, Futian Dist.City OF Shenzhen. Province ofGuangdong. China |  |  |
| -                                  |                    | Eull Name      |                | Lianzhou Deng                                           | Steven Y. Neu                                  | Jun Xiong                                                                   | Deshuang Yu                                                                    | Haipeng Tu                                                                                                  |  |  |

Page 1

This is Exhibit "92" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

NGE Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 NOTARY Barrister & Solicitor ¥ PUBLIC A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

Steven Neu

| From:    | Jin, Xiaodi <xjin@blg.com></xjin@blg.com> |
|----------|-------------------------------------------|
| Sent:    | Friday, January 4, 2019 2:28 PM           |
| То:      | Steven Neu                                |
| Subject: | RE: Hi Xiaodi                             |

Steven, Happy New Year to you as well! It was good for me, I had my family come visit here in Calgary and Banff. Hope you had a good time as well.

I provided the physical minute book to Michael actually as he wanted to review a few items and he said that he would provide to you directly as the physical copy.

Hope all is well.

Best,

Xiaodi Jin | Borden Ladner Gervais LLP T 403.232.9523 | C 403.796.4652 | xiin@blg.com 1900, 520 – 3rd Ave S W, Calgary, AB, Canada T2P 0R3

From: Steven Neu <sneu@westlakeenergy.ca> Sent: January 3, 2019 11:29 AM To: Jin, Xiaodi <XJin@blg.com> Subject: RE: Hi Xiaodi

Hi Xioadi. Hope you had a wonderful holiday. How is the minute book copy going? When do you expect you can send the copy to me? Thanks. Steven.

From: Jin, Xiaodi [mailto:XJin@blq.com] Sent: Tuesday, December 11, 2018 10:57 AM To: Steven Neu Subject: RE: Hi Xiaodi

Will do. It's just the minute book and not much else since HNHX is just the holdco. West Lake materials are held by BDP.

Xiaodi Jin | Borden Ladner Gervais LLP T 403.232.9523 | C 403.796.4652

From: Steven Neu [mailto:sneu@westlakeenergy.ca] Sent: December-11-18 10:51 AM To: Jin, Xiaodi <XJin@blg.com> Subject: RE: Hi Xiaodi

At your office. Please also make me a copy of all Henenghaixin files you have.

From: Jin, Xiaodi [mailto:XJin@blg.com] Sent: Tuesday, December 11, 2018 10:29 AM To: Steven Neu Subject: RE: Hi Xiaodi

Great. Want to come here to my office or meet at the Artigiano in the Shell building?

Xiaodi Jin | Borden Ladner Gervais LLP T 403.232.9523 | C 403.796.4652

From: Steven Neu [mailto:sneu@westlakeenergy.ca] Sent: December-11-18 9:20 AM To: Jin, Xiaodi <XJin@blg.com> Subject: RE: Hi Xiaodi

Ok. Let's meet @10:00 Friday morning then.

From: Jin, Xiaodi [mailto:XJin@blg.com] Sent: Monday, December 10, 2018 4:10 PM To: Steven Neu Subject: RE: Hi Xiaodi

Hi Steven, it is up to you. Thursday morning work? I'm open on Friday as well.

Xiaodi Jin | Borden Ladner Gervaís LLP T 403.232.9523 | C 403.796.4652

From: Steven Neu [mailto:sneu@westlakeenergy.ca] Sent: December-10-18 3:54 PM To: Jin, Xiaodi <XJin@blg.com> Subject: RE: Hi Xiaodi

Hey Xiaodi. Just got back from the field. I am fully booked tomorrow and morning on Wednesday. Other than that I am pretty open this week. Thanks, Steven

From: Jin, Xiaodi [mailto:XJin@blg.com] Sent: Tuesday, December 04, 2018 6:25 PM To: Steven Neu Subject: RE: Hi Xiaodi

Hi Steven,

Sounds good, talk to you when you're back.

Xiaodi Jin | Borden Ladner Gervais LLP T 403.232.9523 | C 403.796.4652

From: Steven Neu [mailto:sneu@westlakeenergy.ca] Sent: December-04-18 5:35 PM To: Jin, Xiaodi <XJin@blg.com> Subject: RE: Hi Xiaodi Hey Xiaodi, sorry didn't reply you soon. just finished the weekly management meeting here in Westlake. Thank you for your quick reply. I have to go to the field tomorrow for operation safety issues for a few days. I will touch base with you when I am back. Thanks, Steven

From: Jin, Xiaodi [mailto:XJin@blg.com] Sent: Tuesday, December 04, 2018 1:31 PM To: Steven Neu Subject: RE: Hi Xiaodi

Hi Steven, happy to do so.

I'm available this afternoon or late tomorrow afternoon. Let me know what works for you.

Best,

Xiaodi Jin | Borden Ladner Gervais LLP T 403.232.9523 | C 403.796.4652

From: Steven Neu [mailto:sneu@westlakeenergy.ca] Sent: December-04-18 1:16 PM To: Jin, Xiaodi <XJin@blg.com> Subject: Hi Xiaodi

I would like to make an appointment with you. Before the meeting, please get ALL Henenghaixing files you have in your hand ready, so I can review them. I will also talk to you about these files you gave Michael asking for my signatures in the meeting. Thank you, Steven.

This is Exhibit "93" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 NOTARY Barrister & Solicitor PUBLIC A Commissioner for Oaths In and for Alberta

Steven Neu

From:Michael LamSent:Friday, January 4, 2019 2:19 PMTo:Alan SteeleCc:Steven Neu; 邓小泊 (deng.xb@snencn.cn); David MiddletonSubject:Re: officer certificate for York city loans

Hello Alan,

I just realized that the registry | have for York City is out-dated; I have asked for an updated one and will circulate as soon as possible.

Hello Steven,

I have put the HNHX MB in your 5th floor office; Xiaodi wants me to remind you that only Director and officer of HNHX (not shareholder or aides of shareholder) have the privilege to the MB; and we all have the fiduciary duty to keep confidential to any third party.

Since this is the actual and only copy, can you please make sure you keep it safe and return to Xiaodi (or myself) when you are finished?

Thanks, Michael

On Jan 4, 2019, at 9:47 AM, Alan Steele <asteele@westlakeenergy.ca> wrote:

Thanks Michael

R. Alan Steele West Lake Energy Corp. T: (403) 215-2692 C: (403) 863-2124

From: Michael Lam Sent: January-04-19 9:30 AM To: Alan Steele Cc: Steven Neu; 邓小泊 (deng.xb@snencn.cn); David Middleton Subject: Re: officer certificate for York city loans

Will do; I can provide their most updated registration later today.

Steven, any updates on those indemnities? lake and myself can't, won't, and not allowed do anything without these standard indemnities.

Thanks, Michael This is Exhibit "94" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

Henenghaixin Corp

r,

and the second

ئم.'

Minute Book

List of Document as of October 6, 2020

| tem no, | Date of Document          | Name of document                                            | Note                  |               |
|---------|---------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------|---------------|
| 1.      | Created November 21, 2018 | Corporate Summary Report                                    | *V                    |               |
| 2,      | November 23, 2016         | Certificate of Incorporation                                |                       |               |
| 3,      |                           | Articles of Incorporation                                   | l v                   |               |
| 4.      | November 23, 2016         | Incorporate Alberta Corporation –Registration Statement |                       |               |
| 5,      | 2016                      | By-law No. 1                                                |                       |               |
| 6.      | Feb 12 2019               | 2018 Annual return                                          |                       |               |
| 7.      | Feb 12 2019               | 2017 Annual Return                                          | V i                   |               |
| 8,      | December 12, 2018         | 2018 Annual return                                          | unsigned 🖌            |               |
| 9.      | December 12, 2018         | 2018 Annual Return                                          | unsigned 🗸            |               |
| 10.     | December 12, 2018         | 2017 Annual Return                                          | unsigned v            |               |
| 11.     | August 28, 2017           | Resolution of all the directors ofHenenghaixin Corp     |                       |               |
| 12.     | March 1, 2017             | Board resolution                                            | V                     |               |
| 13.     | November 23, 2016         | Board resolutions                                           | 。ビ                |               |
| 14.     | November 23, 2016         | Receipt signed by H Corp $/ \int \omega_{k} c_{k}$          | The fourtherer Rigard | J. Non L      |
| 15.     | November 30, 2018         | Sole shareholder resolutions                                | Unsigned              | Are           |
| 16.     | September 21, 2017        | Sole shareholder resolutions                                |                       | $\mathcal{I}$ |
| 17,     | September 21, 2017        | Resignation signed by TianzhouDeng                      | ľ.                    |               |
| 18.     | November 26, 2018         | Sole shareholder resolutions                                | l i/                  |               |
| 19.     | November 23, 2016         | Solé shareholder resolutions                                | V                     |               |
| 20.     | November 23, 2016         | Declaration and consent toHenenghaixin Corp             | V                     |               |
| 21.     | November 23, 2016         | Consent by Dehuang Yu                                       | unsigned V            |               |
| 22.     | November 23, 2016         | Consent by Jun Xiong                                        | unsigned $\bar{ u}$   |               |
| 23.     | November 23, 2016         | Consent by Tianzhou Deng                                    |                       |               |
| 24.     | September 21, 2017        | Register of directors                                       |                       |               |
| 25.     | March 1, 2017             | Securities Register                                         |                       |               |
| 26.     | November 233, 2016        | Register of Transfers of Class A common shares              |                       |               |
| 27.     | March 30, 2017            | Securities Register                                         |                       |               |
| 28.     | March 30, 2017            | Securities Register                                         | $\checkmark$          |               |
| 29.     | December 11, 2018         | Notice of Address or Notice ofChange of Address         | V                     |               |

| 30.             | December 11, 2018  | Change of address – proof of filing                                | V                                                      |  |
|-----------------|--------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|--|
| 31.             | September 21, 2017 | Change director / shareholder – proof of filing                    |                                                        |  |
| 32,             | March 1, 2017      | 100 Class "A" common Share -certificate of the Corporation     | J                                                      |  |
| 33 <sub>e</sub> | November 23, 2016  | 100 Class "A" common Share -certificate of the Corporation     | Cancelledレ                                         |  |
| 34.             | January 1, 2017    | Share Repurchase Agreementbetween S Neu and theCorporation | Signature of theCorporation is missing             |  |
| 35.             | January 1, 2017    | Schedule A – Acknowledgementand authorization signed by S Neu  | · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·                  |  |
| 36.             | March 1, 2017      | Instrument of transfer signed by SNeu                          |                                                        |  |
| 37.             | December 19, 2016  | CRA letter on registrationconfirmation notice - GST            | V                                                      |  |
| 38.             | November 19, 2018  | Search Report on change director / shareholder                     |                                                        |  |
| 39,             | November 19, 2018  | Search report on incorporateAlberta Corporation                | V                                                      |  |
| 40.             | September 21, 2017 | Review legal Entity History                                        | Michael Lam isauthorized rep of theCorporation |  |
| 41.             | November 19, 2018  | Search report on change director / shareholdder                    | V.                                                     |  |
| 42.             | October 30, 2018   | Review Legal Entity History                                        |                                                        |  |
| 43.             | October 30, 2018   | Director / shareholder – Deng,Tianzhou                         | $\mathcal{V}$                                          |  |
| 44.             | October 30, 2018   | Review legal entity history – the Corporation                      |                                                        |  |
| 45,             | October 30, 2018   | Director / shareholder – Xiong, Jun                                | · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·                  |  |
| 46.             | October 30, 2018   | Director / shareholder – Neu,Steven                            |                                                        |  |
| 47,-            | October 30, 2018   | Director / shareholder – Tu,Haipeng                            | V                                                      |  |

Transferred by

Steven Neu October , 2020

Received by Q, Roger Song October <sub>i</sub>2020

Page 2 of 2

This is Exhibit "95" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

REPRESENTATIVE INDEMNITY AGREEMENT

DATED effective as of the day of , between:

HENENGHAIXIN CORP., a corporation incorporated under the laws of the Province of Alberta (the "Corporation")

and

YORK CITY ENTERPRISES LTD., a corporation incorporated under the laws of the British Virgin Islands (the "Shareholder")

and

an individual residing in Loloow "Indemnified Party").

WHEREAS the Corporation and the Shareholder have engaged the Indemnified Party as an agent and representative of it in order to among other things, assist in liaising with shareholders, limited partners, board members and the executive of each of the Corporation and its affiliates, liaising with various other service providers and representatives of the Corporation and the Shareholder, and providing strategic and market specific advice (and other services as may be requested from time to time, the "Services");

AND WHEREAS the Indemnified Party is willing to provide the Services, or to continue to provide the Services, to the Corporation, the Shareholder or the Corporation Affiliates as part on the condition that he/she be indemnified as provided for herein;

NOW THEREFORE, IN CONSIDERATION OF the premises and mutual covenants herein contained, and in consideration of the sum of $1.00 paid by the Indemnified Party to each of the Corporation and the Shareholder (the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged) and the Indemnified Party acting and/or agreeing to continue to provide the Services, each of the Corporation and the Shareholder (for itself and on behalf of each Corporation Affiliate) and the Indemnified Party do hereby covenant and agree as set forth below.

1. Agreement to Serve

The Indemnified Party agrees to serve or continue to provide Services to the Corporation and the Shareholder, honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of the Corporation and/or Shareholder or Corporation Affiliate for so long as the Services are requested or required.

2. Indemnification

(a) To the full extent allowed by law, the Corporation, the Shareholder and each Corporation Affiliate jointly and severally agree to indemnify and save harmless the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs, from and against any and all losses, liabilities, claims, damages, fines, penalties, costs, charges or expenses of any nature whatsoever (including, but not limited to, an amount paid to settle any action or to satisfy any judgment, legal fees on a solicitor and client basis, other professional fees, out-of-pocket expenses for attending proceedings including discoveries, trials, hearings and meetings, and any amount for which he/she is liable by reason of any statutory provision whether civil, criminal or otherwise and whether such claim is anticipated, threatened, pending, commenced, continued or completed and the foregoing shall include any appeal, as well as the amount of any income taxes payable as a result of other payments made hereunder) (herein referred to as "Costs, Charges and Expenses"), suffered or incurred by the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs, directly or indirectly, as a result or by reason of the Indemnified Party providing the Services, provided that such costs, charges or expenses were not suffered or incurred as a result of the Indemnified Party's own fraud, dishonesty, wilful neglect or wilful default, as determined finally by a court of competent jurisdiction upon entry of a final, non-appealable judgment.

- (b) In addition and without limitation of the previous Section 2(a), each of the Corporation and Shareholder jointly and severally agrees:
  - (i) except in respect of an action by or on behalf of the Corporation, Shareholder or Corporation Affiliate to procure a judgment in its favour, to indemnify the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs, from and against all Costs, Charges and Expenses reasonably incurred by him/her in respect of any civil, criminal or administrative action or proceeding to which he/she is made a party (including actions, proceedings, investigations, inquiries or hearings in which the Indemnified Party is compelled by the authorities or requested by the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate to participate, whether or not charges have been laid against the Corporation, Corporation Affiliate or Indemnified Party), by reason of providing the Services, if:
    - (A) he/she acted honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of the Corporation and/or Shareholder; and
    - (B) in the case of a criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing that is enforced by monetary penalty, he/she had reasonable grounds for believing that his/her conduct was lawful;
  - (ii) to indemnify the Indemnified Party and his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs from and against all Costs, Charges and Expenses of any action by or on behalf of the Corporation, Shareholder or Corporation Affiliate to procure a judgment in its favour, to which he/she is made a party by reason of providing the Services, if the Indemnified Party has fulfilled the conditions set forth in sections 2(b)(i)(A) and 2(b)(i)(B) above;
  - (iii) in the event that the approval of the Court is required to effect any indemnification granted hereunder, the Shareholder and Corporation each agree to make application for and use its best efforts to obtain the Court's approval to such indemnification provided that the Indemnified Party has fulfilled the conditions set forth in sections 2(b)(i)(A) and 2(b)(i)(B) above; and
  - (iv) notwithstanding sections 2(b)(i) and 2(b)(ii) above, to indemnify the Indemnified Party and his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs against all Costs, Charges and Expenses reasonably incurred by him/her or them in respect of any civil, criminal or administrative action or proceeding to which he/she is made a party (including actions, proceedings, investigations, inquiries or hearings in which the Indemnified Party is compelled by the authorities or requested by the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate to participate, whether or not charges have been laid against the Corporation, Corporation Affiliate or Indemnified Party), by reason of providing the Services, if the Indemnified Party:

- (A) was substantially successful on the merits in his/her defence of the action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing,
- (B) fulfils the conditions set out in sections 2(b)(i)(A) and 2(b)(i)(B) set out above, and
- (C) is fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnity.
- (c) For the purposes of this agreement including, without limitation, Section 2 hereof, the termination of any such civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing, by judgment, order, settlement, conviction or similar or other result, shall not, of itself, create a presumption either that the Indemnified Party did not act honestly or in good faith with a view to the best interests of the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate or that, in the case of a criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing that is enforced by a monetary penalty, the Indemnified Party did not have reasonable grounds for believing that his/her conduct was lawful.
- (d) The intention of this agreement is to provide the Indemnified Party indemnification to the fullest extent permitted by law and without limiting the generality of the foregoing and notwithstanding anything contained herein:
  - (i) nothing in this agreement shall be interpreted, by implication or otherwise, in limitation of the scope of the indemnification provided in sections 2(a) and 2(b) hereof; and
  - (ii) section 2(b) is intended to provide indemnification to the Indemnified Party that is not specifically prohibited by a court of competent jurisdiction and to the fullest extent permitted by the Act and, in the event that the Act is amended to permit a broader scope of indemnification (including, without limitation, the deletion or limiting of one or more of the provisos to the applicability of indemnification), section 2(b) shall be deemed to be amended concurrently with the amendment to the Act so as to provide such broader indemnification.

3. Prepaid Expenses

All Costs, Charges and Expenses reasonably incurred by the Indemnified Party and covered hereunder shall, if requested by the Indemnified Party within a reasonable time, he/she paid by the either Corporation or the Shareholder immediately (including in advance as may be appropriate to enable the Indemnified Party to properly investigate, defend or appeal such action or proceeding), with the understanding and agreement being herein made that, in the event it is ultimately determined as provided hereunder that the Indemnified Party was not entitled to be so indemnified, or was not entitled to be fully so indemnified, the Indemnified Party shall indemnify and hold harmless the Corporation and the Shareholder, and pay to the Corporation or the Shareholder (as applicable) forthwith after such ultimate determination, such amount or the appropriate portion thereof, so paid. In the event of dispute, the Corporation to the Court to approve the indemnify.

4. Other Rights and Remedies

13

٩

Indemnification and immediate or advance payment of incurred Costs, Charges and Expenses as provided by this agreement shall not be deemed to derogate from or exclude any other rights to which the Indemnified Party may be entitled under any provision of the Act or otherwise at law, the articles or by-laws of the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate, this agreement, any vote of shareholders of the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate, or otherwise, and shall continue after the Indemnified Party has ceased to provide the Services.

5. Limitation of Actions and Release of Claims

No legal action shall be brought and no cause of action shall be asserted by or on behalf of the Corporation or any Corporation Affiliate against the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives or lawful heirs after the expiration of two years from the date the Indemnified Party ceased (for any reason) to provide Services and the Shareholder and Corporation agree that any claim or cause of action of the Shareholder or Corporation or of any Corporation Affiliate shall be extinguished and the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs deemed released therefrom absolutely unless asserted by the commencement of legal action in a court of competent jurisdiction within such two-year period.

6. Notice of Proceedings

The Indemnified Party agrees to give notice to the Shareholder and Corporation as soon as is reasonably practical after being served with any statement of claim, writ, notice of motion, indictment or other document commencing or continuing any civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing to which the Indemnified Party, is a party, whether or not charges have been laid against the Shareholder, Corporation, Corporate Affiliate or Indemnified Party, by reason of the provision of the Services and the Corporation agrees to give notice to the Indemnified Party in writing as soon as is reasonably practical after:

- (a) being served with any such statement of claim, writ, notice of motion, indictment or other document commencing or continuing any civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing to which the Indemnified Party is a party; whether or not charges have been laid against the Shareholder, Corporation, Corporate Affiliate or Indemnified Party, or
- (b) receiving notice of any such civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing to which the Indemnified Party is a party, whether or not charges have been laid against the Shareholder, Corporation, Corporate Affiliate or Indemnified Party, provided, however, that the failure of the Indemnified Party to give such notice to the Shareholder or Corporation shall not adversely affect the Indemnified Party's rights under this agreement except to the extent that the Shareholder or Corporation shall have been materially prejudiced as a direct result of such failure.

7. Right to Retain Counsel

The Shareholder and the Corporation agree to promptly retain counsel who shall be reasonably satisfactory to the Indemnified Party to represent the Indemnified Party. No admission of liability and no settlement of any civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing to which the Indemnified Party is a party, shall be made by the Shareholder or the Corporation without the consent of the Indemnified Party, such consent not to be unreasonably withheld.

In any such matter the Indemnified Party shall have the right to retain other counsel to act on his/her behalf, provided that the fees and disbursements of such other counsel shall be paid by the Indemnified Party unless:

- (a) the Indemnified Party and the Shareholder, Corporation or Corporation Affiliate shall have mutually agreed to the retention of such other counsel,
- (b) the parties to any such civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing (including any added third, or interpleaded parties) include the Shareholder, Corporation or Corporation Affiliate and the Indemnified Party and representation of more than one party by the same counsel would be inappropriate due to actual or potential differing interests between them (including the availability of different defences) in which event the Shareholder, Corporation and Corporation Affiliate, jointly and severally agree to pay the fees and disbursements of such counsel, or
- (c) the Shareholder or Corporation has not retained counsel who is reasonably satisfactory to the Indemnified Party in a reasonably timely manner.

For greater clarity, in the event of 7(a), (b) or (c), the fees and disbursements of such other counsel shall be paid by the Corporation and Shareholder.

8. Indemnified Party to Cooperate

The Indemnified Party agrees to give the Shareholder Corporation such information and cooperation as the Corporation may reasonably require from time to time in respect of all matters hereunder.

9. Effective Time

This agreement shall be effective as and from the earlier of the first day that the Indemnified Party began providing Services.

10. Notices

÷ą

Unless otherwise permitted by this agreement, all notices, requests, demands or other communications hereunder shall be in writing and shall be deemed to have been fully given if personally delivered to the party to whom the notice or other communication is directed or, if mailed by prepaid registered mail, on the fifth business day after the date on which it is so mailed (provided that if there is an interruption in the regular postal service during such period arising out of a strike, walk out, work slowdown or similar labour dispute in the postal system, all days during such interruption occurs shall not be counted):

(a) if to the Indemnified Party, at:

Attention; E-mail: mic 1. Com

- 6.-

(b) if to the Corporation or the Shareholder, at:

Henenghaixin Corp. 700, 600 - 3nd Avenue SW Calgary, AB, Canada T2P 0G5

Attention: Chairman

or to such other address as each party may from time to time notify the other of in writing.

If the Shareholder or Corporation receives notice from any other source of any matter which the Indemnified Party would otherwise be obligated hereunder to give notice of to the Shareholder or Corporation, then the Indemnified Party shall be relieved of his/her obligation hereunder to give notice to the Shareholder or Corporation, provided the Shareholder or Corporation has not suffered any material damage from the failure of the Indemnified Party to give notice as herein required.

11. Severability

g k a k

If any provision or provisions of this agreement shall be held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable for any reason whatsoever:

- (a) the validity, legality and enforceability of the remaining provisions of this agreement (including, without limitation, all portions of any paragraph of this agreement containing such provisions held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, that are not of themselves in whole invalid, illegal or unenforceable) shall not in any way be affected or impaired thereby; and
- (b) to the fullest possible extent, the provisions of this agreement (including, without limitation, all portions of any paragraphs of this agreement containing any such provisions held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, that are not of themselves in whole invalid, illegal or unenforceable) shall be construed so as to give effect to the intent manifested by the provision which is held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable.

12. Governing Law

The parties hereto agree that this agreement shall be construed and enforced in accordance with the laws in force in the Province of Alberta and the federal laws of Canada applicable therein without reference to its conflict of laws provisions. The parties hereto irrevocably attorn to the jurisdiction of the courts of the Province of Alberta.

13. Modification and Waiver

No supplement, modification or amendment of this agreement shall be binding unless executed in writing by both parties hereto. No waiver of any of the provisions of this agreement shall be deemed or shall constitute a waiver of any other provision hereof (whether or not similar) nor shall such waiver constitute a continuing waiver.

14. Entire Agreement

This agreement shall supersede and replace any and all prior agreements (except any written agreement of employment between the Shareholder, Corporation and the Indemnified Party, which shall remain in full force and effect, except to the extent augmented or amended hereby), between the parties hereto respecting the matters set forth herein, and shall constitute the entire agreement between the parties hereto in respect of the matters set forth herein.

15. Successors and Assigns

This agreement shall be binding upon and enure to the benefit of the Shareholder and Corporation and their respective successors and permitted assigns and to the Indemnified Party and his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs whether such Indemnified Party continues to provide Services.

16. Successor Legislation

Any references herein to any enactment shall be deemed to be references to such enactment as the same may be amended or replaced from time to time and, in the event that the Shareholder or Corporation is continued, incorporated, amalgamated, arranged under or otherwise becomes governed by an enactment other than the Act, then all references herein to the Act shall be deemed to be references to such enactment as the same may be amended or replaced from time to time.

17. Counterparts

The parties agree that this agreement may be signed in counterparts and that receipt by facsimile of an executed copy of this agreement shall constitute acceptable delivery.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the parties hereto have executed and delivered this agreement as at the date first written above.

HENENGHAIXIN CORP.

Per: Name: Steven Neu Title: Director

e: Director

YORK CITY ENTERPRISES LTD,

Per:

Name: Meng Tang Title: Director

Director

Witness Name:

This is Exhibit "96" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

REPRESENTATIVE INDEMNITY AGREEMENT

DATED effective as of the _____ day of March_____, 20___, between:

HENENGHAIXIN CORP., a corporation incorporated under the laws of the Province of Alberta (the "Corporation")

and

4

YORK CITY ENTERPRISES LTD., a corporation incorporated under the laws of the British Virgin Islands (the "Shareholder")

and

Kioolo (Lote) Mang_, an individual residing in Briting (the "Indemnified Party"). hine

WHEREAS the Corporation and the Shareholder have engaged the Indemnified Party as an agent and representative of it in order to among other things, assist in liaising with shareholders, limited partners, board members and the executive of each of the Corporation and its affiliates, liaising with various other service providers and representatives of the Corporation and the Shareholder, and providing strategic and market specific advice (and other services as may be requested from time to time, the "Services");

AND WHEREAS the Indemnified Party is willing to provide the Services, or to continue to provide the Services, to the Corporation, the Shareholder or the Corporation Affiliates as part on the condition that he/she be indemnified as provided for herein;

NOW THEREFORE, IN CONSIDERATION OF the premises and mutual covenants herein contained, and in consideration of the sum of $1.00 paid by the Indemnified Party to each of the Corporation and the Shareholder (the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged) and the Indemnified Party acting and/or agreeing to continue to provide the Services, each of the Corporation and the Shareholder (for itself and on behalf of each Corporation Affiliate) and the Indemnified Party do hereby covenant and agree as set forth below.

1. Agreement to Serve

The Indemnified Party agrees to serve or continue to provide Services to the Corporation and the Shareholder, honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of the Corporation and/or Shareholder or Corporation Affiliate for so long as the Services are requested or required.

2. Indemnification

(a) To the full extent allowed by law, the Corporation, the Shareholder and each Corporation Affiliate jointly and severally agree to indemnify and save harmless the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs, from and against any and all losses, liabilities, claims, damages, fines, penalties, costs, charges or expenses of any nature whatsoever (including, but not limited to, an amount paid to settle any action or to satisfy any judgment, legal fees on a solicitor and client basis, other professional fees, out-of-pocket expenses for attending proceedings including discoveries, trials, hearings and meetings, and any amount for which he/she is liable by reason of any statutory provision whether civil, criminal or otherwise and whether such claim is anticipated, threatened, pending, commenced, continued or completed and the foregoing shall include any appeal, as well as the amount of any income taxes payable as a result of other payments made hereunder) (herein referred to as "Costs, Charges and Expenses"), suffered or incurred by the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs, directly or indirectly, as a result or by reason of the Indemnified Party providing the Services, provided that such costs, charges or expenses were not suffered or incurred as a result of the Indemnified Party's own fraud, dishonesty, wilful neglect or wilful default, as determined finally by a court of competent jurisdiction upon entry of a final, non-appealable judgment.

÷:

- (b) In addition and without limitation of the previous Section 2(a), each of the Corporation and Shareholder jointly and severally agrees:
  - (i) except in respect of an action by or on behalf of the Corporation, Shareholder or Corporation Affiliate to procure a judgment in its favour, to indemnify the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs, from and against all Costs, Charges and Expenses reasonably incurred by him/her in respect of any civil, criminal or administrative action or proceeding to which he/she is made a party (including actions, proceedings, investigations, inquiries or hearings in which the Indemnified Party is compelled by the authorities or requested by the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate to participate, whether or not charges have been laid against the Corporation, Corporation Affiliate or Indemnified Party), by reason of providing the Services, if:
    - (A) he/she acted honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of the Corporation and/or Shareholder; and
    - (B) in the case of a criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing that is enforced by monetary penalty, he/she had reasonable grounds for believing that his/her conduct was lawful;
  - (ii) to indemnify the Indemnified Party and his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs from and against all Costs, Charges and Expenses of any action by or on behalf of the Corporation, Shareholder or Corporation Affiliate to procure a judgment in its favour, to which he/she is made a party by reason of providing the Services, if the Indemnified Party has fulfilled the conditions set forth in sections 2(b)(i)(A) and 2(b)(i)(B) above;
  - (iii) in the event that the approval of the Court is required to effect any indemnification granted hereunder, the Shareholder and Corporation each agree to make application for and use its best efforts to obtain the Court's approval to such indemnification provided that the Indemnified Party has fulfilled the conditions set forth in sections 2(b)(i)(A) and 2(b)(i)(B) above; and
  - (iv) notwithstanding sections 2(b)(i) and 2(b)(ii) above, to indemnify the Indemnified Party and his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs against all Costs, Charges and Expenses reasonably incurred by him/her or them in respect of any civil, criminal or administrative action or proceeding to which he/she is made a party (including actions, proceedings, investigations, inquiries or hearings in which the Indemnified Party is compelled by the authorities or requested by the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate to participate, whether or not charges have been laid against the Corporation, Corporation Affiliate or Indemnified Party), by reason of providing the Services, if the Indemnified Party:

 $\mathbf{\hat{v}}$

- (A) was substantially successful on the merits in his/her defence of the action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing,
- (B) fulfils the conditions set out in sections 2(b)(i)(A) and 2(b)(i)(B) set out above, and
- (C) is fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnity.
- (c) For the purposes of this agreement including, without limitation, Section 2 hereof, the termination of any such civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing, by judgment, order, settlement, conviction or similar or other result, shall not, of itself, create a presumption either that the Indemnified Party did not act honestly or in good faith with a view to the best interests of the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate or that, in the case of a criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing that is enforced by a monetary penalty, the Indemnified Party did not have reasonable grounds for believing that his/her conduct was lawful.
- (d) The intention of this agreement is to provide the Indemnified Party indemnification to the fullest extent permitted by law and without limiting the generality of the foregoing and notwithstanding anything contained herein:
  - nothing in this agreement shall be interpreted, by implication or otherwise, in limitation of the scope of the indemnification provided in sections 2(a) and 2(b) hereof; and
  - (ii) section 2(b) is intended to provide indemnification to the Indemnified Party that is not specifically prohibited by a court of competent jurisdiction and to the fullest extent permitted by the Act and, in the event that the Act is amended to permit a broader scope of indemnification (including, without limitation, the deletion or limiting of one or more of the provisos to the applicability of indemnification), section 2(b) shall be deemed to be amended concurrently with the amendment to the Act so as to provide such broader indemnification.

3. Prepaid Expenses

All Costs, Charges and Expenses reasonably incurred by the Indemnified Party and covered hereunder shall, if requested by the Indemnified Party within a reasonable time, he/she paid by the either Corporation or the Shareholder immediately (including in advance as may be appropriate to enable the Indemnified Party to properly investigate, defend or appeal such action or proceeding), with the understanding and agreement being herein made that, in the event it is ultimately determined as provided hereunder that the Indemnified Party was not entitled to be so indemnified, or was not entitled to be fully so indemnified, the Indemnified Party shall indemnify and hold harmless the Corporation and the Shareholder, and pay to the Corporation or the Shareholder (as applicable) forthwith after such ultimate determination, such amount or the appropriate portion thereof, so paid. In the event of dispute, the Corporation to the Court to approve the indemnified Party, at the Corporation's or Shareholder's expense, shall make application to the Court to approve the indemnify.

4. Other Rights and Remedies

.

Indemnification and immediate or advance payment of incurred Costs, Charges and Expenses as provided by this agreement shall not be deemed to derogate from or exclude any other rights to which the Indemnified Party may be entitled under any provision of the Act or otherwise at law, the articles or by-laws of the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate, this agreement, any vote of shareholders of the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate, or otherwise, and shall continue after the Indemnified Party has ceased to provide the Services.

5. Limitation of Actions and Release of Claims

No legal action shall be brought and no cause of action shall be asserted by or on behalf of the Corporation or any Corporation Affiliate against the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives or lawful heirs after the expiration of two years from the date the Indemnified Party ceased (for any reason) to provide Services and the Shareholder and Corporation agree that any claim or cause of action of the Shareholder or Corporation or of any Corporation Affiliate shall be extinguished and the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs deemed released therefrom absolutely unless asserted by the commencement of legal action in a court of competent jurisdiction within such two-year period.

6. Notice of Proceedings

The Indemnified Party agrees to give notice to the Shareholder and Corporation as soon as is reasonably practical after being served with any statement of claim, writ, notice of motion, indictment or other document commencing or continuing any civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing to which the Indemnified Party, is a party, whether or not charges have been laid against the Shareholder, Corporation, Corporate Affiliate or Indemnified Party, by reason of the provision of the Services and the Corporation agrees to give notice to the Indemnified Party in writing as soon as is reasonably practical after:

- (a) being served with any such statement of claim, writ, notice of motion, indictment or other document commencing or continuing any civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing to which the Indemnified Party is a party; whether or not charges have been laid against the Shareholder, Corporation, Corporate Affiliate or Indemnified Party, or
- (b) receiving notice of any such civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing to which the Indemnified Party is a party, whether or not charges have been laid against the Shareholder, Corporation, Corporate Affiliate or Indemnified Party,

provided, however, that the failure of the Indemnified Party to give such notice to the Shareholder or Corporation shall not adversely affect the Indemnified Party's rights under this agreement except to the extent that the Shareholder or Corporation shall have been materially prejudiced as a direct result of such failure.

7. Right to Retain Counsel

The Shareholder and the Corporation agree to promptly retain counsel who shall be reasonably satisfactory to the Indemnified Party to represent the Indemnified Party. No admission of liability and no settlement of any civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing to which the Indemnified Party is a party, shall be made by the Shareholder or the Corporation without the consent of the Indemnified Party, such consent not to be unreasonably withheld.

In any such matter the Indemnified Party shall have the right to retain other counsel to act on his/her behalf, provided that the fees and disbursements of such other counsel shall be paid by the Indemnified Party unless:

- (a) the Indemnified Party and the Shareholder, Corporation or Corporation Affiliate shall have mutually agreed to the retention of such other counsel,
- (b) the parties to any such civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing (including any added third, or interpleaded parties) include the Shareholder, Corporation or Corporation Affiliate and the Indemnified Party and representation of more than one party by the same counsel would be inappropriate due to actual or potential differing interests between them (including the availability of different defences) in which event the Shareholder, Corporation and Corporation Affiliate, jointly and severally agree to pay the fees and disbursements of such counsel, or
- (c) the Shareholder or Corporation has not retained counsel who is reasonably satisfactory to the Indemnified Party in a reasonably timely manner.

For greater clarity, in the event of 7(a), (b) or (c), the fees and disbursements of such other counsel shall be paid by the Corporation and Shareholder.

8. Indemnified Party to Cooperate

The Indemnified Party agrees to give the Shareholder Corporation such information and cooperation as the Corporation may reasonably require from time to time in respect of all matters hereunder.

9. Effective Time

This agreement shall be effective as and from the earlier of the first day that the Indemnified Party began providing Services.

10. Notices

Unless otherwise permitted by this agreement, all notices, requests, demands or other communications hereunder shall be in writing and shall be deemed to have been fully given if personally delivered to the party to whom the notice or other communication is directed or, if mailed by prepaid registered mail, on the fifth business day after the date on which it is so mailed (provided that if there is an interruption in the regular postal service during such period arising out of a strike, walk out, work slowdown or similar labour dispute in the postal system, all days during such interruption occurs shall not be counted):

(a) if to the Indemnified Party, at:

Attention: de E-mail: Takadave

- 6 -

(b) if to the Corporation or the Shareholder, at:

Henenghaixin Corp. 700, 600 - 3nd Avenue SW Calgary, AB, Canada T2P 0G5

Attention: Chairman

or to such other address as each party may from time to time notify the other of in writing.

If the Shareholder or Corporation receives notice from any other source of any matter which the Indemnified Party would otherwise be obligated hereunder to give notice of to the Shareholder or Corporation, then the Indemnified Party shall be relieved of his/her obligation hereunder to give notice to the Shareholder or Corporation, provided the Shareholder or Corporation has not suffered any material damage from the failure of the Indemnified Party to give notice as herein required.

11. Severability

If any provision or provisions of this agreement shall be held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable for any reason whatsoever:

- (a) the validity, legality and enforceability of the remaining provisions of this agreement (including, without limitation, all portions of any paragraph of this agreement containing such provisions held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, that are not of themselves in whole invalid, illegal or unenforceable) shall not in any way be affected or impaired thereby; and
- (b) to the fullest possible extent, the provisions of this agreement (including, without limitation, all portions of any paragraphs of this agreement containing any such provisions held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, that are not of themselves in whole invalid, illegal or unenforceable) shall be construed so as to give effect to the intent manifested by the provision which is held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable.

12. Governing Law

The parties hereto agree that this agreement shall be construed and enforced in accordance with the laws in force in the Province of Alberta and the federal laws of Canada applicable therein without reference to its conflict of laws provisions. The parties hereto irrevocably attorn to the jurisdiction of the courts of the Province of Alberta.

13. Modification and Waiver

No supplement, modification or amendment of this agreement shall be binding unless executed in writing by both parties hereto. No waiver of any of the provisions of this agreement shall be deemed or shall constitute a waiver of any other provision hereof (whether or not similar) nor shall such waiver constitute a continuing waiver.

14. Entire Agreement

This agreement shall supersede and replace any and all prior agreements (except any written agreement of employment between the Shareholder, Corporation and the Indemnified Party, which shall remain in full force and effect, except to the extent augmented or amended hereby), between the parties hereto respecting the matters set forth herein, and shall constitute the entire agreement between the parties hereto in respect of the matters set forth herein.

15. Successors and Assigns

, a k k

This agreement shall be binding upon and enure to the benefit of the Shareholder and Corporation and their respective successors and permitted assigns and to the Indemnified Party and his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs whether such Indemnified Party continues to provide Services.

16. Successor Legislation

Any references herein to any enactment shall be deemed to be references to such enactment as the same may be amended or replaced from time to time and, in the event that the Shareholder or Corporation is continued, incorporated, amalgamated, arranged under or otherwise becomes governed by an enactment other than the Act, then all references herein to the Act shall be deemed to be references to such enactment as the same may be amended or replaced from time to time.

17. Counterparts

The parties agree that this agreement may be signed in counterparts and that receipt by facsimile of an executed copy of this agreement shall constitute acceptable delivery.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the parties hereto have executed and delivered this agreement as at the date first written above.

HENENGHAIXIN CORP.

Per: Name: S Title: 1

Steven Neu Director

YORK CITY ENTERPRISES LTD.

Per

Name: Title:

Meng Tang Director

Witness Name:

Wichael Lom

This is Exhibit "97" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

REPRESENTATIVE INDEMNITY AGREEMENT

DATED effective as of the ____day of 🔥 between

HENENGHAIXIN CORP., a corporation incorporated under the laws of the Province of Alberta (the "Corporation")

and

80

YORK CITY ENTERPRISES LTD., a corporation incorporated under the laws of the British Virgin Islands (the "Shareholder")

and

(the "Indemnified Party").

WHEREAS the Corporation and the Shareholder have engaged the Indemnified Party as an agent and representative of it in order to among other things, assist in liaising with shareholders, limited partners, board members and the executive of each of the Corporation and its affiliates, liaising with various other service providers and representatives of the Corporation and the Shareholder, and providing strategic and market specific advice (and other services as may be requested from time to time, the "Services");

AND WHEREAS the Indemnified Party is willing to provide the Services, or to continue to provide the Services, to the Corporation, the Shareholder or the Corporation Affiliates as part on the condition that he/she be indemnified as provided for herein;

NOW THEREFORE, IN CONSIDERATION OF the premises and mutual covenants herein contained, and in consideration of the sum of $1.00 paid by the Indemnified Party to each of the Corporation and the Shareholder (the receipt and sufficiency of which is hereby acknowledged) and the Indemnified Party acting and/or agreeing to continue to provide the Services, each of the Corporation and the Shareholder (for itself and on behalf of each Corporation Affiliate) and the Indemnified Party do hereby covenant and agree as set forth below.

1. Agreement to Serve

The Indemnified Party agrees to serve or continue to provide Services to the Corporation and the Shareholder, honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of the Corporation and/or Shareholder or Corporation Affiliate for so long as the Services are requested or required.

2. Indemnification

(a) To the full extent allowed by law, the Corporation, the Shareholder and each Corporation Affiliate jointly and severally agree to indemnify and save harmless the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs, from and against any and all losses, liabilities, claims, damages, fines, penalties, costs, charges or expenses of any nature whatsoever (including, but not limited to, an amount paid to settle any action or to satisfy any judgment, legal fees on a solicitor and client basis, other professional fees, out-of-pocket expenses for attending proceedings including discoveries, trials, hearings and meetings, and any amount for which he/she is liable by reason of any statutory provision whether civil, criminal or otherwise and whether such claim is anticipated, threatened, pending, commenced, continued or completed and the foregoing shall include any appeal, as well as the amount of any income taxes payable as a result of other payments made hereunder) (herein referred to as "Costs, Charges and Expenses"), suffered or incurred by the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs, directly or indirectly, as a result or by reason of the Indemnified Party providing the Services, provided that such costs, charges or expenses were not suffered or incurred as a result of the Indemnified Party's own fraud, dishonesty, wilful neglect or wilful default, as determined finally by a court of competent jurisdiction upon entry of a final, non-appealable judgment.

- (b) In addition and without limitation of the previous Section 2(a), each of the Corporation and Shareholder jointly and severally agrees:
  - (i) except in respect of an action by or on behalf of the Corporation, Shareholder or Corporation Affiliate to procure a judgment in its favour, to indemnify the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs, from and against all Costs, Charges and Expenses reasonably incurred by him/her in respect of any civil, criminal or administrative action or proceeding to which he/she is made a party (including actions, proceedings, investigations, inquiries or hearings in which the Indemnified Party is compelled by the authorities or requested by the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate to participate, whether or not charges have been laid against the Corporation, Corporation Affiliate or Indemnified Party), by reason of providing the Services, if:
    - (A) he/she acted honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of the Corporation and/or Shareholder; and
    - (B) in the case of a criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing that is enforced by monetary penalty, he/she had reasonable grounds for believing that his/her conduct was lawful;
  - (ii) to indemnify the Indemnified Party and his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs from and against all Costs, Charges and Expenses of any action by or on behalf of the Corporation, Shareholder or Corporation Affiliate to procure a judgment in its favour, to which he/she is made a party by reason of providing the Services, if the Indemnified Party has fulfilled the conditions set forth in sections 2(b)(i)(A) and 2(b)(i)(B) above;
  - (iii) in the event that the approval of the Court is required to effect any indemnification granted hereunder, the Shareholder and Corporation each agree to make application for and use its best efforts to obtain the Court's approval to such indemnification provided that the Indemnified Party has fulfilled the conditions set forth in sections 2(b)(i)(A) and 2(b)(i)(B) above; and
  - (iv) notwithstanding sections 2(b)(i) and 2(b)(ii) above, to indemnify the Indemnified Party and his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs against all Costs, Charges and Expenses reasonably incurred by him/her or them in respect of any civil, criminal or administrative action or proceeding to which he/she is made a party (including actions, proceedings, investigations, inquiries or hearings in which the Indemnified Party is compelled by the authorities or requested by the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate to participate, whether or not charges have been laid against the Corporation, Corporation Affiliate or Indemnified Party), by reason of providing the Services, if the Indemnified Party:

Ŧ

- (A) was substantially successful on the merits in his/her defence of the action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing,
- (B) fulfils the conditions set out in sections 2(b)(i)(A) and 2(b)(i)(B) set out above, and
- (C) is fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnity<sub>4</sub>
- (c) For the purposes of this agreement including, without limitation, Section 2 hereof, the termination of any such civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing, by judgment, order, settlement, conviction or similar or other result, shall not, of itself, create a presumption either that the Indemnified Party did not act honestly or in good faith with a view to the best interests of the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate or that, in the case of a criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing that is enforced by a monetary penalty, the Indemnified Party did not have reasonable grounds for believing that his/her conduct was lawful.
- (d) The intention of this agreement is to provide the Indemnified Party indemnification to the fullest extent permitted by law and without limiting the generality of the foregoing and notwithstanding anything contained herein:
  - nothing in this agreement shall be interpreted, by implication or otherwise, in limitation of the scope of the indemnification provided in sections 2(a) and 2(b) hereof; and
  - (ii) section 2(b) is intended to provide indemnification to the Indemnified Party that is not specifically prohibited by a court of competent jurisdiction and to the fullest extent permitted by the Act and, in the event that the Act is amended to permit a broader scope of indemnification (including, without limitation, the deletion or limiting of one or more of the provisos to the applicability of indemnification), section 2(b) shall be deemed to be amended concurrently with the amendment to the Act so as to provide such broader indemnification.

3. Prepaid Expenses

¥.

All Costs, Charges and Expenses reasonably incurred by the Indemnified Party and covered hereunder shall, if requested by the Indemnified Party within a reasonable time, he/she paid by the either Corporation or the Shareholder immediately (including in advance as may be appropriate to enable the Indemnified Party to properly investigate, defend or appeal such action or proceeding), with the understanding and agreement being herein made that, in the event it is ultimately determined as provided hereunder that the Indemnified Party was not entitled to be so indemnified, or was not entitled to be fully so indemnified, the Indemnified Party shall indemnify and hold harmless the Corporation and the Shareholder, and pay to the Corporation or the Shareholder (as applicable) forthwith after such ultimate determination, such amount or the appropriate portion thereof, so paid. In the event of dispute, the Corporation to the Court to approve the indemnify.

$\pm 4.\pi$

4. Other Rights and Remedies

.ä.:

Indemnification and immediate or advance payment of incurred Costs, Charges and Expenses as provided by this agreement shall not be deemed to derogate from or exclude any other rights to which the Indemnified Party may be entitled under any provision of the Act or otherwise at law, the articles or by-laws of the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate, this agreement, any vote of shareholders of the Corporation or Corporation Affiliate, or otherwise, and shall continue after the Indemnified Party has ceased to provide the Services.

5. Limitation of Actions and Release of Claims

No legal action shall be brought and no cause of action shall be asserted by or on behalf of the Corporation or any Corporation Affiliate against the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives or lawful heirs after the expiration of two years from the date the Indemnified Party ceased (for any reason) to provide Services and the Shareholder and Corporation agree that any claim or cause of action of the Shareholder or Corporation or of any Corporation Affiliate shall be extinguished and the Indemnified Party, his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs deemed released therefrom absolutely unless asserted by the commencement of legal action in a court of competent jurisdiction within such two-year period.

6. Notice of Proceedings

The Indemnified Party agrees to give notice to the Shareholder and Corporation as soon as is reasonably practical after being served with any statement of claim, writ, notice of motion, indictment or other document commencing or continuing any civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing to which the Indemnified Party, is a party, whether or not charges have been laid against the Shareholder, Corporation, Corporate Affiliate or Indemnified Party, by reason of the provision of the Services and the Corporation agrees to give notice to the Indemnified Party in writing as soon as is reasonably practical after:

- (a) being served with any such statement of claim, writ, notice of motion, indictment or other document commencing or continuing any civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing to which the Indemnified Party is a party; whether or not charges have been laid against the Shareholder, Corporation, Corporate Affiliate or Indemnified Party, or
- (b) receiving notice of any such civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing to which the Indemnified Party is a party, whether or not charges have been laid against the Shareholder, Corporation, Corporate Affiliate or Indemnified Party,

provided, however, that the failure of the Indemnified Party to give such notice to the Shareholder or Corporation shall not adversely affect the Indemnified Party's rights under this agreement except to the extent that the Shareholder or Corporation shall have been materially prejudiced as a direct result of such failure.

7. Right to Retain Counsel

The Shareholder and the Corporation agree to promptly retain counsel who shall be reasonably satisfactory to the Indemnified Party to represent the Indemnified Party. No admission of liability and no settlement of any civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing to which the Indemnified Party is a party, shall be made by the Shareholder or the Corporation without the consent of the Indemnified Party, such consent not to be unreasonably withheld.

In any such matter the Indemnified Party shall have the right to retain other counsel to act on his/her behalf, provided that the fees and disbursements of such other counsel shall be paid by the Indemnified Party unless:

- (a) the Indemnified Party and the Shareholder, Corporation or Corporation Affiliate shall have mutually agreed to the retention of such other counsel,
- (b) the parties to any such civil, criminal or administrative action, proceeding, investigation, inquiry or hearing (including any added third, or interpleaded parties) include the Shareholder, Corporation or Corporation Affiliate and the Indemnified Party and representation of more than one party by the same counsel would be inappropriate due to actual or potential differing interests between them (including the availability of different defences) in which event the Shareholder, Corporation and Corporation Affiliate, jointly and severally agree to pay the fees and disbursements of such counsel, or
- (c) the Shareholder or Corporation has not retained counsel who is reasonably satisfactory to the Indemnified Party in a reasonably timely manner.

For greater clarity, in the event of 7(a), (b) or (c), the fees and disbursements of such other counsel shall be paid by the Corporation and Shareholder.

8. Indemnified Party to Cooperate

The Indemnified Party agrees to give the Shareholder Corporation such information and cooperation as the Corporation may reasonably require from time to time in respect of all matters hereunder.

9. Effective Time

This agreement shall be effective as and from the earlier of the first day that the Indemnified Party began providing Services.

10, Notices

1 2

Unless otherwise permitted by this agreement, all notices, requests, demands or other communications hereunder shall be in writing and shall be deemed to have been fully given if personally delivered to the party to whom the notice or other communication is directed or, if mailed by prepaid registered mail, on the fifth business day after the date on which it is so mailed (provided that if there is an interruption in the regular postal service during such period arising out of a strike, walk out, work slowdown or similar labour dispute in the postal system, all days during such interruption occurs shall not be counted):

(a) if to the Indemnified Party, at:

Attention: Deg TE & Salary, cm E-mail: Township Dag

- 6 -

(b) if to the Corporation or the Shareholder, at:

Henenghaixin Corp. 700, 600 - 3nd Avenue SW Calgary, AB, Canada T2P 0G5

Attention: Chairman

or to such other address as each party may from time to time notify the other of in writing.

If the Shareholder or Corporation receives notice from any other source of any matter which the Indemnified Party would otherwise be obligated hereunder to give notice of to the Shareholder or Corporation, then the Indemnified Party shall be relieved of his/her obligation hereunder to give notice to the Shareholder or Corporation, provided the Shareholder or Corporation has not suffered any material damage from the failure of the Indemnified Party to give notice as herein required.

11. Severability

.e. .¥

If any provision or provisions of this agreement shall be held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable for any reason whatsoever:

- (a) the validity, legality and enforceability of the remaining provisions of this agreement (including, without limitation, all portions of any paragraph of this agreement containing such provisions held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, that are not of themselves in whole invalid, illegal or unenforceable) shall not in any way be affected or impaired thereby; and
- (b) to the fullest possible extent, the provisions of this agreement (including, without limitation, all portions of any paragraphs of this agreement containing any such provisions held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, that are not of themselves in whole invalid, illegal or unenforceable) shall be construed so as to give effect to the intent manifested by the provision which is held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable.

12. Governing Law

The parties hereto agree that this agreement shall be construed and enforced in accordance with the laws in force in the Province of Alberta and the federal laws of Canada applicable therein without reference to its conflict of laws provisions. The parties hereto irrevocably attorn to the jurisdiction of the courts of the Province of Alberta.

13. Modification and Waiver

No supplement, modification or amendment of this agreement shall be binding unless executed in writing by both parties hereto. No waiver of any of the provisions of this agreement shall be deemed or shall constitute a waiver of any other provision hereof (whether or not similar) nor shall such waiver constitute a continuing waiver.

14. Entire Agreement

This agreement shall supersede and replace any and all prior agreements (except any written agreement of employment between the Shareholder, Corporation and the Indemnified Party, which shall remain in full force and effect, except to the extent augmented or amended hereby), between the parties hereto respecting the matters set forth herein, and shall constitute the entire agreement between the parties hereto in respect of the matters set forth herein.

15. Successors and Assigns

3 4 A.E

This agreement shall be binding upon and enure to the benefit of the Shareholder and Corporation and their respective successors and permitted assigns and to the Indemnified Party and his/her estate, executors, administrators, legal representatives and lawful heirs whether such Indemnified Party continues to provide Services.

16. Successor Legislation

Any references herein to any enactment shall be deemed to be references to such enactment as the same may be amended or replaced from time to time and, in the event that the Shareholder or Corporation is continued, incorporated, amalgamated, arranged under or otherwise becomes governed by an enactment other than the Act, then all references herein to the Act shall be deemed to be references to such enactment as the same may be amended or replaced from time to time.

17. Counterparts

The parties agree that this agreement may be signed in counterparts and that receipt by facsimile of an executed copy of this agreement shall constitute acceptable delivery.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the parties hereto have executed and delivered this agreement as at the date first written above.

HENENGHAIXIN CORP.

Per: Name: Title:

Steven Neu Director

YORK CITY ENTERPRISES LTD.

Per:

Meng Tang

Director

Name: Title:

Mincheal Lom

Witness Name:

This is Exhibit "98" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

OGE

14

CEOF

NOTARY Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor PUBLIC

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

Steven Neu

| From:        | Jin, Xiaodi <xjin@blg.com></xjin@blg.com>           |
|--------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| Sent:        | Tuesday, January 7, 2020 11:00 AM                   |
| То:          | Steven Neu                                          |
| Subject:     | FW: HNHX - Authorization Letter                     |
| Attachments: | CAL01-#2265579-v1-Engagement_Letter_(Executed).pdf; |

Hi Steven, as requested here is the email requesting that the authorization letter be executed.

Happy to chat as needed.

Xiaodi Jin | Borden Ladner Gervais LLP T 403.232.9523 | C 403.796.4652 | xiin@blg.com

From: Jin, Xiaodi Sent: December 2, 2018 5:34 PM To: lam.m@snencn.cn Cc: Stillwell, Janet <JStillwell@blg.com> Subject: HNHX - Authorization Letter

Hi Michael, per the engagement letter I am entitled to rely on instructions from Steven Neu and other members of the Henenghaixin team, which include yourself and Lake Deng. I would like to have this confirmed in writing by Mr. Neu in order to clarify my engagement files.

Thanks in advance,

Xiaodi Jin | Borden Ladner Gervais LLP T 403.232.9523 | C 403.796.4652 This is Exhibit "99" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

PUBLIC

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

HENENGHAIXIN CORP.

To: Borden Ladner Gervais LLP

Re: Retainer agreement dated February 28, 2017 – Clarification of Instructing Individuals Dated: December 3, 2018

This letter serves to clarify and confirm to you that each of Lake Deng and Michael Lam are designated team members of Henenghaixin Corp. (the "Corporation") and are specifically empowered and authorized to provide legal instructions to you on behalf of the Corporation since incorporation and that all such actions and instructions by them are approved and ratified by the Corporation. We further confirm that should these designated team members change, we will provide you with advance written notice of such change and that absent such written notice, Borden Ladner Gervals LLP is entitled to continue to rely on such instructions received from each of Lake Deng and Michael Lam.

Sincerely,

Henenghaixin Corp.

Steven Neu Director

| This is Exhibit "100" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| before me on May 21, 2021 ROGER                                         |
| NOTARY                                                                  |
| Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 PUBLIC                                             |
| Barrister & Solicitor                                                   |
| A Commissioner for Oathsin and for Alberta                          |

{02657328 v3}

Steven Neu

| From:    | Michael Lam                                           |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------|
| Sent:    | Friday, January 4, 2019 2:19 PM                       |
| То:      | Alan Steele                                           |
| Cc:      | Steven Neu; 邓小泊 (deng.xb@snencn.cn) ; David Middleton |
| Subject: | Re: officer certificate for York city loans           |

Hello Alan,

I just realized that the registry I have for York City is out-dated; I have asked for an updated one and will circulate as soon as possible.

Hello Steven,

I have put the HNHX MB in your 5th floor office; Xiaodi wants me to remind you that only Director and officer of HNHX (not shareholder or aides of shareholder) have the privilege to the MB; and we all have the fiduciary duty to keep confidential to any third party.

Since this is the actual and only copy, can you please make sure you keep it safe and return to Xiaodi (or myself) when you are finished?

Thanks, Michael

On Jan 4, 2019, at 9:47 AM, Alan Steele <asteele@westlakeenergy.ca> wrote:

Thanks Michael

R. Alan Steele West Lake Energy Corp. T: (403) 215-2692 C: (403) 863-2124

From: Michael Lam Sent: January-04-19 9:30 AM To: Alan Steele Cc: Steven Neu; 邓小泊 (deng.xb@snencn.cn); David Middleton Subject: Re: officer certificate for York city loans

Will do; I can provide their most updated registration later today.

Steven, any updates on those indemnities? lake and myself can't, won't, and not allowed do anything without these standard indemnities.

Thanks, Michael This is Exhibit "101" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

OGF

* PUBLIC

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

|         |     | 1.1 |    |       |   |          |     |      | чü., |    |
|---------|-----|-----|----|-------|---|----------|-----|------|------|----|
| · · · · | 444 | 怨.  | 12 | A     |   |   | . 1 | T 🗄  | T.   |    |
|         | ÷   | 8   | n  | C H C | ж | IC.      | 11  | 1.55 | L    |    |
| - 05    | 500 | 201 |    | ~ ~   |   |          | 51  | 100  | ാ    | 11 |

<

12:06 PM

36% 💷 🕂

Michael Lin

了,把刚才金旳朱四竡我一份 copy。

Nov 22, 2018 12:13 PM

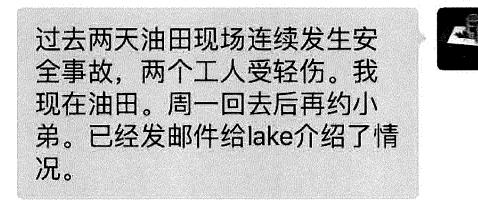

Yup yup

Just sent

Dec 5, 2018 6:13 PM

Dec 6, 2018 8:13 AM

好的,尽快吧,希望不要把事 誤了。这是几份相对简单的文 件,不要把事情复杂化

This is Exhibit "102" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

> OTAR ŵ

PUBLIC

CEOF

Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

Steven Neu

| From:        | 邓小泊 <deng.xb@snencn.cn></deng.xb@snencn.cn>               |
|--------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| Sent:        | Tuesday, January 15, 2019 2:22 PM                         |
| То:          | Steven Neu                                                |
| Subject:     | Resignation                                               |
| Attachments: | Resignation Steven WLE.docx; Resignation Steven HNHX.docx |

This is Exhibit "103" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

OGE Yue (Roger) Song宋岳律师 Barrister & Solicitor NOTARY 74 A Commissioner for Oaths PUBLIC in and for Alberta

RESIGNATION

TO: HENENGHAIXIN CORP. DATE: _______, 2019

I, Steven Neu, hereby resign from the board of directors of Henenghaixin Corp. effective as of the date hereof.

STEVEN NEU

This is Exhibit "104" referred to in the Affidavit of Steven Neu, sworn before me on May 21, 2021

RESIGNATION

TO: WEST LAKE ENERGY CORP.

DATE: _____, 2019

I, Steven Neu, hereby resign from the board of directors of West Lake Energy Corp. effective as of the date hereof.

STEVEN NEU

_____

Exhibit "11"

Pricewaterhouse Coopers "PwC" Forensic Report, Nov-18-19

39 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT " 11 "

Referred to in the Affidavit of

Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

Caros

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 20 26

www.pwc.com/ca

JiangYin Henenghaixin Investment Partnership (Limited Partnership)

and

Partnership (Limited Partnership) Industrial Investment Fund Wuhan Changxin Hesheng

November 18, 2019

Forensic Assistance

Privileged and Confidential

Contents

L

| I. Introduction                                                                                       | 2  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| II. Background                                                                                        | 3  |
| III.Executive Summary                                                                                 | 4  |
| IV. Scope of Work                                                                                     | 5  |
| V. Detailed Findings                                                                                  | 6  |
| A. Analysis of Henenghaixin's Bank Accounts                                                           | 6  |
| B. Additional Funds Paid by Unrelated Entities which Appear to be for the Benefit of the Partnerships | 12 |
| Appendix A – Restrictions and Qualifications                                                          |    |
| Appendix B – Glossary of Terms                                                                        |    |
| Appendix C – Diagram of Ownership Structures and Directors Information                                |    |
| Appendix D – Payments in Connection with the Investment Purpose or Operations                         |    |
| Appendix E – Diagram of the Financial Transactions with Respect to the Investment                     |    |
| Appendix F – JiangYin and Wuhan's Investment in Henenghaixin                                          |    |
| Appendix G – Diagram of JiangYin and Wuhan's Investment in Henenghaixin                               |    |
| Appendix H – Source Document Inventory                                                                |    |

Exhibit 1 - Henenghaixin Bank Accounts' Transaction Detail

)

I. Introduction

- On May 24, 2019, PricewaterhouseCoopers ("we" or "PwC") was engaged by Bennett Jones LLP ("you" or "Bennett Jones") on behalf of JiangYin Henenghaixin Investment Partnership (Limited Partnership) ("JiangYin") and Wuhan Changxin Hesheng Industrial Investment Fund Partnership (Limited Partnership) ("Wuhan") (collectively, the "Partnerships").
- PwC was engaged to provide forensic assistance with respect to alleged diversion of funds to unrelated entities from the Partnerships' Canadian subsidiary, Henenghaixin Corp. ("Henenghaixin"). Our work included a flow of funds analysis of Henenghaixin's bank accounts.
- 3. The Partnerships designated Mr. Gaoyong Zhang (also known as Mr. Frank Zhang) as their representative in this matter. In performing our flow of funds analysis, we relied on third party documentation provided by Mr. Zhang. In instances where there was no third party supporting documentation available, we relied solely on Mr. Zhang's explanations and/or statements, as instructed by you.
- 4. The purpose of this report is to set out our scope of work and findings based on the work performed to date. This report should be read in conjunction with our Restrictions and Qualifications set out in Appendix A and our Scope of Work set out in Section IV. This report and the related scope of work were developed in accordance with our engagement letter executed on May 24, 2019 and are subject to the terms and conditions included therein.
- 5. Readers of this report should make note of the following:
  - a. Several entity names have been abbreviated. The full entity names, as well as their Chinese characters (if applicable), are summarized in our Glossary of Terms set out in Appendix B;
  - b. Our findings in this report include various entities, some related and others unrelated to the Partnerships. Refer to Appendix C for the ownership structures of the entities referred to herein;
  - c. Our findings in this report, including further details set out in Appendix D and Appendix F, make references, denoted as "(E#)" and "(G#)", to corresponding sections of the flow of funds diagrams in Appendix E and Appendix G. Readers may find it helpful to have these flow of funds diagrams available while reading this report;
  - d. The documents we relied upon in preparing this report are outlined in Appendix H, and are referenced using footnotes throughout this report (denoted as "DocRef_#");
  - e. References to "net payments" or "net receipts" paid to/received from entities, refer to situations in which at least one payment was made to, and one receipt was received from, that respective entity. In such cases, we considered the net impact of the payments and receipts;
  - f. This report contains references to multiple currencies, including the United States Dollar (USD $), Canadian Dollar (CAD $), and Renminbi (RMB ¥); and
  - g. All amounts in this report have been rounded to the nearest dollar.

2

II. Background

- Between February 2017 and July 2017, the Partnerships invested cash into their Canadian subsidiary, Henenghaixin (the "Investment"). The Investment was made via transfers through multiple wholly owned and/or controlled subsidiaries of the Partnerships.
- 7. As detailed in the investment agreements governing this Investment (discussed in Appendix F), the Investment was intended to be used by Henenghaixin for the acquisition of the assets of Twin Butte Energy Ltd. (the "Twin Butte Acquisition"), a Canadian entity in receivership. The Twin Butte Acquisition is defined in the Purchase and Sale Agreement ("PSA") dated December 23, 2016. Although not specified in the investment agreements, we understand from Mr. Zhang that any remaining funds (after the Twin Butte Acquisition) were to be used to make a capital injection into Henenghaixin's wholly owned subsidiary, West Lake Energy Corp. ("West Lake") to fund the operations of the assets once purchased.
- 8. We understand from Mr. Zhang that the Partnerships allege that a portion of their Investment was diverted from Henenghaixin to entities unrelated to the Partnerships (the "Unrelated Entities<sup>1</sup>"), without their knowledge, approval or authorization, and for purposes other than those set out in paragraph 7 above.
- 9. As detailed in this report, PwC conducted a forensic analysis of the financial transactions surrounding the Investment, including summarizing the apparent recipients of the Investment proceeds. Based on the availability of records as provided by Mr. Zhang, our analysis was limited to the period December 16, 2016 through to December 31, 2018 (the "Review Period"), which coincides with the date of the financial transactions surrounding the Investment.

<sup>1</sup> The companies comprising the definition of Unrelated Entities is set out in Section V, paragraph 24

III. Executive Summary

- 10. PwC was engaged by Bennett Jones on May 24, 2019 to provide forensic assistance with respect to alleged diversion of funds to Unrelated Entities from the Partnerships' Canadian subsidiary, Henenghaixin. Specifically, we were requested to trace the flow of funds relating to the Partnerships' Investment.
- 11. The Partnerships' Investment totalled RMB ¥1,800,000,000<sup>2</sup>. These funds were transferred through several subsidiaries wholly owned and/or controlled by the Partnerships, before ultimately being transferred from their controlled subsidiary, York City Enterprises Limited ("York City") to Henenghaixin. Henenghaixin ultimately received CAD $352,534,700 from York City in connection with the Investment.
- 12. PwC conducted an analysis of Henenghaixin's bank accounts for the Review Period to identify and quantify any payments made to and/or received from entities which could not be associated with the intended purpose of the Investment, that being the Twin Butte Acquisition and capital injection into Henenghaixin's wholly owned subsidiary, West Lake (collectively, the "Investment Purpose"). We identified CAD $77,006,491 in net payments from Henenghaixin's bank accounts which were paid to/received from Unrelated Entities and which appear to be unrelated to the Investment Purpose. We understand from Mr. Zhang that these net payments were made without the knowledge, approval or authorization of the Partnerships.
- 13. In addition to the analysis of Henenghaixin's bank accounts, during the Review Period we identified from records provided by Mr. Zhang CAD $33,240,792 in payments made by Unrelated Entities in relation to the Investment Purpose. We were unable to determine from the records provided why these payments were made by Unrelated Entities, as opposed to being made by the Partnerships and/or their subsidiaries. Further, we cannot verify the completeness of additional payments, if any, made by Unrelated Entities (or others), for the benefit of the Partnerships.

&lt;sup>2</sup> It should be noted that in addition to the Partnerships' Investment of RMB  $\pm$ 1,800,000,000, RMB  $\pm$ 88,828,227 was also received into the guarantee account of QingDao Energy, a subsidiary of the Partnerships. We understand that the source of these additional funds, representing 4.70% of the receipts by QingDao Energy, is unknown. As instructed by you, PwC has not performed further analysis of the subsidiaries' bank accounts to identify the source of these funds. Refer to Appendix F for further details.

IV. Scope of Work

- 14. As set out in Section I, PwC was engaged by Bennett Jones to provide forensic assistance with respect to alleged diversion of funds to Unrelated Entities from the Partnerships' Canadian subsidiary, Henenghaixin. Specifically, we were requested to trace the flow of funds relating to the Partnerships' Investment.
- 15. PwC performed the following procedures:
  - a. Conducted discussions with the Partnerships' representative, Mr. Frank Zhang, througout the course of our engagement;
  - b. Conducted a discussion with Mr. Steven Neu, Director of Henenghaixin, as instructed by Mr. Zhang;
  - c. Analyzed documentation provided by Mr. Zhang (unless otherwise stated) for the Review Period, including but not limited to the following:
    - i. Relevant financial records surrounding the Investment, including:
      - Banking records (e.g. bank statements, cancelled cheques, wire confirmations and instructions, SWIFT messages, etc.);
      - b. Contracts/agreements with financial institutions (e.g. loan contracts, warrant contracts, guarantee agreements); and
      - c. Contracts/agreements between entities referred to herein, as applicable.
    - ii. Documents related to the Twin Butte Acquisition (e.g. PSA, letters, deposit confirmation, Statement of Adjustments, etc.), provided by Bennett Jones LLP, who received from Burnet, Duckworth & Palmer LLP (legal counsel to West Lake), who received from Border Ladner Gervais LLP ("BLG") (legal counsel to West Lake with respect to the Twin Butte Acquisition); and
    - iii. Emails and other correspondences related to the transfer of funds, as provided.
  - d. Conducted searches of Alberta's corporate registry for certain identified entities referred to herein.
- 16. As previously noted in paragraph 5 d., the documents relied upon in this report are outlined in Appendix H, and are referenced using footnotes (denoted as "DocRef_#") throughout this report.

V. Detailed Findings

- 17. Based on our Scope of Work, set out in Section IV, and subject to our Restrictions and Qualifications set out in Appendix A, set out below are our detailed findings with respect to the Partnerships' Investment.
- 18. The detailed findings set out below should be read with reference to the following appendices:
  - Appendix D a discussion of the payments in connection with the Investment Purpose; a.
  - b. Appendix E a diagram of the flow of funds to and from Heneghaixin's bank accounts, including the recipients of said funds, as referred to in Appendix D;
  - c. Appendix F a discussion of the flow of funds between the Partnerships and their wholly owned and/or controlled subsidiaries prior to the Investment funds reaching Heneghaixin's bank accounts; and
  - d. Appendix G a diagram of the financial transactions and contractual arrangements relating to the flow of funds set out in Appendix F.

The detailed findings below contain cross-references to these appendices (ie. E#, G#).

A. Analysis of Henenghaixin's Bank Accounts

- 19. PwC conducted an analysis of the following Henenghaixin bank accounts (collectively referred to as "Henenghaixin's Accounts"), based on bank records provided by Mr. Zhang3 (See Exhibit 1 for a detailed listing of all transactions within Henenghaixin's Accounts). We understand from Mr. Zhang that these are the only bank accounts of Henenghaixin:
  - a. Alberta Treasury Branches ("ATB") CAD Account #007624336004 (transactions from March 15, 2017 to December 31, 2018);
  - Bank of China Calgary Branch CAD Account #1003002004121345, (transactions from January 1, b. 2017 to December 1, 2018); and
  - c. Bank of China Calgary Branch USD Account #1003002004121456 (transactions from January 1, 2017 to October 12, 2018).
- 20. The Partnerships' Investment totalled RMB ¥1,800,000,0007. These funds were transferred through a number of subsidiaries wholly owned and/or controlled by the Partnerships, before ultimately being

Privileged and Confidential

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

As noted in 19 a, b and c, our analysis was limited to the dates of the transactions noted within the bank records provided by Mr. Zhang.

<sup>4</sup> DocRef 4

<sup>5</sup> DocRef_5 6 DocRef_6

<sup>7</sup> It should be noted that in addition to the Partnerships' Investment of RMB ¥1,800,000,000, RMB ¥88,828,227 was also received into the guarantee account of QingDao Energy, a subsidiary of the Partnerships. We understand that the source of these additional funds, representing 4.70% of the receipts by QingDao Energy, is unknown. As instructed by you, PwC has not performed further analysis of the subsidiaries' bank accounts to identify the source of these funds. Refer to Appendix F for further details.

transferred from their controlled subsidiary, York City Enterprises Limited ("York City") to Henenghaixin. Refer to Appendix F for further discussion of these transactions.

- Henenghaixin ultimately received CAD $352,534,700 from York City in connection with the Investment.
- 22. In addition to the CAD $352,534,700 received by Henenghaixin, Henenghaixin also received net CAD $1,443,631 from York City. PwC was unable to determine the rationale for this additional net receipt from the documents provided. Mr. Zhang confirmed he is also unaware of the rationale for this additional net receipt. The amount Henenghaixin ultimately received from York City is CAD $353,978,331 (E1).
- 23. Of the CAD $353,978,331 received into Henenghaixin's Accounts, we note the following:
  - a. CAD $276,938,102 appears to have been used in connection with the Investment Purpose or for other operational related purposes. Refer to Appendix D for further analysis of these transactions.
  - CAD $77,006,491 appears to have been used for purposes unrelated to the Investment Purpose, and paid to/received from Unrelated Entities.
  - c. CAD $33,738 is the ending balance in Henenghaixin's Accounts at December 31, 2018.
- 24. From our review of Henenghaixin's Accounts, and other supporting documentation, we identified a number of transactions with the following Unrelated Entities:
  - a. Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. ("CSIC");
  - b. Long Run Exploration Ltd. ("Long Run") (wholly owned by CSIC);
  - c. Alberta Sinoenergy Petroleum Corporation ("ASPC");
  - New Star Energy Ltd. ("New Star") (wholly owned by ASPC, discussed in Section V, paragraph 43); and
  - e. An Unknown entity (discussed in Section V, paragraph 45).
- 25. Each of the Unrelated Entities share common directors (namely Mr. Tianzhou Deng and Mr. Yingchun Wu). According to searches of Alberta's corporate registry conducted by PwC, Mr. Deng was also a former Director of Henenghaixin<sup>8</sup> (November 23, 2016 to September 21, 2017) and is an active director of West Lake<sup>9</sup> (December 13, 2016 to the date of our report). Refer to Appendix C for further details. Other than Mr. Deng being a director of each of the Unrelated Entities (both at the time of the transactions set out herein and the date of this report) and of Henenghaixin (former), PwC could not identify any other affiliation between each of the Unrelated Entities and Henenghaixin. Mr. Zhang confirmed he is also unaware of any additional affiliation between the Unrelated Entities and Henenghaixin.
- 26. Set out in Table 1 below is a summary of the CAD $77,006,491 in net payments from/receipts to Henenghaixin's Accounts which appear unrelated to the Investment Purpose, and paid to/received from Unrelated Entities.

Privileged and Confidential Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

* DocRef_1

<sup>9</sup> DocRef_3

| Entity   |     | Amount($ CAD) | ReportReference | Paragraphs |
|----------|-----|--------------------|---------------------|------------|
| CSIC     | Net | (76,956,491)       | i                   | 27 to 30   |
| Long Run |     | (150,000)          | ii                  | 31 to 35   |
| ASPC     |     | 100,000            | iii                 | 36 to 38   |
| Total    |     | (77,006,491)       |                     |            |

Table 1 – Net Payments From/Receipts to Henenghaixin's Accounts Unrelated to the Investment Purpose, and paid to/received from Unrelated Entities

i. Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. ("CSIC")

- 27. As set out in Table 1, net payments of CAD $76,956,491 (E8) were made from Henenghaixin's Accounts to CSIC (an Unrelated Entity). Based on PwC's searches of Alberta's corporate registry<sup>10</sup>, and as set out in Appendix C, we noted the following as at the date of the transactions<sup>11</sup> set out in Table 2:
  - a. CSIC was a Canadian entity incorporated in Alberta;
  - b. CSIC was wholly owned by Sinoenergy Oil Investment Ltd. (British Virgin Islands);
  - c. CSIC's directors were Mr. Tianzhou Deng and Mr. Yingchun Wu.
- 28. Set out in Table 2 below is a summary of transactions with CSIC, as per Henenghaixin's Accounts<sup>12</sup>.

12 DocRef_4, 5, 6

Privileged and Confidential

8

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

<sup>10</sup> DocRef_9

&quot; As of the date of this report, the information set out in paragraph 27 remains accurate

| Net($ CAD) | Receipts($ CAD) | Payments($ CAD) | CSIC Account    | PostingDate(mm/dd/yyyy) | HenenghaixinAccount | Transaction |
|-----------------|----------------------|----------------------|-----------------|---------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------|
| 100,000         | 100,000              | 7                    | 100300200347707 | 1/16/2017                       | 100300200412134         | 1           |
| 100,000         | 100,000              | -                    | 100300200347707 | 3/31/2017                       | 100300200412134         | 2           |
| (15,000,000     | -                    | (15,000,000)         | 760-00548654800 | 4/12/2017                       | 00762433600             | 3           |
| (10,000,000)    | -                    | (10,000,000)         | 760-00548654800 | 4/18/2017                       | 00762433600             | 4           |
| (22,000,000     | -                    | (22,000,000)         | 760-00548654800 | 6/2/2017                        | 00762433600             | 5           |
| (500,000)       | -                    | (500,000)            | 760-00548654800 | 6/2/2017                        | 00762433600             | 6           |
| (11,150,000)    | -                    | (11,150,000)         | 760-00548654800 | 7/5/2017                        | 00762433600             | 7           |
| (31,000,000)    | -                    | (31,000,000)         | 760-00548654800 | 7/12/2017                       | 00762433600             | 8           |
| (3,596,491)     | -                    | (3,596,491)          | 760-00548654800 | 7/13/2017                       | 00762433600             | 9           |
| 1,000,000       | 1,000,000            | -                    | 760-00548654800 | 8/3/2017                        | 00762433600             | 10          |
| 200,000         | 200,000              | (+)                  | 760-00548654800 | 8/3/2017                        | 00762433600             | 11          |
| (110,000)       | -                    | (110,000)            | 760-00548654800 | 9/5/2017                        | 00762433600             | 12          |
| 15,000,000      | 15,000,000           | - -       | 760-00548654800 | 9/7/2017                        | 00762433600             | 13          |
| (76,956,491     | 16,400,000           | (93,356,491)         |                 | Total                           |                         |             |

Table 2 - Henenghaixin's Transactions with CSIC

29. PwC analyzed select email communications provided by Mr. Zhang relating to the transactions set out in Table 2 above. We noted the following:

Transactions 3-9, 12 (payments):

- a. These transactions totaling $93,356,491 were made via wire transfers by ATB. As per banking records provided by ATB, these payments were requested by Mr. Michael Lam and approved by Mr. Steven Neu, Director of Henenghaixin (transactions 4-9, and 12 only)<sup>13</sup>. PwC could not identify the approver(s), if any, for transaction 3. We understand from Mr. Zhang that Mr. Lam is an associate of Mr. Deng's (Director of CSIC and Director of Henenghaixin as at the date of these transactions).
- b. According to PwC's searches of Alberta's corporate registry<sup>14</sup>, we did not identify any affiliations between Mr. Lam and CSIC, or Mr. Neu and CSIC. Mr. Zhang stated he is also unaware of any affiliations between Mr. Lam and CSIC, or Mr. Neu and CSIC.
- c. PwC was unable to determine the rationale for these transactions from the documents provided. Mr. Zhang confirmed he is also unaware of the rationale for these transactions.

Privileged and Confidential

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

<sup>13</sup> DocRef_18

<sup>14</sup> DocRef_9

Transaction 7 (payment):

d. In an email from Mr. Lam to Mr. Brayden Eurich (Client Service Officer, Banking Operations – ATB) dated July 5, 2017<sup>15</sup>, Mr. Lam wrote:

"Henenghaixin is expecting a $11.15 million incoming wire; as soon as it is received we would like to

Step 1) Transfer to Calgary SinoEnergy's ATB Chequing account

Step 2) Wire out to Long Run Exploration, from Calgary SinoEnergy, as per the attached wiring instruction"

- e. Mr. Eurich responded on the same day and wrote, "The funds have been transferred to Calgary SinoEnergy and wired out as per your instructions. Confirmation number 59573559".
- f. PwC has not been provided with the bank accounts for Calgary SinoEnergy (assumed CSIC) or Long Run Exploration (assumed Long Run) and thus cannot confirm whether CSIC and ultimately Long Run, received the funds. Based on the confirmation from Mr. Eurich (ATB) as noted above, it appears these funds were transferred from CSIC to Long Run (E9). Long Run is discussed in further detail in Section V, paragraphs 31 to 35 below.

Transactions 1, 2, 10, 11, 13 (receipts):

g. PwC was unable to determine the rationale for these transactions totaling $16,400,000 from the documents provided. Mr. Zhang confirmed he is also unaware of the rationale for these transactions.

Tranasctions 1-2 (receipts):

- h. We understand from Mr. Zhang that Mr. Neu confirmed with the Bank of China that the account ending in 7707 belongs to "Calgary Sinoenergy Investment". For the purposes of this report, we have assumed that "Calgary Sinoenergy Investment" and Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. (CSIC) are the same entities.
- 30. As noted in Table 3 below, CSIC appears to have made payments totalling CAD $29,111,698 related to the Investment Purpose, for the benefit of the Partnerships. PwC could not determine what portion, if any, of the net payments of CAD $76,956,491 by Henenghaixin to CSIC, set out in Table 1 above, may relate to repayment of the CAD $29,111,698. Further, we were unable to determine from the records provided why the CAD $29,111,698 in payments were made by CSIC (an Unrelated Entity) as opposed to by Henenghaixin, the Partnerships or their subsidiaries.

ii. Long Run Exploration Ltd. ("Long Run")

- 31. Based on PwC's searches of Alberta's corporate registry<sup>16</sup>, and as set out in Appendix C, we noted the following as at the date of the transactions<sup>17</sup> noted in paragraph 32:
  - a. Long Run was a Canadian entity incorporated in Alberta, Canada;

Privileged and Confidential

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

<sup>15</sup> DocRef_19

<sup>16</sup> DocRef_20

&lt;sup>17</sup> As of the date of this report, the information set out in paragraph 31 remains accurate

- b. Long Run was wholly owned by CSIC (Alberta, Canada); and
- c. Long Run's directors were Mr. Tianzhou Deng, Ms. Xiaobo Deng, Mr. Bo Huang, and Mr. Yingchun Wu.
- 32. As noted in paragraphs 29 d., e., and f., a payment of CAD $11,150,000 from Henenghaixin to CSIC on July 5, 2017, appears to have been subsequently transferred on the same day from CSIC to Long Run (an Unrelated Entity) (E9). In addition, as noted in Table 1 above, a further payment of CAD $150,000 (E11) was made from Henenghaixin to Long Run on October 12, 2018.
- 33. We understand from Mr. Zhang that Mr. Neu confirmed with the Bank of China that the payment of CAD $150,000 went into an account ending in 5611, which belongs to Long Run Exploration. Mr. Zhang advised that Mr. Neu could not provide rationale for this payment from Henenghaixin to Long Run.
- 34. PwC was unable to determine the rationale for these transactions set out in paragraph 32 (i.e. CAD $150,000 directly to Long Run and CAD $11,150,000 indirectly to Long Run through CSIC). Further, PwC was unable to determine who requested and authorized these transactions. Mr. Zhang confirmed he is also unaware of the rationale for these transactions and who may have requested and approved them.
- 35. As noted in Table 3 below, Long Run appears to have made a payment of CAD $1,462,294 (G12) related to the Investment Purpose, for the benefit of the Partnerships. PwC could not determine what portion, if any, of the payments to Long Run, summarized in paragraph 32 above, may relate to repayment of the CAD $1,462,294. Further, we were unable to determine from the records provided why the CAD $1,462,294 payment was made by Long Run (an Unrelated Entity) as opposed to by Henenghaixin, the Partnerships or their subsidiaries.

iii. Alberta Sinoenergy Petroleum Corporation ("ASPC")

- 36. Based on PwC's searches of Alberta's corporate<sup>18</sup>, and as set out in Appendix C, we noted the following as at the date of the transaction<sup>19</sup> noted in paragraph 37:
  - a. ASPC was a Canadian entity incorporated in Alberta, Canada;
  - b. ASPC was wholly owned by Success Top Group Ltd. (British Virgin Islands); and
  - c. ASPC's directors were Mr. Tianzhou Deng and Mr. Yingchun Wu.
- 37. As set out in Table 1, Henenghaixin received CAD $100,000 (E10) from ASPC (an Unrelated Entity) on March 31, 2017. We understand from Mr. Zhang that Mr. Neu confirmed with the Bank of China Calgary branch that the receipt of CAD $100,000 was from an account ending in 1869, which belongs to "Alberta Sinoenergy". For the purposes of this report, we have assumed that "Alberta Sinoenergy" and Alberta Sinoenergy Petroleum Corporation (ASPC) are the same entities.
- 38. PwC was unable to determine the rationale for this receipt from the documents provided. Mr. Zhang confirmed he is also unaware of the rationale for this receipt.

Privileged and Confidential

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

<sup>18</sup> DocRef_7

&lt;sup>19</sup> As of the date of this report, the information set out in paragraph 36 remains accurate

B.Additional Funds Paid by Unrelated Entities which Appear to be for the Benefit of the Partnerships

39. As set out in Table 3 below, we identified from records provided by Mr. Zhang payments relating to the Investment Purpose totalling CAD $33,240,792 made by Unrelated Entities during the Review Period.

| Entity   | Net Amount($ CAD) | ReportReference | Paragraphs |
|----------|------------------------|---------------------|------------|
| CSIC     | 29,111,698             | i                   | 41         |
| Long Run | 1,462,294              | ii                  | 42         |
| New Star | 2,000,000              | iii                 | 43         |
| Unknown  | 666,800                | iv                  | 45         |
| Total    | 33,240,792             |                     |            |

| Table 3 - Summary of Payments by             | Unrelated Entities for the Apparent Benefit of the |
|----------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|
| a second a construction of the second second | Partnerships                                       |

- 40. In identifying the payments set out in Table 3 above, we relied on records provided by Mr. Zhang (as set out in Appendix H). We were unable to determine from the records provided why these payments, which relate to the Investment Purpose and appear to be for the benefit of the Partnerships, were made by Unrelated Entities as opposed to being made by the Partnerships and/or their subsidiaries. In addition, we cannot verify the completeness of additional payments, if any, made by Unrelated Entities (or others), for the benefit of the Partnerships.
- i. Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp ("CSIC")
- 41. As set out in Table 3 above, the CAD $29,111,698 in payments made by CSIC, are comprised of the following:
  - uSD $19,500,000 (CAD $26,005,200<sup>20</sup>) (E2) paid to FTI Consulting Canada Inc. ("FTI") for deposits related to the Twin Butte Acquisition. Refer to Appendix D, paragragh 6 for further details on these deposits.
  - b. CAD $3,106,498 (G10 and G11) in multiple payments, for interest on York City's loans with the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China (Canada), Industrial and Commercial Bank of China (Macau) Limited and Industrial and Commercial Bank of China Limited, Seoul Branch (collectively, the "ICBC Group") and China Construction Bank Co., Ltd. Seoul Branch ("CCB South Korea"). Refer to Appendix F, paragraphs 18 a. and b. for further details on these interest payments.

ii. Long Run Exploration Ltd. ("Long Run")

42. As set out in Table 3 above, Long Run appears to have made a payment of CAD $1,462,294 (G12) on January 2, 2018 to York City for interest on the ICBC Group loan. Refer to Appendix F, paragraph 18 c. for further details on this interest payment.

&lt;sup>20</sup> Deposit of USD $19,500,000 converted to CAD using March 23 Bank of Canada rate per the Statement of Adjustments in DocRef_12.

iii. New Star Energy Ltd. ("New Star")

- 43. Based on PwC's searches of Alberta's corporate registry<sup>21</sup>, and as set out in Appendix C, we noted the following as at the date of the below mentioned transaction<sup>22</sup>:
  - a. New Star was a Canadian entity incorporated in Alberta;
  - b. New Star was wholly owned by ASPC (Alberta, Canada); and
  - c. New Star's directors were Mr. Tianzhou Deng and Mr. Yingchun Wu.
- 44. As set out in Table 3 above, New Star paid BLG CAD $2,000,000 (E5) on March 30, 2017 upon closing of the Twin Butte Acquisition. Refer to Appendix D, paragraph 12 a. for further details on this payment.

iv. Unknown Entity

45. As set out in Table 3 above, we were unable to determine who made a payment of USD $500,000 (CAD $666,800<sup>23</sup>) (E3) to FTI for a deposit related to the Twin Butte Acquisition. Refer to Appendix D, paragraph 7 for further details on this deposit.

21 DocRef_10

Privileged and Confidential

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

&lt;sup>22</sup> As of the date of this report, the information set out in paragraph 43 remains accurate

&lt;sup>23</sup> Deposit of USD $500,000 converted to CAD using March 23 Bank of Canada rate per the Statement of Adjustments in DocRef_12.

Appendix A Restrictions and Qualifications General

- 1. We have set out in this report the detailed procedures undertaken by us and our findings thereon. The primary sources of information considered and relied upon are referred to in the body of this report and appendices. Our review does not constitute an audit, as defined by Canadian Auditing Standards. We have not attempted to audit or otherwise verify the information presented to us beyond the express scope stated in this report. We have not sought external verification of the information provided to us except as expressly stated. Our work was limited to the specific procedures and analysis described herein and was based only on the information made available for the Review Period, unless otherwise stated. Should further information come to our attention, the results and conclusions expressed herein may change. We reserve the right, but are under no obligation, to review such information and reconsider and amend the findings set out in this report.
- 2. Our report is not intended for general circulation or publication, nor is it to be reproduced or used for any purposes without our prior written consent in each instance. We will not assume any responsibility or liability for losses occasioned to you, your client or other parties as a result of the circulation, publication, reproduction or use of this report contrary to the provisions of this paragraph.
- 3. Our report is strictly confidential and has been prepared solely for the use and benefit of, and pursuant to a client relationship exclusively with the Partnerships. This report should not be copied or disclosed to any third party or otherwise be quoted or referred to, in whole or in part, without the prior written consent of PwC. In the event that this report is obtained by a third party or used for any purpose other than in accordance with its intended purpose, any such party relying on the report does so entirely at their own risk and shall have no right of recourse against PwC, and its partners, directors, employees, professional advisors or agents. PwC disclaims any contractual or other responsibility to others based on its use and, accordingly, this information may not be relied upon by any third party. None of PwC, its partners, directors, employees, professional advisors or agents (whether it is an assignee or successor of another third party or otherwise) in respect of this report.
- 4. We make no representation regarding questions of legal interpretation.

Specific Limitations

- 5. Our work was limited to the procedures specifically performed as set out in this report. We note the following specific limitations:
  - a. We cannot verify the completeness of additional payments made by Unrelated Entities, or other entities on behalf of the Partnerships, if any, beyond those set out in this report;
  - b. We have not analyzed the bank statements of subsidiaries wholly owned and/or controlled by the Partnerships, unless otherwise stated;
  - c. For the transactions set out in this report, we traced the amounts within Henenghaixin's Accounts. We were not provided with information sufficient to trace the flow of funds to/from the bank accounts of the other entities involved;
  - d. As instructed by you, we did not speak with any individuals named throughout this report other than Mr. Zhang and Mr. Neu;
  - e. In instances where supporting documentation did not provide sufficient detail with respect to the nature and purpose of the transaction, we have relied on verbal representations from Mr. Zhang;

- f. We have not sought external verification of the banking records and other documentation as provided by Mr. Zhang, unless otherwise stated;
- g. We have not shared this report with anyone other than Bennett Jones LLP and Mr. Zhang;
- We have not been provided sufficient documentation to identify who paid the remaining interest (beyond that noted in the report) on the York City loans from ICBC Group and CCB South Korea; and
- i. We have not collected emails or other electronic communications for any individuals named throughout this report; emails referenced in our report were provided directly by Mr. Zhang.

Appendix B

Glossary of Terms

| ReportAbbreviation | Chinese Characters  | Company Name                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
|------------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| ASPC                   | N/A                 | Alberta Sinoenergy Petroleum Corporation                                                                                                                                             |  |
| АТВ                    | N/A                 | Alberta Treasury Branches                                                                                                                                                            |  |
| BLG                    | N/A                 | Borden Ladner Gervais LLP                                                                                                                                                            |  |
| CAPC                   | N/A                 | Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corporation                                                                                                                                             |  |
| ССВ                    | 中国建设银行股份有限公司        | China Construction Bank Co., Ltd.                                                                                                                                                    |  |
| CCB China              | 中国建设银行股份有限公司青岛四方分行  | China Construction Bank Co., Ltd. QingDaoSifang Branch                                                                                                                           |  |
| CCB South Korea        | 中国建设银行股份有限公司首尔分行    | China Construction Bank Co., Ltd. Seoul Branch                                                                                                                                       |  |
| CSIC                   | N/A                 | Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp.                                                                                                                                                  |  |
| FTI                    | N/A                 | FTI Consulting Canada Inc.                                                                                                                                                           |  |
| Henenghaixin           | N/A                 | Henenghaixin Corp.                                                                                                                                                                   |  |
| ICBC                   | 中国工商银行              | Industrial and Commercial Bank of China                                                                                                                                              |  |
| ICBC China             | 中国工商银行武汉江汉支行        | Industrial and Commercial Bank of China, WuhaJianghan Branch                                                                                                                     |  |
| ICBC Group             | N/A                 | Industrial and Commercial Bank of China(Canada), Industrial and Commercial Bank ofChina (Macau) Limited and Industrial andCommercial Bank of China Limited, Seoul Branch |  |
| JiangYin               | 江阴合能海欣投资合伙企业(有限合伙)  | JiangYin Henenghaixin Investment Partnership(Limited Partnership)                                                                                                                |  |
| JingZhou               | 荆州市合平能源有限公司         | JingZhou HePing Energy Limited                                                                                                                                                       |  |
| QingDao Capital        | 青岛中天资产管理有限公司        | QingDao Zhongtian Capital Management Co.                                                                                                                                             |  |
| QingDao Energy         | 青岛中天宇恒能源有限公司        | QingDao ZhongTian YuHeng Energy Co. Ltd.                                                                                                                                             |  |
| West Lake              | N/A                 | Henenghaixin Operating Corp. (Name changed toWest Lake Energy Corp. – Jan 26, 2017)                                                                                              |  |
| Wuhan                  | 武汉长鑫合晟投资合伙企业 (有限合伙) | Wuhan Changxin Hesheng Industrial InvestmentFund Partnership (Limited Partnership)                                                                                               |  |
| YingShi                | 北京盈时创新投资顾问有限公司      | Beijing YingShi ChuangXin InvestmentConsulting Ltd.                                                                                                                              |  |
| York City              | 约克城实业有限公司           | York City Enterprises Limited                                                                                                                                                        |  |
| Long Run               | N/A                 | Long Run Exploration Ltd.                                                                                                                                                            |  |
| New Star               | N/A                 | New Star Energy Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                 |  |

Privileged and Confidential Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

Appendix C

Diagram of Ownership Structures and Directors Information

> Privileged and Confidential Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

> > 1

Note: References to Active or Present herein refer to the date of the report.

Jeshuang Yu - Active (December 13, 2016 - April 2, 2017 and December 3, 2018

David Middleton – Active (April 2, 2017 – Present) Haipeng Tu – Active (December 3, 2018 – Present)

Present

West Lake Energy Corp. (Calgary, AB) (West Lake)

30 Huang – Former (April 2, 2017 – December 3, 2018) Ganzhou Deng – Active (December 13, 2016 – Present)

teven Y Neu – Active (December 13, 2016 – Present)

iaobo Deng - Former (April 2, 2017 - April 19, 2018)

Directors

* PwC noted two different addresses for Tianzhou Deng in the Alberta Corporate Searches. For the purposes of this report, we have assumed it is the same individual.

Entity wholly owned and/or controlled by

Other Entity

the Partnerships

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Privileged and Confidential

Appendix D

Payments in Connection with the Investment Purpose or Operations

1. As set out in Table 4 below, we identified CAD $276,938,102 in net payments from Henenghaixin's bank accounts which appear to relate to the Investment Purpose or for other operational related purposes.

Table 4 - Net Payments from Henenghaixin's Bank Accounts<sup>24</sup> Related to the Investment Purpose or Operations

|            | Entity        | Amount($ CAD)        | Subtotal      | ReportReference | Paragraphs |
|------------|---------------|---------------------------|---------------|---------------------|------------|
| Payments i | in Connection | n with the Investm        | ent Purpose   |                     |            |
|            | FTI           | (5,108,021) <sup>25</sup> |               | i                   | 8          |
|            | BLG           | (229,447,356)26           |               | i                   | 12 b.      |
|            | West Lake     | (42,090,000)              |               | ii                  | 15         |
| Subtotal   |               |                           | (276,645,377) |                     |            |
|            | Other         |                           | (292,725)     | iii                 | 16         |
| Total      |               |                           | (276,938,102) |                     |            |

i. Twin Butte Acquisition

- 2. Pursuant to an Order of the Alberta Court of Queen's Bench, we understand that Twin Butte Energy Ltd. was a Calgary based oil and gas producer. On September 1, 2016, FTI was appointed as Receiver of all the assets, undertakings and properties of Twin Butte Energy Ltd.27.
- PwC analyzed the PSA28 between FTI and Henenghaixin Operating Corp. ("West Lake"29 or 3. "Purchaser") dated December 23, 2016:
  - a. Article 2.2 states the purchase price as CAD $266,000,000, plus/minus the net amount of adjustments per Article 7 (the "Adjusted Purchase Price") and plus applicable GST and/or sales taxes.

Privileged and Confidential

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships

<sup>24</sup> Excludes transfers between Henenghaixin's Accounts

&lt;sup>25</sup> This payment was made in USD 3,819,960. It has been converted to CAD using the effective rate of exchange from closing documents. See Appendix D, paragraph 8 below.

<sup>26</sup> As detailed in Appendix D, paragraph 12 b., this amount is comprised of CAD $231,200,000 paid from Henenghaixin to BLG less CAD $1,752,644 repaid by BLG to Henenghaixin.

<sup>27</sup> DocRef 8 28 DocRef_8

<sup>29</sup> Henenghaixin Operating Corp. changed its name to West Lake Energy Corp. ("West Lake") on January 26, 2017. As such, the PSA was amended. References to West Lake and Henenghaixin Operating Corp. are made interchangeably within the PSA documents.

- b. Article 2.9 states that that a deposit of USD $20,000,000 as of the date of the PSA had been provided by Purchaser to FTI (the "Deposit").
- c. Article 2.5 states, upon closing of the acquisition, Purchaser was to remit the Adjusted Purchase Price, less the Deposit and plus applicable GST and/or sales taxes to FTI.
- 4. Summarized in paragraphs 5 through 13 below is our analysis of the transactions related to the Deposit and Adjusted Purchase Price. As noted below and in Section V paragraphs 41 and 43, there were payments from CSIC and New Star with respect to the Twin Butte Acquisition. According to searches of Alberta's corporate registry conducted by PwC<sup>30</sup>, and as set out in Appendix C, these two entities have no shareholdings or other affiliations with Henenghaixin (or vice versa). Mr. Deng (former Director of Henenghaixin and current Director of West Lake) is a director of both CSIC and New Star.

a) PSA Deposits

5. According to a letter from FTI to Mr. Harold Wang dated March 1, 2017<sup>31</sup>, FTI confirmed receipt of deposits in relation to the PSA (the "PSA Deposits"), totalling USD $23,819,960. We understand from Mr. Zhang, that Mr. Neu advised him that Mr. Wang was assisting "Calgary Sinoenergy" with the Twin Butte Acquisition and that he also helps manage Long Run. For the purposes of this report, we have assumed that "Calgary Sinoenergy" and Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp (CSIC) are the same entities. Set out in Table 5 below is a summary of the identified payors of the PSA Deposits as noted from transaction records<sup>32</sup> provided, unless otherwise noted.

| Payor        | Payee | Date Received(per FTI)(mm/dd/yyyy) | Amount($ USD) | Subtotal($ USD) | Notes(below) |
|--------------|-------|--------------------------------------------|--------------------|----------------------|------------------|
| CSIC         | FTI   | 12/16/2016                                 | 18,500,000         |                      | 1                |
| CSIC         | FTI   | 12/20/2016                                 | 500,000            |                      | 1                |
| CSIC         | FTI   | 12/20/2016                                 | 500,000            |                      | 1                |
| Subtotal     |       |                                            |                    | 19,500,000           |                  |
| Unknown      | FTI   | 12/20/2016                                 | 500,000            |                      | 2                |
| Subtotal     |       |                                            |                    | 500,000              |                  |
| Henenghaixin | FTI   | 2/28/2017                                  | 3,819,960          |                      | 3                |
| Subtotal     |       |                                            |                    | 3,819,960            |                  |
| Total        |       |                                            |                    | 23,819,960           | 4                |

Table 5 - PSA Deposits to FTI

Note 1:

6. The total PSA Deposits made by CSIC equal USD $19,500,000 (CAD $26,005,200) (E2). We were unable to determine from the records provided why these PSA Deposits were made by CSIC (an Unrelated Entity) as opposed to being made by Henenghaixin, the Partnerships or their subsidiaries.

Privileged and Confidential

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships

<sup>3</sup>º DocRef_9, 10

<sup>31</sup> DocRef_11

<sup>32</sup> DocRef_11, 12

PwC confirmed the details of these payments from CSIC in Table 5 above to official cheque copies from the Bank of China (Canada)<sup>33</sup>.

Note 2:

7. We were unable to determine from the records provided who made the payment of USD $500,000 (CAD $666,800) (E3). Mr. Zhang confirmed he is also unaware of the payor of this payment.

Note 3:

8. The PSA Deposit of USD $3,819,960<sup>34</sup> (CAD $5,108,021<sup>35</sup>) (E4) from Henenghaixin to FTI was an additional deposit, beyond the USD $20,000,000 referred to in the PSA. This deposit was agreed to between Henenghaixin and FTI in exchange for an extension of the transaction's closing date<sup>36</sup>. This deposit was facilitated by an advance from Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corporation ("CAPC") to Henenghaixin's USD account on January 26, 2017 for USD $3,999,985. Henenghaixin then made the USD $3,819,960 payment to FTI from their USD account on February 28, 2017. Henenghaixin ultimately repaid CAPC the equivalent of USD $4,000,000<sup>37</sup> (CAD $5,366,000)<sup>38</sup>, on March 24, 2017 from their ATB CAD account.

Note 4:

9. The total PSA Deposits of USD $23,819,960 were ultimately converted to CAD $31,851,868<sup>39</sup> as noted in a transaction closing letter from BLG (Henenghaixin's legal counsel for the purchase)<sup>40</sup>, to Henenghaixin dated March 30, 2017. PwC was unable to reconcile the conversion from USD to CAD. The Statement of Adjustments<sup>41</sup> references a March 23, 2017 Bank of Canada rate of 1.3336, however, the exchange rate applied by FTI was 1.3371923378. PwC did not identify deposits other than those noted in FTI's letter<sup>42</sup> to Mr. Harold Wang, confirming deposits received by FTI. As previously noted, we understand from Mr. Zhang that Mr. Neu advised him that Mr. Wang was assisting Calgary Sinoenergy with the Twin Butte Acquisition. PwC could not confirm the reason for the difference in the recalculated amount from documentation provided. As instructed by you, we did not attempt to further clarify the reason for this difference.

b) PSA Adjusted Purchase Price

10. As noted in a letter from BLG to Henenghaixin dated March 30, 2017<sup>43</sup>, BLG confirmed the Twin Butte Acquisition closed on March 30, 2017. BLG confirmed receipt of CAD $230,953,886, being the balance of the acquisition purchase price of CAD $266,000,000, less adjustments in favour of West Lake in the amount of CAD $3,194,246 and the previous deposited amounts of CAD $31,851,868. BLG stated that this amount was wired from their solicitor trust account to FTI on March 30, 2017, and FTI confirmed receipt of such amount<sup>44</sup>.

39 DocRef_14

Privileged and Confidential

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships

<sup>33</sup> DocRef_12

&lt;sup>34</sup> As noted in DocRef_13, the USD $3,819,960 was transferred to satisfy a CAD $5,000,000 additional deposit required to extend the closing date. The amount transferred as per the Bank of China USD Account bank statement notes USD $3,820,000. PwC is unable to determine the reason for the USD $40 difference.

&lt;sup>35</sup>As noted in paragraph 9, USD $23,819,960 was converted to CAD $31,851,868 based on an exchange rate of 1.3371923378. This exchange rate was used to translate the deposit of USD $3,819,960 into CAD $5,108,021.

<sup>36</sup> DocRef_13

&lt;sup>37</sup> Difference of $15 between USD $3,999,985 from CAPC to Henenghaixin and USD $4,000,000 from Henenghaixin to CAPC relates to bank fees.

&lt;sup>38</sup> This short-term financing transaction resulted in foreign exchange losses of CAD $20,488, which are discussed in Appendix D, paragraph 16 e.

<sup>4</sup>º DocRef_15

<sup>4</sup> DocRef_12

<sup>4</sup>º DocRef_11

<sup>43</sup> DocRef_15

<sup>44</sup> DocRef_16

11. BLG facilitated the transfer of the balance of the Acquisition Purchase Price upon closing of the Twin Butte Acquisition. Set out in Table 6 below is a summary of the pre-closing payments to BLG, BLG's return of excess funds to Henenghaixin, and BLG's closing payment to FTL.

| Payor                | Payee            | TransactionDate(mm/dd/yyyy) | Amount(CAD $) | Subtotal(CAD $) | Notes |
|----------------------|------------------|-------------------------------------|--------------------|----------------------|-------|
| Pre-Closing Paymer   | ts to BLG        |                                     |                    |                      | _     |
| New Star             | BLG              | 3/30/2017                           | 2,000,000          |                      | 1     |
| Henenghaixin         | BLG              | 3/30/2017                           | 231,200,000        |                      | 1     |
| Subtotal             |                  |                                     |                    | 233,200,000          |       |
| BLG Return of Fund   | s to Henenghaixi | n                                   |                    |                      |       |
| BLG                  | Henenghaixin     | 3/31/2017                           | (1,752,644)        |                      | 1     |
| Subtotal             |                  |                                     |                    | 231,447,356          |       |
| BLG Closing Payme    | nt to FTI        |                                     |                    |                      |       |
| BLG                  | FTI              | 3/30/2017                           | (230,953,886)      |                      | 2     |
| Subtotal             |                  |                                     |                    | 493,470              |       |
| Net funds retained b | y BLG            |                                     |                    | 493,470              | 2     |

Table 6 - Transactions with BLG

Note 1:

- 12. As detailed in Table 6 above, net funds paid to BLG to close the transaction were CAD $231,447,356, summarized as follows:
  - a. CAD $2,000,000 (E5) paid from New Star to BLG. We were unable to determine from the records provided why this payment was made by New Star (an Unrelated Entity) as opposed to by Henenghaixin, the Partnerships or their subsidiaries. PwC noted an email from Mr. Michael Lam to Mr. Xiaodi Jin of BLG dated March 30, 2017 indicating that this payment from New Star was for the Twin Butte Acquisition on behalf of Henenghaixin<sup>45</sup>. We understand from Mr. Zhang that Mr. Lam is an associate of Mr. Deng's (Director of CSIC and Director of Henenghaixin at date of this transaction).
  - b. Net payments from Henenghaixin to BLG totalled CAD $229,447,356 (E6) (CAD $231,200,000 less CAD $1,752,644).

Note 2:

13. The difference between the total net payments made by New Star and Henenghaixin to BLG of CAD $231,447,356 and BLG's payment to FTI of CAD $230,953,886 (E7) equals CAD $493,470. PwC was unable to determine the reason for this difference from the documents provided. Mr. Zhang stated he believes the balance relates to legal fees owed to BLG in connection with the Twin Butte Acquisition. As instructed by you, we did not confirm this with BLG or other parties.

Privileged and Confidential Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

<sup>45</sup> DocRef_17

ii. West Lake Energy Corp. ("West Lake")

- 14. As previously noted in Section II paragraph 7, the Partnerships' Investment in Henenghaixin was to be used for the Twin Butte Acquisition, with the remainder to be used as a capital injection into Henenghaixin's wholly owned subsidiary, West Lake.
- Multiple transfers from Henenghaixin's bank accounts were made to West Lake totalling CAD $42,090,000 (E12). As instructed by you, PwC has not conducted further analysis on these transactions. Also as instructed by you, PwC has not conducted an analysis of transactions to and from West Lake's bank accounts.

iii. Other

- 16. The balance of CAD $292,725 (E13) in Table 4 above relates to the following:
  - a. Payments totalling CAD $269,668, which we understand from Mr. Zhang are to the benefit of West Lake executives<sup>46</sup>, Mr. Alan Steele (CAD $128,140), and Mr. David Middleton (CAD $141,528);
  - b. Payments totalling CAD $2,569 in bank fees and other miscellaneous transactions; and
  - c. A foreign exchange loss of CAD $20,488 on the short term financing transaction with CAPC related to the PSA deposit as referenced in Appendix D paragraph 8.
- 17. As instructed by you, PwC has not conducted further analysis on the above transactions.

46 DocRef_5 and 18

Appendix E

Diagram of the Financial Transactions with Respect to the Investment

> Privileged and Confidential Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

| with Respect to the InvestmentegendEntity wholly owned and/or controlled bythe PartnershipsHenenghaixin CorpHenenghaixin CorpUrnelated EntityUrnelated EntityEntity Related to Twin Butte Acquisitionand Capital Injection into West Lake Energy |                                                                                            | Transaction Amount                                        | Net Flow and Direction of Funds | Contractual Relationship | E# Report Reference |                                                                                         | ŝ                                                                                                        |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Appendix EFinancial Transactions with Respect to the InvestmentShape/Symbol Legend | Entity wholly owned and/or controlled by the Partnerships | Henenghaixin Corp               | oloted Datity.           |                     | Entity Related to Twin Butte Acquisitionand Capital Injection into West Lake Energy | Privileged and ConfidentialConfidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships |

Appendix F

A. JiangYin and Wuhan's Investment in Henenghaixin

- 1. The Partnerships' Investment in Henenghaixin was transferred through several entities prior to ultimately being received into Henenghaixin's Accounts. Refer to Appendix C for a diagram of the ownership structures of the entities involved in the transfers. Our findings in this Appendix make references, denoted as "(G#)", to the corresponding section of the flow of funds diagram set out in Appendix G.
- JiangYin and Wuhan each made their own investments in Henenghaixin. The structure and transactions related to each of their respective investments are detailed in agreements (collectively, the "Investment Agreements") between:
  - a. JiangYin<sup>47</sup> and QingDao Zhongtian Capital Management Co. ("QingDao Capital"), Mr. Tianzhou Deng, Mr. Bo Huang, and their spouses dated February 2017<sup>48</sup>; and
  - Wuhan and QingDao Capital, Mr. Tianzhou Deng, Mr. Bo Huang, and their spouses dated March 2017<sup>49</sup>.
- Outlined in the sections below is a summary of the transactions between the Partnerships and Henenghaixin.

1. JiangYin/Wuhan to JingZhou

- JingZhou HePing Energy Limited ("JingZhou") is an entity residing in China, jointly owned by JiangYin (47.22%) and Wuhan (52.78%), as a result of their respective investments in JingZhou outlined in paragraph 5 below.
- 5. JiangYin's and Wuhan's respective ownership in JingZhou were derived from the the following investments in JingZhou (as set out in the Investment Agreements noted above):
  - a. JiangYin RMB ¥850,000,000; transferred in two amounts, RMB ¥400,000,000 and RMB ¥450,000,000, via JiangYin's general partner Heyuan Capital<sup>50</sup> and received in JingZhou's CCB bank account<sup>51</sup> on February 14, 2017 and March 14, 2017, respectively (G1).
  - b. Wuhan RMB ¥950,000,000; transferred via Beijing YingShi ChuangXin Investment Consulting Ltd. ("YingShi"), on March 28, 2017<sup>52</sup>. As noted in an investment agreement between Wuhan and QingDao Capital, YingShi's ownership of 52.78% derived from this transfer was subsequently transferred to Wuhan. The structure of the transactions, as explained in the investment agreement was as follows:

Privileged and Confidential

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships

&lt;sup>47</sup> The investment agreement is between Heyuan Capital Management Co. Ltd. ("Heyuan Capital") and QingDao Capital. Mr. Zhang confirmed that Heyuan Capital is the general partner of JiangYin. As such, the agreement is effectively between JiangYin and QingDao Capital, as we've referred to it above.

<sup>48</sup> DocRef_22

<sup>49</sup> DocRef_23

<sup>50</sup> DocRef_22

<sup>51</sup> DocRef_24, 25

<sup>52</sup> DocRef_26

- i. Wuhan loaned RMB ¥950,000,000 to YingShi53;
- ii. YingShi transferred RMB ¥950,000,000 to JingZhou as noted above54 (G2); and
- iii. YingShi subsequently transferred their 52.78% ownership in JingZhou to Wuhan (G3). PwC research corroborated the transfer of ownership<sup>55</sup>. The research was conducted via a third-party enterprise information searching platform in China, which comprises data from websites such as government corporation registries, amongst other sources.

2. JingZhou to QingDao Energy

- QingDao ZhongTian YuHeng Energy Co. Ltd. ("QingDao Energy") is a subsidiary of JingZhou<sup>56</sup>, residing in China.
- JingZhou transferred the sum of RMB ¥1,800,000,000 (G4) received from JiangYin and Wuhan to QingDao Energy in three transactions as follows:
  - a. RMB ¥400,000,000 on February 15, 201757;
  - b. RMB ¥450,000,000 on March 15, 201758; and
  - c. RMB ¥950,000,000 on March 28, 201759.

3. QingDao Energy to CCB/ICBC and Foreign Loans to York City

8. We understand from Mr. Zhang that due to China's foreign currency controls, QingDao Energy was unable to transfer funds outside of China to their subsidiary, York City located in the British Virgin Islands, for ultimate investment into Henenghaixin. For this reason, QingDao Energy entered into agreements with both the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China, Wuhan Jianghan Branch<sup>60</sup> ("ICBC China") and China Construction Bank Co., Ltd. QingDao Sifang Branch<sup>61</sup> ("CCB China") to facilitate transfers outside of China. Both agreements were structured to require a deposit/guarantee from QingDao Energy to each of ICBC China and CCB China, for the RMB amounts to then be transferred. We understand from Mr. Zhang that each of ICBC China and CCB China then set up agreements with their respective foreign branches, who ultimately loaned the CAD equivalent of the RMB deposits/guarantees (less bank fees and other charges) to York City. A summary of these agreements is set out below.

i. QingDao Energy - CCB - York City

9. QingDao Energy entered into 6 Capital Warrant Contracts with CCB China<sup>62</sup>, whereby the debtor (QingDao Energy) was required to deposit a specified amount into a guarantee account held by CCB China, which was not to be used or transferred without the creditor's (CCB China) approval. The

- 59 DocRef_26
- 60 DocRef_31 61 DocRef_35

Privileged and Confidential

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships

&lt;sup>53</sup> PwC has not been provided the bank statements of Wuhan or YingShi to confirm this transaction, however as noted in paragraph 5.b above, we have confirmed YingShi's ownership in JingZhou (as a result of their ¥950,000,000 transfer) was subsequently transferred to Wuhan.

<sup>54</sup> DocRef_26 55 DocRef_27

<sup>56</sup> DocRef_27

<sup>57</sup> DocRef 28

<sup>58</sup> DocRef_28

<sup>62</sup> DocRef 35

recalculated total amount deposited into the guarantee account per the Capital Warrant Contracts was RMB  $\frac{938,828,227^{63}}{(G_5)}$ .

- 10. It should be noted that an additional RMB ¥88,828,227, beyond JiangYin's investment of ¥850,000,000 comprises the balance of total receipts in the guarantee account of QingDao Energy_(i.e. RMB ¥88,828,227 + RMB ¥850,000,000 = RMB ¥938,828,227). We understand from Mr. Zhang that these additional funds (RMB ¥88,828,227), representing 4.70% of the total receipts in QingDao Energy (RMB ¥1,888,828,227) do not belong to the Partnerships. As instructed by you, PwC has not analyzed QingDao Energy's bank accounts further to attempt to identify the source of these funds.
- As a result of QingDao Energy's 6 deposits totalling RMB ¥938,828,227 into the CCB China guarantee account<sup>64</sup>, China Construction Bank Co., Ltd. Seoul Branch ("CCB South Korea") entered into 6 corresponding loan contracts with York City<sup>65</sup>. Funds were withdrawn by York City in 6 transactions totalling CAD $174,800,000 (G6) between March 23, 2017 and July 12, 2017<sup>66</sup>.
- 12. Refer to Section B below for a summary of interest payments on these loans to York City.

ii. QingDao Energy - ICBC - York City

- QingDao Energy entered into a guarantee/standby letter of credit agreement with ICBC China<sup>67</sup>. Although this credit agreement did not state the amount of the guarantee, we understand from Mr. Zhang the guarantee amount was RMB ¥950,000,000. PwC confirmed a transfer of RMB ¥950,000,000 (G7) from QingDao Energy's Ping An bank account to their ICBC China account on March 28, 2017<sup>68</sup>.
- 14. As a result of this guarantee, Industrial and Commercial Bank of China (Canada), Industrial and Commercial Bank of China (Macau) Limited and Industrial and Commercial Bank of China Limited, Seoul Branch (collectively, the "ICBC Group") entered into a loan agreement with York City<sup>69</sup>. CAD $177,734,700 (G8) in loan proceeds were withdrawn by York City on March 29, 2017<sup>70</sup>.
- 15. Refer to Section B below for a summary of interest payments on these loans to York City.

4. York City to Henenghaixin

- 16. As noted previously, Henenghaixin is a Canadian corporation, wholly owned by York City.
- 17. York City transferred CAD $353,978,331 (G9) to Henenghaixin, which includes the total loan proceeds of CAD $352,534,700 received from CCB South Korea and ICBC Group (G6 and G8) and an additional CAD $1,443,631 (G9) from York City as discussed in Section V, paragraph 22.

Privileged and Confidential

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships

&lt;sup>43</sup> The contracts are denoted in either USD or RMB. In instances where the contract is denoted in USD, we have converted the amount to RMB using the rates as at the date of the contract per Bloomberg.

<sup>64</sup> DocRef_28

<sup>65</sup> DocRef_36

<sup>66</sup> DocRef_29, 30

<sup>67</sup> DocRef_31

<sup>68</sup> DocRef_26, 37

<sup>69</sup> DocRef_32 70 DocRef_21

Docket_21

B. Interest Payments on York City Loans

- 18. As noted previously, York City had loans with CCB South Korea and ICBC Group. PwC identified the following interest payments made by Unrelated Entities from documentation provided, unless otherwise stated:
  - a. CAD $1,593,525 (G10) was paid by CSIC to CCB South Korea for interest on the CCB South Korea loan71; and
  - CAD $1,512,973 (G11) was paid by CSIC to York City for interest on the ICBC Group loan72; and b.
  - CAD $1,462,294 was apparently paid by Long Run to York City (G12) for interest on the ICBC c. Group loan73. We were unable to determine the payor of the interest payments from the documents provided, and have therefore relied on information provided by Mr. Zhang.
- 19. As of the date of this report, we have not been provided sufficient documentation to identify all interest payments, including whether any additional interest (beyond that noted above) was paid by the entities above, or any other Unrelated Entities.

Privileged and Confidential Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

4

<sup>71</sup> DocRef_33

<sup>72</sup> DocRef_34 73 DocRef_21

Appendix G

Diagram of JiangYin and Wuhan's Investment in Henenghaixin

> Privileged and Confidential Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

> > 1

Appendix H

Source Document Inventory

| DocRef        | Document Description                                                                                                            |
|-------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1                 | Henenghaixin corporate searches                                                                                                 |
|                   | a) Corporate Search as at November 18, 2019                                                                                     |
|                   | b) Change Director/Shareholder proof of filing as at September 21, 2017                                                         |
| 2                 | CAPC corporate searches                                                                                                         |
|                   | a) Corporate Search as at November 18, 2019                                                                                     |
|                   | b) Change Director/Shareholder proof of filing as at June 9, 2017                                                               |
| 3                 | West Lake corporate searches                                                                                                    |
|                   | a) Corporate search as at November 18, 2019                                                                                     |
|                   | b) Change Director/Shareholder proof of filing as at December 21, 2018                                                          |
| 4                 | Henenghaixin's ATB - CAD account #00762433600 – March 15, 2017 to December 31, 2018                                             |
| 5                 | Henenghaixin's Bank of China Calgary Branch – CAD account #100300200412134 – January 1, 2017 to December 1, 2018                |
| 6                 | Henenghaixin's Bank of China Calgary Branch – USD account #100300200412145 – January 1, 2017 to Octobe 12, 2018                 |
| 7                 | ASPC corporate searches                                                                                                         |
|                   | a) Corporate search as at November 18, 2019                                                                                     |
|                   | b) Change Director/Shareholder proof of filing as at June 13, 2016                                                              |
| 8                 | Purchase and Sale Agreement between FTI Canada Inc. and Henenghaixin Operating Corp. dated December 23 2016                     |
| 9                 | CSIC corporate searches                                                                                                         |
|                   | a) Corporate search as at November 18, 2019                                                                                     |
|                   | b) Change Director/Shareholder proof of filing as at December 9, 2016                                                           |
| 10                | New Star corporate searches                                                                                                     |
|                   | a) Corporate search as at November 18, 2019                                                                                     |
|                   | b) Change Director/Shareholder proof of filing as at April 28, 2016                                                             |
| 11                | Letter from FTI to Harold Wang dated March 1, 2017, confirming deposits received by FTI in relation to the PSA                  |
| 12                | Interim Statement of Adjustments, official cheque copies from Bank of China and wire requests for the TwinButte Acquisition |
| the second second | a) Interim Statement of Adjustments - undated                                                                                   |

Privileged and Confidential Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

| DocRef | Document Description                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|--|--|--|
|            | c)                                                                                                                                                      | Cheque copy dated December 20, 2016 in the amount of USD $500,000 from CSIC to FTI                                                                                                                                                             |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | d)                                                                                                                                                      | Cheque copy dated December 20, 2016 in the amount of USD $500,000 from CSIC to FTI                                                                                                                                                             |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | e)                                                                                                                                                      | Completed transfer request form dated February 28, 2017 in the amount of USD $3,820,000 to FTI                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
| 13         | Irrevocable Direction letter dated March 30, 2017 to FTI regarding an additional deposit of CAD $5 exchange for an extension of the Closing Date.      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
| 14         | Statement of Adjustments – undated                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
| 15         | Letter from BLG to Henenghaixin dated March 30, 2017, confirming the close of Twin Butte Acquis                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
| 16         | Letter from FTI to West Lake dated March 30, 2017, confirming receipt for $230,953,886                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
| 17         | Email from Michael Lam to Xiaodi Jin (BLG) dated March 30, 2017 with wiring instructions and confirm of $2 million payment from New Star Energy to BLG |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
| 18         | Wire                                                                                                                                                    | e requests for Henenghaixin transactions with CSIC                                                                                                                                                                                              |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | a)                                                                                                                                                      | Workbook provided by ATB with details on requestor and approver of wire payments to CSIC                                                                                                                                                        |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | b)                                                                                                                                                      | Email from Michael Lam to ATB staff on April 12, 2017 requesting transfer of CAD $15,000,000 from Henenghaixin to CSIC                                                                                                                         |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | c)                                                                                                                                                      | Email from Michael Lam to ATB staff on April 18, 2017 requesting transfer of CAD $10,000,000 from Henenghaixin to CSIC                                                                                                                         |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | d)                                                                                                                                                      | Email from Michael Lam to ATB staff on June 2, 2017 requesting transfer of CAD $22,000,000 from Henenghaixin to CSIC                                                                                                                           |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | e)                                                                                                                                                      | Email from Michael Lam to Rizwan Hassanaly (ATB) on June 2, 2017 requesting transfer of CAD$500,000 to CSIC                                                                                                                                |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | f)                                                                                                                                                      | Email from Michael Lam to Brayden Eurich (ATB) on July 5, 2017 requesting transfer of CAD 11,150,000 to CSIC. Email dated July 5, 2017 with Steven Neu's approval                                                                               |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | g)                                                                                                                                                      | Email from Michael Lam to Brayden Eurich (ATB) on July 12, 2017 requesting transfer of CAD$31,000,000 to CSIC. Email dated July 12, 2017 with Steven Neu's approval                                                                        |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | h)                                                                                                                                                      | Email from Michael Lam to Brayden Eurich (ATB) on July 13, 2017 requesting transfer of CAD $3,596,491 to CSIC. Email dated July 13, 2017 with Steven Neu's approval                                                                            |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | i)                                                                                                                                                      | Email from Michael Lam to Brayden Eurich (ATB) on September 5, 2017 requesting transfer of CAD$100,000 to CSIC. Another email from Michael Lam to Brayden Eurich (ATB) on the same day, adjustingthe requested amount to CAD $110,000 |  |  |  |  |  |
| 19         | Emato C                                                                                                                                             | il from Michael Lam to Brayden Eurich (ATB) dated July 5, 2017 requesting transfer of CAD $11,500,000SIC, then subsequently transferring the full amount to Long Run                                                                       |  |  |  |  |  |
| 20         | Lon                                                                                                                                                     | g Run corporate searches                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | a)                                                                                                                                                      | Corporate search as at November 18, 2019                                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |  |  |  |  |
|            | b)                                                                                                                                                      | Change Director/Shareholder proof of filing as at January 24, 2017                                                                                                                                                                              |  |  |  |  |  |
| 21         | Yorl2019                                                                                                                                            | c City's ICBC Group bank statement (account #0004930719200000638) from March 23, 2017 to May 1,                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
| 22         |                                                                                                                                                         | n Butte Energy Ltd. Investment Agreement between He Yuan Capital Management Co. Ltd. (general partneangYin) and QingDao ZhongTian Capital Management Co. Ltd                                                                                |  |  |  |  |  |
| 23         | Twi                                                                                                                                                     | n Butte Energy Ltd. Investment Agreement (the "Wuhan/YingShi Investment Agreement") between Wuhan                                                                                                                                               |  |  |  |  |  |

Γ

Confidential Information for the sole benefit and use of the Partnerships Not to be Distributed Without Express Consent of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP In Each Instance

| DocRef |                                                                                                                               |        |  |  |
|------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------|--|--|
|            | and QingDao ZhongTian Capital Management Co. Ltd                                                                              |        |  |  |
| 24         | JiangYin to JingZhou funds transfer confirmation                                                                              |        |  |  |
|            | a) Confirmation of transfer of RMB ¥400,000,000 from JiangYin to JingZhou on February 14, 2017                                |        |  |  |
|            | b) Confirmation of transfer of RMB ¥450,000,000 from JiangYin to JingZhou on March 14, 2017                                   |        |  |  |
| 25         | JingZhou's CCB bank account statement (#42050162880800000071) - February 14, 2017 to February 2                               | 2, 201 |  |  |
| 26         | JingZhou's Ping An Bank transaction record for transactions dated March 28, 2017, showing                                     |        |  |  |
|            | a) Receipt of RMB Y950,000,000 on March 28, 2017 from account #15000074663256                                                 |        |  |  |
|            | b) Payment of RMB Y950,000,000 on March 28, 2018 to account #15000074655057                                                   |        |  |  |
| 27         | Qichacha export of JingZhou HePing Energy Co. Ltd – as at July 17, 2019                                                       |        |  |  |
| 28         | QingDao Energy's CCB China bank account statement (#37101986410051014628) – December 21, 2016 tDecember 21, 2018          | 0      |  |  |
| 29         | Withdrawal notices from York City to CCB South Korea                                                                          |        |  |  |
|            | a) Notice dated March 23, 2017 for CAD $59,000,000                                                                           |        |  |  |
|            | b) Notice dated April 10, 2017 for CAD $18,700,000                                                                           |        |  |  |
|            | c) Notice dated April 11, 2017 for CAD $14,950,000                                                                           |        |  |  |
|            | d) Notice dated May 24, 2017 for CAD $32,000,000                                                                             |        |  |  |
|            | e) Notice dated July 3, 2017 for CAD $11,150,000                                                                             |        |  |  |
|            | f) Notice dated July 12, 2017 for CAD $39,000,000                                                                            |        |  |  |
| 30         | York City's CCB South Korea bank accounts transaction history                                                                 |        |  |  |
|            | a) Account #673110117220001 – July 5, 2017 to May 13, 2019                                                                    |        |  |  |
|            | b) Account #673110116720001 – May 31, 2017 to May 31, 2019                                                                    |        |  |  |
|            | c) Account #673110115120001 – March 23, 2017 to May 13, 2019                                                                  |        |  |  |
|            | d) Account #673110117290001 – July 12, 2017 to May 13, 2019                                                                   |        |  |  |
|            | e) Account #673110115510001 – April 11, 2017 to May 13, 2019                                                                  |        |  |  |
|            | f) Account #673110115600001 – April 13, 2017 to May 13, 2019                                                                  |        |  |  |
| 31         | QingDao Energy agreement with ICBC China on issuance of financing guarantee dated March 22, 2017                              | _      |  |  |
| 32         | Agreement for credit facility for CAD $177,734,700 between York City and ICBC Group dated March 28,                          | 2017   |  |  |
| 33         | Completed manual wire request forms for CSIC interest payment on CCB South Korea loan                                         |        |  |  |
|            | a) Form dated June 22, 2017 for CAD $472,310.36 from CSIC to CCB South Korea for Bilateral Term I                            | oan    |  |  |
|            | <ul> <li>Form dated August 30, 2017 for CAD $253,587.29 from CSIC to CCB South Korea for York CityCL017/0054</li> </ul> |        |  |  |
|            | c) Form dated October 10, 2017 for CAD $697,494.98 from CSIC to CCB South Korea for York City CL017/0061/0033/0034/0060      |        |  |  |
|            | d) Form undated for CAD $170,132.60 from CSIC to CCB South Korea for CL017/0098                                              |        |  |  |
| 34         | Completed manual wire request/transfer forms for CSIC interest payment on ICBC Group loan                                     |        |  |  |

| DocRef | Document Description                                                                              |                                                                                                                            |  |  |  |  |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|--|--|
|            | a) Fo                                                                                             | orm dated January 8, 2018 for CAD $3,000 from CSIC to York City                                                           |  |  |  |  |
|            |                                                                                                   | istomer transfer form dated September 29, 2017 for CAD $1,370,018.02 from CSIC to York City re:preement 0004930703281 |  |  |  |  |
|            |                                                                                                   | ank of China application for remittance form dated March 5, 2018 for CAD $140,000 from CSIC to York ty                    |  |  |  |  |
| 35         | QingDa                                                                                            | o Energy Capital warrant contracts with CCB China                                                                          |  |  |  |  |
|            | a) Co                                                                                             | ontract dated March 23, 2017                                                                                               |  |  |  |  |
|            | b) Co                                                                                             | ontract dated April 10, 2017                                                                                               |  |  |  |  |
|            | c) Co                                                                                             | ontract dated April 13, 2017                                                                                               |  |  |  |  |
|            | d) C                                                                                              | ontract dated May 26, 2017                                                                                                 |  |  |  |  |
|            | e) Co                                                                                             | ontract dated July 4, 2017                                                                                                 |  |  |  |  |
|            | f) Co                                                                                             | ontract dated July 11, 2017                                                                                                |  |  |  |  |
| 36         | Loan ag                                                                                           | greements between York City and CCB South Korea                                                                            |  |  |  |  |
|            | a) A                                                                                              | greement number: 20170323-001                                                                                              |  |  |  |  |
|            | b) A                                                                                              | greement number: 20170410-001                                                                                              |  |  |  |  |
|            | c) A                                                                                              | greement number: 20170411-001                                                                                              |  |  |  |  |
|            | d) A                                                                                              | greement number: 20170524-001                                                                                              |  |  |  |  |
|            | e) A                                                                                              | greement number: 20170627-001                                                                                              |  |  |  |  |
|            | f) A                                                                                              | greement number: 20170707-001                                                                                              |  |  |  |  |
| 37         | QingDao Energy's ICBC China bank statement (account #3202002519200199585) – March 7, 2017 to 2018 |                                                                                                                            |  |  |  |  |
| 38         | Calgary                                                                                           | Green Energy Investment Ltd. corporate search as at November 18, 2019                                                      |  |  |  |  |
| 39         | Qichac                                                                                            | ha export of QingDao Energy                                                                                                |  |  |  |  |
| 40         | York C                                                                                            | ty Share Registry                                                                                                          |  |  |  |  |

Exhibit 1

Henenghaixin's Bank Accounts' Transaction Details

|                                                                |                     |                        | Hen                        | enghaixin Banl                | Account Num                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | ber                                                                                                             |
|----------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|------------------------|----------------------------|-------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Entity Name                                                    | Account Number      | PostingDate        | BoC USD $ 100300200412145 | BoC CAD $100300200412134 | ATB CAD $762433600                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Total CAD $Transactions                                                                                    |
| Alberta Sinoenergy Petroleum Corp                              | 100300200201869     | 3/31/2017              |                            | 100,000                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 100,000                                                                                                         |
| Total Alberta Sinoenergy Petroleu                       | m Corporation       |                        |                            | 100,000                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 100,000                                                                                                         |
| Borden Ladner Gervais LLP                                      | 0003-00009-1642529  | 3/30/2017              |                            |                               | (231,200,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | (231,200,000)                                                                                                   |
| Borden Ladner Gervais LLP                                      | 0003-00009-1642529  | 3/31/2017              |                            |                               | 1,752,644                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 1,752,644                                                                                                       |
| Total Borden Ladner Gervais LLP                         |                     |                        |                            |                               | (229,447,356)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | (229,447,356)                                                                                                   |
| Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp                             | 760-00548654800     | 4/12/2017              |                            |                               | (15,000,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | (15,000,000)                                                                                                    |
| Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp                             | 760-00548654800     | 4/18/2017              |                            |                               | (10,000,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | (10,000,000)                                                                                                    |
| Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp                             | 760-00548654800     | 6/2/2017               |                            |                               | (22,500,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | (22,500,000)                                                                                                    |
| Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp                             | 760-00548654800     | 7/5/2017               |                            |                               | (11,150,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | (11,150,000)                                                                                                    |
| Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp                             | 760-00548654800     | 7/12/2017              |                            |                               | (31,000,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | (31,000,000)                                                                                                    |
| Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp                             | 760-00548654800     | 7/13/2017              |                            |                               | (3,596,491)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | (3,596,491)                                                                                                     |
| Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp                             | 760-00548654800     | 8/3/2017               |                            |                               | 1,200,000                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 1,200,000                                                                                                       |
| Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp                             | 760-00548654800     | 9/5/2017               |                            |                               | (110,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | (110,000)                                                                                                       |
| Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp                             | 760-00548654800     | 9/7/2017               |                            |                               | 15,000,000                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 15,000,000                                                                                                      |
| Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp                             | 100300200347707     | 1/16/2017              |                            | 100,000                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 100,000                                                                                                         |
| Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp                             | 100300200347707     | 3/31/2017              |                            | 100,000                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 100,000                                                                                                         |
| Total Calgary Sincenergy Investment                            |                     | 5/51/201/              |                            | 200,000                       | (77,156,491)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | (76,956,491)                                                                                                    |
| Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corp.                             | 37234797655         | 1/26/2017              | 3,999,985                  |                               | (77)-0-142-2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                 |
| Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corp.                             |                     | 3/24/2017              | 017777-0                   |                               | (5,366,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | (5,366,000)                                                                                                     |
| Total Canadian Advantage Petrole                               | 37234797833         | 3/24/201/              | 3,999,985                  |                               | (5,366,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | (5,366,000)                                                                                                     |
| FTI Consulting                                                 | 161360              | 2/28/2017              | (3,820,000)                |                               | (0,000,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | (0),000,000)                                                                                                    |
| Total FTI Consulting                                           | 101500              | 2/20/201/              | (3,820,000)                |                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                 |
| Long Run Exploration                                           | 129890055611        | 10/12/2018             | (3,010,000)                | (150,000)                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | (150,000)                                                                                                       |
| Total Long Run Exploration                                     | 129090033011        | 10/10/2010             |                            | (150,000)                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | (150,000)                                                                                                       |
| West Lake Energy Corp.                                         | 100300200411899     | 1/17/2017              |                            | (90,000)                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | (90,000)                                                                                                        |
| West Lake Energy Corp.                                         | 760-00756643300     | 3/31/2017              |                            | ()-()                         | (4,500,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | (4,500,000)                                                                                                     |
| West Lake Energy Corp.                                         | 760-00756643300     | 4/12/2017              |                            |                               | (3,000,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | (3,000,000)                                                                                                     |
| West Lake Energy Corp.                                         | 760-00756643300     | 4/20/2017              |                            |                               | (2,000,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | (2,000,000)                                                                                                     |
| West Lake Energy Corp.                                         | 760-00756643300     | 5/3/2017               |                            |                               | (1,000,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | (1,000,000)                                                                                                     |
| West Lake Energy Corp.                                         | 760-00756643300     | 6/2/2017               |                            |                               | (10,000,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | (10,000,000)                                                                                                    |
| West Lake Energy Corp.                                         | 760-00756643300     | 7/14/2017              |                            |                               | (5,000,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | (5,000,000)                                                                                                     |
| West Lake Energy Corp.                                         | 760-00756643300     | 8/4/2017               |                            |                               | (1,500,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | (1,500,000)                                                                                                     |
| West Lake Energy Corp.                                         | 760-00756643300     | 9/7/2017               |                            |                               | (15,000,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | (15,000,000)                                                                                                    |
| Total West Lake Energy Corp.                                   | 700-00750043300     | 9///201/               |                            | (90,000)                      | (42,000,000)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | (42,090,000)                                                                                                    |
| York City Enterprises Limited                                  | Unknown             | 3/24/2017              |                            | (90,000)                      | 59,000,000                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 59,000,000                                                                                                      |
| York City Enterprises Limited                                  | Unknown             | 3/24/20173/30/2017 |                            |                               | 2,699,000                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 2,699,000                                                                                                       |
| York City Enterprises LimitedYork City Enterprises Limited | Unknown             | 4/12/2017              |                            |                               | 18,700,000                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 18,700,000                                                                                                      |
|                                                                | Unknown             | 4/12/20174/17/2017 |                            |                               | 14,950,000                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 14,950,000                                                                                                      |
| York City Enterprises LimitedYork City Enterprises Limited | Unknown             | 4/17/20176/2/2017  |                            |                               | 32,000,000                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 32,000,000                                                                                                      |
|                                                                |                     |                        |                            |                               | and the second state of th | the second se |
| York City Enterprises Limited                                  | 0004930719200000638 | 3/29/2017              |                            |                               | 177,734,700                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 177,734,700(1,255,369)                                                                                      |
| York City Enterprises Limited                                  | 0004930719200000638 | 6/28/2017              |                            |                               | (1,255,369)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | (1,255,309)                                                                                                     |
| York City Enterprises Limited                                  | 0004930719200000638 | 7/5/2017               |                            |                               | 11,150,00039,000,000                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 39,000,000                                                                                                      |
| York City Enterprises Limited                                  | 0004930719200000638 | 7/12/2017              |                            |                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                 |
| Total York City Enterprises Limite                             | a                   |                        | (1=0.00-)                  | (00 ( 10)                     | 353,978,331                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 353,978,331                                                                                                     |
| Other                                                          |                     |                        | (179,985)                  | (33,640)                      | (1,106)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | (34,746)                                                                                                        |
| Grand Total                                                    |                     |                        |                            | 26,360                        | 7,378                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 33,738                                                                                                          |

Exhibit "12"

Changchun Sinoenergy Announcement, certified translation, Jun-04-20

20 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "12"

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

aros syle

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 2026

*ST Changchun Sinoenergy Corporation's Announcement on the Inquiry Letter Regarding Litigation Matters Concerning Overseas Holding Subsidiaries

Stock Code: 600856 Stock Abbreviation: *ST 中天 Announcement No.: Temp. 2020-084

Changchun Sinoenergy Corporation's Announcement on the Inquiry Letter Regarding Litigation Matters Concerning Overseas Holding Subsidiaries

The Company's Board of Directors and all Directors guarantee that there are no false records, misleading statements or material omissions in this announcement, and jointly and severally accept full responsibility for the truthfulness, accuracy and completeness of the content.

*ST Changchun Sinoenergy Corporation (hereinafter referred to as the "Company") received the "Inquiry Letter on Litigation Matters Concerning the Overseas Holding Subsidiary of Changchun Sinoenergy Corporation" from the Shanghai Stock Exchange on May 8th, 2020 (No. 0458 [2020] of Shanghai Stock Exchange), now the reply is as follows:

1. The Announcement disclosed that from November 2016 to September 2017, the Company's former de facto controller Deng Tianzhou served as a board director of Henenghaixin Corporation. From January to September 2017, Deng Tianzhou, along with his daughter Deng Xiaobo and others, transferred CAD $44 million from Henenghaixin Corporation to Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. and Long Run Exploration Ltd. on the grounds that Deng Tianzhou owned and controlled Henenghaixin Corporation. The Company is requested to disclose specific information on the corresponding fund inflows, including the amounts of funds, the reasons for the transfer, etc., and specify whether the inflow of funds is legal and compliant.

[Reply]

After receiving the inquiry letter, the Company immediately instructed the subsidiary company in Canada to comprehensively verify the above-mentioned fund inflows. After financial verification, the transfer of funds between Henenghaixin Corporation and Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corporation (the Company's subsidiary in Canada), and between Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corporation and Long Run Exploration Ltd. are as follows:

1. Fund transfer from Henenghaixin Corporation to Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corporation is as follows:

| Date      | Payer        | Payee              | Amount (CAD)  | Nature of theTransfer            |
|-----------|--------------|--------------------|---------------|--------------------------------------|
| 2017-4-12 | Henenghaixin | Calgary Sinoenergy | 15,000,000.00 | Deposit repayment for the TB project |
| 2017-4-18 | Henenghaixin | Calgary Sinoenergy | 10,000,000.00 | Deposit repayment for the TB project |
| 2017-6-2  | Henenghaixin | Calgary Sinoenergy | 22,000,000.00 | Intercompany loan                    |
| 2017-6-2  | Henenghaixin | Calgary Sinoenergy | 500,000.00    | Intercompany loan                    |

ATTA Rui Xue CERTIFIED TRANSLATOR Member of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta ATIA Member # 001/2019 Issued by ATIA and valid until December 31, 2020

| 2017-7-5  | Henenghaixin | Calgary Sinoenergy | 11,150,000.00 | Intercompany loan |
|-----------|--------------|--------------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2017-7-12 | Henenghaixin | Calgary Sinoenergy | 31,000,000.00 | Intercompany loan |
| 2017-7-13 | Henenghaixin | Calgary Sinoenergy | 3,596,491.00  | Intercompany loan |
| 2017-9-5  | Henenghaixin | Calgary Sinoenergy | 110,000.00    | Intercompany loan |
| Total     |              |                    | 93,356,491.00 |                   |

Note:

a) On December 19th, 2016, the board of directors of Qingdao Sinoenergy Corp., a whollyowned subsidiary of the Company, reviewed and approved the "Motion for Qingdao Sinoenergy Corp. and Jingzhou Heping Energy Co., Ltd. to jointly acquire the oil and gas assets of Twin Butte Energy Ltd. in Alberta, Canada and increase capital to increase oil and gas production capacity", agreeing to invest RMB 1.395 billion to jointly acquire the oil and gas assets of Twin Butte Energy Ltd. with Jingzhou Heping Energy Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "Jingzhou Heping Energy") through Qingdao Zhongtian Yuheng Energy Co., Ltd., Given the abovementioned board resolution, and the fact that Qingdao Zhongtian Yuheng was a wholly owned subsidiary of Qingdao Sinoenergy Corp. before January 25th, 2017, i.e. Henenghaixin Corporation was an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of Qingdao Sinoenergy Corp., Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp., a holding subsidiary of Qingdao Sinoenergy Corp. paid USD 20 million (equivalent to CAD 27.14 million) to FTI Consulting Inc. on December 20th, 2016, for the acquisition of Twin Butte project by Henenghaixin Corporation. The Company failed to disclose the information regarding the above-mentioned investment behavior and violated Article 2, Paragraph 1, Article 30, Paragraph 2(2) and Article 33, Paragraph 1 of the "Administrative Measures for the Disclosure of Information of Listed Companies" (CSRC Order No. 40). Jilin Securities Regulatory Bureau issued a warning on December 20th, 2019 to Deng Tianzhou, the board chairman of the listed company at the time. On May 6th, 2020, the Shanghai Stock Exchange also imposed disciplinary sanctions on the company's responsible party at the time for failing to perform the corresponding decision-making procedures and to disclose the information of major asset restructuring in a timely manner, as mentioned above.

b) On January 25th, 2017, due to funding constraints, the Company was expected to be unable to complete the capital contribution to Qingdao Zhongtian Yuheng within the agreed time. After negotiation with Jingzhou Heping Energy, Jingzhou Heping Energy increased its registered capital by RMB 1.8 billion in order to acquire 99.45% equity of Qingdao Zhongtian Yuheng. The Company's share of Qingdao Zhongtian Yuheng was changed to 0.55%. The Company no longer has control over Qingdao Zhongtian Yuheng. Qingdao Zhongtian Yuheng's change of control has been disclosed in the Company's 2017 annual report.

c) In April 2017, Henenghaixin Corporation transferred two funds to Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. for a total amount of CAD 25 million, which was used to repay Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. for the pre-acquisition costs of the TB project.

ATTA Rui Xue CERTIFIED TRANSLATOR Member of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta ATIA Member # 001/2019 Issued by ATIA and valid until December 31, 2026 d) On April 10th, 2017, York City Enterprises Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "York City"), a wholly-owned parent company of Henenghaixin Corporation, signed a loan agreement with Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. The main content of the agreement included a loan amount of CAD 58.76 million, which could be increased in the future, with a borrowing rate that was 100 basis points above the prime rate. Based on the premise of friendly cooperation, the loan agreement did not specify a term of borrowing. Under the terms of this loan agreement, Henenghaixin Corporation transferred CAD 68,356,491 to Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. through 6 transactions from June 2017 to September 2017, of which CAD 2.14 million was used to pay off the pre-acquisition costs of the TB project paid by Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp., hence the actual loan amount was CAD 66,216,491.

2, Fund transfer from Calgary Sinoenergy to Long Run after Calgary Sinoenergy received the funds from Henenghaixin is as follows:

| Date      | Payer              | Payee    | Amount (CAD)  | Nature of the Transfer |
|-----------|--------------------|----------|---------------|------------------------|
| 2017-4-13 | Calgary Sinoenergy | Long Run | 15,000,000.00 | Parent company loan    |
| 2017-4-18 | Calgary Sinoenergy | Long Run | 10,000,000.00 | Parent company loan    |
| 2017-6-2  | Calgary Sinoenergy | Long Run | 22,000,000.00 | Parent company loan    |
| 2017-7-5  | Calgary Sinoenergy | Long Run | 11,150,000.00 | Parent company loan    |
| 2017-7-13 | Calgary Sinoenergy | Long Run | 31,000,000.00 | Parent company loan    |
| 2017-7-13 | Calgary Sinoenergy | Long Run | 3,000,000.00  | Parent company loan    |
| Total     |                    |          | 92,150,000.00 |                        |

Note:

a) On June 29th, 2016, Long Run and Calgary Sinoenergy signed a loan agreement, stipulating that Calgary Sinoenergy would lend CAD 120 million to Long Run, with an interest rate that was 150 basis points above the prime rate, and a loan maturity date set to be February 1st, 2017. On August 29th, 2016, Long Run and Calgary Sinoenergy signed the first adjustment agreement to adjust the loan amount from CAD 120 million to CAD 220 million. On January 31st, 2017, Long Run and Calgary Sinoenergy signed a second adjustment agreement, stipulating that the maturity date of the above-mentioned loan agreement be extended from February 1st, 2017 to July 9th, 2024, and the loan amount be adjusted from CAD 220 million to CAD 450 million. According to the terms of the loan agreement and adjustment agreements, from April 2017 to July 2017, Calgary Sinoenergy transferred the loan funds of CAD 92.15 million received from Henenghaixin to Long Run.

b) In April 2017, the Company's holding subsidiary Calgary Sinoenergy and Henenghaixin's parent company York City signed a loan agreement amounting to CAD 58.6 million, which was equivalent to RMB 302 million, considered as normal fund borrowing behavior of the Company's holding subsidiary Calgary Sinoenergy with a non-affiliated enterprise. According to the "Rules Governing the Listing of Stocks on Shanghai Stock Exchange ", the loan amount had exceeded 10% of the audited net assets of the listed company in 2015, and the absolute amount had exceeded RMB 10 million, hence it had to be submitted to the board of directors of the listed company for review and be disclosed as well; however, the decision-making and information disclosure procedures of the listed company were not performed when the event occurred, which violated the Company's decision-making procedures and the relevant provisions on information disclosure of listed companies. The loan agreement between Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run was between the group's holding subsidiary and its wholly-owned holding company, a normal behavior of intercompany loan. According to regulations, it was not necessary to perform the decision-making and information disclosure procedures of listed company loan.

> TIA Rui Xue CERTIFIED TRANSLATOR Vember of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta TIA Member # 001/2019 TA and valid until December 31, 2026

2. The Announcement disclosed that Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run subsequently provided the transferred CAD 44 million to Deng Xiaobo, Deng Tianzhou and other interested parties, accounting for 13.32% of the Company's audited net assets in 2016. On July 10th, 2019, the Company replied to the inquiry letter of our department claiming that based on its selfexamination, no action of non-operating fund occupation was found. The Company is requested to disclose additional information on the following matters: (1) Details on the corresponding capital outflow. Please list the amount of fund, purpose, whereabouts, relevant account processing, etc., of each transaction, and indicate whether the relevant fund transfers had commercial substance and whether the purpose of the transfers was to protect the Company's interests; (2) Whether necessary decision-making and information disclosure procedures were performed with regard to the matters involved in the relevant fund transfers, if not, please explain the reasons and compliance; (3) In combination with the purpose, nature, decisionmaking process of the fund transfers and so on, please indicate whether it was an action of nonoperating fund occupation for the Company to provide the transferred funds to Deng Tianzhou and other interested parties. If so, please explain the specific reasons for fund occupation and the relevant responsible parties, as well as the reasons and responsible parties undisclosed in the preliminary round of verification.

[Reply] (1) Details on the corresponding capital outflow. Please list the amount of fund, purpose, whereabouts, relevant account processing, etc., of each transaction, and indicate whether the relevant fund transfers had commercial substance and whether the purpose of the transfers was to protect the Company's interests;

a) Calgary Sinoenergy received a total amount of CAD 93,356,491 from Henenghaixin, of which CAD 92.15 million was transferred to Long Run (for details, please refer to the description of Question 1), and CAD 510,250.52 was used by Sinoenergy Oil Investment Ltd., the parent company of Calgary Sinoenergy to pay interest on the loan of CCB Seoul Branch, and the remaining funds and part of its own funds were divided into 7 interest payments of CAD 3,433,705.88 for Henenghaixin York City (as part of the loan repayment to Henenghaixin).

b) In view of the great workload of verifying the financial records such as bank statements, bank journals, cheque statistics, etc. of Long Run for the full year of 2017 and the limited time given to respond to this inquiry letter, the Company targeted specifically at the period during which Henenghaixin transferred CAD 92.15 million to the Company (from April 2017 to September 2017), and verified each fund transfer of CAD 100,000 and above from Long Run

ATTA Rui Xue CERTIFIED TRANSLATOR Member of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta ATIA Member # 001/2019 Issued by ATIA and valid until December 31, 2026 from January to September 2017. The following is a summary of the verified fund outflows of Long Run from January to September 2017:

Unit: CAD

| Classification of fund outflow     | Verified #ofCompanies | Verified #ofPayment Records | Verified Amount | # of Companies withContracts and Statements |
|------------------------------------|---------------------------|---------------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| Drilling and CompletionRelated | 26                        | 144                             | 76,350,033.43   | 8                                               |
| Oilfield Operation Related         | 90                        | 345                             | 96,315,152.96   | 8                                               |
| Office Management Related          | 24                        | 73                              | 24,206,687.77   | 4                                               |
| Government Taxes                   | 35                        | 78                              | 9,110,390.18    | Not Applicable                                  |
| Government – Land Rent             | 11                        | 11                              | 2,342,582.78    | Not Applicable                                  |
| Loan Interest                      | 2                         | 4                               | 8,026,859.27    | 2                                               |
| Staff Salaries and Benefits        | 3                         | 39                              | 24,312,540.77   | 3                                               |
| Total                              | 181                       | 694                             | 240,664,247.16  |                                                 |

Long Run's fund inflow and outflow from January to September 2017 are summarized as follows:

Unit: CAD

| 1, Bank Opening Amount on January 1 st 2017 | 13,500,019.71  |
|--------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| 2. Fund Inflow from Henenghaixin                       | 92,150,000.00  |
| 3、Parent Company Loan from Calgary Sinoenergy          | 20,069,983.94  |
| 4、 Loan from CCB Toronto Branch                        | 20,374,282.46  |
| 5, Normal Operating Payment                            | 224,649,149.09 |
| 6. Amount of Fund Outflow                              | 325,328,196.89 |
| 7 Bank Ending Balance on September 30th, 2017          | 45,415,238.31  |

The total amount of above-mentioned verified fund outflows accounted for 73.98% of Long Run's total fund outflows from January to September 2017. Contracts or settlement documents corresponding to partial fund outflows are still in the process of being collected.

Rui Xue CERTIFIED TRANSLATOR Member of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta ATIA Member # 001/2019 Issued by ATIA and valid until December 31, 2026

Verification conclusion: By verifying each fund inflow transaction of CAD 100,000 and above from Long Run from January to September 2017 (covering the time period of fund inflow from Henenghaixin from April to September 2017), the Company did not find fund outflow from Long Run into the accounts of Deng Tianzhou, Deng Xiaobo and other interested parties, and no action of non-operating fund occupation was found.

Next, the Company will continue to verify Long Run's fund outflows from October to December 2017 and the payment records of the single fund outflow of less than CAD 100,000 in 2017.

(2) Whether necessary decision-making and information disclosure procedures were performed with regard to the matters involved in the relevant fund transfers, if not, please explain the reasons and compliance;

The above-mentioned capital expenditures are considered routine production and operational capital spending of the Company's holding subsidiaries Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run, and have been paid after following the standard funding approval process at Long Run; hence, there was no need to perform the decision-making and information disclosure procedures of listed companies.

(3) In combination with the purpose, nature, decision-making process of the fund transfers and so on, please indicate whether it was an action of occupation of non-operating funds for the Company to provide the transferred funds to Deng Tianzhou and other interested parties. If so, please explain the specific reasons for fund occupation and the relevant responsible parties, as well as the reasons and responsible parties undisclosed in the preliminary round of verification.

As mentioned above, after conducting a comprehensive verification of Long Run's capital outflow transactions of CAD 100,000 and above from January to September 2017, the Company did not find fund outflows from Long Run into the accounts of Deng Tianzhou, Deng Xiaobo and other interested parties, and no action of non-operating fund occupation was found.

3. The Announcement disclosed that the court issued an order to freeze all assets of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run, including bank deposits and real estate, prohibiting related parties from disposing of "recourse property". As of December 31st, 2019, Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run's total assets amounted to RMB 8.381 billion, accounting for 75.05% of the total assets of listed Company. Long Run's operating income in 2019 was RMB 686 million, accounting for 63.28% of the Company's total revenue. The Company is requested to disclose additional information on the following matters: (1) List the details and amount of the frozen assets, as well as the proportion of assets in the listed company's most recent audited asset list; (2) the specific impact of the frozen assets of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run on the Company's financial status, and production and operation with full warning of the risks; (3) Combining with the financial status of Deng Tianzhou and other interested parties, explain the subsequent impact of the litigation on the Company, including possible compensation liability, etc., the proposed resolution measures, with full warning of the risks.

[Reply] (1) List the details and amount of the frozen assets, as well as the proportion of assets in the listed company's most recent audited asset list;

Rui Xue CERTIFIED TRANSLATOR Member of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta ATIA Member # 001/2019 ssued by ATIA and valid until December 31, 2026

| Frozen Assets (Item)       | Book Balance (RMB) | Proportion of corresponding assets in the listed Company |
|----------------------------|--------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| Money Funds                | 14,146,033.63      | 2.94%                                                    |
| Fixed Assets               | 5,663,546.98       | 1.82%                                                    |
| Project Goods and Material | 47,802,972.15      | 100.00%                                                  |
| Oil and Gas Assets         | 4,770,688,149,81   | 89.62%                                                   |
| Long-term Prepaid Expenses | 11,619,444.81      | 74.36%                                                   |
| Account Receivable         | 96.072.876.64      | 34.84%                                                   |
| Other Receivables          | 2,537,803,005.34   | 163.56%                                                  |
| Prepayments                | 16,862,948.98      | 2.09%                                                    |
| Total                      | 7,500,658,978.34   | A                                                        |

Details on the Frozen Assets of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run are as follows:

Note: The amount of other receivables has not offset the current amount of consolidated related parties within the listed company.

(2) The specific impact of the frozen assets of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run on the Company's financial status, and production and operation with full warning of the risks;

Due to the frozen assets, the normal operation of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run was affected to a certain extent. After applying to the local court, Long Run has been allowed to process or dispose of any capital transaction of no more than CAD 10,000 in the normal course of business, as well as any capital transaction of more than CAD 10,000 approved in writing by a representative from Henenghaixin or other designated parties. And the approval shall not be unreasonably rejected, delayed or restricted.

The above-mentioned conditions allow Long Run to make payments to suppliers and service providers, in order to maintain the basic production operations.

(3) Combining with the financial status of Deng Tianzhou and other interested parties, explain the subsequent impact of the litigation on the Company, including possible compensation liability, etc., the company's proposed resolution measures with full warning of the risks.

After verification, the fund flows from Calgary Sinoenergy to Henenghaixin in 2016-2017 are as follows:

| Date       | Payer              | Payee          | Amount (CAD)  | Nature of the Transfer                                   |
|------------|--------------------|----------------|---------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| 2016-12-20 | Calgary Sinoenergy | FTI Consulting | 27,140,000.00 | Payment of Bid-winning Deposit for the TB Project (Note) |
| 2017-1-16  | Calgary Sinoenergy | Henenghaixin   | 100.000.00    | Current Payment                                          |
| 2017-1-16  | Calgary Sinoenergy | Twin Butte     | 10,888.00     | Current Payment                                          |

ATTA Rui Xue CERTIFIED TRANSLATOR Member of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta ATIA Member # 001/2019 Issued by ATIA and valid until December 31, 2026

| 2017-3-31  | Calgary Sinoenergy | Henenghaixin | 100,000.00    | Current Payment |  |
|------------|--------------------|--------------|---------------|-----------------|--|
| 2017-6-22  | Calgary Sinoenergy | York City    | 472,310.36    | Loan Repayment  |  |
| 2017-7-12  | Calgary Sinoenergy | York City    | 117,700.00    | Loan Repayment  |  |
| 2017-8-3   | Calgary Sinoenergy | Henenghaixin | 200,000.00    | Loan Repayment  |  |
| 2017-8-3   | Calgary Sinoenergy | Henenghaixin | 1,000,000.00  | Loan Repayment  |  |
| 2017-8-30  | Calgary Sinoenergy | York City    | 253,587.29    | Loan Repayment  |  |
| 2017-9-7   | Calgary Sinoenergy | Henenghaixin | 15,000,000.00 | Loan Repayment  |  |
| 2017-9-22  | Calgary Sinoenergy | York City    | 471,295.23    | Loan Repayment  |  |
| 2017-9-29  | Calgary Sinoenergy | York City    | 1.370,018.02  | Loan Repayment  |  |
| 2017-10-10 | Calgary Sinoenergy | York City    | 697,494.98    | Loan Repayment  |  |
| 2017-10-13 | Calgary Sinoenergy | York City    | 51,300,00     | Loan Repayment  |  |
|            |                    |              | 46,984,593.88 |                 |  |

Note: Calgary Sinoenergy paid CAD 27.14 million to FTI Consulting Inc. on behalf of Henenghaixin on December 20th, 2016, as the deposit for winning the bid for the TB project.

As of December 31st, 2017, Calgary Sinoenergy's outstanding debt to Henenghaixin was CAD 46.3719 million. The Company's holding subsidiaries Long Run and Asia-Pacific Clean Energy Co., Ltd. repaid RMB 49.79 million to Henenghaixin by paying interests on behalf of Henenghaixin's parent company York City. As of December 31st, 2018, the outstanding debt of the Company's subsidiary in Canada to Henenghaixin was equivalent to RMB 171,149,618.09. In view of the credit and debt disputes between the Company's holding subsidiary Qingdao Sinoenergy Corp., Hubei Jiutoufeng Natural Gas Co., Ltd., and Henenghaixin, after consultation, the three Parties signed the "Credit and Debt Offset Agreement" in December 2018 and unanimously agreed to use the deductible amount of RMB 171,149,618.09 to offset the credit and debt. After the offset, there is no longer credit or debt disputes between the Company's holding subsidiaries in Canada and Henenghaixin.

Since the overseas litigation case, the Company's subsidiaries in Canada have been actively and effectively communicating with Henenghaixin. The subsidiary companies in Canada have verified their capital borrowing and returns with Henenghaixin, and have provided the feedback to Henenghaixin in a timely manner. The Company will subsequently request Henenghaixin to withdraw the lawsuit against the subsidiary companies in Canada in accordance with the law as soon as possible, and apply to the court to remove the freeze orders on all assets of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run including bank deposits and real estate.

4. Please check whether the Company and its subsidiaries, especially overseas subsidiaries, has failed to disclose information on matters include occupation of funds, litigation and freezing of assets, and indicate whether the Company's production, operation and management has been significantly impacted.

Rui Xue CERTIFIED TRANSLATOR Member of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta ATIA Member # 001/2019 Issued by ATIA and valid until December 31, 2026

[Reply]

After receiving the inquiry letter, the Company immediately sent out a written request to the Company and its subsidiaries for self-examination. The content of the document included, but was not limited to, whether there had been undisclosed information with regard to occupation of funds, litigation and freezing of assets that should be disclosed. As of the date of this announcement, the Company and its holding subsidiaries did not have any undisclosed information with regard to occupation of funds, litigation and freezing of assets that should be disclosed.

5. The Announcement disclosed that the Company received a court indictment forwarded from an overseas holding subsidiary on May 5th, 2020. The Company is requested to disclose additional information on the specific time when the overseas holding subsidiary received the indictment or the asset freeze order, and whether the company has failed to disclose the information in a timely manner. If so, please explain the reason and rationality.

[Reply]

The Company's overseas holding subsidiary received the indictment and asset restraining order from the Alberta Court of Queen's Bench on April 30th, 2020, and forwarded it to the Company's securities affairs department on May 5th, 2020. Immediately after receiving the relevant documents, the securities affairs department verified the relevant matters with the related parties and disclosed the information on May 8th, 2020, ensuring the timeliness of information disclosure.

6. Overseas litigation matters. The Company's previous announcement stated that the overseas holding subsidiaries Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. and Long Run Exploration Ltd. transferred CAD 44 million to the former de facto controller Deng Tianzhou and other interested parties. Our department sent an inquiry letter to the Company on May 8th, 2020, and has yet received any response. The Company is requested to verify the relevant matters as soon as possible to determine whether there has been a case of occupation of funds. At the same time, an accountant is requested to conduct verification and express a clear opinion.

For the Company's response to the relevant matters, please refer to Questions 1 to 5 of this reply letter.

Accountant's opinion:

The accountant received the request from Sinoenergy regarding the verification of overseas litigation matters, and whether there has been a case of occupation of funds. We attached great importance and promptly appointed an accountant to conduct a full-scale verification of this task, including but not limited to the review of the 2018 and 2019 working papers, and verification of all Long Run's bank transaction record, bank ledger and current payments to determine whether there has been any fund transferred to Deng Tianzhou and other interested parties, and we have planned to perform interviews with parties involved in the overseas litigation.

ATIA Rui Xue CERTIFIED TRANSLATOR Member of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta ATIA Member # 001/2019 Issued by ATIA and valid until December 31, 2026 So far, we have reviewed the bank transaction record, bank ledger and current payments, etc. of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run provided by Sinoenergy, and no direct transfer or cheque payment to Deng Tianzhou, Deng Xiaobo and other individuals has been found, and no case of fund occupation has been found. We will further conduct a comprehensive verification of the amount of each bank deposit to confirm whether there are any occupied funds that have not been discovered.

In view of the complexity of overseas litigation matters, the annual audit accountant cannot apply for a visa to Canada. At the same time, we are temporarily unable to interview the litigant in order to understand the specifics of the situation. Meanwhile, in order to ensure the accuracy of the verification, it takes a certain amount of time for us to verify each bank transaction record. We will execute all audit procedures that we deem necessary and issue our final verification opinion on the overseas litigation matters.

For the special explanation of the funds occupied by the controlling shareholders and other related parties in 2018 and 2019, we have performed following verification procedures:

1. Obtain a summary of non-operating fund occupation by the management and fund transactions between other related parties.

2. Obtain a special statement from the management authority on whether there has been a case of non-operating fund occupation or fund transactions between other related parties.

3. Verify the details of fund transactions over RMB 1 million, and check whether there are abnormal capital revenues and expenditures. Use equal sampling and random sampling to check the consistency between the original documents and accounting records for capital transactions over RMB 1 million, and whether there is any abnormality with regard to the payee or payer.

4. Verify the details of current balance, and check whether there is any abnormality with regard to customers or suppliers, and whether there is a situation where there are transaction amounts with no balance.

5. Verify the business files and other information of the suppliers and customers to identify whether the Company has any potential related parties, and obtain the related party's commitment statement and other information, issued by the management.

After the above-mentioned verification, we believe that we have cross checked the information in the fund occupation table with the relevant accounting materials we reviewed when auditing Sinoenergy's 2018 and 2019 financial statements, as well as the audited financial statements. No major inconsistencies were found.

Changchun Sinoenergy Corporation

Board of Directors

June 5th, 2020

ATTA Rui Xue CERTIFIED TRANSLATOR Member of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta ATIA Member # 001/2019 ssued by ATIA and valid until December 31, 2026

Page 11 of 20

RUI XUE - CERTIFIED TRANSLATOR

CHINESE to ENGLISH

117 Somerset Drive S.W. Calgary, AB T2Y 3C8 CANADA Tel: 403-453-1489; Email: xuerui0417@hotmail.com

Member of Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta-Canada

Member No: 001/2019

TRANSLATOR'S STATEMENT

I, _Rui Xue_ Certified Translator Chinese to English, member in good standing of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta (which is a member association of the Canadian Translators, Terminologists, Interpreters Council – CTTIC), certificate no: _001/2019_, hereby declare that I did translate into _ENGLISH_ the attached _CHINESE_document and that, to the best of my knowledge, the translation accurately reflects the contents and meaning of the _CHINESE_ original.

List of translated document(s):

1- *ST Changchun Sinoenergy Corporation's Announcement on the Inquiry Letter Regarding Litigation Matters Concerning Overseas Holding Subsidiaries<sup>1</sup> (ten pages, one-sided)

This translation package comprises twenty (20) pages including the statement page.

ATTA Rui Xue CERTIFIED TRANSLATOR Member of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta ATIA Member # 001/2019 Issued by ATIA and valid until December 31, 2026 June 15th, 2020

Rui Xue

Certified Translator ZH-EN (ATIA)

<sup>1</sup> Document translated from webpage received via WeChat –copy attached.

证券代码: 600856 证券简称: *ST 中天 公告编号: 临 2020-084

长春中天能源股份有限公司

关于对海外控股子公司涉及诉讼事项问询函的回复公告

本公司董事会及全体董事保证本公告内容不存在任何虚假记载、误导性陈述或者重大遗漏,并对其内容的真实性、准确性和完整性承担个别及连带责任。

长春中天能源股份有限公司(以下简称"公司")于 2020 年 5 月 8 日收到上海证券交易所《关于对长春中天能源股份有限公司海外控股子公司涉及诉讼事项的问询函》(上证公函【2020】0458 号),现回复如下:

一、公告玻露,2016年11月至2017年9月,公可原买际控制人举大洲担 任合能海欣董事。2017年1月至9月,邓天洲及其女儿邓小泊等以邓天洲拥有 和控制合能海欣为由,将合能海欣的4400万加元转移到卡尔加里和 Long Run。 请公司补充披露相应资金流入的具体情况,包括资金金额、形成原因等,说明 流入资金是否合法合规。

【回复】

公司在收到问询函后立即责成加拿大子公司对上述资金流入情况进行全面核查。经财务核实,合能海欣与公司加拿大子公司卡尔加里中天、卡尔加里中天与 Long Run 的资金转账情况如下:

1、合能海欣资金流入到卡尔加里中天的情况如下表:

| 日期        | 付款方  | 收款方    | 金额(加元)        | 款项性质         |
|-----------|------|--------|---------------|--------------|
| 2017-4-12 | 合能海欣 | 卡尔加里中天 | 15,000,000.00 | 偿还 TB 项目保证金款 |
| 2017-4-18 | 合能海欣 | 卡尔加里中天 | 10,000,000.00 | 偿还 TB 项目保证金款 |
| 2017-6-2  | 合能海欣 | 卡尔加里中天 | 22,000,000.00 | 公司间借款        |
| 2017-6-2  | 合能海欣 | 卡尔加里中天 | 500,000.00    | 公司间借款        |
| 2017-7-5  | 合能海欣 | 卡尔加里中天 | 11,150,000.00 | 公司间借款        |
| 2017-7-12 | 合能海欣 | 卡尔加里中天 | 31,000,000.00 | 公司间借款        |

| 2017-7-13 | 合能海欣 | 卡尔加里中天 | 3,596,491.00 | 公司间借款 |  |
|-----------|------|--------|--------------|-------|--|
| 2017-9-5  | 合能海欣 | 卡尔加里中天 | 110,000.00   | 公司间借款 |  |

合计

93,356,491.00

说明: a、2016 年 12 月 19 日,公司全资子公司青岛中天能源集团股份有限公司董 事会审议通过《青岛中天联合荆州市和平能源有限公司收购加拿大阿尔伯塔省 Twin Butt e Energy Ltd.的油气资产并增资以增加油气产能的议案》,同意青岛中天出资 13.95 亿 元人民币,联合荆州市合平能源有限公司(以下简称"荆州市合平能源")通过青岛中天宇 恒能源有限公司收购 Twin Butte Energy Ltd.的油气资产。根据上述董事会决议,且青岛 中天在 2017 年 1 月 25 日之前全资控股青岛中天宇恒,即间接全资控股合能海欣公司, 青岛中天控股子公司卡尔加里中天于 2016 年 12 月 20 日向 FTI Consulting 支付 2000 万 美元(折合 2714 万加元)用于合能海欣收购 Twin Butte 项目。公司未就上述投资行为 履行信息披露义务,违反了《上市公司信息披露管理办法》(证监会令第 40 号)第二条 第一款、第三十条第二款第二项、第三十三条第一款相关规定,吉林证监局于 2019 年 1 2 月 20 日对上市公司及时任董事长邓天洲出具警示函的监管措施。上交所于 2020 年 5 月 6 日亦对上述未履行相应的决策程序及未及时披露重大资产重组信息的事项给予了公 司及时任当事人纪律处分。

b、2017年1月25日,鉴于资金紧张,公司预计无法按约定时间完成对青岛中天宇恒的出资,经与荆州市合平能源协商后,荆州市合平能源以增资18亿元人民币注册资本方式获得青岛中天宇恒99.45%股权,公司持有青岛中天宇恒股比例变更为0.55%,公司不再对青岛中天宇恒拥有控制权。青岛中天宇恒的控制权变更已经在公司2017年年报中进行了披露。

c、2017 年 4 月,合能海欣转账给卡尔加里中天两笔资金合计金额 2,500 万加元,用于偿还卡加里中天支付的 TB 项目的前期收购费用。

d、2017 年 4 月 10 日,合能海欣全资母公司 York City Enterprises Ltd. (以下简称 "York City")与卡尔加里中天于签订了借款协议,协议主要内容:借款金额为 5876 万加 元,后续可以增加,借款利率为最优惠利率上浮 100 点。本着友好合作的前提,借款协 议未约定具体借款期限。在此借款协议的约定下,合能海欣于 2017 年 6 月至 2017 年 9 月期间分 6 笔转账 68,356,491 加元到卡尔加里中天账上,其中 214 万加元用于还清卡尔 加里中天支付的 TB 项目的前期收购费用,实际借款金额 66,216,491 加元。

2、卡尔加里中天收到合能海欣资金后资金流入 Long Run 的情况:

| 日期        | 付款方    | 收款方      | 金额 | (加元)          | 款项性质  |
|-----------|--------|----------|----|---------------|-------|
| 2017-4-13 | 卡尔加里中天 | Long Run |    | 15,000,000.00 | 母公司借款 |
| 2017-4-18 | 卡尔加里中天 | Long Run |    | 10,000,000.00 | 母公司借款 |
| 2017-6-2  | 卡尔加里中天 | Long Run |    | 22,000,000.00 | 母公司借款 |

| 2017-7-5  | 卡尔加里中天 | Long Run | 11,150,000.00 | 母公司借款 |
|-----------|--------|----------|---------------|-------|
| 2017-7-13 | 卡尔加里中天 | Long Run | 31,000,000.00 | 母公司借款 |
| 2017-7-13 | 卡尔加里中天 | Long Run | 3,000,000.00  | 母公司借款 |

合计

情况说明:

a、2016 年 6 月 29 日, Long Run 与卡尔加里中天签订借款协议,约定由卡尔加里中天借款 1.2 亿加币给 Long Run,借款利率为最优惠利率上浮 150 点,借款到期日为 2 017 年 2 月 1 日。2016 年 8 月 29 日,Long Run 与卡尔加里中天签订第一次调整协议,将借款金额由 1.2 亿加元调整到 2.2 亿加元。2017 年 1 月 31 日,Long Run 与卡尔加里中天签订第二次调整协议,约定上述借款协议到期日由 2017 年 2 月 1 日延期到 2024 年 7 月 9 日,借款金额由 2.2 亿调整到 4.5 亿加元。根据此借款协议及调整协议的约定,卡尔加里中天于 2017 年 4 月至 2017 年 7 月将收到的合能海欣的 9215 万元借款资金转账给 Long Run。

92,150,000.00

b、公司控股子公司卡尔加里中天与合能海欣的母公司 York City 于 2017 年 4 月签 订的借款协议金额为 5860 万加元,折合人民币约 3.02 亿元,属于公司控股子公司卡尔 加里中天与非关联企业之间正常的资金借款行为,按《上海证券交易所股票上市规则》的 规定,该项借款金额已达到上市公司 2015 年度经审计净资产的 10%以上,且绝对金额 超过 1000 万元,因此需提交上市公司董事会审议并进行披露,但在该事项发生之时并未 履行履行上市公司的决策及信息披露程序,违反了公司的决策程序及上市公司信息披露的 有关规定。卡尔加里中天与 Long Run 的借款协议为集团内控股子公司借款给其全资控股 公司,属于公司内部之间正常的资金借款行为,按规定无需履行上市公司的决策及信息披露程序。

二、公告披露,卡尔加里和 Long Run 后续将被转移的 4400 万加元提供给邓小泊、 邓天洲等相关方,该部分资金总额约占公司 2016 年经审计净资产的 13.32%,公司 2019 年 7 月 10 日回复我部问询函称自查不存在资金非经营性占用情况。请公司补充披露: (1)相应资金流出的具体情况,请逐笔列示相关款项金额、用途、资金去向、相关账务 处理等情况,说明相关资金往来是否具有商业实质以及为保障公司利益所采取的措施; (2)相关资金往来涉及的事项是否履行了必要的决策及信息披露程序,若否,请说明原 因及是否合规; (3)请

【回复】(1)相应资金流出的具体情况,请逐笔列示相关款项金额、用途、资金去向、相关账务处理等情况,说明相关资金往来是否具有商业实质以及为保障公司利益所采取的措施;

a、卡尔加里中天收到合能海欣转账资金总计金额为 93,356,491 加元,其中 9215 万 加元转账给 Long Run (明细见问题回复一的描述),510,250.52 加元为卡尔加里中天 的母公司 Sinoenergy Oil Investment Ltd.支付建行首尔分行贷款利息,剩余资金及部分自 有资金分 7 笔为合能海欣 York City 代付利息 3,433,705.88 加元(作为对合能海欣借款 的部分归还)。

b、鉴于对 Long Run 公司 2017 年全年的银行对账单、银行日记账、支票统计表等 财务资料进行逐笔核查的工作量极大及本问询函回复时间有限,公司针对合能海欣 9215 万加币资金流入公司的时间段(2017 年 4 月至 2017 年 9 月份),对 Long Run 公司 20 17 年 1-9 月份的单笔金额在 10 万加元以上(含 10 万元加币)的资金流出记录现行进行 了逐笔核查,现就 Long Run 公司 2017 年 1-9 月份已完成的资金流出核查情况汇总如下 表:

单位: 加元

| 资金流出性质分类   | 核查公司数目       | 核查付款记录数目 | 核查金额                | 有合同、对账单的公司数目 |
|------------|--------------|----------|---------------------|--------------|
| 钻井、完井相关    | 26           | 144      | 76,350,033.43       | 8            |
| 油田经营相关     | 90           | 345      | 96,315,152.96       | 8            |
| 办公室经营相关    | 24           | 73       | 24,206,687.77       | 4            |
| 政府税费       | 35           | 78       | 9,110,390.18        | 不适用          |
| 政府-土地租金    | 1            | 11       | 2,342,582.78        | 不适用          |
| 借款利息       | 2            | 4        | 8,026,859.27        | 2            |
| 员工工资及福利    | 3            | 39       | 24,312,540.77       | 3            |
| 合计         | 181          | 694      | 240,664,247.16      |              |
| Long Run 2 | 司 2017 年 1-9 | 月资金流入流出情 | <sub>行</sub> 况汇总如下表 |              |

单位:加元

| 1、2017年1月1日银行期初额 | 13,500,019.71 |
|------------------|---------------|
| 2、合能海信资金流入       | 92,150,000.00 |
| 3、卡尔加里中天母公司借款    | 20,069,983.94 |

| 4、建行多伦多支行贷款        | 20,374,282.46  |
|--------------------|----------------|
| 5、正常经营回款           | 224,649,149.09 |
| 6、资金流出金额           | 325,328,196.89 |
| 7、2017年9月30日银行期末余额 | 45,415,238.31  |

上述已完成逐笔核查的资金流出总金额占 Long Run 公司 2017 年 1-9 月份资金流出 总金额的 73.98%, 部分资金流出相对应的合同或结算单据尚在搜集过程中。

核查结论:公司通过对 Long Run 公司 2017 年 1-9 月份(核查时间已覆盖合能海欣 2017 年 4-9 月资金流入 Long Run 公司的时间段)单笔金额在 10 万元加币以上(含 10 万元加币)资金流出情况的逐笔核查,公司未发现 Long Run 公司的资金流入邓天洲、邓小泊等相关方的账户,未发现存在资金非经营性占用的情形。

公司下一步将继续对 Long Run 公司 2017 年 10-12 月份的资金流出及 2017 年度单 笔资金流出金额在 10 万加元以下的付款记录展开核查工作。

(2)相关资金往来涉及的事项是否履行了必要的决策及信息披露程序,若否,请说明原因及是否合规;

上还贷金文出属丁公可拴股丁公可下尔加里甲大、Long Run 公可日常的生产经营资金支出,已经Long Run 公司内部正常的资金审批流程后支付,按规定无需履行上市公司的决策程序及信息披露程序。

(3)请结合资金往来用途、性质、决策流程等事项,说明公司将被转移的资金提供 给邓天洲等相关方是否构成资金非经营性占用,若是,请说明资金占用事项发生的具体原 因、相关责任人以及前期核查未如实披露的原因及责任人。

如上所述,经过公司对 Long Run 公司 2017 年 1 月-9 月单笔金额在 10 万元加币以 上(含 10 万元加币)资金流出的全面核查,公司未发现资金流入邓天洲、邓小泊等相关 方的账户,未发现存在资金非经营性占用的情形。

二、公司级路, 公园 지 下小加 里和 Long Kun 巴拉 取 1 计 动、 小40 厂 守 田 20 的所有资产发出冻结命令, 禁止相关方处置"可索还财产"。截至 2019 年 12 月 31 日, 卡尔加里及 LONG RUN 公司总资产合计 83.81 亿元, 占上市公司总资 产的 75.05%, LONG RUN 公司 2019 年实现营业收入 6.86 亿元, 占公司总收入的 63.28%。请公司补充披露: (1) 以列表形式说明被冻结资产的具体明细、金额、 占上市公司最近一期经审计对应资产科目的比例; (2) 卡尔加里及 LONG RUN 公司相关资产被冻结对公司财务状况及生产经营的具体影响并充分提示风险; (3) 结合邓天洲等相关方的财务状况说明该诉讼事项后续对公司可能造成的影响,包括可能承 担的赔偿责任等,公司拟采取的解决措施并充分提示相关风险。

【回复】(1)以列表形式说明被冻结资产的具体明细、金额、占上市公司最近一期 经审计对应资产科目的比例;

卡尔加里中天与 Long Run 被冻结资产明细

| 冻结资产项目 | 账面余额(人民币元)       | 占上市公司相应科目比例 |
|--------|------------------|-------------|
| 货币资金   | 14,146,033.63    | 2.94%       |
| 固定资产   | 5,663,546.98     | 1.82%       |
| 工程物资   | 47,802,972.15    | 100.00%     |
| 油气资产   | 4,770,688,149.81 | 89.62%      |
| 长期待摊费用 | 11,619,444.81    | 74.36%      |
| 应收账款   | 96,072,876.64    | 34.84%      |
| 其他应收款  | 2,537,803,005.34 | 163.56%     |
| 预付账款   | 16,862,948.98    | 2.09%       |
| 合计     | 7,500,658,978.34 |             |

注: 其他应收款金额尚未抵消上市公司内合并关联方往来金额。

(2) 卡尔加里及 LONG RUN 公司相关资产被冻结对公司财务状况及生产经营的具体影响并充分提示风险;

下小加里甲天能源、Long Kun 四寅广做冻结, 取限下小加里甲天能源、Long Run 正常经营受到一定影响。经 Long Run 向当地法院申请,法院允许 Long Run 在正常业务过程中处理或处置任何不超过 10000 加元的资金交易,以及经代表合能海欣公司或其他指定人士事先书面批准的超过 10000 加元的其他资金交易,并 且该批准不得被无理地拒绝、拖延或限制。

上述对资金的附带条件解冻,使得 Long Run 公司可以向供应商及服务商进行付款, 维持了基本的生产经营。

(3)结合邓天洲等相关方的财务状况说明该诉讼事项后续对公司可能造成的影响, 包括可能承担的赔偿责任等,公司拟采取的解决措施并充分提示相关风险。 经核查,卡尔加里中天在 2016-2017 年资金流向合能海欣的情况如下:

| 日期         | 付款方    | 收款方            | 金额(加币)        | 款项性质              |
|------------|--------|----------------|---------------|-------------------|
| 2016-12-20 | 卡尔加里中天 | FTI Consulting | 27,140,000.00 | 支付 TB 项目 中标保证金(注) |
| 2017-1-16  | 卡尔加里中天 | 合能海欣           | 100,000.00    | 往来款               |
| 2017-1-16  | 卡尔加里中天 | Twin Butte     | 10,888.00     | 往来款               |
| 2017-3-31  | 卡尔加里中天 | 合能海欣           | 100,000.00    | 往来款               |
| 2017-6-22  | 卡尔加里中天 | York City      | 472,310.36    | 偿还借款              |
| 2017-7-12  | 卡尔加里中天 | York City      | 117,700.00    | 偿还借款              |
| 2017-8-3   | 卡尔加里中天 | 合能海欣           | 200,000.00    | 偿还借款              |
| 2017-8-3   | 卡尔加里中天 | 合能海欣           | 1,000,000.00  | 偿还借款              |
| 2017-8-30  | 卡尔加里中天 | York City      | 253,587.29    | 偿还借款              |
| 2017-9-7   | 卡尔加里中天 | 合能海欣           | 15,000,000.00 | 偿还借款              |
| 2017-9-22  | 卡尔加里中天 | York City      | 471,295.23    | 偿还借款              |
| 2017-9-29  | 卡尔加里中天 | York City      | 1,370,018.02  | 偿还借款              |
| 2017-10-10 | 卡尔加里中天 | York City      | 697,494.98    | 偿还借款              |
| 2017-10-13 | 卡尔加里中天 | York City      | 51,300.00     | 偿还借款              |
|            |        |                |               |                   |

46,984,593.88

注: 卡尔加里中天 2016 年 12 月 20 日支付给 FTI Consulting 的 2714 万元加币的资 金系替合能海欣支付的 TB 项目中标保证金。

截至 2017 年 12 月 31 日,卡尔加里中天应付合能海欣的债务余额为 4,637.19 万加 元。公司控股子公司 Long Run 及亚太清洁能源有限公司通过代合能海欣母公司 York Cit y 偿还利息的方式归还合能海欣欠款 4,979.00 万元人民币,截至 2018 年 12 月 31 日, 公司加拿大子公司与合能海欣剩余的欠款金额折合人民币为 171,149,618.09 元。鉴于公 司控股子公司青岛中天能源集团股份有限公司、湖北九头风天然气有限公司、合能海欣三 方之间存在着相互债权与债务关系,经协商一致后三方于 2018 年 12 月签订了《债权债 务抵销协议》,一致同意以 171,149,618.09 万元人民币可互抵金额为债权债务抵消原则 进行抵消,抵消后公司加拿大子公司与合能海欣不再存在债权债务关系。

自海外诉讼案发生以来,公司加拿大子公司一直与合能海欣方进行了积极有效的沟通,加拿大子公司对与合能海欣方的资金借款及归还情况进行了核查,并将公司子公司与合能海欣的资金借款及还款的核查情况与合能海欣进行了及时反馈。公司后续将依法要求合能海欣尽快撤销对加拿大子公司的诉讼,并向法院申请解除对卡尔加里和 Long Run 包括银行存款、不动产等在内的所有资产发出的冻结命令。

四、请公司自查公司及下属子公司,尤其是海外子公司,是否存在应披露未披露的资金占用、诉讼、资产冻结等事项,并说明是否对公司生产经营和管理产生重大影响。

【回复】

公司自收到问询函后,立即向公司及下属子公司发送要求其进行自查的书面文件,文件内容包括但不限于是否存在应披露未披露的资金占用、诉讼、资产冻结等事项,截至本公告披露日,公司及各控股子公司不存在应披露而未披露的资金占用、诉讼、资产冻结等事项。

土、公告 扱 路,公 可 于 2020 年 5 月 5 日 収 到 海 外 招 股 子 公 可 转 来 的 法 院 起

诉书。请公司补充披露海外控股子公司收到起诉书或者资产冻结令的具体时间

点,公司是否存在信息披露不及时的情况,若是,请说明原因及合理性。

【回复】

公司海外控股子公司于 2020 年 4 月 30 日收到阿尔伯塔高等法院起诉书及资产禁止 令,于 2020 年 5 月 5 日转给公司证券事务部,证券事务部收到相关文件后立即与相关 方核对相关事项,并于 2020 年 5 月 8 日进行了披露,符合信息披露及时性的原则。

六、海外涉诉事项。公司前期公告称海外控股子公司卡尔加里中天能源投资公司及LONG RUN 勘探有限公司将 4400 万加元提供给原实际控制人邓天洲等相关方,我部于 2020 年 5 月 8 日就该事项向公司发出问询函,截至目前公司尚未回复。请公司尽快核查相关事项,明确是否构成资金占用,同时请会计师进行核查并发表明确意见。

公司对相关事项的回复, 详见本回复函问题一至五。

会计师意见:

会计师收到中天能源转来的关于核查海外诉讼事项,是否涉及资金占用,我们高度重视并及时指派专人对该项工作进行全方位核查,包括但不限于 2018 年度、2019 年度工作底稿进行再复核,核查 LONG RUN 的全部银行交易流水、银行明细账、往来明细账识别是否存在转移至邓天洲等相关方的款项等程序,并且拟执行对海外诉讼各方进行访谈工作。

截至目前,我们核查了中天能源提供的卡尔加里中天及 Long Run 银行明细、往来明 细账等相关资料,未发现直接转账或支票支付给邓天洲、邓小泊等个人的款项,未发现存 在资金占用情形。我们进一步将针对每一笔银行存款的发生额进行全部核查,以确认是否 存在资金占用而未被发现情形。

鉴于海外涉诉事项较为复杂,年审会计师无法办理赴加拿大的签证。同时,暂无法向 诉讼方进行访谈并了解具体的诉讼情况。同时为确保此次核查的准确性,银行明细逐笔核 查需要一定的时间。我们将执行完全部我们认为必要的审计程序后发表关于海外涉诉事项最终的核查意见。

2018 年度、2019 年度控股股东及其他关联方占用资金情况的专项说明我们已执行的核查程序如下:

1、取得管理层编制的非经营性资金占用及其他关联方资金往来情况汇总表。

2、获取管理当局声明书是否存非经营性资金占用及其他关联方资金往来的专项声明。

3、核查 100 万元以上资金往来明细,是否存在异常资金收支情形,对于 100 万元以 上资金往来发生额采用等额抽样和随机抽样的方式核查原始单据与会计记录的一致性,是 否存在收款或付款单位异常情形。

4、核查往来余额明细账,是否存在异常异常客户或供应商的情形,是否存在只有发生额没有余额的异常客户或供应商的情形。

5、核查供应商和客户工商档案等资料识别公司是否存在潜在的关联方,并取得管理 层出具的关联方的承诺说明等资料。

经上述核查,我们认为我们对占用资金情况表所载资料与我们审计中天能源公司 201 8年度、2019年度财务报表时所复核的会计资料和经审计的财务报表的相关内容进行了 核对,在所有重大方面没有发现不一致。

长春中天能源股份有限公司 董事会

2020年6月5日

Exhibit "13"

Purported Shareholder Declaration of H. Corp, Apr-10-17

2 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "13"

Referred to in the Affidavit of

Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

aro

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 2026

SHAREHOLDER DECLARATION HENENGHAIXIN CORP.

THIS DECLARATION made effective as of April 10th 2017.

WHEREAS Henenghaixin Corp. (hereinafter referred to as the "Corporation") is a corporation to which the Business Corporations Act (Alberta) (hereinafter referred to as the "Act") applies;

AND WHEREAS York City Enterprises Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the "Sharcholder") is the legal and beneficial owner of all of the issued and outstanding shares of the Corporation;

AND WHEREAS the Shareholder desires to make this Declaration, pursuant to Section 146 of the Act, so as to assume the specific rights, powers and duties of the directors of the Corporation relating to the determination, consideration, execution, delivery and performance of the Loan Agreement dated April 10th 2017 with respect to a loan in the amount of $58.76 million to Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corporation attached hereto as Schedule "A" (the "Abrogated Actions"), and thereby relieve all of the directors of the Corporation of their duties and liabilities to the fullest extent permitted by the Act as it relates to the Abrogated Actions;

NOW THEREFORE IT IS DECLARED AS FOLLOWS:

- 1. The powers of the directors of the Corporation to manage the business and affairs of the Corporation, whether such powers arise from the Act, the articles or the by-laws of the Corporation, or otherwise, are hereby restricted to the fullest extent permitted by the Act and by law as it relates to the Abrogated Actions.
- 2. In accordance with the Act and paragraph 1 hereof, the Shareholder shall have, enjoy, exercise and perform all the rights, powers and duties of the directors of the Corporation as it relates to the Abrogated Actions.
- 3. In the exercise of the rights, powers and duties granted and transferred hereunder, the Shareholder shall be subject to the same duties and liabilities to which the directors of the Corporation would have been subject in the exercise of such rights and powers had this Declaration not been made, subject in all cases to the limitations on liability afforded to a trustee in bankruptcy in the exercise of such duties by the Shareholder.
- 4. The rights, powers and duties granted or transferred hereby to the Shareholder shall be exercised or performed to the extent appropriate, by instrument in writing executed by the Shareholder and any transferee of any share of the Corporation registered in the name of the Shareholder.
- 5. The execution, delivery and performance of the Loan Agreement is hereby approved by the Shareholder and the Corporation is authorized and directed to take such actions as the Shareholder deems necessary or appropriate in furtherance thereof.
- 6. Mr. Shing Tak (Michael) Lam be appointed as a special representative of the Corporation, authorized to handle banking matters and all actions taken by Mr. Lam in such capacity be approved and ratified, and Mr. Lam be specifically directed and authorized to carry out such actions as may be necessary or desirable in furtherance and pursuant of the performance of the transactions under the Loan Agreement.
- 7. This Declaration shall continue in full force and effect until terminated by declaration in writing given by the Shareholder provided that such termination shall not: (i) be effective until notice thereof has been given to all of the directors then in office (which notice shall be deemed to have been given five days after written notice has been delivered or sent by registered mail to each director at his current address on the books of the Corporation); and (ii) affect any obligation of the Shareholder arising prior to the date of termination, including any obligation to indemnify by reason of any matter which has arisen or any circumstances which have occurred prior to the termination.

8. This Declaration is made in accordance with Section 146 of the Act and is deemed to be an unanimous shareholder agreement within the meaning of that term in the Act. An executed copy of this Declaration shall be delivered to each director of the Corporation from time to time. As an unanimous shareholder agreement it shall enure to the benefit of the directors of the Corporation and their heirs and legal representatives and shall be governed in accordance with the laws of the Province of Alberta and the laws of Canada applicable therein.

DATED as of the ____10__ day of April 2017,

YORK CITY ENTERPRISES LTD,

王旭博 Per:

CSI-004523-002

Exhibit "14"

Purported York City Loan Agreement, Apr-10-17

10 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "14"

Referred to in the Affidavit of

Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

Joyce laros

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 20 26

LOAN FACILITY AGREEMENT

THIS AGREEMENT dated for reference the April 10, 2017

BETWEEN:

Calgary Sincenergy Investment Corp

(the "Borrower")

OF THE FIRST PART

AND:

York City Enterprises Limtied

(the "Lender")

OF THE SECOND PART

NOW, in consideration of the promises and mutual covenants and agreements hereinafter contained and other good and valuable consideration (the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged), the Borrower and the Lender hereby agree as follows:

ARTICLE 1 INTERPRETATION

1.1 Definitions

· _

The terms hereinafter defined shall, for the purposes of this Agreement, have the meanings set out below unless the context otherwise requires:

- (a) "Availability Period" means the period from and including the date of this Agreement up to but excluding the Termination Date;
- (b) "Business Day" means any day other than Saturday and Sunday on which banks are ordinarily open for business in Calgary, Alberta, Canada;
- (c) "Facility" has the meaning given in section 2.1;
- (d) "GAAP" means generally accepted accounting principles in Canada applied on a consistent basis;
- (e) "Insolvent" in respect of any person, means:
  - (i) such person is unable to pay its debts as such debts become due;
  - a decree or order of a court of competent jurisdiction is entered adjudging such person a bankrupt or insolvent under the Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act (Canada), the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act (Canada), the Winding-up and Restructuring Act (Canada) or any other bankruptcy, insolvency or analogous laws or ordering the winding-up or liquidation of its affairs;

- (iii) any case, proceeding or other action shall be instituted in any court of competent jurisdiction against such person, seeking in respect of it an adjudication in bankruptcy, reorganization, dissolution, winding-up, liquidation, a composition, proposal or arrangement with creditors, a readjustment of debts, the appointment of a trustee in bankruptcy, receiver, receiver and manager, interim receiver, custodian, sequestrator or other person with similar powers with respect to such person or of all or any substantial part of its assets, or any other like relief in respect of such person under any bankruptcy or insolvency law and:
  - A. such case, proceeding or other action results in an entry of an order for such relief or any such adjudication or appointment, or
  - B. such case, proceeding or other action shall continue undismissed, or unstayed and in effect, for any period of 10 consecutive business days; or
- (iv) such person makes any assignment in bankruptcy or makes any other assignment for the benefit of creditors, makes any proposal under the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act (Canada) or any comparable law, seeks relief under the Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act (Canada), the Winding-up and Restructuring Act (Canada) or any other bankruptcy, insolvency or analogous law, files a petition or proposal to take advantage of any act of insolvency, consents to or acquiesces in the appointment of a trustee in bankruptcy, receiver, receiver and manager, interim receiver, custodian, sequestrator or other person with similar powers of itself or of all or any substantial portion of its assets, or files a petition or otherwise commences any proceeding seeking any reorganization, arrangement, composition, administration or readjustment under any applicable bankruptcy, insolvency, moratorium, reorganization or other similar law affecting creditors' rights or consents to, or acquiesces in, the filling of such assignment, proposal, relief, petition, proposal, appointment or proceeding;
- (f) "Loan Amount" means the aggregate principal amount of the Facility for the time being owing but unpaid by the Borrower hereunder together with all accrued but unpaid interest thereon and other costs, charges and expenses payable by the Borrower hereunder;
- (g) "Margin" means 100 bps;
- (h) "Obligations" means all obligations of the Borrower to the Lender under or in connection with this Agreement, including all debts and liabilities, present or future, direct or indirect, absolute or contingent, matured or not, at any time owing by the Borrower to the Lender, in any currency or remaining unpaid by the Borrower to the Lender, under or in connection with this Agreement, and all interest, fees, legal and other costs, charges, expenses and other obligations;

- 3
- (i) "Permitted Encumbrances" means as at any particular time any of the following encumbrances on the property or any part of the property of the Borrower:
  - liens for taxes, assessments or governmental charges not at the time due or delinquent or, if due or delinquent, the validity of which is being dillgently contested in good faith and appropriate reserves have been made in accordance with GAAP;
  - deemed liens and trusts arising by operation of law in connection with workers' compensation, employment insurance and other social security legislation, in each case, which secure obligations not at the time due or delinquent or, if due or delinquent, the validity of which is being diligently contested in good faith and appropriate reserves have been made in accordance with GAAP;
  - (iii) liens under or pursuant to any judgment rendered, or claim filed, against the Borrower, which the Borrower shall be diligently contesting in good faith and appropriate reserves shall have been made in accordance with GAAP;
  - (iv) undetermined or inchoate liens and charges incidental to current operations which have not at such time been filed pursuant to law against the Borrower or which relate to obligations not due or delinquent or, if due or delinquent, the validity of which is being diligently contested in good faith and appropriate reserves have been made in accordance with GAAP;
  - (v) Security Interests in favour of the Lender;
  - (vi) the Security; and
  - (vii) any extension, renewal or replacement (or successive extensions, renewals or replacements), as a whole or in part, of any Security Interest referred to in the preceding subparagraphs (v) and (vii) of this definition, provided that nothing in this definition shall in and of itself cause the obligations hereunder to be subordinated in priority of payment to any such Permitted Encumbrance or cause any Security Interests in favour of the Lender to rank subordinate to any such other Permitted Encumbrance;

- (j) "Prime Rate" means the average one month bankers' acceptance rate shown for any date of determination (or the immediately preceding day such rate is available if such rate is not available on such date) on the Bank of Canada website at http://www.bankofcanada.ca/rates/interest-rates/canadian-interestrates/.
- (k) "Security" has the meaning given in section 4.1;
- "Security Interests" means mortgages, charges, pledges, hypothecs, assignments by way of security, conditional sales or other title retentions, security created under the Bank Act (Canada), liens, encumbrances, security interests or other interests in property, howsoever created or arising, whether fixed or floating, perfected or not, which secure payment or performance of an obligation; and

ARTICLE 2 THE LOAN

2.1 Loan

Relying on each of the representations and warranties contained in section 5.1 and subject to the other provisions of this Agreement, the Lender agrees to make available to the Borrower a loan facility on an extendible revolving term basis in an initial amount of CAD$ 58,760,000.00 (the "Facility"). The amount available under the Facility may be increased at a later date, at the sole discretion of the Lender, based on additional capital expenditure requirements of the Borrower. Any additional funds made available under the Facility are subject to the same terms and conditions as outlined herein.

2.2 Initial Availability

The Facility shall be available to Borrower on the April 10, 2017

ARTICLE 3 PAYMENTS

3.1 Interest

The Borrower shall pay to the Lender Prime Plus Margin on the Loan Amount

3.2 Repayment of Facility

(a) All Obligations in connection with the Facility will be repaid on the Termination Date, unless extended prior to the Termination Date at the sole discretion of the Lender. The Lender will provide the Borrower with written notice of an extension to the Termination Date. For greater certainty and notwithstanding any other provision hereof, the Facility is a facility established at the pleasure of the Lender. The right of the Lender to make demand hereunder is absolute. The Lender may, at any time, and in its sole and absolute discretion, demand payment of any or all of the Obligations outstanding pursuant to or in connection with the Facility.

3.3 Prepayment

The Borrower may prepay the Loan Amount in part or in its entirety at any time, through itself, its subsidiaries or affiliates, at any format, without notice and without any premium or penalty.

3.4 Insolvency

(a) Without limiting the Lender's right to demand repayment of all indebtedness and other obligations hereunder at any time and for any reason, if the Borrower shall be or become insolvent, the occurrence of the same shall constitute an insolvency event (an "Insolvency Event") under this Agreement.

(b) Upon the occurrence of an Insolvency Event, the entire Loan Amount and other indebtedness and obligations under the Facility shall automatically forthwith become due and payable by the Borrower to the Lender without any requirement for demand of payment or other notice whatsoever.

ARTICLE 4 SECURITY

4.1 General Security

The Borrower intends to use none of the Borrower's assets, both real and personal, as security for the Facility (the "Security"). And the Lender is made aware of that.

ARTICLE 5 REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES BY THE BORROWER

5.1 Borrower's Representations and Warranties

The Borrower represents and warrants to the Lender that:

- the Borrower has full power, capacity and authority to execute and deliver this Agreement, to comply with the provisions hereof and to duly perform and observe all of its obligations hereunder;
- (b) this Agreement constitutes a legal, valid and binding obligation of the Borrower enforceable against the Borrower in accordance with its terms, and all appropriate corporate and other acts, conditions and things required to be done and performed and to have happened prior to the execution and delivery of this Agreement in order to make all of the obligations expressed to be incurred by the Borrower legal, valid, binding and enforceable in accordance with the terms of this Agreement have been done and performed in due and strict compliance with all applicable laws and regulations and, if the Borrower is a corporation, the corporate constating documents of the Borrower prior to the execution and delivery hereof;
- all representation and warranties of the Borrower set out in this Agreement are true and correct as of the date of this Agreement;
- the Borrower's undertaking and property, both real and personal, is not subject to any liens, encumbrances or Security Interests, except Permitted Encumbrances; and
- (e) the Borrower does not carry on business under or use any name or style other than its legal name set out on page one.

ARTICLE 6 AFFIRMATIVE COVENANTS

6.1 Affirmative Covenants

۰._

As long as any portion of the Loan Amount and interest due and owing with respect thereto remains unpaid or any obligation of any nature owed by the Borrower to the Lender remains owing, the Borrower shall, unless the Lender otherwise consents in writing:

- (a) perform all covenants, undertakings or agreements made by it in, and observe all of its obligations under this Agreement and the Security;
- (b) pay and discharge promptly all taxes, assessments and governmental charges or levies imposed upon it, upon its property or any part thereof, upon its income or profits or any part thereof, except that the Borrower shall not be required to pay or cause to be paid any tax, assessment, charge or levy not yet past due, or that is being contested in good faith by appropriate proceedings;
- maintain, preserve and protect all of its properties in good order and condition, subject to wear and tear in the ordinary course of business;
- (d) maintain (i) insurance with responsible companies in such amounts and against such risks as is usually carried by persons engaged in similar businesses and owning similar properties in the same general area in which the Borrower operates and (ii) insurance required by any governmental department, public body or authority, commission, board, bureau, agency or instrumentality having jurisdiction over the Borrower;
- (e) comply with the requirements of all applicable laws, rules, regulations and orders of any governmental authority, non-compliance with which might adversely affect the Borrower's business or credit, except that the Borrower need not comply with a requirement then being contested by the Borrower in good faith by appropriate proceedings as long as no interest of the Lender may be materially impaired thereby;
- (f) keep adequate records and books of account reflecting all financial transactions in conformity with:
  - (i) GAAP; and
  - (ii) requirements of any governmental agency having jurisdiction over the Borrower or its business;
- (g) promptly notify the Lender of (i) any default or pending default under this Agreement or the Security or any event or circumstance which, with notification or with the lapse of time or otherwise, would constitute a default thereunder or (ii) any Insolvency Event;
- (h) advise promptly after the happening of any event which could reasonably be expected to result in a material adverse change in the property, assets, financial condition, business or operations of the Borrower and its subsidiaries taken as a whole, or in the occurrence of any default, pending default or event of default under this Agreement, the Security or under any other material agreement to which the Borrower is a party or an Insolvency Event;

- take all necessary actions to ensure its obligations hereunder are at all times secured and rank ahead of all other indebtedness of the Borrower, other than obligations that by mandatory operation of law rank ahead or that are Permitted Encumbrances;
- utilize all Facility funds in accordance with the use of proceeds set forth in Section 2.3; and
- (k) provide such additional security, information and documentation as may reasonably be required by the Lender.

ARTICLE 7

EVIDENCE OF INDEBTEDNESS AND DETERMINATIONS BY LENDER

7.1 Evidence of Indebtedness

÷.,

The indebtedness of the Borrower resulting from the advance made by the Lender pursuant to this Agreement will be evidenced by records maintained by the Lender concerning the advance of the Facility it has made. The records maintained by the Lender will constitute, in the absence of manifest error, prima facie evidence of the indebtedness of the Borrower to the Lender under this Agreement and all details relating thereto. The failure of the Lender to correctly record any such amount or date will not, however, adversely affect the obligation of the Borrowers to pay amounts due hereunder to the Lender in accordance with this Agreement.

7.2 Determination by Lender

Any determination made by the Lender under this Agreement, including, without limitation, any determination relating to indebtedness and interest, will be binding in the absence of manifest error.

ARTICLE 8 MISCELLANEOUS

8.1 Amendments

No amendment, modification, supplement, termination, or waiver of any provision of this Agreement or any document connected herewith, and no consent to any departure by the Borrower therefrom, may in any event be effective unless in writing and signed by the Lender.

8.2 Successors and Assigns

This Agreement shall be binding upon and shall enure to the benefit of the parties hereto and their respective successors. This Agreement may not be assigned by any party hereto without the prior written consent of the other party hereto.

8.3 Set-Off

In addition to, and not in derogation of, any of its other rights of set-off under applicable law, the Lender will have a right of set-off against any obligations of the Lender to the Borrower upon the occurrence and during the continuance of an Insolvency Event, or upon a demand for payment being made hereunder.

8.4 Indemnity

In addition to any liability of the Borrower to the Lender or any affiliate of the Lender hereunder, the Lender shall indemnify and hold harmless the Borrower, its shareholders, affiliates, directors, officers, employees, agents, and their respective successors and assigns (each, an "Indemnified Person"), against any and all loss, cost, expense, claim, liability or alleged liability arising out of or relating to the Facility, including, without limitation:

- (a) any default by the Borrower under this Agreement or the Security;
- (b) any representation or warranty being incorrect; and
- (c) any environmental damage or liability occasioned by the Borrower's or its subsidiaries' activities or by contamination of or from any of the Borrower's or its subsidiaries' properties, except to the extent arising from the gross negligence or wilful misconduct of any of the Indemnified Persons.

8.5 Currency

Unless otherwise specifically provided herein, the Loan Amount, interest thereon and all other amounts payable hereunder and under or pursuant to the Facility shall be paid by the Borrower in Canadian Dollar in immediately available funds.

8.6 Other Documentation

At the Lender's request, the Borrower will execute and deliver to the Lender such other agreements, documents and instruments, including financing statements and schedules, and do all acts and things as the Lender may reasonably require from time to time to effectively carry out, or give effect to, the terms and full intent of this Agreement or the Security, or better evidence or perfect the security granted by the Security and the full intent and meaning of this Agreement.

8.7 Governing Law

.

۰ ___

This Agreement and all certificates and other documents delivered by the Borrower hereunder shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the Province of Alberta and the laws of Canada applicable therein. Each of the parties hereto irrevocably attorns to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of the Province of Alberta.

8.8 Severability

If any provision of this Agreement, or the application thereof, is determined for any reason and to any extent to be invalid or unenforceable, the remainder of this Agreement and the application of such provision to other persons and circumstances shall remain in full force and effect, provided that the legal or economic substance of the transactions contemplated hereby is not thereby affected in a manner adverse to any of the parties hereto.

8,9 Headings

Article and clause headings in this Agreement are included for convenience for reference only and are not part of this Agreement for any other purpose.

8.10 Counterparts

This Agreement may be executed in one or more counterparts and by facsimile, portable document format (pdf) or similar electronic means and when signed by both the parties listed below, shall constitute a single binding agreement.

[REMAINDER OF THIS PAGE IS INTENTIONALLY LEFT BLANK]

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have caused this Agreement to be duly executed as of the date first above written.

York City Enterprises Limited

By:

----

王旭

Name: XB Wang Title: Director -----

Calgary Sincenergy Investment Ltd

By:

Name: Yingchun Wu Title: Director Exhibit "15"

Statutory Declaration of Calgary Sinoenergy, May-21-20

12 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "15"

Referred to in the Affidavit of

Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

laros

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 2026

APPENDIX C

附件C

The Form 14 Statutory Declaration provided by Calgary Sinoenergy as ordered by the Alberta Court of Queen's Bench.

卡尔加里中天根据阿尔伯塔省女王法院的命令出具的宣誓声明。

Form 14 Statutory Declaration

| Financial Statement of Debtor | 2001-03353  |
|-------------------------------|-------------|
| (Corporate Debtor)            | File Number |

In accordance with section 35.10 of the Civil Enforcement Regulation, the Corporation must, within 15 days of being served with this form, provide the completed form to the enforcement creditor.

A. Debtor Information (Please Print)

| Ι, | Full Name of Deponent(別 刑主六二 | 2224-222 rive | rfront Ave SW | 403-803 6558                         |
|----|----------------------------------|---------------|---------------|--------------------------------------|
| of | Address of Deponent              | · • • • •     |               | Telephone Number of Deponent         |
| am | the director                     | of            | Calgary Sino  | energy Investment Corporation        |
|    | Position with Corporate Debtor   |               |               | Name of Corporate Debtor             |
| of | 600 3 Ave SW #600, Calgary       | AB T2P 0G5    |               | (403) 261-6012                       |
|    | Address of Corporate Debtor      |               |               | Telephone Number of Corporate Debtor |

and I solemnly declare that the contents of this document are true and accurate.

B. Assets

Real Estate

List all real estate (homes, rental properties, cottages, condominiums, etc.) both within and outside the Province of Alberta in which the corporation owns an interest, including municipal address, legal description, purchase price, balance owing and current market value.

|    | Municipal Address | Legal Description | Purchase Price | BalanceOwing                       | Current MarketValue |
|----|-------------------|-------------------|----------------|----------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| 1. | Not Applicable    |                   |                |                                        |                         |
| 2. |                   |                   |                | ······································ |                         |
| 3. |                   |                   |                |                                        |                         |

List the name and address of any mortgagee for each property described above, as well as the date the mortgage was granted and the amount outstanding on the mortgage.

|    | Name of Mortgagee | Address of Mortgagee | Date ofMortgageGranted | AmountOutstanding onMortgage |
|----|-------------------|----------------------|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| 1. | Not Applicable    |                      |                                |                                      |
| 2. |                   |                      |                                |                                      |
| 3. |                   |                      |                                |                                      |

调雅杰

Motor Vehicles

List all motor vehicles, including cars, trucks, farm machinery, construction equipment, recreational vehicles, aircraft, etc. in which the Corporation owns an interest.

|    | Type - Make - Model - Year               | Serial No.        | Purchase Price                 | Current Market Value |
|----|------------------------------------------|-------------------|--------------------------------|----------------------|
| 1. | 2015 AUDI Truck/Van Q7 V6 TDI4DR AWD | WA1WMCFE6FD010109 | CAD$57,950(without GST)   | CAD $25,000         |
|    |                                          |                   | CAD$61,000(Including GST) |                      |
| 2. |                                          |                   |                                |                      |
| 3. |                                          |                   | }                       |                      |

If any of the above vehicles are subject to any liens or encumbrance, specify.

|    | Holder of Lien or Encumbrance | Date of Lien orEncumbrance | Balance Owing onLien or Encumbrance |
|----|-------------------------------|--------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| 1. | Not Applicable                |                                |                                         |
| 2. |                               |                                |                                         |
| 3. |                               |                                |                                         |

List all fixtures, equipment and inventory.

|    | Type - Make - Model -Year | Serial Number, if Applicable | Purchase Price | Current MarketValue |
|----|-------------------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-------------------------|
| 1. |                               |                              |                |                         |
|    | Not Applicable                |                              |                |                         |
| 2. |                               |                              |                |                         |
|    |                               |                              |                |                         |
| 3. |                               |                              |                |                         |
|    |                               |                              |                |                         |

Bank Accounts

List all deposit accounts, term deposits, annuities, etc., specifying the following:

|    | Type ofDeposit | Name of Institution | Account No.     | Branch Address         | Amount              |
|----|--------------------|---------------------|-----------------|------------------------|---------------------|
| 1. | Business           | Bank of China       | 100300200347707 | 505 3 Street, SW #150, | CAD$8,668.93(As of |
|    | Deposit            | 1                   |                 | Calgary AR T2D 3E6     | March 21 2020       |

|    | DepositAccount             |                            |              | Calgary , AB T2P 3E6                                                         | March 31, 2020)                          |  |
|----|--------------------------------|----------------------------|--------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|--|
| 2. | BusinessDepositAccount | ATB Financial              | 00548654800  | 07609 Calgary StephenAve Branch102 8 Ave SW Calgary ABCA T2P 1B3 | CAD$7,820.18 (As ofMarch 31, 2020)  |  |
| 3. | BusinessDepositAccount | China ConstructionBank | 682000900708 | Suite 3650,181 Bay Street,Toronto, ON CA M5J 2T3                         | CAD$159,872.63(Asof March 31, 2020) |  |

Also, specify whether there are any conditions attached to redemption of the account, and, if applicable, any expiry dates.
Conditions Attached to Redemption
Expiry Date, if Applicable

| 1. |                |  |
|----|----------------|--|
|    | Not applicable |  |
| 2. |                |  |
|    |                |  |
| 3. |                |  |
|    |                |  |
|    |                |  |

Receivables and Ongoing Contracts

List all receivables and ongoing contracts.
Name Address Amoun

Amount Owing

胡雅乱

٦

| 1. | Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corp. | South Tower, 222 3 Ave SW, Calgary, AB CA T2P0B4 | CAD $1,625,000 (Asof March 31, 2020)        |
|----|------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------|
| 2. | York City Enterprises Ltd.         | Address not available                                | CAD $ 5,091,608.48(As of March 31,2020) |
| 3. | Long Run Exploration Ltd.          | 600 3 Ave SW #600, Calgary, AB CA T2P 0G5            | CAD $ 448,677,400(As of March 31,2020)  |
| 4. | West Lake Energy Corp.             | 600 3 Ave SW, Calgary, AB T2P 0G5                    | CAD $1,610,888(Asof March 31, 2020)         |

Shares and Securities

If the corporation has holdings in a corporation, complete the following:

| List all shares.   | options, warrants. | etc., and their | current market value. |
|--------------------|--------------------|-----------------|-----------------------|
| ciet all officiety | options, wantenes, | every and then  | callent market value. |

|    | Name ofCorporation          | Туре             | Number      | Current MarketValue  | DividendsPayable (if any) | Date Payable   |
|----|---------------------------------|------------------|-------------|--------------------------|-------------------------------|----------------|
| 1. | Long RunExplorationLtd. | CommonShares | 198,139,699 | CAD $103,032,643.48 | No                            | Not applicable |
| 2. |                                 |                  |             | March 31,2020            |                               |                |
| 3. |                                 |                  |             |                          |                               |                |

List all bonds and debentures held and their current market value.

|    | Name of Issuer            | Class or Series           | Quantity Held | Total Market Value |
|----|---------------------------|---------------------------|---------------|--------------------|
| 1. | Long Run Exploration Ltd. | Convertibledebentures | 75,000        | CAD $ 56,250,000  |
| 2, |                           |                           |               | March 31, 2020     |
| 3. |                           | -                         |               |                    |

List location of all certificates for all corporate holdings and their respective name(s) and address(es). Location of Security Certificates or Other

|  | Name and Address of Broker(s) |
|--|-------------------------------|
|--|-------------------------------|

|    | Evidence of Ownership of Securities                                                                      |                 |
|----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------|
| 1. | Shareholding:See the Share Certificate and share register                                            | Not applicable  |
| 2. | Convertible debt:See First Supplemental IndentureSupplemental Debenture Agreement (Page 4-S) | Not applicable. |
| 3. |                                                                                                          |                 |

Trust Properties

List all properties or interests held by a Trustee on the Corporation's behalf.

|    | Description of Assets Held | Location of Assets | Name and Address of Trustee |
|----|----------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1. | Not Applicable             |                    | · ·                         |
|    |                            |                    |                             |
| 2. |                            |                    |                             |
|    |                            |                    |                             |

Other Assets

З.

List all other assets, specifying kind, value and location, and whether solely or jointly owned.

| Type of Asset                        | Description    | Sole Owner |    | Location | Value |  |
|--------------------------------------|----------------|------------|----|----------|-------|--|
|                                      |                | Yes        | No |          |       |  |
| Interest in otherbusinesses      | Not Applicable |            |    |          |       |  |
| Promissory notes,judgment debts  | Not Applicable |            |    |          |       |  |
| Loans andmortgagesreceivable | Not Applicable |            |    |          |       |  |

胡雅杰

List all other assets, specifying kind, value and location, and whether solely or jointly owned (e.g. art, jewellery, bullion).

| Description of Asset | Sole Owner |    | Location | Value |
|----------------------|------------|----|----------|-------|
|                      | Yes        | No |          |       |
| Not Applicable       |            |    |          |       |
|                      |            | -  |          |       |
|                      |            |    |          |       |

C. Transfer of Property

Has the corporation given away, sold, assigned or otherwise transferred any property (land, buildings, vehicles, money, equipment, inventory, etc.) outside the ordinary course of business within the past year? Specify details below.

| ow Much Money, ifny, Was Recoveredy the Corporation? |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1944 (B) 24                                                  |
|                                                              |
|                                                              |

D. Insurance

List all insurance policies in which the corporation is named beneficiary, including the insurance company granting the policy, the policy number, the amount, the person insured, the premium and its cash surrender value.

| InsuranceCompany | Policy No. | Amount | Person Insured | Premium | Cash SurrenderValue |
|----------------------|------------|--------|----------------|---------|-------------------------|
| Not Applicable       |            |        |                |         |                         |
|                      |            |        |                | -       |                         |
|                      |            |        |                |         |                         |
| -                    |            |        |                |         |                         |

E. Additional Income and Assets

List all income and assets not itemized above (legal action claims under insurance policies, etc.).

Not Applicable

And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing it to be true and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath.

DECLARED BEFORE ME a Alberta, on

Signature of Affiant

A Commissioner for Waths/Notary Public in and for the Province of Alberta

> Steven Latos Barrister & Solicitor

明刑主正

Form 14 Statutory Declaration

| Financial Statement of Debtor | 2001-03353  |
|-------------------------------|-------------|
| (Corporate Debtor)            | File Number |

In accordance with section 35.10 of the Civil Enforcement Regulation, the Corporation must, within 15 days of being served with this form, provide the completed form to the enforcement creditor.

A. Debtor Information (Please Print)

| l, . | Full Name of Deponent         |                 |                |                                      |
|------|-------------------------------|-----------------|----------------|--------------------------------------|
| of   | 明相主无                          | 2224-222 river  | front Ave SW   | 403-803-6558                         |
| -• , | Address of Deponent           |                 |                | Telephone Number of Deponent         |
| am t | the director                  | of              | Calgary Sinoer | nergy Investment Corporation         |
|      | Position with Corporate Debto | br              |                | Name of Corporate Debtor             |
| of   | 600 3 Ave SW #600, Calga      | ary, AB T2P 0G5 |                | (403) 261-6012                       |
|      | Address of Corporate Debtor   |                 |                | Telephone Number of Corporate Debtor |

and I solemnly declare that the contents of this document are true and accurate.

B. Assets

Real Estate

List all real estate (homes, rental properties, cottages, condominiums, etc.) both within and outside the Province of Alberta in which the corporation owns an interest, including municipal address, legal description, purchase price, balance owing and current market value.

|    | Municipal Address | Legal Description | Purchase Price | BalanceOwing | Current MarketValue |
|----|-------------------|-------------------|----------------|------------------|-------------------------|
| 1, | Not Applicable    |                   |                |                  |                         |
| 2. |                   |                   |                | *****            |                         |
| 3. |                   |                   |                |                  |                         |
| ι  |                   |                   |                |                  |                         |

List the name and address of any mortgagee for each property described above, as well as the date the mortgage was granted and the amount outstanding on the mortgage.

|    | Name of Mortgagee | Address of Mortgagee | Date ofMortgageGranted | AmountOutstanding onMortgage |
|----|-------------------|----------------------|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| 1. | Not Applicable    |                      |                                |                                      |
| 2. |                   |                      |                                |                                      |
| 3. |                   |                      |                                |                                      |

Motor Vehicles

List all motor vehicles, including cars, trucks, farm machinery, construction equipment, recreational vehicles, aircraft, etc. in which the Corporation owns an interest.

|    | Type - Make - Model - Year               | Serial No.        | Purchase Price                 | Current Market Value |
|----|------------------------------------------|-------------------|---------------------------------------|----------------------|
| 1. | 2015 AUDI Truck/Van Q7 V6 TDI4DR AWD | WA1WMCFE6FD010109 | CAD$57,950(without GST)          | CAD $25,000         |
|    |                                          |                   | CAD$61,000(Including GST)        |                      |
| 2. |                                          |                   | · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · |                      |
| 3. |                                          |                   |                                       |                      |

If any of the above vehicles are subject to any liens or encumbrance, specify.

|    | Holder of Lien or Encumbrance | Date of Lien orEncumbrance | Balance Owing onLien or Encumbrance |
|----|-------------------------------|--------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| 1. | Not Applicable                |                                |                                         |
| 2. |                               |                                |                                         |
| 3. |                               |                                |                                         |

List all fixtures, equipment and inventory.

|    | Type - Make - Model -Year | Serial Number, if Applicable | Purchase Price | Current MarketValue |
|----|-------------------------------|------------------------------|----------------|-------------------------|
| 1. |                               |                              | 1              |                         |
|    | Not Applicable                |                              |                |                         |
| 2. |                               |                              |                |                         |
|    |                               |                              |                |                         |
| 3. |                               |                              |                |                         |
| l  |                               |                              |                |                         |

Bank Accounts

Deposit Account

List all deposit accounts, term deposits, annuities, etc., specifying the following:

|    | Type of  | Name of Institution | Account No.     | Branch Address             | Amount               |
|----|----------|---------------------|-----------------|----------------------------|----------------------|
|    | Deposit  |                     |                 |                            |                      |
| 1. | Business | Bank of China       | 100300200347707 | 505 3 Street, SW #150,     | CAD$8,668.93(As of  |
|    | Deposit  |                     |                 | Calgary , AB T2P 3E6       | March 31, 2020)      |
|    | Account  |                     |                 |                            | ,                    |
| 2. | *     | ATB Financial       | 00548654800     | 07600 Calaary Staabar      | CADÓJ 030 45 (4 - 4  |
| 2. | Business |                     | 00548054800     | 07609 Calgary Stephen      | CAD$7,820.18 (As of |
|    | Business |                     |                 | Ave Branch                 | March 31, 2020)      |
|    | Deposit  |                     |                 | 102 8 Ave SW Calgary AB    |                      |
|    | Account  |                     |                 | CA T2P 1B3                 |                      |
| 3. |          | China Construction  | 682000900708    | Suite 3650,181 Bay Street, | CAD$159,872.63(As   |
|    | Business | Bank                |                 | Toronto, ON CA M5J 2T3     | of March 31, 2020)   |

Also, specify whether there are any conditions attached to redemption of the account, and, if applicable, any expiry dates.
Conditions Attached to Redemption
Expiry Date, if Applicable

| - |
|---|

Receivables and Ongoing Contracts

List all receivables and ongoing contracts. Name

Address

| 1. | Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corp. | South Tower, 222 3 Ave SW, Calgary, AB CA T2P | CAD $1,625,000 (As |
|----|------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|---------------------|
|    |                                    | 084                                           | of March 31, 2020)  |
| 2. | York City Enterprises Ltd.         | Address not available                         | CAD $ 5,091,608.48 |
|    |                                    |                                               | (As of March 31,    |
|    |                                    |                                               | 2020)               |
| 3. | Long Run Exploration Ltd.          | 600 3 Ave SW #600, Calgary, AB CA T2P 0G5     | CAD $ 448,677,400  |
|    |                                    |                                               | (As of March 31,    |
|    |                                    |                                               | 2020)               |
| 4. | West Lake Energy Corp.             | 600 3 Ave SW, Calgary, AB T2P 0GS             | CAD $1,610,888(As  |
|    |                                    |                                               | of March 31, 2020)  |

Shares and Securities

If the corporation has holdings in a corporation, complete the following:

List all shares, options, warrants, etc., and their current market value.

|    | Name ofCorporation          | Туре             | Number      | Current MarketValue  | DividendsPayable (if any) | Date Payable   |
|----|---------------------------------|------------------|-------------|--------------------------|-------------------------------|----------------|
| 1. | Long RunExplorationLtd. | CommonShares | 198,139,699 | CAD $103,032,643.48 | No                            | Not applicable |
| 2. |                                 |                  |             | March 31,2020            |                               |                |
| 3. |                                 |                  |             |                          |                               |                |

List all bonds and debentures held and their current market value.

|    | Name of Issuer            | Class or Series           | Quantity Held | Total Market Value |
|----|---------------------------|---------------------------|---------------|--------------------|
| 1. | Long Run Exploration Ltd. | Convertibledebentures | 75,000        | CAD $ 56,250,000  |
| 2. |                           |                           |               | March 31, 2020     |
| 3. |                           |                           |               |                    |

List location of all certificates for all corporate holdings and their respective name(s) and address(es). Location of Security Certificates or Other Name and Address of Broker(s)

|    | Evidence of Ownership of Securities                                                                      |                 |
|----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------|
| 1. | Shareholding:See the Share Certificate and share register                                            | Not applicable  |
| 2. | Convertible debt:See First Supplemental IndentureSupplemental Debenture Agreement (Page 4-5) | Not applicable. |
| 3. |                                                                                                          |                 |

Trust Properties

List all properties or interests held by a Trustee on the Corporation's behalf.

|    | Description of Assets Held | Location of Assets | Name and Address of Trustee |
|----|----------------------------|--------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1. | Not Applicable             |                    |                             |
|    |                            |                    |                             |
| 2. |                            |                    |                             |
|    |                            |                    |                             |
| 3. |                            |                    |                             |
|    | L                          |                    |                             |

Other Assets

List all other assets, specifying kind, value and location, and whether solely or jointly owned.

| Type of Asset                        | Description    | Sole Owner |    | Location | Value |  |
|--------------------------------------|----------------|------------|----|----------|-------|--|
|                                      |                | Yes        | No |          |       |  |
| Interest in otherbusinesses      | Not Applicable |            |    |          |       |  |
| Promissory notes,judgment debts  | Not Applicable |            |    |          |       |  |
| Loans andmortgagesreceivable | Not Applicable |            |    |          |       |  |

List all other assets, specifying kind, value and location, and whether solely or jointly owned (e.g. art, jewellery, bullion).

| Description of Asset | Sole | Owner | Location | Value                                  |
|----------------------|------|-------|----------|----------------------------------------|
|                      | Yes  | No    |          |                                        |
| Not Applicable       |      |       |          |                                        |
|                      |      |       |          |                                        |
|                      |      |       |          | ······································ |
|                      |      |       |          |                                        |

C. Transfer of Property

Has the corporation given away, sold, assigned or otherwise transferred any property (land, buildings, vehicles, money, equipment, inventory, etc.) outside the ordinary course of business within the past year? Specify details below.

| Description of Property | To Whom Transferred | Date of Transfer | How Much Money, ifAny, Was RecoveredBy the Corporation? |
|-------------------------|---------------------|------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|
| Not Applicable          |                     |                  |                                                                 |
|                         |                     |                  |                                                                 |

D. Insurance

List all insurance policies in which the corporation is named beneficiary, including the insurance company granting the policy, the policy number, the amount, the person insured, the premium and its cash surrender value.

| InsuranceCompany | Policy No. | Amount     | Person Insured | Premium | Cash SurrenderValue |
|----------------------|------------|------------|----------------|---------|-------------------------|
| Not Applicable       |            | :- |                |         |                         |
|                      |            |            |                |         |                         |
|                      |            |            |                |         |                         |
|               |            |            |                |         |                         |

E. Additional Income and Assets

List all income and assets not itemized above (legal action claims under insurance policies, etc.).

_____

Not Applicable

And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing it to be true and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath.

DECLARED BEFORE ME at _____

Alberta, on _

Signature of Affiant

A Commissioner for Oaths/Notary Public in and for the Province of Alberta

| COURT FILE NUMBER                                                                  | 2001-03353                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| COURT                                                                              | COURT OF QUEEN'S BENCH OF ALBERTA                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| JUDICIAL CENTRE                                                                    | CALGARY                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| PLAINTIFF                                                                          | HENENGHAIXIN CORP.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| DEFENDANTS                                                                         | TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG aka LAKE DENG, MICHAELLAM, CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP., LONG RUNEXPLORATION LTD., JOHN DOE, and ABC CORPORATION                                                                                          |
| DOCUMENT                                                                           | CERTIFICATE OF NECESSITY OF REMOTE COMMISSIONING                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| PARTY                                                                              | CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP.                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| ADDRESS FOR SERVICEAND CONTACTINFORMATION OF PARTYFILING THIS DOCUMENT | Dentons Canada LLPBankers Court15 th Floor, 850 - 2 nd Street S.W.Calgary, Alberta T2P 0R8Attention: Lillian Y. Pan, Q.C. / Steven A. LatosPhone: (403) 268-7171Fax: (403) 268-3100File: 582519-1 |

I, Steven A. Latos, commissioner of the Financial Statement of Debtor, sworn on behalf of Calgary Sincenergy Investment Corp. by Lily Hu, which is dated the 21 day of May 2020, hereby certify that I am satisfied that the process of remote commissioning was necessary because it was impossible or unsafe, for medical reasons, for the deponent and the commissioner to be physically present together, pursuant to the requirements of the Notice to the Profession & Public: Remote Commissioning of Affidavits for use in Civil and Family Proceedings during the COVID-19 Pandemic.

Dated the 21 day of May, 2020, at the City of Calgary, in the Province of Alberta.

DENTONS CANADA LLP

Per: Steven A. Latos

NATDOCS\46578852\V-1

Exhibit "16"

Response of Qingdao Yuheng Director, Sep-30-20

2 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "16"

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

laros

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 20 2 6

[letterhead of Qingdao Yuheng]

September 30, 2020

BY EMAIL

Roger Song Managing Lawyer. Song & Howard Law Office

Email: roger.song@songhowardlaw.com

Dear Mr. Song

Re: Shareholder Declaration of Henenghaixin Corporation dated April 10, 2017

We refer to your letter of September 29, 2020 on the captioned matter.

In your letter, you requested us to confirm:

- Whether Qingdao Sinoenergy Yuheng Co. Ltd ("Qingdao Yuheng") or any of its board members by the time of April 2017 instructed and directed Ms. Xu Bo Wang to sign the purported Shareholder Declaration (the "Shareholder Declaration") of Henenghaixin Corporation ("H Corp") and the Loan Agreement (the "Loan Agreement") between York City Enterprises Ltd ("York City") for and on behalf of York City all dated April 10, 2017.
- 2. Whether Qingdao Yuheng has an original or photocopy of the purported Shareholder Declaration.
- 3. Whether Qingdao Yuheng knew the existence of the purported Shareholder Declaration,
- 4. Whether the board of Qingdao Yuheng would approve the transactions under the purported Loan Agreement at the time of April 2017.
- 5. Whether Qingdao Yuheng will take further actions to investigate on the purported Shareholder Declaration and the Loan Agreement.

We hereby respond and confirm as follows:

 By the time of April 2017, the directors of Qingdao Sinoenergy Yuheng Co. Ltd ("Qingdao Yuheng") were Mr. De Shuang YU, Mr. Jun XIONG, and Mr. Haipeng TU. Mr. YU, Mr. XIONG, and Mr. TU also served as directors of York City since December 21, 2018. Ms. Xu Bo Wang was the sole director of York City Enterprise Ltd. from January 6, 2017 to August 8, 2018. Both the service address and residential address of Xu Bo Wang acting as a director of York City that were filed and registered with the Registrar of Corporation Affairs of BVI Financial Services Commission are Changchun Sinoenergy Corporation ("Changchun Sinoenergy"), 29/F, Block B, Tower 2, Soho, WangJing, Chaoyang, Beijing, China.

- Neither Qingdao Yuheng nor any of its board members instructed and directed Ms. Xu Bo Wang or any director of York City to sign the purported Shareholder Declaration and the Loan Agreement.
- 3. Neither Qingdao Yuheng nor York City has any record to indicate that Ms. Xu Bo Wang ever signed the Shareholder Declaration or the Loan Agreement.
- 4. The board of Qingdao Yuheng did not know the existence of the purported Shareholder Declaration until June 2020 when Sinoenergy Corporation (Changchun Sinoenergy) released its "Announcement on the Inquiry Letter Regarding Litigation Matters Concerning Overseas Holding Subsidiaries" provided to the Shanghai Stock Exchange by *ST Changchun Sinoenergy (stock code 600856).
- The board of Qingdao Yuheng would never agree to and approve such Shareholder Declaration and Loan Agreement to allow Qingdao Yuheng's wholly owned overseas subsidiaries to divert their investment funds and provide any unsecured company loan to Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. that Mr. Tianzhou Deng and Changchun Sinoenergy controlled.

We trust that the above is in response to your enquiries. Please feel free to let us know if you need any additional information.

Yours truly,

QINGDAO SINOENERGY YUHENG CO. LTD

DE SHUANG YU, Director

JUN XIONG, Director

HAIPENG TU, Director

Qingdao Yuheng_20200930

Page 2 of 2

Exhibit "17"

Transcript of Interview of Ms. Xu Bo Wan, Aug-10-20

65 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "17"

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

Caros

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission: Expires May 21, 20,26

MEMORANDUM

| From: | Qi Guo                                                                                                       |
|-------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| То:   | De Shuang Yu, Director, Henenghaixin Corp.                                                                   |
| cc    | Gaoyong Zhang                                                                                                |
| Date: | May 29, 2021                                                                                                 |
| Re:   | Audio record of the conversation between Ms. Wang, Xu Bo and Qi Guoduring the meeting of August 10, 2020 |

Dear Mr. Yu,

Wang, Xu Bo ("Ms. Wang") was the sole director of York City Enterprises Limited (the "York City") for the period January 6, 2017 to August 8, 2018. I met Ms. Wang on August 10, 2020 in Shanghai.

During our meeting, I showed Ms. Wang a copy of the following documents that Michael Lam alleged and attached to his Affidavit sworn on August 5, 2020 as Exhibit "A":

- a. Shareholder Declaration of Henenghaixin Corp dated April 10, 2017 (the "Shareholder Declaration").
- b. Loan Facility Agreement dated April 10, 2017 between Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp (the "Calgary Sinoenergy") and York City (the "Loan Agreement").

Attached as Appendix "A" is an electronic record of the conversation between Ms. Wang and myself during the meeting of August 10, 2020 (the "Audio Record").

Attached as "Appendix "B" is a translation of the transcript of the Audio Record from Chinese to English provided by a certified translator, Rui Xue, under a statutory declaration in the City of Calgary, Alberta, Canada dated May 28, 2021 (the "Translation of the Audio Record under Statutory Declaration").

During my meeting with Ms. Wang, she confirmed to me as follows:

- (1) She could not recall she ever saw both the Shareholder Declaration and the Loan Agreement.
- (2) She could not confirm if she signed the Shareholder Declaration and the Loan Agreement without seeing the original copy of the documents.

- (3) She believed that there was a possibility that the signatures of her name on both the Shareholder Declaration and the Loan Agreement were forged or photoshopped because they appeared to be identical, and no one could sign her or his name twice in such an identical way in a normal circumstance.
- (4) She did not prepare the Shareholder Declaration and the Loan Agreement and never printed her English name as XB Wang on any documents she signed.
- (5) She knew about the investment in Twin Butte assets, but she knew nothing about any loan from York City to Calgary Sinoenergy.
- (6) She acted as the sole director of York City under the arrangement and control of her boss Tianzhou Deng or Yanying Liu.

Regards,

Qi Guo

Appendix

- A. Audio Record [file JIA003578.0001]
- B. Translation of the Audio Record under Statutory Declaration.

STATUTORY DECLARATION

CANADA ) In the matter of translation of documents PROVINCE OF ALBERTA ) TO WIT: )

I, RUI XUE, of the City of Calgary, Alberta, AFFIRM AND SAY THAT:

I am a certified translator Chinese to English, and a member in good standing of the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Alberta (which is a member association of the Canadian Translators, Terminologists, Interpreters Council -CTTIC) with certificate no. 001/2019 issued by ATIA and valid until December 31, 2026.

I have listened to an audio record (the "Audio Record") that Mr. Guo, Qi ("Mr. Guo") provided and identified to me as the audio record of the conversion in Mandarin he had with Ms. Wang, Xu Bo ("Ms. Wang"), the former sole director of York City Enterprises Limited, when Mr. Guo met with Ms. Wang on August 10, 2020 in Shanghai China.

Based my understanding of the Audio Record, I produced the Chinese transcript of the Audio Record (the "Chinese Transcript") and did translate the Chinese Transcript into English (the "English Translation").

Attached as Schedule "A" is both the Chinese Transcript and the English Translation (61 pages in total).

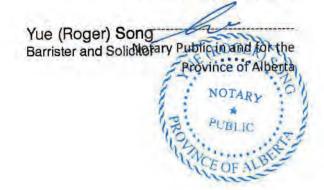

To the best of my knowledge and belief, the English Translation is in every respect a complete, true and correct translation of the Chinese Transcript.

And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing it to be true and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canada Evidence Act.

| DECLARED                | by each person     | BEFORE ME ) |       |   |
|-------------------------|--------------------|-------------|-------|---|
| at the City o           | f Calgary in the P | rovince of  |       |   |
| Alberta, this           | 28th day of May    | 2021OGER)   | 1 Jan | 5 |
|                         | Rí                 | NOTARY      | 3-1-  | 1 |
| A Notary PutAlberta | lic in and for the | Province of | 1     | 1 |
| Alberta                 | Barrister a        |             |       |   |

{02658860 v1}

This is the Schedule "A" Referred to in the Statutory Declaration of RUI XUE declared before me this 28th Day of May 2021

郭琦先生 2020 年 8 月 10 日下午于中国上海 与 York City Enterprises Limited 前独任董事王旭博女士 的会面及对话录音[file JIA003578.0001]记录

Transcript of the audio record [file JIA003578.0001] of the Meeting and Conversation between Mr. Qi Guo and Ms. Xu Bo Wang, the former sole director of York City Enterprises Limited, in Shanghai City, China in the Afternoon on August 10, 2020

(Translation)

(1:28)

| 王旭博         | 您自己过来了?                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Xu Bo Wang: | Did you come by yourself?                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 郭琦          | 张寰?有个会议,然后他一起过来,反正我来跟你沟通一下。                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Qi Guo:     | Huan Zhang had a meeting and will come later. I came first to have a chat with you.                                                                                                                              |
| 王旭博         | 行行行 您有什么事情可以问我。因为我毕竟也离开梃长时间的了,有些事情不太知道了,后面的。                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Xu Bo Wang: | No problem. Please feel free to ask me if you have something for inquiries.Since I have left the company for a quite long time indeed, I would not knowmuch about the things that happened after I left. |
| 家語          | 但是我把这个拿给你看看                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Qi Guo:     | Let me show you these and you may want to look.                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 王旭博         | 行,后面也没有人再联系过我,所以我就一直觉得这个事情可能后面我离职了就ok 了。                                                                                                                                                                         |

527

Page 1 of 61

| Xu Bo Wang: | Sure. No one ever contacted me again after I left the company. So, I thought that everything was okay after I resigned.  |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 郭琦          | 对。因为这个是最近出来的。这里是这样子,York City,当时你在 2017 年,你是 2017 年到 2018 年是唯一董事嘛。                                                   |
| Qi Guo:     | Right. This matter came out just recently. You were the sole board director of York City from 2017 to 2018, weren't you? |
| 王旭博         | ズ 寸                                                                                                               |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Correct                                                                                                                  |
| 郭琦          | 但是我们就最近通过相关方他们提供出来两份文件,一份是。                                                                                              |
| Qi Guo:     | But, we were recently provided with two documents by the relevant parties. One is                                        |
| 王旭博         | 相关方指的是哪个?                                                                                                                |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Who are the relevant parties that you are talking about?                                                                 |
| 郭琦          | 境外的境外的,因为境外发生点事情,境外就是中天在境外的公司挪用了我们资金。                                                                                |
| Qi Guo:     | They are overseas. What happened overseas is that Sinoenergy's overseas company misappropriated our funds.               |
| 王旭博         | 您是说还是 TB 项目对吧?                                                                                                           |
| Xu Bo Wang  | You mean you are still talking about the TB project, do you?                                                             |
| 郭琦          | X寸 。                                                                                                                     |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes                                                                                                                      |

GER) S ARY w KUM

| 王旭博        | 你得跟我说的纸点,因为我都好久没有接触过了。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Xu Bo Wang | You must speak specifically, because I haven't touched the business of the company for a long time.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 郭琦         | 当时我们那个不是从荆州和平能源到青岛宇恒吗, 青岛宇恒做内保外贷资金出去到 York City 吗?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Qi Guo:    | Recall that we invested funds from Jingzhou Heping Energy to QingdaoYuheng, and Qingdao Yuheng remitted capital to York City by the way of takingloans overseas under guarantees and security provided within the country?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 王旭博        | 对约.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Xu Bo Wang | Yes, I do.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 郭琦         | York City 你是惟一董事嘛,然后到合能海欣 Corp,咱们通过合能海欣 Corp 收则了 TB 资产,这么一个资金流进和一个交易结构,对,就是在 York City 这个层面,最近就是说出来两份决议,我们不知道。怎么当时是什么情况,什么原因呢?背景是因为是在 2017 年,也就是说在 3 月份到 7 月份的时候,在合能海欣Corp 层面,被相关方就是挪用资金挪用了大概是将近 4400 万加币。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Qi Guo:    | You were the sole director of York City. The funds subsequently were sent toHenenghaixin Corp (the "H Corp"), and we acquired the TB assets through HCorp. This was the structure of capital flow and transactions. But twodocuments of resolutions at the level of York City came out recently and we didnot know anything about them and what happened at the time. Why? Thebackground is that during the period of March to July 2017, H Corp wasmisappropriated about CAD$44 million by the relevant parties. |
| 王旭博        | 相关方你指的是谁?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Xu Bo Wang | Who are the relevant parties that you referred to?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 郭琦         | 就是卡尔加里中天和 Long Run。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

A State of the sta

| Qi Guo:     | I meant Calgary Sincenergy and Long Run.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王旭博         | 卡尔加里中天?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Calgary Sinoenergy?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 郭琦          | 对他们挪用了 4400 万资金,因为他们现在这样子,我们已经把他们在境外已经告上了法庭了,告上法庭以后,他们就是说这个不是卡尔加里中天和 Long Run提供的,因为他们现在也是被告。卡尔加里中天和 Long Run、邓天州、邓小博和 Michael Lam。这个资料是 Michael Lam 提供的。他们现在内部也分裂了,利益出现了分歧,也分裂了。现在整个卡尔加里中天,包括 Long Run,包括中天能源已经不是老邓控制了。现在换了一个森田化工,也就是说重组方进去了。老邓以前做了一些事情,就一一的浮出水面爆出来了。报出来以后这个件东西是Michael Lam 提供给法官的,就说要用一个、、、                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes, they misappropriated funds of 44 million dollars. Because they did this, we have already sued them in court overseas. That is to say that after they were sued, these were not provided by Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run because they are both now defendants as well. Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run, Tianzhou Deng, Xiaobo Deng, and Michael Lam are the defendants. These documents were provided by Michael Lam. They are now split internally over dispute of interests. Now the entire Calgary Sinoenergy, including Long Run, and Sinoenergy are no longer controlled by Mr. Deng. The controlling person has now been changed to the Sam Group. In another words, there has been a reorganization. The things that Mr. Deng did in the past started to be revealed one by one. After his misconducts were revealed, Michael Lam provided this to the Judge and would like to use a |
| 王旭博         | 那事情跟我是什么关系呢?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Xu Bo Wang: | But what does it have to do with me?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 郭琦          | 我解释一下什么关系。他们在合能海欣 Corp 层面,是职务侵占,利用职务挪用资金。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Qi Guo:     | Let me explain. At the level of H Corp, they misappropriated funds by taking advantage of their positions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 王旭博         | 职务侵占指的是谁?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

00 NOT. * PUBI 2000 CEOI

| Xu Bo Wang: | Who did you refer to when you talked about the misappropriation?                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 郭琦          | 就是有当时的 Michael Lam 是它的合能海欣 CFO,他就说白了,但是他一手控制账户和资金,就是把资金挪到卡尔加里中天和 Long Run 去了,然后说他进行反辩,他要对自己辩解嘛。他辩解说他提供了两份证据。                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Qi Guo:     | Michael Lam who was the CFO of H Corp at that time. Simply put, he controlled singlehanded the accounts and funds, and moved the funds to Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run. Then he defended himself by excuses and giving two pieces of evidence.                             |
| 王旭博         | 他提供这个是要证明什么?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | What did he try to prove with these documents?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 郭琦          | 证明就是说 York City 同意合能海欣 Corp 借款出去。 你明白了吗?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Qi Guo:     | To prove that York City agreed with H Corp to lend money to other parties. Do you understand?                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 王旭博         | 明白。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Understood.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 郭琦          | 你也知道我们资金完全是一个就是说专项的投资资金,不可能给他们其他方使用,完全用于收购 TB 资产和运营用的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Qi Guo:     | You also know that our funds were entirely used for a special purpose of investment, and it was impossible to give the funds to other parties for them to use. The funds were entirely used for the purpose of acquiring and operating the Twin Buttes assets and operations. |
| 王旭博         | 但是你说的这个借款的事情好像没有啥印象。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | But I do not appear to have any recollection of the matter of the loan as you said.                                                                                                                                                                                           |

10 m

| 学 研究 | 所以我今天来特定目的是让你看一下,这两份一份董事会决议,一份是合同,是不是你当时有印象?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Qi Guo:     | Therefore the specific purpose for me to come today is to ask you look at the two documents, one is the resolutions of directors of board, and one is a contract, and see if you had any recollection at the time.                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 王旭博         | 这个合同主面没有我的签字。 在这儿是吗?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Xu Bo Wang: | My signature is not on this contract. Is it here?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 郭琦          | 这是什么,因为你英文比较好,我也不用解释了,你应该看得很清楚。它是 Yorkcity 董事会同意出借资金 5780 万加币给卡尔加里中天,就是说股东作出决议,让子公司借款给卡尔加里中天,这是董事会决议,这个是。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | What is this? Since your English is good, I do not need to explain the content of the documents to you. You should be able to understand it very clearly. It says that the board of directors of York City agreed to lend CAD $ 57.8 million to Calgary Sincenergy, which means that the shareholder made a resolution to allow its subsidiary to lend money to Calgary Sincenergy. This is a board resolution. This one. |
| 王旭博         | 我看一下,您稍等一下,你让我回忆一下。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|             | (6:24)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|             | 这个 5870 万。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Let me look, wait a moment. Let me refresh my memory.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|             | (6:24)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|             | This is 58.7 million                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 郭琦      | 5870万加元。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Qi Guo:     | CAD$58.7 million.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 王旭博         | 这个就是指的是您刚刚提到的 4400 万美元是同一笔吗?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

ICLER S Ŀ  $\Omega \Delta R \gamma$ ŵ AU3OFAS

| Xu Bo Wang:   | Is this the same as the 44 million US dollars you just mentioned?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|---------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 郭琦            | 这个数字上不对的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Qi Guo:       | The number is incorrect.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 朝唐 (王) | 但是同一笔钱吗?因为加元跟美元之间不是有一个数据的少一些。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Xu Bo Wang:   | But is it the same transaction? Because the amount in US dollars would be something less than the amount in Canadian dollars for the same transaction.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 郭琦            | 它这个数字上是大于 4400 万加元,为什么 5780 万加元我们也不知道它的原因是什么,只知道大于 4400 万,所以说他是想用这个文件来证明他的底线,在合能海欣 Corp 层面挪用我们的资金有法律依据,有合同部分支撑,对这个东西我相信您应该。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Qi Guo:       | The figure is greater than 44 million Canadian dollars. We do not know why it is 57.8 million Canadian dollars. We only know that it is greater than 44 million. So, he wants to use this document to prove his bottom line, which is that there would be a legal ground or contractual basis for the misappropriation of funds from H Corp. On this document I believe you should                   |
| 王旭博           | 这个事情啊,你这样说我是真心没啥印象,就像之前的电话沟通的一样,我是当时是挂一个名而已,是被安排就是说帮着走一些流程,它本质上跟我是没有利益关系的。然后单纯从您给我拿的这两份文件来看,如果说从这个字来看,我觉得它可能是我签的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Xu Bo Wang:   | About this matter, I really do not have any recollection about what you just said.Just as what I told you over the telephone, I just took a nominal position andwas arranged to facilitate going through matters of procedure. I did not haveany personal interest in any matters by nature. If I just looked at the twodocuments you showed me, I felt that it may be my signature. |
| 郭琦            | 你再回忆一下,因为我建议你再回忆一下,你看看清楚两个字是有一些的、、、                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Qi Guo:       | Please recall it again. Because I suggest that you recall it again. Take a close look at the two signatures                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | T             |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|
| 王旭博         | 我想问你一下,他给你提供的文件是说这个就是当时我的亲笔签字吗?还是说?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |               |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I want to ask you a question. Did he say that this is my personal signature when he provided you the documents or something else?                                                                                                                                                                          |               |
| 郭琦          | 现在我们拿到的是从法官转接过来的是扫描件,所以我一定要确认这是有没有这回事。第二个。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |               |
| Qi Guo:     | What we got is a scanned copy forwarded by the court, so I must verify whether the matter is true. Second                                                                                                                                                                                                  |               |
| 王旭博         | 我想说的一个什么事情呢?就是说这个字我不管它是从哪弄过来的,从这个字来看是我的,但是问题就在于它这个字是不是我当时亲笔签上去的,是不是他截图批上去的,这很有可能。                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |               |
| Xu Bo Wang: | The point I would like to make is that I do not care where the signatures came from, the signatures look like mine. But the question is whether I signed them by myself on the documents at the time, or whether he put my signatures on the documents by copy and paste, which would be very possible.    | UE ROO        |
| 郭琦          | 这个是需要,我是两个问题,一个问题是你刚才说什么怎么去。第二个是你不知情。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | SOLMC PLB |
| Qi Guo:     | I need you to answer two question. One question is how the signatures wereput on the documents as you just said, and the second question is whether youknew the real situations.                                                                                                                   | VCEO          |
| 王旭博         | 我是真的不知情的, 对不对?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |               |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I really did not know the real situations, believe me.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |               |
| 郭琦          | 你当时就是领导让签了什么你就签了什么。两种可能,一种是真实的,这个要直接签名,第二个可能是他通过电子截图 P 上去的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |               |
| Qi Guo:     | If you just signed whatever your boss asked you to sign at the time, there wouldbe two possibilities. One is that the signatures are genuine, and this meansthat you signed the documents directly. The other one is that he put yoursignatures on the documents by electronic copy and paste. |               |

| 王旭博         | 为什么我刚刚给您回答的就比较中肯,就是说首先字迹我不能否认他不是我的字,但是有一点我想跟您说的是,我一般写自己的名字不会写这样小的。如果说这个就是原本文件它复印件的话,我写字一般不是这样小的,我是写大字的,我这个人写字非常大。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Xu Bo Wang: | The reason what I just answered you is fairly sincere is that first of all I cannotdeny that the appearance of the signatures is not my handwriting. But there isone thing I want to tell you, namely, I usually would not sign my name in sosmall size. If this is a copy of the original document, I usually would not write insuch small size. I would write in big print. My handwriting is big.                                                                                        |
| 郭琦          | 我也不能引导你。你自己看清楚,因为我个人感觉这两个字是有一些那个东西。你得看看清楚。因为这是你对自己的字是最了解的。如果说你能确认清楚这两个字,就不是你的真人签名,是被通过其它方式P上去的,你大概有个判断。还有这件事情你本身有没有印象?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | I cannot lead you either. You must view it clearly because I personally believethat there is something wrong with these two signatures. You must lookcarefully. Because you know best about your own handwriting. If you can clearlyconfirm that these two signatures are not your signatures that you signed byyourself but were put on the documents by other means, you probably canmake the judgement. The other thing is that whether you have any recollectionon this matter. |
| 王旭博         | 没啥印象,这事情我真心没啥印象。但是刚刚咱们我也让您给我说一下之前的事情。做 TB 项目这个事情我是知道的,但是他借给卡尔加里借款这个事情我是不知道的,而且就算是我不管我当时知情还是不知情,我都是被安排来代一个名的,我跟他们没有利益关系的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I do not have any recollection. I really have no recollection of this. But just now,I also asked you to tell me what happened before. I knew about the TB project,but I did not know about the loan to Calgary Sinoenergy. No matter whether Iknew the inside information or not, I was arranged to put my name ondocuments and did not have any relationship of interest with them.                                                                                                        |
| 郭琦          | 我知道。首先弄清楚你作为董事,你就承担了作为董事的责任。虽然说你可能是受领导的安排,或者是邓天洲或刘彦莹安排。我说的很清楚了,不然的话他们就是你的领导或者是你的直接控制人,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Qi Guo:     | I know. First, you should understand that if you are a director, you would takethe responsibilities of a director. Although you may be arranged by your bossto take the role of a director or follows the arrangement of Tianzhou Deng or                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

N VC

|             | Yanying Liu at the time. I made it clear by saying that they were in fact your boss or the person who directly controls you.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 于加拉         | 老板。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Xu Bo Wang: | My boss                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 郭琦          | 他让你挂了名,但是你是被控制或者被安排在这个职位上,但你如果说是你本人真人签名的话,你是存在执行法律责任的。如果说你不承担法律责任,你要去证明你是被人控制的,你签字是要你只是挂名的签字,可能需要你作为举证方,你要举证这个事情,如果说这个字不是你签的,它比如说是伪造的被 PS 上去的。这两个事情的性质是有很大的差别的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Qi Guo      | He put your name down as the director, but you are controlled or arranged to take this position. But if you signed the documents by yourself, you still took the legal liabilities for implementation. If you do not want to take the legal liabilities, you must prove that you were controlled by someone, and you signed your signature just as a nominal director. You may need to act as a witness and provide evidence to prove this matter. If you say that this is not your signature, the signature was forged by photoshop, the nature of these two things would be quite different. |
| 王旭讲         | 首先就是我回答您的问题,您给我拿这两份文件我几乎是没有印象的,我已经不能够肯定的回答你当时是不是我亲自签上了,但通过您拿这个东西给我的辨认,我的辨认结果是如果当时这份文件是我亲笔签名的话,我那个字应该不会太小的。所以我的字应该写的会比这个要大,如果说这份文件你现在拿一个空的合同放在我面前,你让我写成完全这样子,我觉得可能性不大,因为我写字非常大。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Xu Bo Wang; | First, I will answer your question. I have almost no recollection of these two documents you showed me. I cannot answer with certainty whether I signed it at the time, but by examining the documents you provided, I believe that if the document were signed by me at the time, my handwriting would not be so small. My handwriting should be larger than this. If you put an blank contract in front of me right now, and ask me to sign like this, I think it's unlikely, because I write in large print.                                                                                |
| 郭琦          | 对,您可以看看这两个文件的日期是 2017 年 4 月 10 号或者 4 月前后,您看一下,我是希望你能够同我回忆,还是能够有点印象。我觉得就算老板会让你签字,好歹应该你瞄一眼会问问什么东西嘛,不然的话让你借钱出去呢,所以这方面别人去借钱了,对你来说是负债,你也要。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes, you can see the dates of these two documents are April 10, 2017 or around April. Look. I hope you can recollect your memory; perhaps you can still                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

GER) MARY

UBLIC EOF A

|             | recall something. I think even if the boss asked you to sign, you should still takea glance and ask what the documents were about. Otherwise, what if someoneasked you to borrow money and put you in debt?        |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王旭博         | 而且这两个文件您看一下,咱们一块看这。你不觉得这两个名字写的完全是一样的吗?                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Xu Bo Wang: | And look at these two documents, let's look at them together. Don't you think these two signatures were completely identical?                                                                                              |
| 郭琦          | 所以我在问你。                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Qi Guo:     | So, I am asking you.                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 王旭博         | 正常人的话不可能两个名字写出来完全是一模一样的。                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Xu Bo Wang: | It is impossible for a normal person to sign two completely identical signatures .                                                                                                                                         |
| 郭琦          | 所以我在问你,我希望你帮你回忆起你的记忆,我刚才一直在问你。                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Qi Guo:     | So, I am asking you. I hope I can help you to recollect your memory, and I was keeping asking you.                                                                                                                         |
| 正旭博         | 我印象中我不知道这两个东西。                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I have no recollection of these two documents.                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 郭琦          | Ok 那就是说这两个签字?                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Qí Guo:     | Ok, do you mean these two signatures?                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 王旭博         | 我没有办法给你 confirm,这两个就是我的亲笔签名,签在这个文件上的。这个字,我看起来是我的字,但是是怎么弄到这个文件上去的,我不能给你确定的。                                                                                                                                                 |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I cannot confirm to you that the two signatures on the documents are the onesthat I signed by myself. The signatures appear to be mine. But I cannot confirmto you how these signatures were put on the documents. |

| 是说了么? 两种,一种是被人 P 上吗? 伪造上去了,对不对? 还有一是。aaid, there may be two possibilities. One is that the signatures werea documents by photoshop and forged. Right? The other possibility字名字写的完全就是一模一样的。o signatures were made in a completely identical manner.答你嘛。我只能我就说你判断。你是因为,如果是你自己签了名和如果                                                                                                                                                                               |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| e documents by photoshop and forged. Right? The other possibility字名字写的完全就是一模一样的。o signatures were made in a completely identical manner.答你嘛。我只能我就说你判断。你是因为,如果是你自己签了名和如果                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| o signatures were made in a completely identical manner.答你嘛。我只能我就说你判断。你是因为,如果是你自己签了名和如果                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 答你嘛。我只能我就说你判断。你是因为,如果是你自己签了名和如果                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 活,我觉得两种性质是不一样的,我就说说清楚两点。如果说你确实有份文件是被人伪造的,别人 P 上去的,我要跟我的律师沟通清楚,我怎,我怎么帮助你来把这个事情给澄清事实,向法官澄清事实。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| inswer you, I can only ask you to make a judgment, because, I believei signed it yourself, the nature of the matter would be different from then the signatures were not made by you. I would like to clarify on twoyou do have an impression that these two documents were faked andelse photoshopped them, I would have to communicate clearly withr on how I could protect you, how I could help you clarify the factsmatter and clarify the facts to the judge. |
| 意思您清楚了。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| do you understand what I mean?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| , 但是就是咱们谈下面工作, 现在你这边两个反馈, 就是说这边两个文不知道, 我不知道说是回忆不出来, 还是当时做了事情不知道。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| ve made analysis. Let's talk about the next steps. Now you gave twos. That is to say that you completely do not know about these twots. I do not know whether it was because you could not recall them, orpomething you did not know at the time.                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 来,至少我跟您说话的时候我没有印象。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

| Xu Bo Wang: | I cannot recall them. At least I cannot recall them when I talked to you.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|             | 好这两个字,你觉得不太像你当时写的字吗?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Qi Guo:     | I see. On these two signatures, do you believe that they do not look like your handwriting at the time?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 王旭博         | 不太像,因为我写字,他如果说单纯是把文件拿到我这来签,我还是假如你再给我一张白纸,让我签。我不会写这样小的字。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Xu Bo Wang: | No, not quite. Because when I sign if I was asked to sign a document or on another piece of blank paper, I would not sign in such small print.                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 郭琦          | 就是说这件事情肯定不是出于你本意来签的字。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Qi Guo:     | That is to say that it was definitely not your own intention to sign the documents.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|             | 不是                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Xu Bo Wang: | No, it was not.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 郭琦          | OK。我想如果说我跟法官,因为我这个律师可能后续会跟你确认情况,可能有一些比如说确认函件让您签字做这件事情,就我们会有附件,有两个文件,就是说我本人要求你比如说司法鉴定,因为我现在没拿正本嘛。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| QI Guo:     | OK. I think if I talk to the Judge Because my lawyer will confirm the details with you later, and ask you to sign a confirmation letter. We will send you attachments or attach these two documents. In your letter, you may say that "I personally would like to ask you to make a forensic assessment of the signatures, because I do not have the original copy now". |
|             | 我想问您一下,这个是很关键的一个证据。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I want to ask you a question. Is this a very crucial evidence?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

| 宾江 东 | 非常关键,我觉得对你来说可能来说非常重要。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Qi Guo:         | Yes, very crucial. I believe it may be very important to you.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 王旭傅             | 我其实并不希望它影响到我的生活,而且我们换了一个城市生活,我也换了工作。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Xu Bo Wang:     | I actually do not want it to affect my life. In fact, we already moved to anothercity to live, and I also changed my job.                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 郭琦              | 你看金额是 5780 万加币,接近是 2.5 亿人民币,再在境外确实给他们挪用了两点多亿人民币,现在我们在境外打官司,我们也把 Long Run 的资产全部查封了,卡尔加里中天的资产全部查封了。                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Qi Guo:         | You see, the amount is 57.8 million Canadian dollars, which equals to about 250 million RMB yuan. As a matter of fact, they did misappropriate more than 200 million yuan overseas. Now we are making a lawsuit overseas, and we also have frozen all the assets of Long Run and Calgary Sinoenergy. |
| 王矩博             | 我有面临着我作为被起诉的风险嘛?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Xu Bo Wang:     | Is there any risk that I may be sued?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 郭琦              | 我们没有任何事实证明。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Qi Guo:         | We do not have facts to prove in order to sue you.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 王旭博             | 就我说我有这样的风险吗?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Xu Bo Wang:     | I mean if I face such a risk.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 郭琦              | 我现在这样的,应该这样子,这两份东西是被告之一 Michael Lam 新提供出来的,他的反辩证据。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Qi Guo:         | It should be like this. These two documents were provided by one of the defendants, Michael Lam, as evidence for his defense.                                                                                                                                                                        |

×017 ★ 2010

| 王旭博         | 他提供这个是要证明什么?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Xu Bo Wang: | What is he trying to prove?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| - 郭琦-   | 证明它从合能海欣 Corp 层面挪用资金,是有法律依据的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | He has a legal basis to misappropriate the funds from H Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 于旭博         | 那我想问一个问题, York City 上面是有股东对不对?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Then I want to ask a question. There are shareholders above York City, is it correct?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 郭琦          | 对。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Qi Guo:     | Correct.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 王旭縛         | 那你们可以找宇恒说话啊。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Then you can talk to Yuheng.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 家汪奇         | 我们就是字恒啊。我们字恒不知情啊,没有董事知道这件事情,这个是刚刚爆出来的东西,包括下层公司合能海欣 Corp 的 4 个董事,除了邓天洲知道不知道我不清楚,其他董事都不知道,而且他这个,我不知道你仔细看过没有,你还是仔细再看一下。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Qi Guo:     | We are from Yuheng. We or Yuheng were not aware of the situation. None of the directors knew about this matter. This is something that was recently revealed. I do not know if Tianzhou Deng knew about it or not, but all the other directors of the 4 directors of the subsidiary company H Corp knew nothing about these documents. I don't know if you have looked at it carefully, you should take a closer look. |
|             | 我刚刚仔细看过这两个签名了。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I just closed examined these two signatures.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

REAL REAL

| 郭琦          | 你可以看看内容,它是约束的,它是定一些什么权利和义务,任么谁和谁的借款,金额借款金额。这个合同。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Qi Guo:     | You can look at the content; it is binding and contains some rights and obligations, the provisions on who borrows money from whom and the amount of the loan. This contract                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 王旭博         | 我知道。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|             | (15:52)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|             | 它这个借款合同,就是对借款还有利率有约束,但是                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|             | (16:45)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|             | 对的,这个上面的确是有说董事是有权来决定借款。就是说如果说现在就是说我没有办法认定这个是当时我的亲笔签名,你们是要去做鉴定的对不对?那我想问一下 Michael Lam 提供这个东西,他有提供原件吗?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I know.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|             | (15:52)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|             | This loan contract is binding on loan and interest rates, but                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|             | (16:45)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|             | Yes, the contract indeed said that the directors have the right to decide on loans. Could I assume that if I have no way to verify that this is the original signature I made at the time, you would need to make forensic assessment on the signatures, is it correct? Then I would like to ask whether Michael Lam provided the original copy? |
| 郭琦          | 是这样子,如果说你不能确定的话,我跟合能海欣去沟通一下,至少本意上你不知道这件事情嘛,对吧?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Qi Guo:     | The situation is that if you cannot confirm anything, I would talk to H Corp. At least you do not know about this matter, is it right?                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 王旭博         | 不知道。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Xu Bo Wang: | No, I do not.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

| 郭琦          | ۲٠j                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Qi Guo:     | Okay.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 王旭博         | 就是我的意思是这不是我的意愿,不是我做的决定。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Xu Bo Wang: | What I would like to say is that this is not my intention and no is it my decision.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 郭琦          | 对。我刚才反复在说一件事情就是说,你本身的意愿你不知道这个事,法官怎么去相信这件事情,但如果说这件事这个字是你本人签的,和这个字被人伪造上去了,这两个就又不一样了。对。如果是伪造上去的话。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Qi Guo:     | Correct.What I was trying to say repeatedly was that how a judge could believe that it isnot your intention, or you did not know. If the signatures were the ones madeby yourself, it would be different from the case where the signatures wereforged. If they were forged                                                                         |
| 王旭博         | 你们是追究他伪造合同的责任呢?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Xu Bo Wang: | You would then hold him liable for forging the contract, is it correct?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 郭琦          | 对,我要申请做司法鉴定。这个字不是王旭博本人签约,对吧?那就可以证明他这个文件是伪造的,如果说是你本人签的,但是你当时不知情,可能你要去举证是谁让你签的或者是怎么样。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes, I would like to apply for a forensic assessment to show that the signatures were not the one made by Xu Bo Wang, am I right? By this way, I could prove that his document was forged. If it was the case that you did sign the documents yourself, but you did not what was really going, you may need to prove who asked you to sign or somethings like that. |
| 王旭博         | 我没有办法确定字是我签的,我还是这个活。我反复看了以后觉得没有办法确定。原因有二,第一个是我写字不这样小,第二个是这两个签名明显是一模一样的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

| Xu Bo Wang: | I have no way to confirm that the signatures were made by myself indeed. I would like to say it again that after I repeatedly examined the signatures, I still have no way to confirm it. There are two reasons. First, I would not sign such small signatures. Second, these two signatures are obviously the same and of no difference. |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 郭琦          | 其实我这个不能引导你。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Qi Guo:     | I cannot lead you to say anything on this matter in fact.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 王旭博         | 不是您引导我。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

| Xu Bo Wang: | No, you are not leading me to say anything.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 郭琦          | 就说你自己, 是不是大致有个判断对吧?因为一点都没碰到, 我觉得不太可能。自己写的字, 因为我写的字我签名, 我不可能是有乱写乱画的, 肯定是这样子的, 每个字都写的会有潦草, 从来没有认真写过字, 但是你看两个字对吧? 高度的这种。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | As for you, you would have a general idea on this matter, right? Because I thought it would be unlikely that you would have no ideal at all. When I sign my name, it would be impossible for me to sign it in no regular way. It must be like this. Every word written will be scribbled, I have never written a word in print, but you see these two. Right? It is highly |
| 王旭博         | 它两个明显就是一模一样的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Xu Bo Wang: | It is obvious that the two signatures are exactly the same.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 郭琦          | 是啊。而且我想词一下现在今天你看老邓他们之后,有没有找过你?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes.Also, I would like to ask if Mr. Deng or the others ever contacted you after youleft.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|       | 我明日愿的恩恩。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|--------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王旭博          |   我明白您的意思,毕竟那个时间段我的确是作为合法的董事。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Qi Guo:      | You see, I also hold a position in a company, and am engaged by my company, right? It would be better if it occurs domestically. But now it happens overseas, right? The fact is that you acted as a director of the company, right? As a result of acting as a director, you may have to take the corresponding responsibilities no matter whether you received any profit.                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 郭浩           | 你看我也在企业担任职务,是受公司委派嘛,对不对?可能境内还好,但是现在在境外,是吧?但客观事实你是担任了公司约董事是吧?对不对?你作为董事你担任他的话,可能你要承担相应的,不管你有没有获利,你要承担这个责任。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Xu Bo Wang:  | This is right.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 王旭博          | X寸                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Qi Guo:      | I know.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 郭琦           | 我知道。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Xu Bo Wang:  | No one has ever contacted me. You are the first one who contacted me and dealt with Sinoenergy. No one ever contacted me again. Also, when I left Sinoenergy, I handed over a clear job, and then I left. Thereafter, I no longer had anything to do with Sinoenergy. In addition, I want to explain one thing. On the relationship between me and York City, at that time, they asked me to just put on a hat of a director, but I had no personal interest in the business of the company, and the income and profit of their investment had nothing to do with me either. |
| 〒 加 導 | 没有人再找过我啊,您是第一个跟中天有关系的人联系我的。没有人再找过我,而且我当时从中天离开的时候,我也是交接清楚的工作,然后我就离开了,我跟中天就没有关系了。然后我还有一个事情想说的,我跟 York City,当时是他们让我只是挂了董事的名字,然后我没有什么利益关系,比如说他们的投资收益也跟我没有关系。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

OGEA

EOF

| 郭琦          | 对,唯一董事嘛?对这个事情就这样子,我回去跟我公司沟通这个样子,可能是后续有一些需要你配合了。                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Qi Guo:     | This is right. You are the sole director. So that is what happened. I will go backand talk to my company. Maybe there are things that we would need you tocooperate on subsequently |
| 王旭博         | 啊,这样子啊                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Xu bo Wang: | Really? Is that what would happen?                                                                                                                                                          |
| 郭琦          | 肯定啊。那如果说你不配合,我们就可能把你作为被告之一,一起进行诉讼。                                                                                                                                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | For sure. Then if you do not cooperate, we may name you as one of the defendants and proceed against you with court litigation.                                                             |
| 王旭博         | 什么意思?                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Xu Bo Wang: | What do you mean?                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 学び時         | 就是我们有可能把你被告之一。                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Qi Guo:     | We may sue you as one of the defendants.                                                                                                                                                    |
| 王旭博         | 那这个不行的。                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Xu Bo Wang; | No, you can not do it.                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 郭琦          | 对我们从来没想这么做。                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Qi Guo:     | We never wanted to do so.                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 王旭博         | 对咱们说说。                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Right. Let us talk about it.                                                                                                                                                                |

| $718   | 我没有想那么多,我先我跟你说。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Qi Guo:     | I did not think too much about it. Let me tell you first.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 王旭博         | 我明白你的意思。就是说冤有头债有主对不对?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I understood what you mean. In other words, a debt shall be collected from the debtor, is it right?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 郭琦          | 我就是说这个事情我也弄大致清楚了,但也就是你本人也没法确认对不对?但你不管是这个字是被人伪造的,还是你是当时被人委派到董事职务上,被邓天州委派过去签了这个字,那我觉得这个事情还是能够说清楚的,不至于说是作为一个被告的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes. I mean I have roughly obtained a clear picture on this matter. However, you cannot confirm the matter even yourself, right? But I believe that you can clearly explain this matter and have not reached the point where you will become a defendant no matter whether the signatures were forged by someone, or you were arranged to put on the hat of a director or requested by Tianzhou Deng to sign the documents.                                                 |
| 王旭博         | 对,我觉得事情就没有到这一步,对。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Yes, I believe things have not reached this point indeed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 郭琦          | 所以说那就需要我们配合。对不对?那就是说我这边可能回头会跟律师沟通,可能是比如说做这件事情,律师可能是发一些文件给你签,就是说比如说我觉得大概也是证明这件事情跟你无关,或者是这个字这个字不是本人签的,即使是本人签的,也是在不知情的情况下受人控制签的。就是相关的这样的一个描述,对。有可能会配合一些证据跟我们那边跟法官去确认那些问题。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Qi Guo:     | So, that is why I say that we need to cooperate, is it right?What I will do would be that I may go back to communicate with the lawyer, andthe lawyer may send you some documents to sign, for example. The documentsmay prove that this matter has nothing to do with you, or the documents werenot signed by you, or even if you signed, you did so under the control of otherpeople without knowing what was really going on. The documents may give |

|             | some relevant description like these. We may need to ask you to cooperate with us on certain evidence and help us to confirm on these issues with the Judge.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王旭搏         | 我想问您,如果说您这边律师给我的,如果比如说给我发这样的问询函是吧?向我确认一些事情,说现在相当于宇恒下面是 York City, York City 再出去,就是合能 Corp。如果说我证明这个东西(两个文件)的确是我不知情,我也并且不是利益相关者的话,会把这个环节跳过去嘛?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Xu Bo Wang: | What I want to ask is that if, for example, your lawyer would send me an inquiryletter like this and ask me to confirm on certain things and say that Yuhengowns York City and York City owns H Corp, and I could prove that I did notknow any things about these two documents and I also have no personalinterested involved, whether it is possible to skip the step that involves me. |
| 郭琦          | 其实我们希望就是这样的。因为 Michael Lam 本身在境外已经伪造了好几份证据了。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Qi Guo:     | In fact, we hope this is the case. Because Michael Lam himself has forged several pieces of evidence overseas.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 干旭博         | 你们已经就是说可以确定他是伪造者。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Xu Bo Wang: | So, you are already fairly sure that he is a forger.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 郭琦          | 我现在心里是这样,对吧?我现在心里也有数了。但是虽然它提供出来了,我就一定要证明他这个证据是有问题的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Qi Guo:     | I would think so in my mind, right? I have my own conclusions in my mind. ButI must prove that the evidence is problematic if it was put forward.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 王旭博         | 对,既然人家提供了,你就要去证明。这是要有一个过程。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Yes. If someone provided an evidence, you must prove that it is false. There is a process to be involved.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 郭琦          | 如果不能证明的话,我只有把它也列为,因为毕竟当时在董事的职位上是你在担任,我只有从你身上入手,作为从把你也列为被告,然后由你去举证相关方,是你的指令人或者是你的控制人。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

With Mary

| (           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Qi Guo:     | If I cannot prove the evidence is a false, I must accept it as an evidence. Sinceafter all, you took the position of director at that time, I must start with you andname you as a defendant, and then you would need to testify against therelevant parties who were your boss or controlled you and asked you to sign thedocuments. |
| 王旭博         | 真麻烦,我有一个问题,现在 York City 应该是也有她的董事对吧?你们没有办法找现在的董事说话是吧?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Xu Bo Wang: | It is complicated. What I want to ask is that York City should also have its own directors right now, right? Do you have any ways to talk to the current directors?                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 郭琦          | 现在的董事有啊。但是他这个合同是你签的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes, York City has its directors. But the contract is the one you signed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 王旭博         | 我明白。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I see.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 郭琦          | 因为现在他们董事已经声明他不知情,就是这份决议和借款合同不知情。已经声明了。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Qi Guo:     | Because the current directors have indicated that they did not know anything about this resolution and loan contract. The declaration has been made.                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 王旭博         | 明白,我今天跟您说的是您我回答了你的问题对不对?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Understood. I have answered your questions today, right?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 郭琦          | 对,我们在沟通完之后,我可能会去和律师沟通,按怎么来把这件事情就是说澄清事实。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Qi Guo:     | Right. After our meeting, I may go to talk to the lawyer, and figure out how to deal with this matter to clarify the facts.                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

The second

| 干絕強         | 我的意思就是什么这边说可能就对我现在就是说影响小一点,别搞得很麻烦。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| Xu Bo Wang: | What I mean is that I would like it to have as little impact on me as possible so do not make too much trouble to me.                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |  |
| 郭王帝         | 没有,其实首先我觉得这个事情不是很麻烦,反正就是正常吗?对不对?本身我觉得大家做了就做了,没做就没做了,对不对?没做的话大家把这些都给他解释清楚就行了。我觉得没有不会对你的生活产生任何影响。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |  |
| Qi Guo:     | I will not. First, I think this matter will not make too much trouble to you. It is justa normal process, right? I think whether or not you did it, you cannot change thefacts. If you did not sign it, what we need to do is to provide a clear explanationon everything. I do not think it will have any impact on your life. |  |
| 王旭博         | 别到时候老叫我去法庭怎么样的,这个会很麻烦的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I do not want to go to court repeatedly. It would be too much trouble to me.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |  |
| 字陆奇         | 不会,如果说你不配合的话挺麻烦的,我觉得配合的话本身证明自己清白的嘛。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| Qi Guo:     | I do not think it will happen. If you do not cooperate, it will become a trouble. Ithink the fact itself that you cooperate would prove that you are innocent.                                                                                                                                                                          |  |
| 上旭增         | 是,你如果说是有比如说这样的东西让我确认这个我是可以这样的。就不管我能不能确定它是不是我签的,但我至少肯定要给您回复的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Yes, if there is something like this that needs to be confirmed, I can do it. No matter whether I can confirm the signature was mine or not, I would surely reply to you one way or the other.                                                                                                                                              |  |
| 郭琦          | 对。大概就是这件事情。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |
| Qi Guo:     | All right. This is all I need to talk to you.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |  |
| 王旭博         | 行,这个还是这话,我真的没有办法确定这个是我签的,而且单纯从扫描上面来看的话,我觉得,你看这个签名明显就很模糊了。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |  |

ROGEA

NOTAR * PT ELIC

EOFF

| Xu Bo Wang: | I see. What I want to say again is that I really have no way to confirm that I signed this document. I believe that the signature is obviously very blurry just based on my review of the scanned copy. |  |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| 郭琦          | 如果我肯定是不会的, 一看就知道。                                                                                                                                                                                       |  |
| Qi Guo:     | If it were me, I will not do it. You would know it by taking a glance of the document.                                                                                                                  |  |
| 王旭譐         | 而且是这两份文件写的完全一样,就算是同一个人写的名字写两次,也不可能是一模一样的。                                                                                                                                                           |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Moreover, the two signatures appear to be the same. If a person sign his nametwice, it would be impossible for him to sign the names in an identical manner.                                        |  |
| 郭琦          | 对啊。                                                                                                                                                                                                     |  |
| Qí Guo:     | Yes, indeed.                                                                                                                                                                                            |  |
| 王旭博         | 这是完全一样的啊。                                                                                                                                                                                               |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | These two signatures are identical.                                                                                                                                                                     |  |
| 郭琦          | 如果说你有信心证明这个不是你签的,那我就向法院申请要原件。                                                                                                                                                                           |  |
| Qi Guo:     | If you are confident to prove that this was not signed by you, then I will apply to the court for the original document.                                                                                |  |
| 于地位         | 所以我就说你的这个东西他当时提供你们是不是原件,他赶快把原件拿出来。                                                                                                                                                                      |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | It is why I asked you whether what he provided to you is the original document.Ask him to provide you with the original documents.                                                                  |  |
| 享任者  | 原件应该是要给我们给法官的。                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |
| Qi Guo:     | We should give the original documents to the Judge.                                                                                                                                                     |  |

| 王旭博              | 你的意思就是说他已经把这个东西给了法官,他应该是只给你扫描件。                                                                                                                                                                                  |  |
|------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| Xu Bo Wang:      | What you mean is that he has given the original document to the Judge, and he could only give you a scanned copy.                                                                                                |  |
| 郭琦               | 对。我觉得它如果不是你本人签字的话,他提供不出来证明,                                                                                                                                                                                      |  |
| Qi Guo:          | Correct. I think if you did not sign the document, he could not prove it otherwise.                                                                                                                              |  |
| 王旭博              | 你现在也不知道他到底有没有提供出来这样的一个。                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |
| Xu Bo Wang:      | You do not know whether he has provided the original copies.                                                                                                                                                     |  |
| 郭廷奇              | 是啊。但是我不管如何。这件事情,我也希望你能够配合。                                                                                                                                                                                       |  |
| Qi Guo:          | No, I do not. But regardless, I still hope you can cooperate with us.                                                                                                                                            |  |
| 王旭博              | 我明白您的意思。而且您看内容这块 name 写的 XB Wang?这个合同肯定不是我弄的,我不会这样写我自己的名字,我从来不用这个缩写。                                                                                                                                         |  |
| Xu Bo Wang:      | I understand what you mean. Did you see that the name here is spelled as XB Wang? I can confirm that I did not prepare contract. I would never spell my name in this way. I never use this kind of abbreviation. |  |
| 古(* 洋彦子() 江京 | 你签名是什么?                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |
| Qi Guo:          | What is your signature?                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |
| 王旭镈              | 我平时签名要是写全拼的,就是 Xu 这样子。然后我是不会把自己这样写的,就是 XB Wang 我就不会。                                                                                                                                                         |  |
| Xu Bo Wang:      | I normally sign my name in full, like Xu Bo Wang. Also, I would not print my name as XB Wang.                                                                                                                    |  |
| 郭琦               | 你签看看,我拿个纸,你签看看。                                                                                                                                                                                                  |  |
|                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |  |

STAC WAY

| Qi Guo:     | Let me see how you sign your name. Let me give you a piece of paper and see how you sign your name.(26:00)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王旭博         | 您是说中文嘛还是英文?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Do you want me sign in Chinese or English?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 郭琦          | 就是你看着他们三个字你看一看,笔也没带。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Qi Guo:     | Just these three characters. I do not have a pen.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 王旭博         | 没关系,我今天先跟你沟通一下。(26:00)这样说,我为什么对这个合同没有印象,还是说签名这个问题。如果他把这个合同签字版给到我,我应该不会看见他把我名字写成这样,我有可能会改的,因为我从来不用 XB Wang 这个写法。这不是我的习惯。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | It does not matter. I can just talk to you today.(26:00)I said that I have no recollection of this contract. The reason why I said so isthat there is a problem with the signature. If someone gives me the executioncopy of the contract to me, I will not allow him to print my name like this andmay ask him to change it. Because I never print my name as XB Wang. No,this is not my habit. |
| 郭琦          | 你是说打字这个习惯?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Qi Guo:     | You mean the habit of print?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 王旭博         | N <sub>2</sub> + .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Correct.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

And the second second

| 郭琦          | 一般你。                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| , Qi Guo:   | In general, you                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 王旭辫         | 就直接写 Xu Bo WANG。                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I will just print Xu Bo WANG.                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 郭浩          | 就是 X B W。                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Qi Guo:     | That is X B W.                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 王旭博         | 不是我的意思就是 X 我也写了我是 XU 这样的。您懂我的意思吧?就是说你看他现在把旭博不是缩写成了 XB 是吗?我自己的话是不用缩写的,我就会把这些拼出来。你懂我意思吧?                                                                                                             |
| Xu Bo Wang: | No. I mean I would print Xu not just X. Did you follow me? Did you see that someone print my name as XB? If I print my name, I will not use abbreviation and I will print my full name. Did you follow me? |
| 郭琦          | XUBO是吧?你之前签文件有没有这些还留下来的?                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Qi Guo:     | Xu Bo, right? Do you still have any of the documents you signed before?                                                                                                                                    |
| 王旭博         | 你说?                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Xu Bo Wang: | You are talking about?                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| - 享乐 ] 待;   | 你之前,                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Qi Guo:     | The documents you signed before.                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 王旭树         | 没有的,因为我当时跟中天交接清楚工作的话,我是没有保留之前公司的东西。                                                                                                                                                                        |

 $< 0^{\circ}$ 2C 2.VCE

| Xu Bo Wang: | No, because I handed over everything to Sinoenergy, I did not keep any thing from the previous company after I resigned.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 郭琦          | 那我可以 查。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Qi Guo:     | Then I can check the previous records.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 王旭博         | 你可以查一下                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|             | 就是说我的意思是我签过的,我从来没有说用过 XB 的写法                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Xu Bo Wang: | You can check. In other words, I have never printed my name as XB when I sign my name.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 郭琦          | 对,那这样的好不好?我是觉得这样的有几个路径,因为我今天会跟律师沟通看怎么,怎么把这个事情来确认清楚。第二个我们组织相关的一些证据,比如说林红不找你吗?我曾通过林红找你的吗?他那边应该有你之前留档的文件,我看一下。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Qi Guo:     | Right. How about this? I believe there are several ways to find the truth. I will talk to the lawyer today and see how we find out the truth of the matter. Second, we will organize some evidence. For example, Hong Lin is trying to find you, is it correct? When did I have any concern to find you through Hong Lin? He should have the documents that you signed before. Let me check. |
| 王旭博         | 这个是你们的律师找他?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Will your lawyer contact him?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 郭琦          | 也不好说,因为我不知道,或者我们一会拉拉个群,因为他现在还代理中天其他的一些境外的公司,我也相信林总这边会不好切割委托关系。按道理来说,就是说你作为当时董事,你是有权要求他提供给你当时你签的这些文件的。我觉得我说的不是决议,就其他的一些,你当时办理一些 BVI 文件,你查一查。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Qi Guo:     | Not sure, I do not know, or we will create a group chat later. Because he is now acting for some other overseas companies of Sinoenergy, and I also believe that Mr. Lin will not be able to handle the conflict of interest. By logic, you were the director at the time and should have the right to ask him to provide you with                                                           |

|             | the documents you signed at that time. I am not talking about the resolutionsbut the other BVI documents that you handled and you can have a check.                                                  |  |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| 王旭博         | 当时任命我作为董事啊。                                                                                                                                                                                              |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | The documents by which I was appointed as a director at that time?                                                                                                                                       |  |
| 郭琦          | 你查一查当时。                                                                                                                                                                                                  |  |
| Qi Guo:     | You can check.                                                                                                                                                                                           |  |
| 王旭缚         | 您是说英文这个吗?                                                                                                                                                                                                |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Are you talking about the English documents?                                                                                                                                                             |  |
| 郭琦          | Xý .                                                                                                                                                                                                     |  |
| Qi Guo:     | Correct.                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |
| 王旭博         | 英文不用查,我从来没这样写过,我这个事情可以确定的,因为我不喜欢用 XB 来做为我名字的缩写。                                                                                                                                                          |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I do not need to check the English. I have never print my name like this. I can confirm this. Because I do not like to use XB as the abbreviation of my name.                                            |  |
| 郭琦          | 那问题是这个问题其实不能证明什么。                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |
| Qi Guo:     | But the point is that this fact cannot prove anything.                                                                                                                                                   |  |
| 王旭博         | 对对。我只是跟您说我,刚刚跟您,因为我也是看了一会,我才发现。这个细节的,如果是这个合同当时我是看过的,我可能会把这个东西改掉,你懂吧。                                                                                                                                 |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Correct. I just want to tell you that I just noticed this detail after looking at the documents for a while. If I saw this contract at the time, I might want to change the printing. Did you follow me? |  |

| 郭琦          | 有没有可能你当时,你再回忆一下,别人拿给你这套文件。                                                                                                           |          |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| Qi Guo:     | Can you recall again and see if it is possible someone gave you this set of documents?                                               |          |
| 王旭博         | 我看都没看。                                                                                                                               |          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I did not even look at it?                                                                                                           |          |
| 郭琦          | 你看都没看。                                                                                                                               |          |
| Qi Guo:     | No, you did not even look at it.                                                                                                     |          |
| 王旭博         | 但是我看都没看,至少如果是我亲自签的话,我建议应该会看。                                                                                                         |          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | You mean I did not even look at it? But if I signed it myself, I think I would take a look at it at least.                           |          |
| 郭琦          | 文件不是你起草的。                                                                                                                            |          |
| Qi Guo:     | But you did not draft the document                                                                                                   |          |
| 王旭博         | 不是我起草的。                                                                                                                              |          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | No, I did not.                                                                                                                       | TR.      |
| 郭琦          | 所以你帮你们的事情如果你自己知道了也不会这样写的。但主要的问题是不是你起草的。                                                                                              | ALL NO   |
| Qi Guo:     | So even if you knew the matter at the time, you would not print your name like this. But the key point is that you did not draft it. | MONTH CE |
| 王旭博         | 不是我起草的。这个可以证明他这个文件不是我的意愿,如果是我起草的合同,我自己通过过的,我从来没有把自己的名字写过这个缩写,我确定。                                                                |          |

| Xu Bo Wang: | I did not draft it. This can prove that the document he provided was not my decision. When I prepared and approved the contract, I never use this abbreviation as my name. I confirm.                                                                                                                                        |  |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| 郭琦          | 你再回忆一下,2017年的4月份的时候,如果这份文件放在你面前,你看这东西的时候你会什么反应?内容不看,你就看落款也会有他的细节,或者说。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |
| Qi Guo:     | You may want to recall again. If this document were placed in front of you bythe time of April 2017, what would be your response when you saw thisdocument. If you did not read the content but just looked at the signature, theremay be some details you can recall. In other words,                           |  |
| 王旭博         | 您的落款指的是?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | What do you mean by signature?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |  |
| 郭琦          | 就是这个 XB 嘛。你会有想法嘛?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |  |
| Qi Guo:     | XB. Would you have any reaction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |  |
| 王旭博         | 我会想把它改掉,因为这不是我的习惯。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I would want to change it because it is not my habit.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |
| 郭琦          | 就是说你当时你没有回忆有这么一个有个记忆点。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |  |
| Qi Guo:     | It means that you did not recall you have such reaction.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |  |
| 王旭博         | 没有啥记忆点,我也是刚刚跟您沟通的过程,我才发现了这个东西。您可以看之前我给你们所有签过的,或者你也可以找律师要求林红提供文件,我但凡是用英文拼音签名的,从来没有这样签字,一次都没有。这是我可以确定,我自己的签名习惯。还有一个签名习惯就是我写字比较大。不是这样的小字。                                                                                                                                                                                   |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | No, I do not recall anything. I just discovered this in the process of talking to you. You can see all the documents that I signed in the past, or you can ask a lawyer to ask Hong Lin to provide the documents. Whenever I used Pinyin to spell my English name, I never print my name like this, not a single time. I can |  |

|      | confirm on this or my habit of signature. Another habit of my signature is that I sign in big print instead of such small print.                                    |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 郭琦          | OK, 那就是后续可能我会把这个情况跟律师沟通一下。                                                                                                                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | OK, I will discuss this matter with our lawyer later.                                                                                                               |
| 主进行         | 嗯,您可以沟通一下。                                                                                                                                                          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Yes, please.                                                                                                                                                        |
| 郭琦          | 可能看他有什么通过这种电话沟通,还是视频沟通,还是文件的这种确认形式跟你进行一个配合,把这个事情就是说跟法官进行重复一下。                                                                                                   |
| Qi Guo:     | Our lawyer may contact and discuss with you by telephone, video, or in writing to work together with you to repeat what happened to the Judge.                      |
| 王旭博         | 你们现在是在境外解决还是境内?                                                                                                                                                     |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Are you solving it overseas or domestically?                                                                                                                        |
| 郭马          | 境外解决。但是我们可以说联合起来,基本形成一个体系系统,我都可以这么做的,结果对我来说钱不是问题,就是要还大家一个公道。                                                                                                        |
| Qi Guo:     | Overseas. But we would work together both overseas and domestically as one team. We can do so. Money is not a problem for us, what is important is to seek justice. |
| 王旭博         | 也就是说现在他们把之前做一些 TB 项目的钱挪用了。                                                                                                                                          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | In other words, what happened now is that they misappropriated the funds designated for some of the TB projects.                                                    |
| 郭琦          | 挪用了。                                                                                                                                                                |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes, misappropriated.                                                                                                                                               |

| 王旭博         | 现在是贷款挪用过来了是吧?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |  |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| Xu Bo Wang: | Did they misappropriate the loan?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |  |
| 郭琦          | 这个钱就是我们的投资款,就是在合能海欣 corp 这边挪走了 4400 万加币,非法挪用,他挪到了卡尔加里中天,然后 Michael Lam,邓小泊,邓天洲他们三个人挪出去。                                                                                                                                                                                                      |  |
| Qi Guo:     | This money is our investment money. The 44 million Canadian dollars were misappropriated from H Corp. It was misappropriated by misconduct. He misappropriated the funds to Calgary Sinoenergy and then Michael Lam, Xiaobo Deng, and Tianzhou Deng transferred the funds out of Calgary Sinoenergy. |  |
| 三進博         | 明白在处理,我咱讲这个就回忆当时做项目的情况,这个钱是在加拿大被挪用的对不对?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Understood. Let's recall the situation of the project at the time. This money was misappropriated in Canada, correct?                                                                                                                                                                                |  |
| 郭琦          | xī .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |
| Qi Guo:     | Correct.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |  |
| 王旭讷         | 我本人是一次都没有去过加拿大的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I have never been to Canada myself.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |  |
| 郭琦          | 对,但是你是这个可能没有必要联系。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |  |
| Qi Guo:     | Correct. But this fact might be irrelevant.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |  |
| 王旭博         | 不是这个有关系,怎么没有关系?您说这个钱当时是从字恒打到 York City, York City 打出境的,它是在境外被挪用的对不对?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |

õĜ. .OT. 4 {}^{+})^{+} (H)

| Xu Bo Wang: | Yes, it is relevant, why wouldn't it be? You said that the money was sent fromYuheng to York City and then from York City to overseas. It wasmisappropriated overseas, correct?                                                                                                                      |  |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| 郭琦          | 但是现在这样子是吧?现在他们反辩就是说我现在用这层面有股东会决议,有借款合同,所以我在合能海欣 Corp 这边打款是有合同。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |  |
| Qi Guo:     | But right now, they are arguing that there was this shareholder resolution and loan contract at the level of York City, so the transfer of funds from H Corp was based on a contract.                                                                                                                        |  |
| 王旭傅         | 有法律依据的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Based on law.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |  |
| 郭琦          | 对,有合国作为支撑的,他是作为抗辩,就是说把你给扯进去了。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |  |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes, there is a contract to back up the misappropriation as a defense. As a result, you were dragged you into this matter.                                                                                                                                                                                   |  |
| 王旭博         | 明白,您现在做的工作就是尽可能把我摘出去,对不对?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Got it. What you are doing now is to clear my name as much as possible, correct?                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |  |
| 郭琦          | 就是我第一如果说这个字不是你签的,那我要证明它,我们想证明它是个伪造的,因为在国外的伪造的量刑是非常严重的,而且他们之前也伪过证据了,这个已经是被事实已经是板上钉钉的事实。                                                                                                                                                                                                               |  |
| Qi Guo:     | What I would like to say is that first, if you did not sign the documents, I would need to prove that it is the case and prove that the document was forged. Because the penalty sentence for forging documents is very harsh, and they have forged evidence before and it is a fact that no one can change. |  |
| 王旭博         | 如果说假设说,我现在还是基于这样一个事实,就是我不能确定这是我签的。现在基于这样的事实来说话。如果说他们现在搞了一个这样的合同,然后谁模仿我签了字。                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |  |

177 | 24 .

| Xu Bo Wang: | If we assume and rely on such a fact that I cannot confirm that I signed the documents. Assuming this is true and they forged a contract like this and then someone imitated my signature                                        |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 郭琦          | 模仿你没用,模仿还是假的。除非是你本人签名。                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Qi Guo:     | It is useless to imitate your signature. Because it is still a forgery unless it is your authentic signature.                                                                                                                    |
| 王旭博         | 明白。                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Xu Bo Wang: | l understand.                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 郭琦          | 如果是你本人签名的话,我们也要去帮你证明,本人签名,你是受制于或者是被欺骗的状态下签名。                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Qi Guo:     | If you did sign the documents, we will also help you to prove that you signed the documents under the control or deception of someone else.                                                                                      |
| 王旭博         | 其实是这样的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | This is the case as a matter of fact.                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 郭琦          | 对我要证明这一点,两种性质,证明这件事情。伪造的幕后的,至少谁提供这个证据,那就是伪造的证据。如果谁让你签这个名,谁是控制人。                                                                                                                                                              |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes, I need to prove this case under two possibilities. If it was forged in secret, whoever provided this evidence would be the one who forged it. If someone requested you to sign, then that person is the controlling person. |
| 王旭博         | 那实控人你们知道是谁啊。你们知道谁是实控人的啊。                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Do you know who the actual controlling person is?                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 郭琦          | 但是现在问题是你这个思维的在是他到底是伪造的还是真实签名,这个东西很重要。如果是伪造的话,我就直接去说伪造的。                                                                                                                                                                      |

and a state

| Qi Guo:     | But the question now is whether it is a forgery or a real signature. This is important. If it was forged, I will say it was forged directly.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王旭神         | 你就直接告诉他伪造证据。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Xu Bo Wang: | You would directly sue him for forging the evidence.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 郭琦          | 对啊。我要用对这东西对比的拿着,你知道我司法鉴定就出来了,如果不是伪造的话就难度越来越大,难度越大。把你加进去,这就是要难度加大一点。对吧?你要跟我们协助我来证明你在被蒙骗,不了解或者是被欺骗的情况下,或者是我本身对吧,事务就是邓天洲、刘彦莹委派我的,我作为雇员来担任了。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Qi Guo:     | Correct. If I compared the signatures and you know the result of the forensicappraisal would come out. If it is not forged, it will become more difficult toprove the case by involving you. Do you agree? You will need to assist us toprove that you were deceived, that you did not know the real situation or wasfooled or that you were arranged by Tianzhou Deng or Yanying Liu to sign thedocuments as an employee. |
| 王旭博         | 是啊。其实的确是啊。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Yes. It is true in fact.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 学区 E夸       | 所以,挺恶心人的这东西。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Qi Guo:     | So, this is quite disgusting.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 王旭縛         | 所以说我也中天离职了,对你也懂我的意思。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Xu Bo Wang: | That's why I resigned from Sinoenergy, and you should understand what I mean.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 郭琦          | 你当时为什么离职呢?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Qi Guo:     | Why did you leave at that time?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

| 王旭博         | 就不想做了,我是这样的,我18年离职之后就读研究生去了,你可以理解为深造,然后就不再做这个方面的工作了,又没有想过再回到中天去做,后面和中天就没有关系了,然后像我刚刚跟您说的是,也没有中天的人人再联系过我。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Xu Bo Wang: | I did not want to work there. I went to graduate school to improve myself afterleaving in 2018. I did not want to work in this area anymore and did not thinkabout going back to Sinoenergy again. After I resigned, I had no contact withSinoenergy anymore. As I just told you, no one from Sinoenergy has evercontacted me as well. |
| 穿了王奇        | 我刚才问问题是你为什么离开中天。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Qi Guo:     | The question I just asked was why you left Sinoenergy.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 王旭博         | 我要读研究生啊。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I wanted to go to graduate school.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 廓()琦        | 这种图才我今年要换的话,不是这么简单的离开。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Qi Guo:     | Based on what you just said, I think the reason for you to leave was not that simple.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 王旭博         | 这个不是说不是那么简单,我不想在北京工作了,所以我也来了上海。你懂我的意思。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I did not say that it was not that simple. I did not want to work in Beijing anymore. So, I came to Shanghai as well. Did you follow me?                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 郭琦          | 就是这个逻辑我能理解,这里是对地理方面的意见有点不适应不喜欢,换个地方。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Qi Guo:     | I can understand this reason. You did not like or get use to the place and wanted to change a location to live.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 王旭博         | 对,因为我是不想在北京长期发展了,这样子。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

NOTA PUBI

| Correct. Because I did not want to pursue my career in Beijing long term.                        |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 这个事情可能后续行吧。                                                                                      |
| So, we will follow up.                                                                           |
| 如果说您这边往后走流程的话,你可以再跟我联系。                                                                          |
| If you are going to follow up with the process, you can contact me again.                        |
| 对,反已希望还大家一个清白嘛。                                                                                  |
| Yes, anyway, I wish to clear names for all of us.                                                |
| 对的呀,因为我觉得我都已经离职了,这跟我没有关系这个事情。                                                                    |
| Correct. Because I think I have already resigned, this matter should have nothing to do with me. |
| 因为这个东西怎么说?是刚刚爆出来的东西。                                                                             |
| Because it is something that was just revealed.                                                  |
| 这什么时候的事情?                                                                                        |
| When did this happen?                                                                            |
| 上周的事情。                                                                                           |
| Last week.                                                                                       |
| 我都不知道,我也不太关心。                                                                                    |
| I had no idea, and I did not really care.                                                        |
|                                                                                                  |

EP)

| 郭琦          | 但是我们要判断可能是我们的境外的动作一步步的深入,他们觉得没办法必须要拿东西来支撑他们做的一些违法的事情。                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Qi Guo:     | We believe it was because we were taking more actions overseas, they felt thatthey would have no other ways and must provide something to support theirmisconducts.       |
| 王旭博         | 但是为佳么往我身上推呢?                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Xu Bo Wang: | But why would they blame it on me?                                                                                                                                                |
| 郭琦          | 只有这一个层面是好操纵的, 就只有一个人, 而且是你。因为在每个层面都有3°4 个人                                                                                                                                    |
| Qi Guo:     | Because it is easy to manipulate at the level of York City which had only one director who was you. For any other level of the group structure, there are 3 to 4 people involved. |
| 正旭博         | 哦。还是太年轻当时。                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I see. I was still too young at the time.                                                                                                                                         |
| 郭琦          | 对。那行我们保持联系吧。                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Qi Guo:     | Right. Let's keep in touch.                                                                                                                                                       |
| 王旭博         | 行行行,然后您这边就是,反正中天那边没有人跟我沟通过,您这边如果有任何动作的话,还是麻烦您跟我沟通一下。                                                                                                                          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Okay. You may contact me. No one from Sinoenergy ever contacted with me anyway. If your side would like to take any actions, please could you let me know.                        |
| 郭琦          | 我们绝对不会去伤害一个好人,我们还是有良心的投资人。                                                                                                                                                        |

うない……認知

| Qi Guo:     | We would never hurt a good person; we are still investors with good conscience.                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王旭博         | 咱们怎么说呢?冤有头债有主,钱我没拿对不对?谁拿了钱找谁什么,                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Xu Bo Wang: | What shall we say? The person who should be responsible for a misconduct or debt should be held accountable. I did not take any money. You should go after the one who took the money.                                                                    |
| 郭琦          | 对,但是我刚才说了你们每个法律材料体系,我们还是尽量去自证清白,我也会协助你,但仍然需要你配合,我觉得这种配合,是客观存有事实的配合。也不是说去篡改,或者去欺骗。                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Qi Guo:     | Correct. I just said about the legal material for each situation. We should do our best to prove your innocence. It will need your cooperation. I believe that we only need you to cooperate to find the truth instead of making up anything or cheating. |
| 王旭博         | 对。 您给我看这个东西我也是如实回答您的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I understood. I also answered your question with the truth after you showed me the documents.                                                                                                                                                             |
| 寧医奇         | 那行,我大概就是这个事情。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Qi Guo:     | All right. It is all I would like to talk about.                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 王旭博         | 我明白你意思了。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I understand what you mean.                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 郭琦          | 这个事情您再回忆, 如果有一些东西你也可以再跟我交流, 你把签字的事情再回忆一下子。                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

Second L

| Qi Guo:     | You may further recall this matter. If you have something new, you can talk to me again. You may further recall the matter of signatures.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王.旭.哮       | 我真的没有办法回忆起来这个当时是不是我签的,真的没有办法。你甚至给我看着这个合同,我都没有印象,当时出现过这个合同。真的我没有办法给您确认,当时我看过它,但是我也不能完全说,我完全没有看过他,因为他这个东西毕竟是 York City 的名字已经在那了,对不对?但是您这样跟我说,让我回忆 2017年的时候有没有这个合同,你签没签过?我这边给您的回答。我不确定是我签的字,因为看那个字是看起来,笔迹是我的,形状签的是我的字,但是你怎么能确定它是我亲笔签的这张纸上的对不对?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I really cannot recall whether I signed this document or not. No way. Evenwhen you showed me this contract, I did not have any recollection on whether Iever saw this contract before. I really have no way to confirm with you whether Iever saw it before. On the other hand, I cannot say that I definitely did not seeit before. Because the name of York City is on it, is right? But you asked me torecall whether there was this contract in 2017, and whether I signed it. Myanswer to you is that I am not sure I signed it, because the signature looks likemy handwriting by the shape, but how can you make sure that I did sign it bymyself, right? |
| 郭琦          | 你刚才这个表述我就觉得有问题。我说的是你刚才我已经说很清楚了,两种形式,一种是伪造的,说白了另外一种你不是签了吗?对不对?因为如果是 ps,那么还是有的能够看出来的,这点你刚才一直还是闪躲。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Qi Guo:     | I think there is a problem with your statement just now. I have made it clear justnow that there would be two possibilities, one is that it is forged, the other one isthat you signed it. Right? If the signatures were made by photoshop, thenpeople can still tell it. You have been dodging this issue just now.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 王旭博         | 但是问题在于它是不是 ps,我没有办法给您说,我不能平自无故诬陷他是 PS。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Xu Bo Wang: | But the problem is that I cannot confirm with you whether it is photoshopped or not. I have no basis to say that he photoshopped my signatures.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 郭琦          | 所以说法官再去看嘛。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Qi Guo:     | That is why we need to ask the judge to decide the case.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 王旭博         | 因为他是这样子,咱就说说伪造这个事情,一种是他模仿我的签字签上去的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

William Pro-

| {           |                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Xu Bo Wang: | Let us talk about the act of forgery. One way is that someone imitated my signature and signed my name on it.                                                         |
| 郭琦          | 那肯定最好的了。                                                                                                                                                              |
| Qi Guo:     | That would be an ideal case.                                                                                                                                          |
| 王旭博         | 另一种咱们讲是 ps 对不对?至于他是怎么搞的,我不能判断是拿了一张纸,按照我的名字那样子签上去的,还是说他是把之前我签别的地方,写的。                                                                                              |
| Xu Bo Wang: | If it is the case of photoshop, I cannot tell how he did it and whether he put my name on a piece of paper or copied my signature from the documents I signed before. |
| 郭琦          | 那两种情况让你先签上去,然后套一个文档对吧?                                                                                                                                                |
| Qi Guo:     | In those two cases, someone would need to ask you to sign your name first,and then copy your name and paste it on another document, is it correct?                |
| 土旭样         | 是啊,                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Correct.                                                                                                                                                              |
| 郭琦          | 我觉得这个可能性比较低的。                                                                                                                                                         |
| Qi Guo:     | I think this is unlikely.                                                                                                                                             |
| 王旭博         | 所以说您说我运烁其词,我闪烁其词是因为人家怎么做的假,我怎么确定呢?我不知道他是怎么造的假.                                                                                                                    |
| Xu Bo Wang: | So, you say that I am dodging, and the reason is that I do not know how he forged it. How can I know? I do not know how he forged it.                                 |
| 郭琦          | 我觉得你回忆是很重要一件事情。刚才因为某些回忆的点突然也对就是说至少能在认定上面的比例,你会慢慢地会有一些。现在我对你的感觉就是你还是可能签了,但这个字我又感觉不太对。                                                                          |

| Qi Guo:     | I think it is an important thing for you to recall. Because certain points as you just recalled may affect the degree of certainty of your conclusion. Now my feeling is that it was possible that you signed it, but I don't feel right about the signatures.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王旭镈         | 不是不是咱捋捋清楚,字看起来是我的字,看起来哦,但是您说我签了这个合同,我没有办法 confirm。我还是这个话,你就是说咱们如果说正常流程的话,是不是当时我拿到了这一份合同,我看了一遍,然后把字签上了,我没有办法给您确定有这个流程,因为我这份合同也没有啥印象了。然后还有就是说我刚给您看,基于您在三年之后拿出来这个东西给我看的时候,我觉得首先这两份文件写的一模一样,就不太像是正常的签字,还有他把我的名字写成那样子,这不是我的本意。首先从这样的一个事情来判断,我觉得不像是我写的,因为我一般不会那样写自己的名字缩写的,你也可以找我之前签过别的字是用拼音签字的,是没有这样 XB 这种签法的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Xu Bo Wang: | No, we have to sort this out clearly. The signatures appear to be mine. But I have no way to confirm that I signed this contract. Let me repeat it. I have no way to confirm with you that someone gave this contract, I read it and sign signed my name on it. Because I have no recollection about this contract. I just explained to you that when you showed me the documents after three years it was signed, my first reaction is that the signatures on these documents are identical and do not like normal signatures. The other thing is that someone printed my name like that, it is not my way. Judging from these facts, I believe it is unlikely that I signed it. Because I normally did not print my name by such abbreviation. You can also check other documents that have my signatures above my name printed in Pinyin and see I ever signed my name above XB. |
| 郭琦          | 还有 XB 还是打字打上去的,不是写上去的。如果写的话就好。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Qi Guo:     | XB was typed on the document instead of be written on the document. I wish it was written on the paper.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 王旭博         | 如果当时我看到的这个东西我是会把它改掉的,因为我有这个习惯。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Xu Bo Wang: | If I saw my name is printed in this way, I would change it. Because I have such habit.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 郭琦          | 但是已经打上去了啊。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | But it was already printed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

RO

 $< 0^{\circ}$

| 王旭博         | 您的意思就是说我拿到一个现成合同,我只负责签字,我当时就完全都没有看我的英文。                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Xu Bo Wang: | What you mean is that when I got a prepared contract, I was just responsible for signing it and would just sign it without seeing my name in English. |
| 郭琦          | 你即使看了。                                                                                                                                                |
| Qi Guo:     | Even if you saw it.                                                                                                                                   |
| 王旭博         | 我想问你一个问题,它下面打印上去的东西,我看起来是我签字的三个中文汉字,它的法律效力是什么?                                                                                                        |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Let me ask you a question. What is printed underneath seems to be the name I signed in three Chinese characters, what is its legal effect?            |
| 郭琦          | 在国外签名是最严肃的效力。                                                                                                                                         |
| Qi Guo:     | A document has a most serious effect when it is signed oversea.                                                                                       |
| 王旭博         | 那下面打印的呢?                                                                                                                                              |
| Xu Bo Wang: | What about the name printed below?                                                                                                                    |
| 郭琦          | 那我觉得你的英文名字是。你签的是中文名字吗!                                                                                                                                |
| Qi Guo:     | I believe it is your English name. You signed your Chinese name!                                                                                      |
| 王旭博         | 我为什么没当时这样签,按照它下面 XB 那样签?                                                                                                                              |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Why did not I sign like this at the time, like XB?                                                                                                    |
| 郭琦          | 那我就不知道是怎么回事了。                                                                                                                                         |

| Qí Guo:     | I could not answer.                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王旭博         | 所以我觉得逻辑不通的啊。                                                                                                                                                           |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Therefore, I believe it would not make sense.                                                                                                                          |
| 郭琦          | 因为可能你中文名字你的身份证是中文,对不对?具体为什么下面打一个什么XB Wang,我也不知道是什么意思。要么就是这没有任何意义。                                                                                                  |
| Qi Guo:     | It may be since your name on your identification card is in Chinese, is it correct?I did not know why XB Wang was printed below. Perhaps it has no meaning at all. |
| 王旭博         | 那如果说是国外的合同的话。                                                                                                                                                          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | If it is a foreign contract.                                                                                                                                           |
| 郭琦          | 你先这样,我觉得你先别也不要找林红,我先跟林红沟通一下。                                                                                                                                           |
| Qi Guo:     | Please do not contact Hong Lin. I will contact him first.                                                                                                              |
| 工規博         | 您问一下,我怎么能自证清白。                                                                                                                                                         |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Please ask how I can prove my innocence.                                                                                                                               |
| · 郭琦        | 对,因为我觉得林红那边现在,有很多被委托事直,万一你说多了话,那边会。                                                                                                                                    |
| Qì Guo:     | Yes. Because I think Hong Ling has a lot of things to deal with. If you talk too much, he would be                                                                     |
| ;,  | 我明白您的意思。                                                                                                                                                               |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I understand what you mean.                                                                                                                                            |

| 郭琦          | 对,也不利吧。我刚才说了。                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Qi Guo:     | Yes, it may not be good to you as I just said.                                                                                                                                                    |
| 王旭博         | 我就觉得这个事情现在就仅限于您和我沟通。仅限于您和我。您有什么问题找我。                                                                                                                                                          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I suggest that only you contact me on this matter. It will be only between you and me. If you have any questions, just contact me.                                                                |
| 郭琦          | 对,反正我还是。如果即使是你当时不是,我们要有精力去做,把你很有力的力量去来一起把这个事情来做一个澄清或者是谁做的,对吧?                                                                                                                                     |
| Qi Guo:     | Right. I repeat that even if you did not sign it, we still must make efforts and clarity the matter and find out who did it, right?                                                               |
| 王旭博         | Χţ,                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Right.                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 郭琦          | 包括您当时在中天任职的东西。                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Qi Guo:     | Including documents related to your position at Sinoenergy.                                                                                                                                       |
| 王旭博         | 你说我的劳动合同吗?对,劳动合同是在。                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Are you talking about my labor contract? Yes, I have the labor contract.                                                                                                                          |
| - 郭琦        | 包括刘彦莹、邓天洲这边都是你的老板来相关的信息你都要证明的,包括微信的截图你都要留好吧?你回忆一下,证明是他你老板。                                                                                                                                    |
| Qi Guo:     | You must prove that all the relevant information about your boss being YanyingLiu or Tianzhou Deng including the screenshots of WeChat. You need to recallto prove that he was your boss. |

With mere

| .    |                                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 工組導         | 我想一想啊, 刘彦莹呢, 因为当时我在天际利责任职的时候, 她是天际利责的总经理, 你知道工商就可以查到的。                                                                                               |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Let me think. When I was working at Tianji Lizhen, she was the general manager. You can check with the Bureau of Industrial and Commercial registration. |
| 读[7] I档     | 但是工商是陈锐是法人代表。                                                                                                                                            |
| Qi Guo:     | But on the registration with the industrial and commercial registration, Rul Chen is listed as the legal representative.                                 |
| 王旭博         | 对。这个事情你们没有我过陈锐吗?                                                                                                                                         |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Right. Did you ever contact Rui Chen about this matter?                                                                                                  |
| 郭琦          | 陈锐啊?                                                                                                                                                     |
| Qì Guo:     | Chen Rui?                                                                                                                                                |
| 王旭博         | त्रर्ग                                                                                                                                                   |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Yes.                                                                                                                                                     |
| 郭琦          | 陈锐已经离职了。现在已经就是说,那些人看现在已经是怎么说,已经是完全变得很多。对,老邓在垂死挣扎。                                                                                                        |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes. Chen Rui has resigned. A lot of people have left. Yes, Mr. Deng is putting up a last fight.                                                         |
| 王旭博         | 我不知道。后面事情我也不知道。                                                                                                                                          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I do not know. I do not know what happened after I left.                                                                                                 |
| 家語          | 做了太多坏事,现在也是泥菩萨过河。                                                                                                                                        |

W.S. MART

| Qi Guo:     | He has done too many bad things and cannot even save himself.                                                                                     |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王旭博         | 行កាច.                                                                                                                                             |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Fine.                                                                                                                                             |
| 郭琦          | 怎么讲,多行不义必自毙,总会有一天会水落石出,现在也一点点在渐渐浮出水面。                                                                                                         |
| Qi Guo:     | He who is unjust is doomed to destruction. Someday everything will come to the light. Now things began to come to the surface of water gradually. |
| 王旭博         | 这个层面,你这边有什么要问我的,可以找我,给我打电话。                                                                                                                       |
| Xu Bo Wang: | If you have anything to ask me, you can find me and call me.                                                                                      |
| 郭琦          | 您有没有邮件, 或者是联系电话?                                                                                                                                  |
| Qi Guo:     | Do you have email or contact number?                                                                                                              |
| 王旭博         | 您打我电话就可以, 微信都可以。可以找到我的。                                                                                                                           |
| Xu Bo Wang: | You can call me or contact me on WeChat.                                                                                                          |
| 郭琦          | 可以啊。                                                                                                                                              |
| Qi Guo:     | Sure.                                                                                                                                             |
| 工進博         | 辛苦您了,您是今年一直在忙那个事情吗?                                                                                                                               |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Thanks for your hard work. Have you been busy with this all year?                                                                                 |
| 郭琦          | 我忙的这个事情忙了一年多了。                                                                                                                                    |

| Qi Guo:     | I have been busy on this matter for more than a year.                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王旭博         | 一年多了?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Xu Bo Wang: | More than a year?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 郭琦          | 标 。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Qi Guo:     | Right.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 王旭博         | 去年开始的?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Xu Bo Wang: | From last year?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 郭琦          | 从去年发现这个事情,去年1月份一直在组织材料诉讼,立案。                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Qi Guo:     | Since we discovered the truth last year, I have been preparing material for litigation and filing a case since January last year.                                                                                                                          |
| 王旭博         | 这样子啊。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Is that the case?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 郭琦          | 对,因为我刚才说的这东西刚刚蹦出来的,其实我信判断可能是他们伪造的。他拿出来这两份文件,也就是他自己的一个押宝的东西。但既然拿出来的话,我就要证明他是假的。因为我觉得你也不可能做这种事情。                                                                                                                                                     |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes, like I said this just came out. In fact, we suspected that they might have forged it. He took out the two documents as his own bets. But since it is taken out, I must prove that he forged it. Because I do not think you are capable of doing this. |
| 王旭博         | 对啊。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Correct, indeed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

HER) SATe Mari

| 郭琦          | 而且当时整个投资款你也知道干什么去了,对不对?肯定是用于投资的,用于收购的,对不对?你如果说当时这种状态下让你去签这么一个合同。                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Qi Guo:     | And you also knew what was going on with the entire investment fund, right? It must be used for investment and acquisition, right? If you were asked to sign a contract like this under that situation at the time |
| 王旭博         | 那我问您一个问题,就是说这个钱是借给了合能,不是,合能借给了卡尔加里中天。                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Let me ask you a question: is it the case that the money was lent to H Corp, no,H Corp lent it to Calgary Sinoenergy?                                                                                          |
| 郭琦          | 没有借,是拿,被拿走,被挪走。对。                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Qi Guo:     | It is not borrowing. It is stealing or misappropriation.                                                                                                                                                           |
| 王旭博         | 不是借。我明白您的意思,那这个钱拿走之后干什么了,你们没有追踪到他款项下一步的路径吗?                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Xu Bo Wang: | It is not a loan. I understood. What did they do with the money after they misappropriated the money? Did you trace where the money went?                                                                          |
| 郭琦          | 那个不是我追的东西。因为我也追踪不了。                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Qi Guo:     | That is not what I can do. Because I cannot trace it either.                                                                                                                                                       |
| 王旭博         | 后面的事情,你不管是不是?你只要考虑它是非法拿走的。                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Xu Bo Wang: | You are not responsible for tracing the funds, right? You just want to prove that the funds were misappropriated.                                                                                                  |
| 郭琦          | 对,你要还钱,对不对!                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes, you need to get back your money, right?                                                                                                                                                                       |

ROGI

NODA,

FOF

| 王旭博         | 明白。                                                                                                                             |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Xu Bo Wang: | Understood.                                                                                                                     |
| 郭琦          | 卡尔加里中天和 Long Run 也不是我控制的。                                                                                                       |
| Qi Guo:     | Calgary Sincenergy and Long Run are not under my control.                                                                       |
| 王旭博         | 那这个东西肯定要找一个最终的实控人和受益人,到底是谁拿的这个钱。                                                                                                |
| Xu Bo Wang: | For matters like this, you must find out who is ultimately the actual controlling person or beneficiary and who took the money. |
| 郭琦          | 就卡尔加里中天啊。就 Long Run,就他们拿的啊。现在还不回来了啊。                                                                                            |
| Qi Guo:     | Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run took the money, but we cannot get it back now.                                                  |
| 王旭博         | 那我有点不懂,我就随便问你一下。你们告老板了么?                                                                                                        |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Then I am a little bit confused. So, I will just ask you a casual question. Did you sue the boss?                               |
| 郭琦          | 告老邓啊,告了啊。                                                                                                                       |
| Qi Guo:     | You mean Mr. Deng? We did.                                                                                                      |
| 王旭博         | 那情况其实你们都知道的啊。                                                                                                                   |
| Xu Bo Wang: | So, you all know all the situation then                                                                                         |
| 郭琦          | 他现在是被告啊。现在 Mickael Lam 先应诉了,来提供了这来提供了这两个文件。                                                                                     |

| Qi Guo:     | He is now a defendant. Now Michael Lam responded first and provided these two documents.                                             |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 王旭博         | 你们都告了谁?                                                                                                                              |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Who are the defendants?                                                                                                              |
| 郭琦          | Mickael Lam,邓天洲,邓小泊,卡尔加里中天,Long Run。                                                                                                 |
| Qì Guo:     | Michael Lam, Tianzhou Deng, Xiaobo Deng, Calgary Sinoenergy, Long Run.                                                               |
| 王旭博         | 是你们和别人一块告的,还是就你们自己?                                                                                                                  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Did you sue them together with others, or just by yourself?                                                                          |
| 郭琦          | 合於強度 Oorp 型的一点。而且我们,这些5 个人 XXX 的基礎單來來有可能控制。物成自人。                                                                                 |
| Qi Guo:     | H Corp filed the lawsuit. Yes, these 5 people. XXX would be the person who would be likely to be listed as defendants in the future. |
| 而原博         | 行吧。                                                                                                                                  |
| Xu Bo Wang: | l see.                                                                                                                               |
| 郭琦          | 所以,如果说心里话,如果说当时你自己签的,我觉得大家还说如果是他伪造的话,就是这个伪造行为太恶劣了,要不错一切把自己摘干净。                                                                       |
| Qi Guo:     | So, to be honest, if it was forged by him, this behavior is too vicious, they are trying to clear themselves at all costs.           |
|             | 那肯定是摘不干净的啊,而且还咱们说怎么说话,就像您刚刚说的,我跟中天还是天地利贞都是雇佣关系,我的确就是他的雇员的关系,然后我只拿了我的工资。                                                      |

Part and a start of the

| Xu Bo Wang: | But it will not work for sure. Just like you said, I was an employee of Sinoenergy or Tiandi Lizhen, and were hired by them. I only took my salary.                                                                                                             |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 郭琦          | 我跟你说你首先要把回复,把一些微信的信息和刘彦莹和老邓的东西收集的好,证明你是雇佣关系。证明你的行为动作是受他们的控制和执行的,这是你需要做的事情。                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Qi Guo:     | I told you that you must collect and well keep the replies, WeChat messagesand the information related to Yanying Liu and Mr. Deng to prove that you werean employee and you acted under their control and instruction. This is what youneed to do. |
| 于旭博         | 明白。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I understand.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 郭琦          | 来证明着你们这种隶属关系控制关系和雇佣关系,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | To prove that you were directed, controlled, or employed by them.                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 王旭博         | 雇佣关系不难,因为我有劳动合同的。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Xu Bo Wang: | It is not difficult to prove the employment relationship because I have my labor contract.                                                                                                                                                                      |
| -郭琦     | 我觉得反正我们绝对不会说帮你,但是我去配合,好弄清楚。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Qi Guo:     | I think we will not help you on this. We would cooperate and find out the truth.                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 王旭博         | 对,这个如果上升到诉讼层面的话,我觉得对我来说挺不值的,对不对? 而且就 知道后来真的跟我没有关系的,就找上了一个小姑娘。                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Yes, if I were dragged into litigation, I think it would be a big trouble to me,would you agree? They knew that it has nothing to do with me in fact and justwanted to use a little girl to get away with their liabilities.                            |

NOIA * 2031

| 郭琦          | 我们也觉得挺恶心的,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Qi Guo:     | We also feel it is quite disgusting.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 王旭博         | 有点恶心啊。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Xu Bo Wang: | It is indeed disgusting.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 郭琦          | 可能是,反正我现在不敢想,你觉得这到这一步了,把这个完全不相关的人拉进来是吧?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Qi Guo:     | I cannot imagine that they could do things like this and involved a person who has nothing to do with the matter.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 王旭博         | 对, 拉我进来现在有什么用, 咱们说这个话, 如果说当时我是利益相关者的话,不可能让我离职, 我当时是一直清清爽爽的去上学去了, 后面也没有人再找过我。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Yes, what is the point of involving me in this? I can say that if I were a stakeholder at the time, they would not let me quit. But the fact is that I went to school without leaving any trouble behind me and no one ever contacted me again.                                                                                                  |
| 字[5奇        | 好,那问题就是因为你没利益关系吗?有利益关系可能他们会从那里下手?对不对?就是没有利益关系,也许我们都找不着你了,他们哪里知道你所有事情我全都有对吧!对不对!他们想简单了。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Qi Guo:     | Okay, the point is that you had no personal interest. If you had interest in this matter, they would leverage on your personal interest, is it correct? Since you have no interest in this matter and we even could not even find you, they involved you. They did not realize that we have all your information. They did not think about this. |
| 王旭博         | 就是说,假设说当初咱们在那个项目上有的现在还在中天的人他也没有办法。因为就是因为我跟他完全没有关系,我也什么都不知道,那就把你的签名推上去。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

| Xu Bo Wang: | In other words, they cannot do anything with the people who were involved withthe projects and are still with Sinoenergy. Because I have nothing to do withhim, and I do not know anything, they put my signatures on the documents. |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 郭琦          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Qí Guo:     | Correct.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 王旭博         | 太恶心了点。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Xu Bo Wang: | It is disgusting.                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 郭琦          | 所以我觉得你这个事情,如果有自己心里面有反应,也不要去。我们反正把这事情弄清楚。                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Qi Guo:     | So, I suggest that you should not go to talk to them even if you felt you cannot take it. We will figure this out.                                                                                                                           |
| 王旭博         | 对,这个事情我是这样,我这边保证的,首先我跟您是坦诚相待的,您给我看的任何东西我都会按照事实去给您确认。然后再一个就是这个事情,我也肯定是跟你这个层面去沟通,咱也不可能,就是,是吧?我不可能就是找中天的人会怎么样的。                                                                                                                     |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Yes. On my part, I promise that first, I will be frank with you and confirm with you on anything you show me based on the facts. On this matter, I will talk to you. I would not contact anyone from Sinoenergy at this point, right?        |
| 郭琦          | 你这样没有任何意义。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Qí Guo:     | it does not make any sense.                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 王旭博         | 没有意义。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Xu Bo Wang: | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 奇辺章         | 因为说开了你就是被陷害了。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

and the second

| Qi Guo:     | Frankly, you are framed.                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| -           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 王旭排         | 又力時可                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Yes, indeed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 郭琦          | 你找他,他拉拢你,再给你钱,不是越拉越陷越深。                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Qi Guo:     | If you contact him and he give you money to work with him, you would be dragged even deeper into the trouble.                                                                                                                        |
| 王旭博         | 我就是为了结束在北京的生活,最后才来到上海了,对不对?如果要是想要钱或怎么样,慢慢跟他们一起好了。                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I came to Shanghai in order to leave my life in Beijing, right? If I wanted money or whatever, I would have stayed with them.                                                                                                        |
| 郭琦          | 我感觉你的话,当时他们确实做了很多一些见不得人的事情。                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | Based on what you just said, they did a lot of shameful things at the time.                                                                                                                                                          |
| 王旭博         | 他们做了什么我不知道,就像是这个款当时是怎么打出去的,我怎么知道。他们在加拿大那边操作的,或者说咱退一步讲,它想 P 什么活动我能控制得了吗?对不对?人家有自己的电脑不就可以了吗?                                                                                                                                   |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I do not know what they did. Just like this case. How did I know the way they sent out the funds? They operated in Canada. How could I control what they would like to photoshop, right? What they need is just their own computers. |
| 郭琦          | PS 是控制不了的,如果签的话是还是有一点主动权。                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Qi Guo:     | You cannot control photoshop. If you were asked to sign it, you still have a little control over your own signature.                                                                                                                 |
| int i       | 明白,如果说这个东西当时我可能是被安排签了的话,我还请您这边的律师帮我证明清楚,这个事情真的跟我没有关系,而且退一步讲,这东西你从我身上下手                                                                                                                                                           |

14

|             | 没有任何意义,真的没有意义。虽然说我之前跟中天那边完全干净了,走掉的,我看这次您说找到我,我还是就是说愿意配合。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Xu Bo Wang: | Understood. In case I was arranged to sign the documents, I would also like toask your lawyer to help me prove that it really had nothing to do with me. In anyevent, it does not make any sense for you to come after me, it really makes nosense. Although I left Sinoenergy without any outstanding issues, I was stillwilling to cooperate after you found me. |
| 郭琦          | 您放心吧。反正我这边是按事实处理,客观处理。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Qi Guo:     | Do not worry. In any event, we will proceed on the basis of facts and deal with the matter objectively.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 王旭博         | 而且我们现在都在上海,本来也应该去拜访你,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Xu Bo Wang: | And we are all in Shanghai now, I should have visited you too,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 郭琦          | 但我觉得这个事情本身我觉得大家也没有真是被扯在一块的,就各过各的生活,其实我们这边在被搞得很惨。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Qi Guo:     | But I do not think everyone is really pulled together and we still live our own lives separately. In fact, we were put in a very miserable situation.                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 王旭博         | 我没有想到您这一年都是这样过的,我都不知道,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Xu Bo Wang: | I did not expect you to live like this for one year, I did not even know.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 郭琦          | 已经过两年了,现在20年,18年就开始过这生活了。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | I have dealt with this matter for two year. It is year 2020 now. I have been living like this since 2018.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 王旭博         | 18 年我见您的时候。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Xu Bo Wang: | When I saw you in 2018?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

| (           |                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 和琦          | 对 18 年 8 月份以后他们就甩手不管了。                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes, they have stopped taking part in the business since August 2018.                                                                                                                  |
| 王旭博         | 8月份以后?                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Xu Bo Wang: | After August?                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 郭琦          | 对.                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Qi Guo:     | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 王旭博         | 哦,那个时候我已经离职了。                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Oh, I had already resigned at that time.                                                                                                                                               |
| 郭琦          | 反正从那开始噩梦的生活就开始了,一步步的追就是说维权,或是说我们通过诉讼这种方式来追偿我们应有的权利和这种权益。                                                                                                                           |
| Qi Guo:     | The nightmare has started since then. We have taken actions step by step to protect our rights, or to recover the rights and interest that we are entitled to have through litigation. |
| 王進博         | 你们现在让他们赔钱是不是?                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Are you asking them to pay back the money now?                                                                                                                                         |
| 郭琦          | 对啊。还钱。但是没钱可还了,老邓一分钱都没有了。                                                                                                                                                               |
| Qì Guo:     | Yes, indeed. Pay back the money. But there has been no money left to pay it back. Mr. Deng has no money left.                                                                          |
| 王旭缚         | 老邓现在还在中天吗?                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Is Mr. Deng still working at Sinoenergy now?                                                                                                                                           |

GE: NR IK IN

| 郭琦      | 他现在,中天资产吧。但是基本上就是被森田,就是说有事你过来协助调查,因为之前债务太多了,现在上市公司差不多有个五六十亿的债务,他自己对外那种对人家担保差不多三四十个亿。光我这边就有20个亿的。行吗?反正就在这个情况。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |  |
|---------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| Qi Guo: | He is now at Sinoenergy Assets. But basically, he is now under the instructionof Sam Group to assist investigation. Because there is too much debt left. Nowthe listed company has a debt of about 5 to 6 billion RMB Yuan. The debt toexternal parties that is under his personal guarantee is 3 to 4 billion RMB Yuan.Based only on the information that I have, the debt would be 2 billion RMBYuan.You can see the situation now. |  |
| 王旭博     | 谢谢您哦。                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |

| Xu Bo Wang: | Thank you.                                                   |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------|
| 郭琦          | 还有什么需要,反正就马上帮您配合一下。                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | If there is anything else that we can help you.              |
| 王旭博         | 您别说麻烦这样的话,其实您是在帮我忙。                                          |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Do not say things like that, you are helping me.             |
| 郭琦          | 您也知道。这是刚刚爆出来的事情。那行。                                          |
| Qi Guo:     | You know that this is something that just came out.          |
| 王旭博         | 谢谢你,您忙着,然后有什么事情您可以再找我。                                       |
| Xu Bo Wang: | Thank you. Let me know if there is anything I can help with. |
| 郭琦          | 好。                                                           |

| Oi Guo: | Sure. |
|---------|-------|
| Qr Cao. |       |

The shi

Exhibit "18"

Forensic Report on Signatures by Samiah Ibrahim, Sep-07-21

18 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "18"

Referred to in the Affidavit of

Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

aro

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 2026 Samiah Ibrahim, B.A., BSc. Forensic Document Examiner 139 Riverdale Avenue Ottawa, (ON) K1S 1R1 (613) 807-6663

Forensic Report

Reference: Forensic Examination of Signatures

Our file: 2021-S06

Date: 2021-09-07

Client: A. Wilson / E.J. Baker JSS Barristers Jensen Shawa Solomon Duguid Hawkes LLP 800, 304-8 Avenue SW Calgary (AB) T2P 1C2 Canada

Forensic Document Examination Report

I have been retained by E.J. Baker and A. Wilson of JSS Barristers to examine the documents described below. The following is a report of this examination.

I am a Forensic Document Examiner trained in the Canadian Security Intelligence Service. I have worked as a forensic document examiner since 1994. In this capacity I conduct examinations and comparisons pertaining to document authentication, document dating and occurrences to documents as well as handwriting/signature comparisons. A resume of my qualifications is attached in Appendix 1.

INSTRUCTIONS

The following instruction was provided to me by E.J. Baker, on 14 July 2021 via email:

- (a) Are the signatures of Meng Tang on the T. Deng Representative Agreement, the Lam Representative Agreement and the L. Deng Representative Agreement by the same person?
  - (i) If so, are any of the signatures original signatures? Which one(s)?
  - (ii) Are any of the signatures electronic signatures? If so, which one(s)?
  - (iii) Are the signatures exact copies of each other?
  - (iv) If so, what is the likely mechanism through which the signatures were copied?
- (b) Are the signatures of Xu Bo Wang on the Shareholder Declaration and the Loan Agreement by the same person?
  (i) If so, are either of the signatures original signatures? Which one(s)?
  (ii) Are either of the signatures electronic signatures? If so, which one(s)?
  (iii) Are the signatures exact copies of each other?
  (iv) If so, what is the likely mechanism through which the signatures were copied?

The instruction letter dated July 18, 2021, is reproduced in Appendix 2.

ITEMS SUBMITTED

Questioned documents 1 and 2 were received by email as PDF documents from A. Wilson 16 November 2020. Questioned documents 3 through 5 were received by email as PDF document from A. Wilson on 14 May 2021. No known/specimen material was provided for comparison. All items described here are reproduced in Appendix 3.

Document 1 - PDF copy of a two-page Shareholder Declaration Henenghaixin Corp., made effective as of April 10, 2017, and bearing questioned Xu Bo Wang signature (Shareholder Declaration).

Page 2 of 62 File No. 2021-S06

- Document 2 PDF copy of a ten-page Loan Facility Agreement between Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp and York City Enterprises Limited, dated for reference April 10, 2017, and bearing a questioned Xu Bo Wang signature (Loan Agreement).
- Document 3 PDF copy of a seven-page Representative Indemnity Agreement, between Henenghaixin Corp, York City Enterprises Ltd. and Tianzhou Deng, dated effective as of September 21, 2017, and bearing a questioned Meng Tang signature (T. Deng Representative Agreement).
- Document 4 PDF copy of a seven-page Representative Indemnity Agreement, between Henenghaixin Corp, York City Enterprises Ltd. and Shing Tak (Michael) Lam, dated effective as of March 1, 2017, and bearing a questioned Meng Tang signature (Lam Representative Agreement).
- Document 5 PDF copy of a seven-page Representative Indemnity Agreement, between Henenghaixin Corp, York City Enterprises Ltd. and Xiaobo (Lake) Deng, dated effective as of March 1, 2017, and bearing a questioned Meng Tang signature (L. Deng Representative Agreement).

EXAMINATIONS CONDUCTED:

- 1. Macroscopic analyses, including using digital enlargements, of questioned material submitted.
- 2. Comparison of the material submitted and evaluation of the observed similarities and divergences.

EQUIPMENT USED:

1. As the only documents submitted were in PDF format, the equipment is limited to computer hardware and software, specifically Adobe Photoshop.

METHODS AND OBSERVATIONS:

The method relied upon to conduct handwriting/signature comparisons is in conformity with international standards such as the Scientific Working Group – Documents (SWGDOC), and the best practice guides of the European Network of Forensic Handwriting Examiners and the Australia-New Zealand Forensic Science Society. In addition, for this examination the following references were relied upon:

- 1. Found B, Bird C. The modular forensic handwriting method 2016 version. J. Forensic Document Examination 2016: 26: 7-83.
- 2. Kelly JS, Lindblom B. Scientific examination of questioned documents. Second Ed. Boca Raton, FL: CRC Press 2006.
- 3. Kelly JS, Angel M. Forensic Document Examination in the 21st Century. Boca Raton, FL: CRC Press 2021.

(a) Signatures purportedly written by Meng Tang

These three questioned signatures appear on documents that are multigeneration copies, that is, they each have been subject to several reproduction processes, such as photocopying and scanning, as evidenced in the staple-marks on the upper left of each document, as well as some copy marks from the edges of the documents. Each of these processes adds a level of degradation to the copy quality such that the lines and edges of the font and writing instrument lines are blurred and it is difficult to determine sequence of strokes and line crossings. Figure 1 below shows each of these three signatures and points to some features of these images that suggest image duplication. Features 1 and 2 appear to be remnants of baselines (signature lines) from another document that was copied when these signatures were added to each of these documents. Feature 3 shows what appears to be a truncated or cut portion of the signature. This last feature can only be verified upon examination of genuine specimen signatures from the writer of this signature.

Figure 1. Images of Meng Tang questioned signatures from the three Representative Agreements.

Close observation of these documents, combined with overlay functions using software such as Adobe Photoshop, allow the determination that these three signatures are copies of one single signature, see Figure 2 below. One of the tenets of forensic handwriting examination is that no one can execute their signature in exactly the same manner twice. Although the neuro-motor pattern employed by an individual to execute their signature follows very closely a set master pattern, or model, there are innumerable subtle changes that can occur from writing instance to writing instance that will result in various differences in the end result. This is termed natural variation, From the documents submitted it is not possible to determine if the signature from which these signatures are copied, was executed by one writer, or if it is representative of the natural signature of Meng Tang, to whom it is attributed. Figure 2. Images of Meng Tang questioned signatures from the three Representative Agreements, showing their concordance in signature form using Photoshop software.

Page 5 of 62 File No. 2021-S06

(b) Signatures purportedly written by Xu Bo Wang

The two signatures of Xu Bo Wang appearing on Documents 1 and 2 are reproduced below. These two documents are multigeneration copies as evidenced by the copy remnants of the paper holes along the left margin, the very degraded text quality, and the skew of the text lines that comes from multiple photocopy processes. Somewhat different from the documents bearing the Meng Tang signatures, although each of these processes adds a level of degradation to the copy quality, in these two documents, what appears to be the photocopy process has resulted in a degraded binary output for the lines and edges of the font and writing instrument lines. It is practically impossible to determine sequence of strokes and line crossings for this signature. Furthermore, given the degraded quality of these images, it is also not possible to determine if the original "signature" from which these two questioned signatures derived was actually on an original of one of these documents, or if the "original" was even an ink-on-paper signature. It is also possible that the "original" signature was a stamp. Without specimen material it is not possible to determine if this signature represents the natural writing habits of Xu Bo Wang, to whom it is attributed.

What can be observed is that these two signatures share near identical form as displayed in Figure 3 below.

Figure 3. Images of Xu Bo Wang questioned signatures from the Shareholder Declaration (Document 1-2) and the Loan Agreement (Document 2-10).

| Document 1-2               |                                  |  |
|----------------------------|----------------------------------|--|
| YORK CITY ENTERPRISES LTD. |                                  |  |
| Per:                       | 王旭博                              |  |
| Document 2-10              |                                  |  |
| By:                        | 王旭博                              |  |
|                            | Name: XB WangTitle: Director |  |

Close observation of these two documents, combined with overlay functions using Adobe Photoshop software, allows the determination that these two signatures are either copies of one single signature, or one is a copy of the other. Without an examination of the original documents, or more original documents, it is not possible to determine which of these scenarios is more likely. Figure 4 below shows the level of concordance of these two signature images. Figure 4. Images of Xu Bo Wang questioned signatures overlaid using Photoshop software to show concordance of form.

Page 7 of 62 File No. 2021-S06 To respond to the question as to if the questioned signatures are electronic signatures, it is important to provide a baseline of definition. The following definitions are reproduced from European Network of Forensic Handwriting Experts Best Practices Manual on handwriting examinations:

An electronic signature is the general legal term for data in electronic form that is attached to, or logically associated with, other data in electronic form and which is used by the signatory to sign. This term includes both Digitally Captured Signatures (DCS) and digital (non-handwritten) signatures.

A digital signature typically refers to cryptographically based elements. Digital signatures are often used in combination with DCSs to secure the integrity of an electronic document.

To clarify, a digital signature is made up of a long series of "digits" or numbers and was never originated from an actual human signature process.

Note that the Canadian Federal Government's definition of electronic and digital signatures closely follows what is written above from the ENFHEX standard. (https://www.canada.ca/en/government/system/digital-government/online-security-privacy/government-canada-guidance-using-electronic-signatures.html#toc5)

In general, when referring to documents, electronic means what is created, recorded, transmitted, or stored in digital or any other intangible form by an electronic, digital, magnetic, optical, biometric, or other technological means, or a combination of any of those means that has similar capabilities for creation, recording, transmission or storage. (https://laws-lois.justice.gc.ca/eng/regulations/SOR-2014-117/FullText.html)

The term digital cut-and-paste is used to denote when an image of a signature, from a document that has been digitized, has been snipped or copied digitally and inserted into another digital document. For example, a paper document bearing an original ink signature is digitized by scanning and saving as a PDF document. From here, the portion of the new PDF document bearing the signature can be copied using a variety of digital tools, such as Adobe Photoshop "crop/copy/paste," or Windows "snip tool." This digital image of a signature can be added to documents for purposes such as "signing." The purpose of this process need not necessarily be improper as it may form part of the business practice for the signatory.

OPINIONS in response to the Instruction:

(a) With respect to the three signatures of Meng Tang on the T. Deng Representative Agreement, the Lam Representative Agreement, and the L. Deng Representative Agreement, it is my opinion that these are copies of the same signature, however, given the fragmented formation of this signature, without examination of a more original version it is not possible to determine if it was written by one writer or if it was created/executed by multiple writers. Further, I offer the following with respect to the sub-questions:
(i) None of these signatures is an original ink-on-paper signature, all are multi-generation copies.

(ii) While these signatures can be considered "electronic signatures" in that the three signatures I examined form part of a digital PDF file. However, there is strong evidence to suggest that these signatures were created using a digital cut-and-paste process.

(iii) For all intents and purposes, these three signatures exact copies of each other and can be sourced to one original signature.

(iv) The most likely method by which the signatures were copied is through a digital cut-andpaste process.

(b) With respect to the two signatures Xu Bo Wang on the Shareholder Declaration and the Loan Agreement, it is my opinion that these are copies of one signature, however given the fragmented formation of this signature and the very poor copy quality, without examination of a more original version it is not possible to determine if it was written by one writer or if it was created/executed by multiple writers. Further, I offer the following with respect to the sub-questions:

(i) Neither of these signatures is an original ink-on-paper signature, both are multi-generation copies.

(ii) It is not possible, based on the copy quality of the materials submitted, to determine if the original signature from which these two questioned signatures derive, is an electronic signature, or not.

(iii) For all intents and purposes, both of these signatures are exact copies of each other. (iv) Although given the very poor copy quality of these documents, it is not possible to determine the method of copying of these signatures, however given the ease of production it is more likely that these signatures were copied through a digital cut-and-paste process.

PEER REVIEW:

All findings, including the report, the material submitted and results of my examination, were reviewed by a forensic document examiner peer to ensure that the conclusions made are scientifically supported by the evidence and that the report clearly conveys these findings to the reader. A statement of these findings, including a curriculum vitae is attached in Appendix 4.

Prepared by

Samiah Ibrahim, B.A., B.Sc. Forensic Document Examiner

Page 9 of 62 File No. 2021-S06

Appendix 1: Statement of Qualifications

Samiah Ibrahim, B.Sc., B.A. Forensic Document Examiner

Formal Education:

Certificate in Forensic Document Examination, 1997 Canadian Security Intelligence Service

Bachelor of Science, Major in Biology, conferred November 1989 Carleton University, Ottawa, ON Bachelor of Arts, Major in Political Science, conferred November 1987 Carleton University, Ottawa, ON

Work Experience:

Samiah Ibrahim Private Forensic Consultancy, Ottawa, ON April 2012 – present

Forensic Document Examiner & Consultant responsible to conduct casework and provide training and advice with respect to the discipline of forensic document examination for various national and international clients.

Canada Border Services Agency Science & Engineering Directorate, Ottawa, ON March 16, 2009, to present

Manager, Forensic Document Examination Section responsible for the program delivery of the only national full-service forensic document examination (FDE) service to the CBSA, the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) and other federal government departments. Forensic document examination is the scientific discipline that can determine such things as alterations, damage, forgery, origination, or authenticity of documents of any kind, or their components. Program delivery includes case management, resource and priority setting, quality assurance, financial planning and forecasting to meet operational needs, as well as technical autonomy to direct the laboratory. Managing a professional team of forensic document examiners, forensic chemists and technical staff, the manager also maintains personal technical expertise in this forensic discipline. In addition to the FDE program delivery, the manager also initiated and oversees the capacity development of a separate forensic unit: Forensic Facial Identification, the only such federal capability in this emerging discipline of facial comparison of 1:1, 1:few images for judicial purposes/adjudication.

Canada Border Services Agency (Canada Customs & Revenue Agency until March 31, 2004) Science & Engineering Directorate, Ottawa, ON August 23, 1999, to present

Forensic Document Examiner responsible for conducting forensic analysis of questioned document cases involving multiple facets of examination including, but not limited to: handwriting, signatures, typewriters, impact & non-impact printing devices, photocopiers, decipherment of latent impressions, detection & decipherment of obliterations, commercial & security printing processes, wet & dry cachets, and examination of official documents (i.e. passports, birth certificates, driver's licenses). Casework routinely supports investigations such as revenue fraud, immigration fraud, identity theft, war crimes and counterfeiting.

United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) Forensic Services Private Consultancy - April 2014 – 2017

Forensic consultant with the UNODC / Palestinian National Authority (PNA) project "Forensic Human Resources and Governance Development Assistance for the Palestinian Authority." The aim of this project is to assist the PNA with building the foundation and operational tools for high quality, reliable and sustainable forensic services within the framework of the Palestinian criminal justice system. Specific consultancy details include the development of an internationally recognized training program, curricula, manuals, exercises, case studies, evaluation criteria and quality documents for the forensic document examination component of this project, spread over four in-country assignments to-date, as well as distance learning elements.

Solicitor General of Canada Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS), Ottawa, ON February 7, 1994, to August 20, 1999

Forensic Document Examiner responsible for conducting forensic analysis of questioned document cases in order to establish links to people, places, events, or the materials used to produce them. De facto Head of Section from July 1995 through January 1996.

Professional Development and Training:

Forensic Document Examination Training (7 February 1994 to 5 December 1997) at the Canadian Security Intelligence Service, Ottawa, ON. Training also provided by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Central Forensic Laboratory, Document Section and Revenue Canada, Laboratory and Scientific Services Directorate, Forensic Document Unit.

This understudy program included modules on the history of handwriting, class and individual characteristics, comparison, and identification of handwriting, disguised and unnatural writings, spurious and forged handwriting, impact and non-impact printing technologies, security printing and graphic arts, rubber stamps and dry cachets, charred and water-soaked documents, other miscellaneous document examinations, and the various instrumentation used in the examination of Page 11 of 62 File No. 2021-S06 documents. Instrumental techniques included, but were not limited to, training on microscopy, photography, image-analysis, chemical and spectral analyses.

Over 27 years of professional development in forensic science, and forensic document examination in particular, including workshops and seminars in topics such as: Printing Process Identification, Image Analysis, Evolution of Digital Print, Color Analysis in Forensic Science, Fracture Matching, Disguised/Forged Signatures Inkjet Printing, Forensic Exanimation of Digital Signatures, Rubber Stamp Examinations, and Paper Conservation.

American Society of Questioned Document Examiners Signature Workshops - 1997, 1998, 2004, 2009 and 2010, 2013 Annual Meetings.

American Board of Forensic Document Examiners seminar: "Examination Techniques in Handwriting & Rubber Stamp Cases." 1998, Las Vegas, Nevada.

Imaging Science and Technology Society workshops: "Fusing Technology and Impact on Substrate Latitude and Environment" and "Digital Printing: Evolution of Digital Print from Traditional Technology to the Fully Variable Digital Page." NIP14: International Conference on Digital Printing Technologies 1998 Toronto, Ontario.

American Academy of Forensic Sciences workshop: "Color Analysis in Forensic Science." 2000 Annual Meeting, Reno, Nevada.

Rochester Institute of Technology "Printing Process Identification and Image Analysis for Forensic Document Examiners." 5-8 June 2001, Rochester, New York.

Canadian Society of Forensic Science: "Fracture Match Workshop" and "Expert Witness Workshop." 2001 Annual Meeting, Toronto, Ontario.

Canada Customs and Revenue Agency: "Printing Processes for Forensic Document Examiners" 3-7 June 2002, Ottawa, Ontario.

Disguised/Forged Signature Workshop, Dr. Brian Found, Latrobe University. 26-27 April 2006, Ottawa, Ontario.

Forgery Science Workshop, Dr. Brian Found, Latrobe University. September 2007, Ottawa, Ontario.

Canadian Society of Forensic Science: "Admissibility of Forensic Document Examination Evidence (under R v Mohan)", "Proficiency Testing and Competency assessments for FDEs" April 30, May 1, 2009, Ottawa, Ontario.

Osgoode Professional Development's "Expert Forensic Evidence in Criminal Proceedings" Symposium, 9 May 2009 Toronto, Ontario.

American Society of Questioned Document Examiners workshop: "Signature Examination: Translating Basic Science to Practice" 2010, Victoria, British Columbia.

American Society of Questioned Document Examiners workshop: "Electronic Recording & Analysis of Handwritten Signatures and Writings" 2010, Victoria, British Columbia.

Page 12 of 62 File No. 2021-S06 American Society of Questioned Document Examiners workshop: "The Individuality of Inkjet Printing" 2012, Charleston, South Carolina.

American Society of Questioned Document Examiners workshop: "Conclusion Scales and Logical Inference" 2013, Indianapolis, Indiana.

American Society of Questioned Document Examiners workshop: "Forensic Exanimation of Digital Signatures" 2013, Indianapolis, Indiana.

The Individuality of Inkjet Printing, Rolf Fauser (Police Academy – State Police Office Baden-Wurttemberg) & Tanja Rottes (Forensic Science Institute – State Police Office North Rhine-Westfalia). 10-11 February 2015, Ottawa, Ontario.

Skillful Simulations Workshop, Dr. Linton Mohammed (Forensic Science Consultants, Inc.). 12 February 2015, Ottawa, Ontario.

Paper Through the Eyes of a Conservator Workshop. Kyla Ubbink (Professional Archival Paper Conservator). 29 February 2016, Ottawa, Ontario.

Adobe Photoshop and Freehand/Illustrator in Forensic Document Examination – A Workshop. CyberGenesis: Forensic Consulting & Technical Services. 8-10 November 2017, Ottawa, Ontario.

Minimizing Bias in Forensic Decision-Making online course. Itiel Dror: Consolidated Continuing Education and Professional Training (CONCEPT, LLC). Winter/Spring 2019.

Indentation Sequencing Workshop. Brian Lindblom, 19 March 2019, Ottawa, Ontario.

Faxes: Forensic Examination Workshop. Brian Lindblom, 20 March 2019, Ottawa, Ontario.

Write-On<sup>3</sup> Document Comparison Software Workshop. Pierre Goudreault (Pikaso) 22 May 2019, Ottawa, Ontario.

American Society of Questioned Document Examiners workshop: "Non-Destructive Ink Examination" P. Tytell, D. Hammond and L. Mohammed, 2019, Cary, NC.

American Society of Questioned Document Examiners workshop: "Writing on Unusual Surfaces" P. Belcastro and G. Mokrzycki, 2019, Cary, NC.

Osgoode Professional Development's "National Symposium on Forensic Science in Criminal Cases" Symposium, 6 December 2019 WebEx from Toronto, Ontario.

Digitally Captured Signatures Workshop. Nikolaos Kalantzis. 14-16 January 2020, Ottawa, Ontario.

Overview of Digital Examination Techniques and Remote Case Review Workshop. Mark Goff. 11 August 2020, ASQDE 2020 Virtual Conference.

Opinion Measurement Workshop. Dr. M. Merlino, Dr. R. Dahir, J. Jackson-Morris, C. Edwards. 13 August 2020, ASQDE 2020 Virtual Conference.

Canadian Society of Forensic Sciences Webinar: Law School in a Day for Forensic Practitioners. 26 April 2021.

A Complete Introduction to Digitally Captured Signatures (DCS) and a Tutorial for Namirial's Firma Certa Forensic Analysis Tool – Workshop. Nikolaos Kalantzis. 15 February 2021, AAFS 2021 Virtual Conference.

The ABCs of TLC Case Break Session. I. Geiman & J.M. Barker, USSS. 19 February 2021, AAFS 2021 Virtual Conference.

Digital Examination Techniques. Mark Goff. 24 May 2021, Australasian Society of Forensic Document Examiners (ASFDE) Inc. 2021 Virtual Conference.

The Forensic Document Examiner's Method of Communication in Court: The Chart. Jan Seaman-Kelly. 24 May 2021, ASFDE Inc. 2021 Virtual Conference.

The Meaning of the Message is in the Response: Measuring and Communicating Handwriting Opinion. Dr. Mara Merlino. 27 May 2021, ASFDE Inc. 2021 Virtual Conference.

Reports: Legal Requirements, Readability and Format. Gary Edmond & Loene Howes. 27 May 2021, ASFDE Inc. 2021 Virtual Conference.

Security Documents: Perspectives from Brazil. Narumi Pereira Lima. 28 May 2021, ASFDE Inc. 2021 Virtual Conference.

Letterlocking. Jana Dambrogio & Daniel S. Smith. 25 May 2021, ASFDE Inc. 2021 Virtual Conference.

Digitally Captured Signatures. Jan Zimmer & Nikolaos Kalantzis. 26 May 2021, ASFDE Inc. 2021 Virtual Conference.

Formulating Strength of Findings in Handwriting Context. Dr. M. Merlino & C. Edwards. 16 June 2021, 13th ENFHEX Virtual Conference.

Development of an Evidence-Based Method for the Examination of Electronic Biodynamic Signatures. V. Dahir, C. Edwards, D. Ommen, R.B. Ostrum, M. Merlino & L. Mohammed. 16 & 17 June 2021, 13th ENFHEX Virtual Conference.

Training Workshop on the Analysis, Comparison and Evaluation of Digitally Captured Signatures. N. Kalantzis 18 June 2021, 13th ENFHEX Virtual Conference.

American Society of Questioned Document Examiners workshop: "Pressure Training Calibration Workshop for Digitally Captured Signatures." N. Kalantzis 12 August 2021, 79th ASQDE Virtual Conference.

American Society of Questioned Document Examiners workshop: "Examination Basics for Adobe PDF files." R.B. Ostrum 79th ASQDE Virtual Conference.

Professional Activities:

 20th INTERPOL International Forensic Science Managers' Symposium 2022 Organizing Committee Member

- Associate Editor, Journal of Forensic Sciences (2020-2024) Editorial Board, American Academy of Forensic Sciences
- The Forensic Document Examiner (FDE) Forum. Session moderator American Academy of Forensic Sciences (2020)
- Forensic Advisory Working Group –Ontario Ministry of the Solicitor General. Member (2019-20)
- Kentucky State University Intelligence Workshop Forensic Intelligence: Science in Service of Intelligence and Security. Workshop Presenter (2019)
- Canada Border Services Agency Forensic Intelligence Symposium, Program Organizer and Speaker (2018)
- Lebanese University / Lebanese Military Police Forensic Laboratory. Special Lecturer: Forensic Document Examination for the joint Master of Forensic Science program. (2018)
- United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and United Nations Development Program, Instructor: Forensic Document Examination for Human Trafficking and Migrant Smuggling Investigations (2017)
- European Network of Forensic Handwriting Experts biennial conference (2021, 2017)
- INTERPOL Conference on Fraudulent Documents, Invited Speaker (2017)
- International Association of Forensic Sciences triennial meeting (2017)
- Latin-Script Handwriting Examination Training Program for the Palestinian Civil Authority (2014-2017)
- United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and United Nations Development Program, Experts Working Group – Forensic Document Examination Capacity Building for the Palestinian Civil Authority (2014)
- Automated Forensic Handwriting Workshop (2014)
- United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime Development of International Collaborative Exercises Protocol, and Pilot Project in Secure Documents Examination (2012-2013)
- United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, Secure Documents Experts Working Group -Development of e-learning tools in Secure Documents Examination (2012)
- International Civil Aviation Organization Symposia on ICAO MRTDs, Biometrics and Security Standards (2018, 2011, 2010, 2009)
- Interpol 16th ,17th, and 19th International Forensic Science Managers' Symposia (2010, 2013, 2019)
- International Conference on Document Analysis and Recognition (ICDAR) biennial meeting (2007, 2009)
- International Workshop on Frontiers in Handwriting Recognition (IWFHR 10) biennial meeting (2006, 2008)
- American Society of Questioned Document Examiners, Program Chair 2010 annual meeting
- American Society of Questioned Document Examiners, Site Chair 2005 annual meeting
- American Society of Questioned Document Examiners annual meeting (2021, 2020, 2019, 2018, 2013, 2012, 2011, 2010, 2009, 2008, 2005, 2004, 2002, 2000, 1998, 1997, 1995)
- American Academy of Forensic Sciences Questioned Documents Section Program Chair 2021, 2020, 2018, 2017 annual meetings
- American Academy of Forensic Sciences annual meeting (2021, 2020, 2019, 2018, 2017, 2016, 2013, 2004, 2000)
- Imaging Science and Technology (IS&T), 14th Non-Impact Printing Conference (1998)
- Canadian Society of Forensic Science annual meeting (2021, 2001, 1997)

Professional Associations:

American Society of Questioned Document Examiners (Regular Member since 2006, Current President 2020-2022, Vice- President 2018-2020, Past-Chair-Membership & Credentials Committee 2010-2018, Past-Director 2010-2013)

American Academy of Forensic Sciences – Questioned Document Section (Member since 2018 / Associate Member since 2012, International Affairs Committee Liaison Member)

Chartered Society of Forensic Sciences (Member since November 2014) Canadian Society of Forensic Sciences – Document Section (Member)

Papers & Tutorials:

"Demonstrative Evidence in the Courtroom, An Evaluation and Discussion of Probative and Prejudicial Characteristics of Demonstrative Visual Aids." Workshop co-presented with Dr. M. Merlino, J. Jackson-Morris, and T. Tanaka, virtually at the 79th Annual Meeting of the American Society of Questioned Document Examiners, 10 August 2021.

"Underpinning the Claims of Features Associated with Guided-Hand Signatures." Poster presented at the European Network of Forensic Handwriting Experts conference. 17 June 2021.

"Forensic Document Examination Standards and Best Practices in Canada." Invited lecture to the Turkish Association of Forensic Document Examiners Online Congress. 5 June 2021

"Document Dating" Invited five-part lecture series to the Australasian Society of Forensic Document Examiners annual conference. 25 May 2021.

"Forensic Intelligence" in Forensic Document Examination in the 21st Century (2021) Kelly, J., Angel, M. (Eds). Taylor & Francis, Boca Raton, FL.

"Crossing Borders: Issues from Inter-Jurisdictional Casework" Session moderator and presenter at the American Academy of Forensic Sciences Questioned Documents Section, Anaheim, CA. 20 February 2020.

"Forensic Document Examination: Early Incorporation of the Forensic Intelligence Paradigm" presented at the American Academy of Forensic Sciences Questioned Documents Section, Anaheim, CA. 20 February 2020.

"Forensic intelligence: Application of interdisciplinary data for law enforcement purposes" presented at the Special Interdisciplinary Session of the American Academy of Forensic Sciences of the 11th International Society for Applied Biological Sciences Conference, Split, Croatia, 20 June 2019.

"Examination of crossed lines for determination of sequence of strokes using Laser Ablation Inductively-Coupled Plasma Mass Spectrometry (LA-ICP-MS) and X-Ray Fluorescence (XRF)" Poster presented at the American Academy of Forensic Sciences Questioned Documents Section, Baltimore, MD. 21 February 2019.

"The Multicultural Mosaic 20 Years On: Effects of Other Nationality Characteristics on 'Canadian" Handwriting' Paper presented at the 76th Annual Meeting of the American Society of Questioned Document Examiners, Park City, UT. 20 August 2018.

Page 16 of 62 File No. 2021-S06 "The Dynamics of Guided-Hand Signatures" S. Ibrahim presented to the American Academy of Forensic Sciences Questioned Documents Section, New Orleans, LA. 17 February 2017.

"Properties of Inkless Pens" S. Ibrahim & T. Tanaka (CBSA) presented to the American Academy of Forensic Sciences Questioned Documents Section, Las Vegas, NV. 25 February 2016.

Forensic Intelligence Analysis: White Paper. Canada Border Services Agency. November 2014. "On the Forensic Value of Non-Original Signatures on Travel/Identity Documents" presented to the American Academy of Forensic Sciences Questioned Documents Section, Washington, DC. 22 February 2013.

"Forensic Document Examination for Evidence of Identity" presented to the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) Seventh Symposium and Exhibition on ICAO Machine Readable Travel Documents, Biometrics and Security Standards, Montréal, Canada, 14 September 2011.

"On the Forensic Value of Non-Original Signatures on Identity Cards" Poster presented at the 16th Interpol International Forensic Science Symposium, Interpol, Lyon, France, 5-8 October 2010.

"Forensic Document Examiners Approach to Handwriting Comparisons / Identification", S. Ibrahim & E. van den Heuvel (Netherlands Forensic Institute). Tutorial presented at the 10th International Conference on Document Analysis and Recognition, Barcelona, Spain, 26 July 2009.

"Forensic Document Examiners Approach to Handwriting Comparisons / Identification", S. Ibrahim & M. Gaudreau. Tutorial presented at the 9th International Conference on Document Analysis and Recognition, Curitiba, Brazil, 23 September 2007.

"Application of Hyperspectral Imaging to Forensic Document Examination Problems", R.B. Ostrum & S. Ibrahim. Paper presented at the 63rd Annual Meeting of the American Society of Questioned Document Examiners, Montréal, QC, 11-16 August 2005.

"Spectral vs. Chemical Ink Differentiation" Paper presented at the 60th Annual Meeting of the American Society of Questioned Document Examiners, San Diego, CA, 14-18 August 2002.

"Ink Differentiation using Liquid Crystal Tunable Filters and a Forensic Light Source – Lights, Camera ... Capture! – An Update", Poster Presentation at the 48th Annual Meeting of the Canadian Society of Forensic Science, Toronto, ON, 6-10 November 2001.

"Ink Differentiation using Liquid Crystal Tunable Filters and a Forensic Light Source – Lights, Camera ... Capture!" Paper presented at the 58th Annual Meeting of the American Society of Questioned Document Examiners, Ottawa, ON, 25-29 August 2000.

"The Multicultural Mosaic: Effects of Other Nationality Characteristics on "Canadian" Handwriting" Paper presented at the 56th Annual Meeting of the American Society of Questioned Document Examiners, Indianapolis, IN, 8-12 August 1998.

Court Experience:

Expert testimony in Forensic Document Examination has been presented to:

• The Ontario Superior Court of Justice (Brampton, ON).

- The Supreme Court of Nova Scotia (Halifax, NS).
- The Court of Queen's Bench (Calgary, AB and Winnipeg, MB).
- The Provincial Court of Nova Scotia (Halifax, NS).
- The Provincial Court of Alberta (Calgary, AB).
- The Provincial Court of British Columbia (Vancouver, BC).
- The Federal Tax Court of Canada (Vancouver, BC).

Proficiency Testing:

Participant in:

- Collaborative Testing Services (CTS) testing
- LaTrobe University, Forensic Expertise Profiling Laboratory (FEPL) proficiency testing program
- Skill-Task Testing Training, Assessment & Research Inc. (ST<sup>2</sup>AR) proficiency testing program
- European Document Experts Working Group (EDEWG) proficiency testing
- European Network of Forensic Handwriting Experts (ENFHEX) proficiency testing

Exhibit "19"

Third-Party Statement of Defense of Yingchun Wu, filed Aug-30-21

3 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "19"

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

laws

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 20_26

Form 17 Alberta Rules of Court Rule 3.49

|                 |                                   | Clerk's Stamp                                 |
|-----------------|-----------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|
| COURT FILE NO.  | 2001-03353                        | CLERK OF THE COURTFILED                   |
| COURT           | Court of Queen's Bench of Alberta | AUG 3 0 2021JUDICIAL CENTREOF CALGARY |
| JUDICIAL CENTRE | Calgary                           |                                               |
|                 |                                   |                                               |

PLAINTIFF(S) HENENGHAIXIN CORP

DEFENDANT(S) TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG AKA LAKE DENG, SHING TAK LAM AKA MICHAEL LAM, CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP., LONG RUN EXPLORATION LTD., JOHN DOE, AND ABC CORRPORATION

THIRD PARTY YINGCHUN WU, 1280365 ALBERTA LTD. DEFENDANT(S)

DOCUMENT Third Party Statement of Defence

PARTY FILING THIS YINGCHUN WU, 1280365 ALBERTA LTD. DOCUMENT

| ADDRESS FORSERVICE ANDCONTACTINFORMATION OFPARTY FILING THIS | 1280365 ALBERTA LTD.3945 McMullen Green SWEdmonton, T6W 1S6 |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------|
| DOCUMENT                                                                     | Attention: Yingchun WuEmail: yc_wu2005@hotmail.com              |

Note: State below only facts and not evidence (Rule 13.6).

Statement of facts relied on:

- 1. This is the Third Party Statement of Defence of the Third Party Defendant, 1280365 Alberta Ltd.("1280 Ltd").
- Except as expressly stated otherwise and specifically admitted in this Third Party Statement of Defence, 1280 Ltd/Wu. denies any and all allegations in the Third Party Statement of Claim of Calgary Sinoenegy Investment Corp.("Calgary Sino") and Long Run Exploration Ltd ("Long Run")
- 3. 1280 Ltd was incorporated and registered in Alberta in 2007, and is controlled by YingChun Wu ("Wu").

Any matters that defeat the claim of the defendant(s)/third party plaintiff(s):

- 4. It was alleged in paragraph 14 of the Third Party Claim that the Defendant, Wu is a former classmate and close personal friend of Deng. The fact is that Wu was a classmate with Deng for half a year in University and was merely an acquaintance then. Wu had not been in contact with Deng for more than 30 years after graduation from University, and was only approached by Deng for the consulting work after Wu made a post seeking job opportunities on a WeChat group. The WeChat group consisted of former University classmates in the same program.
- 5. Wu denies all the allegations made on "breach of fiduciary duty" (paragraph 48 to 54), "deceit and fraudulent misrepresentation" (paragraphs 55 to 59), "negligent misrepresentation" (paragraphs 60 to 62), "knowing assistance and knowing receipt" (paragraphs 63 to 65), "predominant purpose and unlawful means conspiracy" (paragraphs 66 to 69), "conversion" (paragraphs 70 to 71), "unjust enrichment" (paragraphs 72 to 73) among other allegations. As one of the members of the board of directors, Wu acted to his best knowledge and intentions, following decisions made by the board. Wu certainly did not conspire with other named Defendants for unjust enrichment to himself or any other party, as alleged. Wu had no intention to make any misrepresentations, did not participate in or assisted in any fraudulent and dishonest conduct performed by any individuals alleged by the Plaintiff.
- 6. Paragraph 45 of the Third Party Claim alleged certain payments to be "Improper Transfers". Wu had no knowledge of the payments alleged in subparagraphs (a), (b), (c), (e), (g), (h), (i), (j), (k), (l). Such alleged payments, if indeed occurred, were conducted without Wu's knowledge, consent or approval. For the payment totaling $15 million to York City alleged in subparagraph (f), Wu does not recall having signed off or executed on it. For the payment alleged in subparagraph (d) and repeated in subparagraph (k), Wu denies that the payments are improper, for they are remuneration for consulting work conducted by Wu via his consulting company 1280 Ltd, and the total amount paid was not $700,000 as alleged.
- 7. Wu lost his job in 2015 and created a post in Wechat, a social network platform, asking for job opportunities. Wu was then approached by Mr. Deng who saw the post on Wechat, and Deng offered a consulting contract with Wu's company 1280 Ltd. Wu started the consulting work first with Alberta Sino Energy in early 2016, and subsequently also performed consulting work with Calgary Sino and Long Run.
- 8. After Calgary Sino acquired Long Run, 3 technical personnel were hired in 2016: one in geological, Mr. Steven Neu in drilling and Wu in production to execute their plan.
- 9. The Consulting Agreement made on 9 Nov 2016 between Calgary Sino and 1280 Ltd states: "The Consultant hereby agrees to provide such consulting services as may be requested from time to time by CEO or CFO, and such other services as may be directed by the board of directors from time to time." "The Consultant shall the title of Manager, Production".
- 10. At material time, Wu rented an apartment in Calgary (home in Edmonton), worked in the Long Run office in Calgary 8 hrs/day and 5 days/week as per normal employee. Wu was heavily involved in cost reduction work. Wu analyzed cost structure, made cost reduction plan with Long Run prodiction personnel, reducing chemical cost by $500,000 annually. Wu worked on production with Long Run Operation, conveying guidelines from the board. Wu visited majority of Long Run oil/gas fields in Red Water, Peace River and Edson. Wu participated in Long Run daily production meetings. Wu worked on oil enhance recovery program with Long Run Production. Wu made daily reports on Long Run new well production to Calgary Sino. The allegation in paragraph 45 that the payments made to 1280 Ltd was an "Improper Transfer" was false as it was remuneration for actual consulting work that has been performed.
- 11. While working at Long Run, Wu also at the same time worked for New Star Energy in organization restructuring, production, water injection, new well drilling plan, and incident investigation, and provided temporary coverage for the CEO. Beginning around Jan 2018 Wu worked full time for New Star until he was transferred to CAPC later.

- 12. As Canada Advantage Petroleum Corp. (CAPC) business ramped up, Wu was transferred to CAPC in Aug 2018 as Chief Technical Officer, worked full time in CAPC office, was in charge of crude quality, transport/storage operations and safety, and 1280 Ltd was paid by CAPC. There is a dedicated 'Consulting Agreement' for this transfer.
- 13. At material time, 1280 Ltd received payment of $374,000 in total from Calgary Sino, including GST, and not the $700,000 as alleged in the Third Party Claim. Calculations as below:

| Year     | Months served        | Pay/month      |
|----------|----------------------|----------------|
| 2016     | 2                    | $17,000       |
| 2017     | 12                   | $17,000       |
| 2018     | 8                    | $17,000       |
| Total pa | ay received: 22 x 17 | ,000 = 374,000 |

- 14. The remuneration received by 1280 Ltd is comparable to the salary which Wu received at his previous job with a large oil company where he worked as a staff engineer.
- 15. Wu did not receive any remuneration for his appointment as a director of Calgary Sino, and was only compensated for his consulting work.

Wu stopped his consulting service to CAPC in Jun 2019, but Wu was still a director until Dec 2019. After June 2019, 1280 Ltd did not receive any money, benefits, or compensation.

Dispute of liability:

- 16. This third party defendant(s) does dispute defendant's(s') liability to the plaintiff(s).
- 17. This third party defendant(s) does dispute the third party defendant's(s') liability to the extent claimed in the third party claim.

Remedy sought:

18. 1280 Ltd/Wu deny that the plaintiff is entitled to the relief and damages it seeks. 1280 Ltd/Wu. plead that all claims against them shall be dismissed with costs.

Exhibit "20"

Third Party Claim of Calgary Sino and Long Run, filed Aug-11-21

36 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "20"

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

tarossik oyce

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission: Expires May 21, 20 26

COURT FILE NUMBER

2001-03353

CALGARY

HENENGHAIXIN CORP.

Form 16 [Rule 3.45]

COURT OF QUEEN'S BENCH OF ALBERTA

JUDICIAL CENTRE

PLAINTIFF

COURT

DEFENDANTS

DOCUMENT

TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG AKA LAKE DENG, SHING TAK LAM AKA MICHAEL LAM, CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP., LONG RUN EXPLORATION LTD., JOHN DOE, AND ABC CORPORATION

THIRD PARTY DEFENDANTS TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG AKA LAKE DENG, 1980264 ALBERTA LTD., SHING TAK LAM AKA MICHAEL LAM, 1838967 ALBERTA LTD. YINGCHUN WU, 1280365 ALBERTA LTD., STEVEN NEU, EILEEN CORPORATION, YORK CITY ENTERPRISES LIMITED BVI, WEST LAKE ENERGY CORP.; AND QINGDAO ZHONGTIAN YUHEN ENERGY CO. LTD.

THIRD PARTY CLAIM

ADDRESS FOR SERVICE AND CONTACT INFORMATION OF PARTY FILING THIS DOCUMENT

Dentons Canada LLP 15th Floor, Bankers Court 850 – 2nd Street SW Calgary, AB T2P 0R8

Attention: Lillian Y. Pan, Q.C. / Christy Lee Ph. (403) 268-7171 / (403) 268-6354 Fx. (403) 268-3100 Email: lillian.pan@dentons.com / christy.lee@dentons.com File No.: 582519-1

NOTICE FROM THE DEFENDANTS, CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP. and LONG RUN EXPLORATION LTD.

This third party claim is made against you. You are a third party defendant.

Go to the end of this document to see what you can do and when you must do it.

Note: State below only facts and not evidence (Rule 13.6).

Statement of facts relied on:

- 1. An action has been commenced against the Defendants and Third Party Claimants, Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. ("Calgary Sino") and Long Run Exploration Ltd. ("Long Run"), by the Plaintiff Henenghaixin Corp. ("H Corp" or the "Plaintiff"). H Corp claims for losses arising from, inter alia, the alleged improper diversion of a portion of the "Investment Funds" (as that term is defined in the Statement of Claim). The alleged improper diversion was made from the Plaintiff to Calgary Sino and Long Run through various intermediaries who are named Defendants in the within Action. A copy of the Statement of Claim is attached hereto.
- 2. Calgary Sino and Long Run, who collectively shall be referred to as the "Third Party Claimants", deny liability to the Plaintiff on the grounds set out in their Statement of Defence, a copy of which is attached hereto, and any amendments thereto (the "SOD"). The Third Party Claimants repeat and adopt the statement of facts contained in their SOD. Tianzhou Deng ("Deng"), Xiaobo Deng, also known as Lake Deng ("Lake"), and Shing Tak Lam, also known as Michael Lam ("Lam") (collectively hereafter called the "Three Defendants") are named as defendants by H Corp.
- 3. The Third Party Claimants are corporations incorporated pursuant to the laws of the Province of Alberta. At all material times, Calgary Sino was a holding company and the 100% shareholder of Long Run. Long Run is a private Calgary-based intermediate oil and natural gas company focused on light oil development and exploration in Western Canada.
- 4. If the Third Party Claimants are found to be liable to the Plaintiff for any judgment, including judgment for costs, the Third Party Claimants claim contribution and indemnity from the Third Party Defendants (primarily the Three Defendants) to the extent of any amount of such judgment.
- 5. In addition to any claims the Third Party Claimants may have for contribution and indemnity against the Third Party Defendants, the Third Party Claimants seek relief against the Third Party Defendants as described further below.

The Third Party Defendants to the Third Party Claim

- Deng, one of the Three Defendants, is an individual, and a Chinese citizen who ordinarily resides in China. Deng was a director of Calgary Sino from December 9, 2015 to November 18, 2019, and a director of Long Run from June 29, 2016 to November 18, 2019. Deng was also a director of H Corp from November 23, 2016 to September 21, 2017.
- 7. At all material times, and by virtue of his role as a former director of the Third Party Claimants, Deng was and remains a fiduciary to the Third Party Claimants and owes the Third Party Claimants a duty of care and a duty of good faith to, among other things, act competently, diligently, and in their best interests.
- 8. Lake, one of the Three Defendants, is an individual who resides in Calgary, Alberta. Lake is the daughter of Deng and was a director of Long Run from October 22, 2016 to January 27, 2020, and a director of West Lake Energy Corp. ("West Lake"), a wholly owned subsidiary of H Corp, from April 2, 2017 to April 19, 2018. She was appointed the "authorized translator" of West Lake by Deng and Bo Huang, directors of West Lake, in which she was granted the authority to direct the affairs of West Lake, H Corp's wholly owned subsidiary. Under the direction of Deng and Hao Wang ("Harold Wang"), a cousin to Lake and a then director of Calgary Sino, Lake was contracted to be a Senior Legal Advisor at Calgary Sino, through her consulting company 1980264 Alberta Ltd. ("1980 Ltd.") from July 4, 2016 to an undetermined time. Lake is a lawyer purportedly educated in the United States and is not licenced to practice law in Canada.
- 9. At all material times, and by virtue of her role as a former director of Long Run, Lake was and remains a fiduciary to Long Run and owes Long Run a duty of care and a duty of good faith to, among other things, act competently, diligently, and in its best interests. Lake in her contract through 1980 Ltd. with Calgary Sino was a fiduciary to Calgary Sino and owed it a duty of care and a duty of good faith to, among other things, act competently, diligently, and other things, act competently, diligently, and in its best interests.
- 10. The Third Party Defendant, 1980 Ltd. is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of the Province of Alberta. 1980 Ltd. is a company wholly owned by Lake. Lam serves as a director of this company.

- 11. Lam, one of the Three Defendants, is an accountant by designation who resides in Calgary, Alberta. At all material times, Lam was the Vice-President, Finance of Calgary Sino until January 10, 2020, when he was terminated by Calgary Sino. At all material times, Lam directed certain payments made by Calgary Sino as described below to outside parties. He was also at all material times a director of East River Oil and Gas Ltd. ("East River"). He was appointed the "authorized translator" of West Lake by Deng and Bo Huang, directors of West Lake, in which he was granted the authority to direct the affairs of West Lake, H Corp's wholly owned subsidiary. Under the direction of Deng and Yingchun Wu ("Wu"), a then director of Calgary Sino, Lam was contracted for his alleged "LNG transportation and export facility expertise" by Calgary Sino, through his consulting company 1838967 Alberta Ltd. ("1838 Ltd.") from February 1, 2016 to an unknown time. Lam was appointed as a "special representative" of H Corp, which ostensibly provided authority to Lam to handle banking matters and authorize transactions on behalf of H Corp. This appointment was signed by Xu Bo Wang ("Xu Bo") and Wu, on behalf of H Corp, although Xu Bo has no recollection of signing the document for the appointment.
- 12. At all material times, and by virtue of his role as Vice-President, Finance, among other things, of Calgary Sino, Lam was and remains a fiduciary to Calgary Sino and owes a duty of care and a duty of good faith to Calgary Sino to, among other things, act competently, diligently, and its best interests. By reason of his authority in Calgary Sino and his relationship with Deng and Lake, at all material times, Lam had the authority from Deng and Lake to direct the financial affairs of Long Run and authorize payments from Long Run to other parties.
- 13. The Third Party Defendant, 1838 Ltd. is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of the Province of Alberta and is wholly owned by Lam.
- 14. The Third Party Defendant, Wu is an individual who resides in Edmonton, Alberta. Wu has been a director of Calgary Sino from April 7, 2016 to November 18, 2019. Under the direction of Deng and Harold Wang, Wu was contracted to be the Manager, Production for Calgary Sino, through his consulting company 1280365 Alberta Ltd. ("1280 Ltd.") from November 9, 2016 to an undetermined time. Wu is a former classmate and close personal friend of Deng.

- 15. By virtue of his role as a director of Calgary Sino, Wu is a fiduciary to Calgary Sino and owes Calgary Sino a duty of care and a duty of good faith to, among other things, act competently, diligently, and in its best interests.
- 16. The Third Party Defendant, 1280 Ltd. is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of the Province of Alberta and is a company wholly owned by Wu.
- 17. The Third Party Defendant, Steven Neu ("Neu") is an individual who resides in Calgary, Alberta. Neu has been a director, president and Chief Executive Officer of the Plaintiff and a director of West Lake, H Corp's wholly owned subsidiary. Under the direction of Deng and Harold Wang, Neu was contracted to be the Manager, Drilling Operation for Calgary Sino, through his consulting company Eileen Corporation from July 18, 2016 to an undetermined date.
- 18. The Third Party Defendant, Eileen Corporation is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of the Province of Alberta. Eileen Corporation is a company jointly owned by Neu and his wife, Eileen Neu.
- 19. The Third Party Defendant, West Lake is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of the Province of Alberta. West Lake is the wholly owned subsidiary of H Corp.
- 20. The Third Party Defendant, York City Enterprises Limited ("York City") is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of the British Virgin Islands. At the material times, Xu Bo was the sole director of York City. At the material times, Xu Bo was also an employee of a Deng controlled Chinese company called Changchun Zhongtian Energy Co. Ltd. ("Changchun Energy"), a publicly traded company, which at the material times, Deng was the Actual Controller (as defined herein). York City is the 100% shareholder of H Corp.
- 21. The Third Party Defendant, Qingdao Zhongtian Yuhen Energy Co. Ltd. ("Qingdao Yuhen") is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of China. Qingdao Yuhen is the 100% shareholder of York City.

The Related Parties to Certain Third Party Defendants

22. East River is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of the Province of Alberta.To the best of the Third Party Claimants' knowledge, East River is an oil and gas exploration and production company that carried on business in the Province of Alberta, and at material times, was controlled by the Three Defendants.

- 23. Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corporation ("CAPC") is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of the Province of Alberta. To the best of the Third Party Claimants' knowledge, CAPC is a private Calgary-based oil transportation company that focuses on the transportation of crude oil from Canada to China, and at material times, was controlled by the Three Defendants.
- 24. Advantage Petroleum US Corp. ("CAPC US") is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of the United States of America, and is currently no longer an active corporation. To the best of the Third Party Claimants' knowledge, at material times, CAPC US was a petroleum product wholesaler company that carried on business in the United States of America, and at material times, was controlled by the Three Defendants.
- 25. Sinoenergy Holding, is a corporation of unknown jurisdiction. To the best of Third Party Claimants' knowledge, at material times, Sinoenergy Holding was controlled by Deng and considered an affiliate of Calgary Sino, and made payment(s) to Qingdao Yuhen to offset the amounts owing to H Corp by Calgary Sino and Long Run.
- 26. Asiafic Clean Energy Limited ("Asiafic"), is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of Hong Kong. To the best of the Third Party Claimants' knowledge, at material times, Asiafic was controlled by Deng. Asiafic is also a minority shareholder up the corporate chain of H Corp, and received payments from Long Run and Calgary Sino, for which the Third Party Claimants have no knowledge of the reason for the payments, because there was no corporate or business purpose, and such payments may be for the ultimate benefit of H Corp's shareholders up the corporate chain, as described below.
- 27. Qingdao Asset Management, is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of China. To the best of the Third Party Claimants' knowledge, at material times, Qingdao Asset Management was controlled by Deng. It is also a shareholder of Jiangyin Henenghaixin Investment Partnership ("Jiangyin LP") and a majority shareholder of Changchun, which is also a Deng controlled company at the material times.

- 28. Jiangyin LP, is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of China. To the best of the Third Party Claimants' knowledge, at material times, Jiangyin LP was the 47.22% shareholder of Jingzhou Heping Energy ("Heping"), which was the 99.45% shareholder of Qingdao Yuhen. Jiangyin LP is also a subsidiary of Qingdao Asset Management, which was controlled by Deng, whom may also directly or indirectly control Jiangyin LP at certain material times.
- 29. Wuhan Changxin Hesheng Investment Fund Partnership ("Wuhan LP"), is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of China. To the best of the Third Party Claimants' knowledge, at material times, Wuhan LP was the 52.78% shareholder of Heping, which was the 99.45% shareholder of Qingdao Yuhen.
- 30. Harold Wang is an individual who ordinarily resides in China. Harold was a director of Calgary Sino from December 9, 2015 to November 30, 2016.
- Jun Xiong ("Xiong") is an individual who ordinarily resides in China. Xiong was a director of West Lake from December 13, 2016 to April 2, 2017, then again from December 3, 2018 to present. Xiong was also a director of H Corp, appointed as nominee of Jiangyin LP, from November 23, 2016 to present.
- 32. Deshuang Yu ("Yu") is an individual who ordinarily resides in China. Yu was a director of West Lake from December 13, 2016 to April 2, 2017, then again from December 3, 2018 to present. Yu was also a director of H Corp, appointed as nominee of Jiangyin LP from November 23, 2016 to present. At the material times, Yu also served as a director for Jiangyin LP.
- 33. Haipeng Tu ("Tu") is an individual who ordinarily resides in China. Tu was a director of West Lake from December 3, 2018 to present. Tu was also a director of H Corp from September 21, 2017 to present.
- 34. Jia Xing Hua Chang ("Hua Chang"), is a corporation incorporated pursuant to laws of China. To the best of the Third Party Claimants' knowledge, at material times, Hua Chang was controlled by Deng.
- 35. Tian Ji Li Ren ("Li Ren"), is a corporation incorporated pursuant to laws of China. To the best of the Third Party Claimants' knowledge, at material times, Li Ren was controlled by Deng.

Deng was the Actual Controller and/or Directing Mind of Certain Companies

- 36. Under Article 216 of the Company Law of the People's Republic of China, Deng at all material times, was an "Actual Controller" or directing mind, which is a person who holds actual control of the acts of a company or companies by reason of investment relations, agreements and other arrangements. Deng, as a Chinese citizen, operates in accordance with Chinese business practices. At material times, Deng was an Actual Controller and/or directing mind of various Chinese and Alberta companies, including: H Corp, West Lake, York City, Qingdao Yuhen, Calgary Sino, Long Run, Sinoenergy Holding, Asiafic, East River, CAPC, CAPC US, Hua Chang, Li Ren, Changchun, and Qingdao Asset Management (collectively "Deng Controlled Companies"). While the Deng Controlled Companies were not always directly related to each other under Canadian law, under Chinese law and business practices he was the Actual Controller, i.e., controlling mind of the Deng Controlled Companies. Employees and other directors of the Deng Controlled Companies, such as Neu and Wu, acknowledged him as the ostensive "owner", and Lake and Lam as his direct representatives with authority to direct the financial affairs of the Deng Controlled Companies.
- 37. As the Actual Controller and/or directing mind of the Deng Controlled Companies, Deng, with the assistance of Lake and Lam, among others, (as described below) was able to control or direct the transfer of funds among the Deng Controlled Companies for his direct or indirect benefit and the benefit of Lake and Lam, among others, and to the detriment of Calgary Sino and/or Long Run.

The History of H Corp's Relationship with Deng

38. Jiangyin LP and Wuhan LP, through a complex series of transactions involving a number of its subsidiaries including York City and Qingdao Yuhen, and involving loans with foreign banks, namely China Construction Bank Seoul ("CCB Seoul") and Industrial Commercial Bank of China Seoul ("ICBC Seoul"), arranged to move money out of China and ultimately provide CAD $352.2 million to H Corp (hereafter the "Investment Fund"), a large portion of which was used to acquire the assets of Twin Butte Energy Ltd. ("Twin Butte"), for H Corp's wholly owned subsidiary West Lake. A portion of the $352.2 million was transferred through the direction of the Three Defendants to Calgary Sino. 39. Qingdao Yuhen was a wholly owned subsidiary of Changchun Energy prior to January 25, 2017 and up the corporate chain from H Corp. At material times, Deng was the Actual Controller of Qingdao Yuhen and Changchun. Deng brought the H Corp/West Lake investment and the purchase of the Twin Butte assets to Jiangyin LP and Wuhan LP. Because of Deng's role in facilitating and bringing the Twin Butte transaction to these companies, he was acknowledged until November 2019 by West Lake, York City, Qingdao Yuhen (corporations that are all connected to the corporate chain of H Corp), and H Corp to be the Actual Controller of H Corp.

Transactions Related to Calgary Sino and Long Run

- 40. There are intercompany loans made directly by Calgary Sino to H Corp, or its related entities which offsets any amounts found owing by Calgary Sino and/or Long Run to H Corp. These payments consist of the following:
  - (a) Calgary Sino paying the initial deposit on or about December 2016 to the receiver for Twin Butte in order to the acquire the Twin Butte assets, in the approximate amount of $28 million on behalf of West Lake;
  - (b) Calgary Sino paying H Corp a total of approximately $17 million in 11 separate payments from January 2017 to March 2018;
  - (c) Calgary Sino paying West Lake, a wholly owned subsidiary of H Corp, a total of approximately $2 million in two separate payments from one in January 2017 and the other in October 2017;
  - Payments totalling $15 million made by Calgary Sino and Long Run to York City, the parent company of H Corp, and to CCB Seoul and ICBC Seoul for interest payments related to the Investment Fund received by H Corp in the period ;
  - (e) Such other amounts that may be proved at the trial of this action.
- 41. The payments by Calgary Sino described in paragraph 40 (a) to (e) above are hereafter collectively called "Calgary Sino Payments".
- 42. Further, the Three Defendants caused other Deng Controlled Companies to make certain payments to H Corp's related entities in China, including Qingdao Yuhen, and H

Corp's parent company, York City, which were intended to offset amounts owing by Calgary Sino and Long Run to H Corp, including:

- (a) Payment(s) in the amount of $16.87 million made by Sinoenergy Holding, one of the Deng Controlled Companies, to Qingdao Yuhen, the 100% shareholder parent two levels above H Corp, in 2017 which payment(s) was made to offset amounts owing by Calgary Sino and Long Run to H Corp;
- (b) Payment(s) in the amount of $3.33 million made by Hua Chang, one of the Deng Controlled Companies, to Qingdao Yuhen, the 100% shareholder parent two levels above H Corp, which payment(s) was made in 2018 to offset amounts owing by Calgary Sino and Long Run to H Corp; a payment in the amount of ¥2 million, or Canadian dollar equivalent of approximately $400,000 made by Hua Chang to Qingdao Yuhen on or about August 24, 2018;
- (c) Li Ren, one of the Deng Controlled Companies, paying Qingdao Yuhen, the 100% shareholder parent two levels above H Corp, a total of ¥14 million, or Canadian dollar equivalent of approximately $2.8 million in three separate payments from September 2018 to December 2018;
- (d) Qingdao Asset Management, one of the Deng Controlled Companies, paying Qingdao Yuhen, the 100% shareholder parent two levels above H Corp, a net total of approximately ¥94 million, or Canadian dollar equivalent of approximately $18 million in eleven separate payments from March 2017 to July 2017.
- (e) Such other amounts as may be proved at the trial of this action.
- 43. The payments to Qingdao Yuhen described in paragraph 42 (a) to (e) above are hereafter collectively called "Qingdao Yuhen Payments".
- 44. The Calgary Sino Payments and the Qingdao Yuhen Payments provide the factual matrix of the complex web of corporate companies and inter-company transfers of funds through the Deng Controlled Corporations with Lake and Lam acting under the direction of the Actual Controller, Deng.

Misappropriation of Corporate Funds

- 45. Beginning from approximately July 2016 numerous payments were made by Calgary Sino and/or Long Run during the tenure of Deng, Lake, and Lam in their respective roles as Actual Controller, directors and/or officers, of Calgary Sino and/or Long Run, without any apparent justification nor any apparent benefit to the Third Party Claimants (the "Improper Transfers"). Parties to whom payments were made pursuant to the Improper Transfers (the "Third Party Beneficiaries") included, but are not limited to:
  - (a) 1980 Ltd., a Lake controlled company, was paid $15,000 per month by Calgary Sino, beginning July 4, 2016, of which there is no documentation for her work for which Calgary Sino was billed sums totalling in the range of $700,000;
  - (b) 1838 Ltd., a Lam controlled company, which was paid a hourly rate by Calgary Sino beginning February 1 2016. for his purported expertise in LNG transportation and export facility for which Lam, as the Vice President, Finance of Calgary Sino, provided no documentation of his work and hours, and for which he billed Calgary Sino significant sums totalling in the range of $700,000;
  - (c) CAPC, a Deng Controlled Company contracted with Long Run under direction of some or all of the Three Defendants in which Long Run purchased from unrelated third parties certain crude oil marketing contracts, which were then paid for by Long Run and thereafter sold to CAPC or CAPC US. There was no reasonable business purpose for Long Run to be the intermediary and to date, CAPC or CAPC US has failed to pay Long Run the amounts owing in the range of $14 million for these transactions. In this manner, the Three Defendants were able to move money from Long Run to other Deng Controlled Companies which in turn paid H Corp or its related companies, details of which are not fully known by the Third Party Claimants, but known to the Three Defendants;
  - (d) 1280 Ltd., a Wu controlled company, was paid $17,000 per month by Calgary Sino, beginning November 9, 2016, of which there was no documentation for his work for which he billed Calgary Sino significant sums totalling in the range of $700,000;
  - (e) Eileen Corporation, a Neu owned company, was paid $900 per day in office and $1,200 per day on site by Calgary Sino, beginning July 18, 2016, of which there was no documentation of their work for which they billed Calgary Sino significant sums totalling in the range of $700,000;

- (f) York City, as described in paragraph 40(d) above, was paid some amount totalling at least $15 million pursuant to a Shareholder Declaration concerning Long Run made on November 22, 2018, effective as of March 29, 2018, and executed by Wu on behalf of Calgary Sino (the "Shareholder Declaration"). Thereafter, Improper Transfers were made pursuant to the Shareholder Declaration by Calgary Sino as directed by Lam and under the authority of Deng;
- (g) Asiafic, pursuant to the Shareholder Declaration and under Lam's direction with no discernable business relationship related to Long Run, was sent some amount totalling at least $9 million from Long Run's account, some of which may have further been transferred to H Corp or its shareholders up the corporate chain, specific details of which are not known to the Third Party Claimants but within the knowledge of the Three Defendants;
- (h) East River pursuant to the Shareholder Declaration and with no discernable business relationship related to Long Run was sent some amount totalling at least $18 million, some of which may have further been transferred to H Corp or its related entities;
- Lake personally benefited through her consulting company 1980 Ltd. from payments made by Calgary Sino totalling in the range of $700,000, purportedly for her role as Senior Legal Advisor to Calgary Sino when she was not licenced to practice in Canada, and performed no discernable legal services for Calgary Sino;
- (j) Lam personally benefited through his consulting company 1838 Ltd. from payments made by Calgary Sino sums totalling in the range of $700,000, purportedly for his expertise in LNG transportation and export facility, when Calgary Sino had no operations and had no discernable need for his services in LNG transportation and export facility, as Calgary Sino was a holding company and Long Run is its operating company;

- (k) Wu personally benefited through his consulting company 1280 Ltd. from payments made by Calgary Sino sums totalling in the range of $700,000, purportedly for his role as Manager, Production at Calgary Sino, when Calgary Sino had no operations and had no discernible need for his services; and
- (I) Neu personally benefited through his consulting company Eileen Corporation from payments made by Calgary Sino sums totalling in the range of $700,000, purportedly for his role as Manager, Drilling Operation, when Calgary Sino had no operations and had no discernible need for his services.
- 46. The Third Party Claimants state that the Improper Transfers constituted a misappropriation of funds from the Third Party Claimants, which funds were lawfully the property of the Third Party Claimants. The Improper Transfers were made for the personal and financial benefit of the Third Party Respondents, some of which were also for the benefit of H Corp, and Qingdao Yuhen, a shareholder up the corporate chain of H Corp, the details of which transactions are not entirely known to the Third Party Claimants and within the knowledge of the Three Defendants.
- 47. The Improper Transfers were made at the direction of, or with the knowledge, acquiescence, assistance, and/or approval of one, some, or all of the Third Party Defendants, the full particulars of which are known only to the Third Party Defendants.

Breach of Fiduciary Duty

- 48. Deng, Lam and Wu (collectively, the "Calgary Sino Fiduciaries") owed fiduciary duties to Calgary Sino due to their respective roles as directors, officers, and consultants of Calgary Sino, and were obliged to act honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of Calgary Sino. Calgary Sino was vulnerable to the unilateral exercise of discretion and power by the Calgary Sino Fiduciaries.
- 49. Each of Deng and Lake (collectively, the "Long Run Fiduciaries") owed fiduciary duties to Long Run due to their roles as directors of Long Run, and were obliged to act honestly and in good faith with a view to the best interests of Long Run. Long Run was vulnerable to the unilateral exercise of discretion and power by the Long Run Fiduciaries.
- 50. Throughout their tenure as directors and/or officers of Calgary Sino and Long Run, the Calgary Sino Fiduciaries and the Long Run Fiduciaries, respectively (collectively, the "Fiduciaries"), failed to disclose the above described misappropriations of funds through the Improper Transfers or to account to the Third Party Claimants for the funds that were the subject of the Improper Transfers. To the contrary, the Fiduciaries actively failed to disclose important financial transactions to the Third Party Claimants' respective Boards of Directors or officers concerning the Improper Transfers.

- 51. The Fiduciaries failed to act in the best interest of Calgary Sino by ordering payments, with no corporate or business purposes to York City, the 100% shareholder of H Corp in the approximate amount of $5 million.
- 52. The Fiduciaries also failed to act in the best interest of Long Run by ordering payments, with no business or corporate purposes to York City, the 100% shareholder of H Corp in the approximate amount of $9 million. The payments were ordered through the Shareholder Declaration executed by Wu on behalf of Calgary Sino. The Long Run Fiduciaries knew or ought to have known about the Improper Transfers ordered under the Shareholder Declaration and failed to act in the best interest of Long Run.
- 53. Furthermore, and at all material times, the Fiduciaries had an obligation to disclose the nature and extent of any conflicts of interest with respect to the Improper Transfers, including but not limited to self-dealing transactions. In any case, the Fiduciaries did not disclose the nature of their interest, nor did they act in the best interests of Calgary Sino or Long Run, consistently preferring their own interests and those of friends, family, business associates, their interest in other companies over those of the Third Party Claimants.
- 54. By reason of the facts described above, and the Fiduciaries' lack of due regard for transparency, disclosure, the avoidance of self-dealing and conflicts of interest, or corporate separateness, amongst other things, the Fiduciaries breached their fiduciary duties to the Third Party Claimants and the Third Party Claimants have suffered damages, as described below.

Deceit and Fraudulent Misrepresentation

55. The Third Party Defendants, by their words, conduct, silence, and concealment, knowingly represented that the distribution of the Third Party Claimants' funds through the Improper Transfers was a legitimate use of corporate funds for the purpose of furthering the business interests of the Third Party Claimants (collectively, the "Misrepresentations").

- 56. Under the direction of Lam and Deng, the Third Party Claimants distributed funds to CAPC for the purchase of crude oil from affiliate companies of CAPC with the purpose of selling it back to CAPC for a negligible profit margin. CAPC never fulfilled its obligation to pay back the Third Party Claimants for the crude oil. Lam and Deng acted in concert together to create oil transactions that deprived the Third Party Claimants of funds, and the Three Defendants refused to permit further legal actions to pursue the payment of funds.
- 57. At all material times, the Third Party Defendants made the Misrepresentations knowing they were false, or without belief in their truth or, alternatively, were reckless as to the truth or accuracy of such representations.
- 58. The Third Party Defendants made the Misrepresentations with the intention that the Third Party Claimants would rely on them, and with the intention of deceiving the Third Party Claimants into believing that the Improper Transfers were legitimate and that the Fiduciaries could be trusted to manage, or continue to manage, corporate finances and affairs in accordance with their statutory and common law duties and without the need for oversight.
- 59. The Third Party Claimants did so rely on the Misrepresentations by continuing to retain the Fiduciaries in senior management positions at all material times and by not interfering with or otherwise questioning the Improper Transfers to the Third Party Beneficiaries, and have suffered damages and loss as a result and as described further below.

Negligent Misrepresentation

60. Alternatively, the Third Party Defendants were negligent as to the truthfulness or accuracy of the Misrepresentations regarding the legitimacy and purpose of the Improper Transfers. Such Misrepresentations were untrue, inaccurate, or misleading, and the Third Party Defendants knew or ought to have known in the circumstances that the Misrepresentations were untrue, inaccurate or misleading, and would result in the Third Party Claimants not questioning the Transfers when they otherwise would have done so.

- 61. The Three Defendants and Wu intended and knew, or alternatively ought to have known, that the Third Party Claimants would rely upon the Misrepresentations and would be induced by them to continue to retain the Fiduciaries in senior management positions or as directors at all material times and not interfere with, dispute, or otherwise question the Improper Transfers to the Third Party Beneficiaries. The Third Party Claimants did so rely, and this reliance was reasonable given that the Fiduciaries held themselves out as experienced and reputable businesspeople and/or accredited, licensed professionals.
- 62. As a result of their reasonable reliance upon the Misrepresentations, the Third Party Claimants have sustained damages, as described further below.

Knowing Assistance and Knowing Receipt

- 63. By the time the Third Party Beneficiaries, as described in paragraph 45 above, were in receipt of the Improper Transfers, in their own right, they knew or ought to have known that the Improper Transfers, over which the Third Party Claimants hold a constructive trust, were being granted for no consideration in the form of services to the Third Party Claimants or other good and valuable consideration, and that the Fiduciaries were engaged in improper conduct and in breach of their fiduciary duties by reason thereof.
- 64. The Third Party Beneficiaries had actual knowledge of, or were reckless or wilfully blind to, the lack of justification for the Improper Transfers, the Fiduciaries' fiduciary relationships and duties, and the Fiduciaries' dishonest conduct in breaching their fiduciary duties through the Improper Transfers. This lack of justification for the Improper Transfers would have put a reasonable person on inquiry as to the impropriety of the Improper Transfers, yet the Third Party Beneficiaries failed to inquire as to the possible fraudulent misappropriation of the funds.
- 65. Further, and in the alternative, the Third Party Beneficiaries participated in or assisted the Fiduciaries' fraudulent and dishonest conduct, as a result of which the Third Party Claimants have sustained damages as described further below.

Predominant Purpose and Unlawful Means Conspiracy

- 66. By making the Misrepresentations and engaging in the Improper Transfers, the Three Defendants and Wu have wilfully and deliberately agreed to conspire to deprive the Third Party Claimants of the funds that were the subject of the Improper Transfers, and to facilitate the wrongful conversion of funds.
- 67. Deng and other Third Party Defendants acted in combination, in concert, by agreement or with common design to undertake the Misrepresentations and to implement the unlawful, fictitious, and self-dealing Improper Transfers with the ultimate goal of diverting company assets to their own personal bank accounts and those of their friends, families, business associates, and co-conspirators. This agreement to conspire which ultimately led to the Misrepresentations described above were directed at the Third Party Claimants which in effect constituted a breach of their fiduciary relationship, deceit and negligent misrepresentation, knowing assistance and knowing receipt, conversion, and unjust enrichment.
- 68. These actions were undertaken while the Third Party Defendants knew or ought to have known that such actions would cause injury to the Third Party Claimants, and these actions did in fact cause such injury. As such, the Third Party Defendants have engaged in an unlawful means conspiracy against the Third Party Claimants.
- 69. Further, or in the alternative, in effecting the Improper Transfers the Third Party Defendants acted in combination with the predominant purpose and goal to intentionally harm and cause injury to the Third Party Claimants by, among other things, diverting funds through the Improper Transfers. This conduct caused loss and damage to the Third Party Claimants as described further below.

Conversion

- 70. The Third Party Defendants, through the Improper Transfers, intentionally converted the property of the Third Party Claimants to their own uses, without proper authority or permission. In doing so they deprived the Third Party Claimants of their right to possession of the funds.
- 71. The Third Party Claimants are entitled to the restitution of the entire amounts as described in paragraph 45 so converted, along with interest on such amounts.

Unjust Enrichment

- 72. The Improper Transfers made by the Third Party Claimants to the Third Party Beneficiaries were for the benefit of the Third Party Defendants, whether directly or indirectly. By diverting funds from the Third Party Claimants for their benefit, without having performed the services or provided any other consideration required to earn the Transfers, the Third Party Defendants have been unjustly enriched and the Third Party Claimants have suffered a corresponding deprivation. There is no juristic reason for the enrichment of the Third Party Defendants as there was no contract, disposition of law, donative intent, or any other valid common law, equitable, or statutory obligations that justified the Improper Transfers. As well, there is no reason to rebut the assumption of a prima facie case of unjust enrichment.
- 73. The Third Party Claimants are entitled to a constructive trust with respect to the Improper Transfer amounts, which are the subject of such constructive trust.

Piercing the Corporate Veil

- 74. At all material times, each of the Fiduciaries acted as the directing mind of the Third Party Claimants exercising complete domination or control over them. Each of the Fiduciaries used the Third Party Claimants as instruments to implement the misappropriation of corporate funds through the Improper Transfers and as a mechanism to shield themselves from the liability of their illegal activity. The Third Party Claimants were not treated as separate corporate entities but as subsidiaries wholly dependant on the Deng Controlled Companies.
- 75. As a result of the above, the Fiduciaries are jointly and severally liable for all conduct, as set out above, conducted in the name of the Third Party Claimants.

Disgorgement of Any Monies Paid

76. In addition to the general damages described below, by reason of the acts described above, the Third Party Defendants conducted themselves in a manner that disentitles them to retain any compensation or funds that they received directly or indirectly from the Third Party Claimants, whether in the form of salary, bonuses, commissions, or otherwise. In light of all of the circumstances, the Third Party Claimants received no value for any alleged services provided by the Third Party Defendants in connection with their employment or otherwise, and such compensation should be disgorged to the Third Party Claimants.

Punitive and Exemplary Damages

77. The conduct of the Three Defendants was intentional, deliberate, high-handed, flagrant, and reprehensible. Such conduct was a marked departure from the ordinary standards of decency and warrants full condemnation. The Third Party Claimants seek punitive and exemplary damages, on a joint and several basis.

Remedy sought:

- 78. The Third Party Claimants seek against York City and Qingdao Yuhen an Order for service ex juris permitting service of the documents in this Action.
- 79. The Third Part Claimants seek an Order for extension of service of the Third Party Claim;
- 80. The Third Party Claimants seek as against the Third Party Defendants contribution and indemnity with respect to any judgment that may be obtained against Calgary Sino and/or Long Run;
- 81. The Third Party Claimants seek damages for, inter alia, deceit and/or fraudulent misrepresentation, negligent misrepresentation, knowing assistance, knowing receipt, conversion, and unjust enrichment as follows:
  - (a) As against 1980 Ltd and Lake, jointly and severally, an amount totalling approximately $700,000.00;
  - (b) As against 1838 Ltd and Lam, jointly and severally, an amount totalling approximately $700,000.00;
  - (c) As against 1280 Ltd and Wu, jointly and severally, an amount totalling approximately $700,000.00; and
  - (d) As against Eileen Corporation and Neu, jointly and severally, an amount totalling approximately $700,000.00.

- 82. The Third Party Claimants seek damages for, inter alia, negligent misrepresentation, knowing assistance, knowing receipt, conversion, and unjust enrichment as follows:
  - (a) As against York City, damages in the amount of $15 million;
  - (b) As against Qingdao Yuhen, damages in the amount of $22 million; and
  - (c) As against West Lake, damages in the amount of $30 million for transfers and amounts paid by Calgary Sino on its behalf during the acquisition of Twin Butte.
- 83. The Third Party Claimants seek damages for, inter alia, breach of fiduciary duty, deceit and/or fraudulent misrepresentation, negligent misrepresentation, knowing assistance, knowing receipt, predominant purpose conspiracy, unlawful means conspiracy, conversion, and unjust enrichment from the Three Defendants, jointly and severally, damages in the amount of $45 million.
- 84. The Third Party Claimants seek punitive or exemplary damages, from the Three Defendants and Wu, jointly and severally, in addition to the amounts set out above;
- 85. Pre-judgment and post-judgment interest on all amounts awarded to the Third Party Claimants at such rate or rates as may be ordered, compounded annually or monthly, pursuant to the Judgment Interest Act, RSA 2000, c. J-1, as amended, or otherwise;
- 86. Costs of this Action on a solicitor and his own client basis, or, in the alternative, on such other basis as this Honourable Court may order; and
- 87. Such further and other relief as this Honourable Court considers appropriate.

Statement of Claim and Statement of Defence:

88. A copy of the Statement of Claim and Statement of Defence filed in this action are attached.

NOTICE TO THE THIRD PARTY DEFENDANT(S)

You only have a short time to do something to respond to this third party claim:

20 days if you are served in Alberta

1 month if you are served outside Alberta but in Canada

2 months if you are served outside Canada

You can respond by filing a statement of defence or a demand for notice in the office of the clerk of the Court of Queen's Bench at Calgary, Alberta, AND serving your statement of defence or a demand for notice on the Defendant's(s')/third party plaintiff's(s') address for service.

WARNING

If you do not file and serve a statement of defence or a demand for notice within your time period, you risk losing the claim against you automatically. If you do not file, or do not serve, or are late in doing either of these things, a court may give judgment to the defendant(s)/third party plaintiff(s) against you.

This third party claim must be tried with other claims in the action, unless the Court otherwise orders.

If you do not file a statement of defence disputing liability of the defendant(s) to the plaintiff(s), you admit the validity of any judgment that the plaintiff(s) obtain(s) against the defendant(s), whether obtained by agreement or otherwise.

If you do not file a statement of defence disputing your own liability to the third party plaintiff(s) under the third party claim, you admit liability to the extent claimed in the third party claim.

Form 10

[Rule 3.25]

| COURT FILE NUMBER                                                                  | 2001-03353                                                                                                                                                 | CLERK OF THE COURT |  |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|--|
|                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                            | FEB 2 8 2020       |  |
| COURT                                                                              | COURT OF QUEEN'S BENCH OF ALBERT                                                                                                                           | A JUDICIAL CENTRE  |  |
| JUDICIAL CENTRE                                                                    | CALGARY                                                                                                                                                    | OF CALGARY         |  |
| PLAINTIFFS                                                                         | HENENGHAIXIN CORP.                                                                                                                                         | ·                  |  |
| DEFENDANTS                                                                         | TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG aka LAKE DENG, MICHAELLAM, CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP., LONG RUNEXPLORATION LTD., JOHN DOE, and ABC CORPORATION |                    |  |
| DOCUMENT                                                                           | STATEMENT OF CLAIM                                                                                                                                         |                    |  |
| ADDRESS FOR SERVICE ANDCONTACT INFORMATIONOF PARTY FILING THISDOCUMENT | JENSEN SHAWA SOLOMON DUGUID H800, 304 - 8 Avenue SWCalgary, Alberta T2P 1C2                                                                 | AWKES LLP          |  |
|                                                                                    | Andrew Wilson/Erin J. Baker                                                                                                                                |                    |  |
|                                                                                    | Tel: 403 571 1520                                                                                                                                          |                    |  |
|                                                                                    | Fax: 403 571 1528                                                                                                                                          |                    |  |
|                                                                                    | File: 14828.001                                                                                                                                            |                    |  |

NOTICE TO DEFENDANT(S)

You are being sued. You are a Defendant.

Go to the end of this document to see what you can do and when you must do it.

Note: State below only facts and not evidence (Rule 13.6)

Statement of facts relied on:

 The Plaintiff, Henenghaixin Corp. ("H Corp."), is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of Alberta. H Corp. is an indirectly wholly owned subsidiary of two limited partnerships located in the People's Republic of China ("PRC"): Jiangyin Henenghaixin Investment Partnership ("Jiangyin LP") and Wuhan Changxin Hesheng Industrial Investment Fund Partnership ("Wuhan LP"). H Corp. is the sole shareholder of West Lake Energy Corporation ("West Lake"), a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of Alberta.

- 2. The Defendant, Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corporation ("Calgary Sinoenergy"), is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of Alberta.
- 3. The Defendant, Long Run Exploration ("Long Run"), is a corporation incorporated pursuant to the laws of Alberta. Long Run is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Calgary Sinoenergy.
- 4. The Defendant, Tianzhou Deng, is an individual ordinarily resident in Beijing, in the PRC. Mr. Deng is a well-known businessman in the PRC. Mr. Deng is a former director of the Plaintiff, H Corp., having served as a director of H Corp. from November 23, 2016 to September 21, 2017. Mr. Deng is also a director of Calgary Sinoenergy, a director of Long Run, and a director of West Lake.
- 5. The Defendant, Xiaobo Deng, also known as Lake Deng, is an individual ordinarily resident in Calgary, Alberta. Ms. Deng is Mr. Deng's daughter. Ms. Deng is a former director of West Lake, having served as a director of West Lake from April 2, 2017 to April 19, 2018. Ms. Deng is also a director of Long Run.
- 6. The Defendant, Michael Lam, is an individual ordinarily resident in Calgary, Alberta. Mr. Lam is a trusted advisor of Mr. Deng and a business associate of Ms. Deng.
- 7. Both Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam represented themselves as having authority to direct the affairs of H Corp. and West Lake as delegates of Mr. Deng. They held out Mr. Deng as being the ultimate owner of controller of H Corp. As outlined below, they had no such authority. However, under the pretenses of having such authority, Ms. Deng, Mr. Lam, and Mr. Deng wrongfully removed tens of millions of dollars from H Corp., as detailed below.
- 8. The Defendants John Doe and ABC Corporation are individuals and corporations who participated in the acts described below, or have received some or all of the funds so misappropriated, the identity of which is currently only known to the other Defendants.

Background

- 9. Through a series of subsidiaries, Jiangyin LP and Wuhan LP contributed a combined CAD$352.5 million to H Corp. for the purpose of (i) acquiring the assets of Twin Butte Energy Ltd. ("Twin Butte"), an Alberta-based oil and gas firm, out of receivership, and (ii) providing the working capital required to operate the assets once purchased (the "Investment Funds").
- 10. In March 2017, the Twin Butte assets were ultimately acquired by West Lake, a whollyowned subsidiary of H Corp., for a purchase price of CAD$266,000,000.00, less adjustments of CAD$3,194,245.56.

11. H Corp. believed that the Investment Funds, less the purchase price for the Twin Butte assets net of adjustments, would be available for West Lake to operate the Twin Butte assets. Those remaining funds were not to be used for any other purpose.

The Misappropriation and Diversion of Funds from H Corp.

- 12. Ms. Deng advised a consultant in her employ that her father, Mr. Deng, was acquiring the assets of Twin Butte out of receivership. She arranged for the consultant to become a director of H Corp. and an officer of West Lake.
- 13. Mr. Lam represented to individuals at H Corp. that he had full financial authority over the financial affairs of H Corp., which he described as a holding company of "Sinoenergy" (Mr. Deng is the founder and major shareholder of Changchun Sinoenergy Corp., an entity publically traded on the Shanghai Stock Exchange).
- 14. In this way, Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam represented that Mr. Deng owned and controlled H Corp., and that they had authority to direct the affairs of H Corp on his behalf.
- 15. None of this was true.
- 16. From approximately January to September 2017, or such other time as may be determined through oral and documentary discovery in the within Action and be proven at trial, while Mr. Deng was simultaneously a director of H Corp. and controlling shareholder and director of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run, approximately $44 million of the Investment Funds received by H Corp. were diverted to Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run (the "Diverted Funds").
- 17. These transfers occurred at the behest of Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng, and Mr. Lam.
- 18. It is expected that Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run thereafter provided the Diverted Funds to others, the identities of which include Ms. Deng, Mr. Deng, Mr. Lam, John Doe and ABC Corporation.
- 19. There was no legitimate reason for the diversions.
- 20. The improper diversion of the "Diverted Funds" was unknown, and unknowable to H Corp. until January, 2019 at the earliest.

Breach of Director's Duties

- 21. As a director of H Corp., Mr. Deng owed a duty to H Corp. to act in its best interests.
- 22. Mr. Deng breached these duties by either actively arranging for the transfer of the Diverted Funds, or, alternatively, by allowing the Diverted Funds to be transferred as a result of insufficient oversight or insufficient internal controls.

23. As a result of the breach of his duties, H Corp. suffered damages and loss in the amount of $44 million, or such other amount as may be proved at the trial of this Action.

Knowing Assistance and Knowing Receipt

- 24. Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run knew or were recklessly or willfully blind to the fact that either or all of Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng, and Mr. Lam were fraudulently misappropriating the Diverted Funds from H Corp. to the detriment of H Corp. and that Mr. Deng was in breach of his fiduciary obligations to H Corp. Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run received and accepted, for their own benefit, the Diverted Funds when each knew or ought to have known that their receipt of any portion of the Diverted Funds arose from, and were made to each of them through, fraudulent misappropriation and in breach of the fiduciary duties owed by Mr. Deng.
- 25. Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run's receipt and acceptance of the Diverted Funds in these circumstances constituted a knowing receipt of the Diverted Funds, which had been fraudulently misappropriated from H Corp. As such, Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run hold the Diverted Funds as constructive trustees of H Corp.
- 26. Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run have misused and converted the Diverted Funds to their own use such that H Corp. is unable to determine what entity or individual is currently in possession of the Diverted Funds, or a portion thereof.
- H Corp. claims return of the Diverted Funds in whatever form to which they can be traced.
   H Corp. also claims damages to the extent such funds have been dissipated or to the extent such assets purchased from the funds have decreased in value.

Misrepresentation

- 28. The Defendants Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng, and Mr. Lam made representations to officers of H Corp. that they had authority to direct the diversion of funds from H Corp. These representations were made with the intent that directors and officers of H Corp. would rely on them, and the Defendants Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng, and Mr. Lam knew or ought to have known that they would in fact be relied upon. These representations were in fact false.
- 29. On the basis of these representations, funds were wrongfully diverted out of H Corp. But for the misrepresentations, the funds would not have been wrongfully diverted.
- 30. As a result of these misrepresentations and H Corp.'s reliance on them, H Corp. has suffered damage in the amount of $44 million or such other amount as shall be proved at the trial of this Action.

Conversion

- 31. By means of the Diverted Funds, the Defendants have converted the Plaintiff's funds to their own use and thereby deprived the Plaintiff of the benefit of those funds.
- 32. The Plaintiff is entitled to restitution of the entire amounts so fraudulently converted. Unjust Enrichment
- 33. The Defendants Sinoenergy Canada and Long Run have been enriched in the amount of the Diverted Funds, the Plaintiff has been deprived by a like amount, and there is no juristic reason for either the enrichment or the deprivation.

Conspiracy

- 34. The Defendants had an agreement pursuant to which they acted in concert and engaged in all of the foregoing conduct with the predominate purpose of causing injury to the Plaintiff. Alternatively, the Defendants had an agreement pursuant to which they acted both in concert and unlawfully, and the Defendants knew or ought to have known that the Plaintiffs would suffer harm as a result of the Defendants' actions.
- 35. By virtue of the Defendants' conspiracy, the Plaintiffs have suffered losses including the loss of the Diverted Funds. Further, by conspiring in the manner they have, the Defendants are jointly and severally liable to the Plaintiff for the entirety of the Plaintiff's loss notwithstanding that a particular Defendant may not have conducted a particular act alleged above.

Fraudulent Conveyances

- 36. At various times, the full particulars of which are only known to the Defendants, the Defendants have transferred assets from themselves to others in order to avoid creditors, including the Plaintiff, or alternatively to payees in preference to other creditors, including the Plaintiff (the "Fraudulent Conveyances"). The Fraudulent Conveyances were done at such a time as the Defendants knew they were insolvent or knew that in light of the claims against them, including the potential claim of the Plaintiff, they were on the eve of insolvency. All such Fraudulent Conveyances were illegal and contrary to the Statue of Elizabeth and the Fraudulent Preferences Act, RSA 2000, c F-24.
- 37. The Plaintiff seeks that the Fraudulent Conveyances be set aside and any assets so transferred made available to the Plaintiff to satisfy the judgment given to the Plaintiff in this Action.
- 38. As a result of the Fraudulent Conveyances, the Plaintiff expressly claims the right to constructive trusts and equitable liens in and against the assets so fraudulently conveyed.

Tracing, Freezing Assets, Accounting, and Disgorgement

- 39. As a result of the Defendants' wrongful conduct as set out above, the Plaintiff is entitled to trace all amounts received or disbursed by the Defendants as part of or as a result of the conduct outlined above. The Plaintiff is also entitled to an accounting of the monies belonging to the Plaintiff that have come into the possession of the Defendants and to an accounting of any benefit received by the Defendants as a result of the Diverted Funds.
- 40. The Plaintiff is also entitled to interlocutory and permanent injunctions restraining the Defendants from disposing of any of their assets wheresoever located and an accounting of all of the Defendants' assets, effects, and property, including any trust account or jointly held assets, any improper disposition thereof, and all money had or received by the Defendants or anyone on their behalf.
- 41. The Defendants are liable to make restitution to the Plaintiff and to disgorge any benefit they have received from the Diverted Funds to the Plaintiff.
- 42. The Plaintiff has also suffered significant out of pocket expenses and special damages in its detection, investigation, and quantification of the fraud and losses suffered and the attempt to recover the Diverted Funds, in an amount to be proven at trial.

Technical Matters

- 43. The Plaintiff believes it is unlikely that the Trial in this Action will exceed 25 days
- 44. The Plaintiff proposes that the Trial of this Action be held at the Calgary Courts Centre, in the City of Calgary, in the Province of Alberta.

Service Ex Juris on Mr. Deng

- 45. There is a real and substantial connection between Alberta and the facts on which the claims in this Action are based, including that:
  - (a) Mr. Deng was a director of relevant Alberta-based corporations and the claim is governed by the laws of Alberta;
  - (b) The claim relates to torts committed in Alberta;
  - (c) The claim related to the removal of assets from an Alberta-based corporation;
  - (d) The defendant, Mr. Deng, although outside Alberta, is a necessary or proper party to the action brought by others who are resident in Alberta;
  - (e) The Action relates to a breach of an equitable duty in Alberta.

Remedy sought:

| 46. | The Plaintiff seeks against the Defendants | jointly and severally: |
|-----|--------------------------------------------|------------------------|
|-----|--------------------------------------------|------------------------|

- (a) An Order for service ex juris permitting service of the documents in this Action on Mr. Deng in the PRC;
- (b) An Order freezing the assets of all the defendants named in this Statement of Claim or granting other interim relief as may be sought;
- (c) A Norwich Order for the disclosure of records and information relating to the bank accounts of each of the Defendants;
- Judgment, or in the alternative damages, for the fraudulent taking of the Diverted Funds in the amount of $44 million and such further amounts as will be discovered through the oral and documentary discovery process in the within Action and proven at Trial;
- (e) An Order declaring that any funds or benefits received by Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng, or Mr. Lam from the Diverted Funds are held in trust for H Corp. and that H Corp. is permitted to trace the Diverted Funds that Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng, and Mr. Lam fraudulently obtained from H Corp. into and through any financial institution accounts or deposit facilities in the names of Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng, or Mr. Lam and into or through any assets purchased by Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng, or Mr. Lam;
- (f) An Order declaring that Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng, and Mr. Lam must account to H Corp. for all monies taken from H Corp. as the Diverted Funds;
- (g) An Order declaring that any funds or benefits received by Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run from the Diverted Funds are held in trust for H Corp. and that H Corp. is permitted to trace as follows the Diverted Funds that Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run fraudulently obtained from H Corp. into and through any financial institution accounts or deposit facilities in the names of Calgary Sinoenergy or Long Run and into or through any assets purchased by Calgary Sinoenergy or Long Run or into the hands of any person or entity;
- (h) An Order declaring that Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run must account to H Corp. for all monies taken from H Corp. as the Diverted Funds and disgorge same;
- (i) Setting aside the Fraudulent Conveyances and granting constructive trusts or equitable liens over any assets so fraudulently conveyed;
- (j) Special damages and out of pocket expenses arising out of the detection, investigation, quantification, and recovery of the fraud, losses and consequential losses suffered by H Corp. in the amount to be proven at the Trial of this Action;

- (k) Interest in accordance with the Judgment Interest Act, RSA 2000, c J-1, as amended;
- (I) Costs of this Action on a full indemnity solicitor and own client basis; and
- (m) Such further and other relief as this Honourable Court may deem just.

NOTICE TO THE DEFENDANT(S)

You only have a short time to do something to defend yourself against this Claim:

20 days if you are served in Alberta 1 month if you are served outside Alberta but in Canada 2 months if you are served outside Canada.

You can respond by filing a Statement of Defence or a Demand for Notice in the office of the clerk of the Court of Queen's Bench at Calgary, Alberta, AND serving your Statement of Defence or a Demand for Notice on the Plaintiff's(s') address for service.

WARNING

If you do not file and serve a Statement of Defence or a Demand for Notice within your time period, you risk losing the law suit automatically. If you do not file, or do not serve, or are late in doing either of these things, a Court may give a judgment to the Plaintiff(s) against you.

Form 11 [Rule 3.31]

Clerk's stamp:

COURT FILE NUMBER

COURT

JUDICIAL CENTRE

PLAINTIFF

DEFENDANTS

DOCUMENT

PARTIES FILING THIS DOCUMENT

ADDRESS FOR SERVICE AND CONTACT INFORMATION OF PARTY FILING THIS DOCUMENT

COURT OF QUEEN'S BENCH OF ALBERTA

CALGARY

2001-03353

HENENGHAIXIN CORP.

TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG aka LAKE DENG, MICHAEL LAM, CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP., LONG RUN EXPLORATION LTD., JOHN DOE and ABC CORPORATION

STATEMENT OF DEFENCE

CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP. and LONG RUN EXPLORATION LTD.

Dentons Canada LLP 15th Floor, 850 – 2nd Street SW Calgary, AB T2P 0R8 Attn: Lillian Y. Pan, Q.C. / Elizabeth Allum Ph. (403) 268-7171 / 3003 Fax. (403) 268-3100 Email: lillian.pan@dentons.com / elizabeth.allum@dentons.com File No. 582519-1

Note: State below only facts and not evidence (Rule 13.6)

Statement of facts relied on:

- This is the Statement of Defence of the Defendants, Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. ("Calgary Sino") and Long Run Exploration Ltd. ("Long Run") (collectively the "Corporate Defendants").
- 2. Except as expressly stated otherwise and specifically admitted in this Statement of Defence, Calgary Sino and Long Run deny any and all allegations in the Statement of Claim of Henenghaixin Corp. ("H Corp.") and put H Corp. to the strict proof thereof.
- 3. The Corporate Defendants admit paragraphs 2 and 3 of the Statement of Claim. The Corporate Defendants agree with paragraphs 43 and 44 of the Statement of Claim.
- 4. The Corporate Defendants have no specific knowledge of the corporate/shareholder structure of H Corp. described in paragraph 1 of the Statement of Claim. Further they have no knowledge and deny any and all of the allegations in paragraphs 7 to 42 of the Statement of Claim and put H Corp. to the strict proof thereof.

5. Except as expressly stated otherwise, all pleadings of fact in this Statement of Defence that reference facts as they existed at the material time, such material time refers to the time period of 2017, 2018, and early 2019 when the alleged events complained of by H Corp. allegedly took place.

The Parties

- 6. The Plaintiff, H Corp., is a corporation incorporated under the laws of the Province of Alberta. It is the 100% shareholder of an Alberta company called West Lake Energy Corp. ("West Lake"). York City Enterprises Ltd. ("York City"), a company incorporated in the British Virgin Islands, is the 100% shareholder of H Corp.
- 7. The Corporate Defendants are corporations incorporated under the laws of the Province of Alberta. At all material time, Calgary Sino was a holding company and the 100% shareholder of Long Run. Long Run is an operating oil and gas company in Alberta. Calgary Sino was not an operating oil and gas company at the material time.
- 8. The Defendant, Tianzhou Deng ("Mr. Deng"), is an individual who apparently resides in The People's Republic of China. Mr. Deng was a member of the Board of Directors of the Corporate Defendants. Specifically,
  - (a) Mr. Deng was a member of the Board of Directors of Calgary Sino from December 9, 2015 to November 18, 2019; and
  - (b) Mr. Deng was a member of the Board of Directors of Long Run from June 29, 2016 to November 18, 2019.
- 9. After November 18, 2019, Mr. Deng had no further involvement or ongoing direct dealings with the Corporate Defendants. After January 27, 2020, when Mr. Deng's daughter Ms. Deng (as defined below) was no longer a member of the Board of Directors of Long Run, Mr. Deng ceased to have any dealings with the Corporate Defendants. At the material time, Mr. Deng was also a member of the Board of Directors of H Corp. and of West Lake.
- 10. The Defendant, Xiaobo Deng, also known as Lake Deng ("Ms. Deng"), is an individual ordinarily resident in Calgary, Alberta and is the daughter of Mr. Deng. Ms. Deng was a member of the Board of Directors of Long Run from October 22, 2016 to January 27, 2020. Thereafter she ceased to have any dealings with Long Run. Ms. Deng, until April 4, 2018, was also a member of the Board of Directors of West Lake.
- 11. The Corporate Defendants deny that Mr. Deng and Ms. Deng are currently members of the Board of Directors of Calgary Sino and/or Long Run, contrary to paragraphs 4 and 5 of the Statement of Claim.
- 12. The Defendant, Michael Lam ("Mr. Lam"), is an individual ordinarily resident in Calgary, Alberta. Mr. Lam was the Vice-President, Finance of Calgary Sino at the material time and until January 10, 2020 when he was removed and terminated from this position. Thereafter he ceased to have any dealings with the Corporate Defendants.
- 13. At the material time and up to the date of his termination on January 10, 2020, Mr. Lam in his capacity as Vice-President, Finance of Calgary Sino was in the position to determine the flow of funds between Calgary Sino and Long Run as well as determine and verify payments made by Calgary Sino to other persons or companies. He did so with the concurrence or under the direction of Mr. Deng and/or Ms. Deng at the material time.

14. Collectively, Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam are hereinafter referred to as the "Three Defendants". By reason of their role and involvement with Calgary Sino and Long Run at the material time, the Three Defendants were fiduciaries to the Corporate Defendants and owed a duty of care to them and to act in the best interests of the Corporate Defendants.

The Consulting Contracts

- 15. The Corporate Defendants have no information as to what role, if any, Ms. Deng played at the material time or thereafter in relation to Calgary Sino. For reasons unknown to the Corporate Defendants, but known to the Three Defendants, Ms. Deng, through an Alberta numbered company, namely 1980264 Alberta Ltd., had a contract for an indefinite term to provide "consulting services" as a Senior Legal Advisor for Calgary Sino commencing August 5, 2016 for a consulting fee of $15,000 monthly plus expenses for which she was paid monthly by Calgary Sino. To the Corporate Defendants' knowledge Ms. Deng is not licensed to practice as a lawyer in Alberta. The Corporate Defendants are unable to determine what services, if any, were supplied by Ms. Deng or her numbered Alberta company to Calgary Sino triggering these payments made by Calgary Sino, under the direction of Mr. Lam, during the material time or the nature of her responsibilities, if any, within Calgary Sino.
- 16. At the material time, the Three Defendants also caused or permitted Calgary Sino to enter into a contract with a numbered Alberta company controlled by Mr. Lam, namely 1838967 Alberta Ltd., relating to Mr. Lam's "expertise in LNG transportation and export facility". The Corporate Defendants are unable to determine what services, if any, were supplied by Mr. Lam to Calgary Sino related to this alleged "LNG transportation and export facility" or the specific nature of his services, if any, related to Calgary Sino that triggered payments from Calgary Sino, under the direction of Mr. Lam and with the concurrence of Mr. Deng and/or Ms. Deng, to Mr. Lam's numbered Alberta company during the material time.
- 17. At the material time, the Three Defendants also caused or permitted Calgary Sino to enter into a contract with a numbered Alberta company controlled by Hao Wang, also known as Harold Wang ("Mr. Wang"), namely 1988680 Alberta Ltd. Mr. Wang is an individual ordinarily resident in Alberta, and a relative of Mr. Deng and Ms. Deng. Mr. Wang was a member of the Board of Directors of Calgary Sino from December 9, 2015 to November 30, 2016. In a number of contracts entered into by Calgary Sino, Mr. Wang signed on behalf of Calgary Sino, to the knowledge of and under the direction of the Three Defendants. However, since July 4, 2016, Mr. Wang, through his numbered Alberta company, was paid a consulting fee as a "Senior Investment Advisor" by Calgary Sino. The Corporate Defendants are unable to determine what services, if any, were supplied by Mr. Wang to Calgary Sino that triggered payments from Calgary Sino, under the direction of Mr. Lam and with the concurrence of Mr. Deng and/or Ms. Deng, to Mr. Wang's numbered Alberta company during the material time.

Other Payments

18. At the material time until his termination in January 2020, Mr. Lam controlled and directed the overall financial affairs of Calgary Sino, including making the determinations to route certain payments payable to Long Run through Calgary Sino and directing payments to be made to other parties whose relationship to Calgary Sino are not known and for which there are no supporting records for such payments. Some payments made by Calgary Sino at the material time under the direction of Mr. Lam, included payments by Calgary Sino to Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corp., payments to and from Calgary Sino with East River Oil and Gas Limited, payments to Ms. Deng, and Mr. Wang, among others, the source of which funds may have come originally from H Corp., which is denied, and were ultimately for the benefit of H Corp., its shareholders or affiliates, or for the personal benefit of the Three Defendants personally or for the benefit of their other business interests.

- 19. At the material time, Mr. Lam, together or under the direction of Ms. Deng and/or Mr. Deng, and pursuant to alleged contracts signed by Mr. Wang on behalf of Calgary Sino, directed certain payments to be made:
  - (a) from Calgary Sino to a number company related to Yingchun Wu ("Mr. Wu"), who at the material time was the Chief Operating Officer of H Corp.; and
  - (b) from Calgary Sino to an Alberta company for the services of Steven Neu ("Mr. Neu"), who at the material time was a member of the Board of Directors of H Corp, which payments of funds may have come originally from H Corp., which is denied, for reasons and purposes unknown to the Corporate Defendants, but known to Mr. Lam, the Three Defendants and/or Mr. Wu and Mr. Neu. Any and all such payments through contracts with companies controlled by Mr. Wu and Mr. Neu were to further the interests of H Corp. and/ or the interests of the Three Defendants. None of these payments made by Calgary Sino under the direction of Mr. Lam or the Three Defendants at the material time were for the benefit of Calgary Sino or Long Run. These payments were made without any apparent justification as Calgary Sino was a holding company and not an operating company.

- 20. At the material time, Mr. Lam and/or the Three Defendants caused Calgary Sino and/or Long Run to make certain material payments to a number of persons and companies for which there are no records or justification, were not in the best interests of the Corporate Defendants and which transactions were to further the personal and/or other business interests of the Three Defendants, including to the benefit of H Corp. and/or West Lake, and unrelated to the legitimate business interests of the Corporate Defendants. Certain payments directed by the Three Defendants may have been made by Qingdao Sinoenergy Asset Management, by Jiaxing Tianji Lizhen and/or Jiaxing Huachang Equity in China, to the benefit of H Corp. or as a set-off against any amounts found owing to H Corp. by the Corporate Defendants, which is denied, all of which knowledge and records are known to the Three Defendants, but are not within the knowledge of the Corporate Defendants.
- 21. For reasons unknown to the Corporate Defendants, and based upon oral or written arrangements or agreements unknown to the Corporate Defendants, in or about December 2016, Calgary Sino paid at least $20,000,000 USD and Long Run made certain unknown payments to the account of H Corp. for the acquisition of certain assets of Twin Butte Energy Ltd. ("Twin Butte"), which assets now form part of West Lake's oil and gas operations. For reasons not known to the Corporate Defendants, an alleged loan agreement, according to Mr. Lam, was entered into between Calgary Sino and York City at the material time. Calgary Sino, under the direction of Mr. Lam or the Three Defendants, directed certain payments to be made by Calgary Sino to York City at the material time allegedly for the account of H Corp. and in furtherance of such loan, which is denied.

Any matters that defeat the claim of the plaintiff(s):

- 22. At all material times the financial affairs of Calgary Sino were under the direction of Mr. Lam, who in his capacity as the Vice-President of Finance of Calgary Sino was required to oversee the proper payments and appropriate documentation of the financial affairs which involved Calgary Sino and Long Run. Mr. Lam did not properly document the transactions of funds entering or leaving the account(s) for Calgary Sino at the material time.
- 23. During the material time, Mr. Lam directed funds to be transferred by staff at Calgary Sino and Long Run under his direction. These staff are no longer employed with Calgary Sino and/or Long Run.
- 24. To the extent that funds of Calgary Sino and/or Long Run were transferred to other individuals/companies outside the Corporate Defendants not in the ordinary course of business or for the operations of Long Run, they were done by Mr. Lam or under his direction, not for the benefit of the Corporate Defendants and such funds are not attributable at law as owing to H Corp. by Calgary Sino and/or Long Run under the doctrine of corporate attribution.
- 25. The Corporate Defendants deny they knowingly assisted the Three Defendants as the alleged improper actions of each of the Three Defendants were done for their own personal benefit or their other business interests unrelated to the Corporate Defendants, and any constructive knowledge imputed to the Corporate Defendants does not affix liability at law to the Corporate Defendants.
- 26. The Corporate Defendants deny they have liability for knowing receipt. To the extent, there are funds from H Corp. received by the Corporate Defendants, which is denied, such were the subject of contracts entered into by one of the Corporate Defendants with the other or with H Corp. or its related companies, including York City and there is a juristic reason and no unjust enrichment to the Corporate Defendants.
- 27. In any event, the Corporate Defendants have no actual or constructive knowledge and are not liable for knowing assistance to any alleged misrepresentation, as alleged by H Corp. in paragraphs 24 to 26 of the Statement of Claim, which is expressly denied. Any alleged act of misrepresentation asserted against any of the Three Defendants by H Corp. are not at law attributable to the Corporate Defendants.
- 28. To the extent that any acts of misrepresentation involved the Three Defendants concerning H Corp., such acts were not done in their capacity as the directing minds of Calgary Sino or Long Run and may have been in their capacity as the directing minds of H Corp., West Lake or other related companies. Calgary Sino and/or Long Run were the pawns used by the Three Defendants or any of them as the initial recipients of such funds and to the extent such funds were then redirected out of the accounts of Calgary Sino and/or Long Run by any of the Three Defendants, then the Corporate Defendants are not at law liable to account for those funds. To the extent that some of those funds are still retained by Calgary Sino and/or Long Run, which is denied, there was no conversion at law and there is a juristic reason for the enrichment including contractual rights, arising from contract(s) oral or in writing made with the parent company of H Corp. and done within the knowledge and concurrence of H Corp., including its director Mr. Neu and its officer, Mr. Wu, and the Three Defendants in their roles at H Corp. and/or West Lake. Such knowledge or information of the transactions or contracts are primarily within the knowledge or information of Mr. Lam and known to and approved by Mr. Deng and/or Ms. Deng.

- 29. The Corporate Defendants deny they conspired with the Three Defendants or that they were at law trustees of any alleged funds of H Corp. To the extent Calgary Sino advanced or paid funds for the benefit of H Corp. or its subsidiary West Lake, or its parent York City, directly or indirectly, which is denied, Calgary Sino is entitled to set-off such amounts against any alleged amounts proven by H Corp. to be owed to H Corp.
- 30. Mr. Lam or the Three Defendants authorized consulting contracts entered into by Calgary Sino with a company controlled by Mr. Neu, a director of H Corp., and with a company controlled by Mr. Wu, the chief operating officer of H Corp. at the materials time for reasons unknown to the Corporate Defendants for which they are liable to account for the funds they received from H Corp. While the Corporate Defendants Mr. Lam or the Three Defendants authorized and directed payments to be made by Calgary Sino and/or Long Run to third parties, as described above, for reasons not known to Calgary Sino and/or Long Run, such are apparently for the benefit of H Corp. As described above any companies which apparently have received payments from Calgary Sino and/or Long Run or received payments through other entities controlled by the Three Defendants which were allegedly made for the account of the Corporate Defendants to the ultimate benefit of H Corp. the Corporate Defendants are entitled to such set-offs against H Corp. Through the authority of its own directors or through the knowledge of H Corp.'s shareholder at the material time, H Corp. knew and implicitly or explicitly authorized any such alleged impugned transactions.
- 31. H Corp. invokes the remedy of tracing the funds and must recover from the recipients who are the final recipients of any such alleged funds of H Corp. which went through the accounts of Calgary Sino and/or Long Run. In any event such recipients received alleged funds which were for the benefit of H Corp. or its subsidiary West Lake, any alleged improper transactions which flowed through Calgary Sino was done with the concurrence of Mr. Neu, a director of H Corp. and thereby attributable to H Corp. and/or West Lake, and done with the concurrence of Mr. Lam who had actual or ostensive authority from H Corp. to transact on behalf of H Corp. Mr. Neu, through a company he controlled at the material time was a consultant to Calgary Sino as well as a director of H Corp. and as such makes H Corp. fully aware of the activities of Calgary Sino and it condoned them. In the alternative, Mr. Neu has personal liability for any payment he may have received from Calgary Sino to the extent they are traced to funds from H Corp. within Calgary Sino, which is denied.
- 32. In any event, the alleged misrepresentations described in paragraphs 28 to 30 of the Statement of Claim did not involve Calgary Sino or Long Run. To the extent these alleged misrepresentations were made by any of the Three Defendants they were made in their capacity as the directors/officers/directing minds of H Corp. and/or West Lake and/or for their own personal account or business interests and benefit.
- 33. The Corporate Defendants had no involvement in the preparation, presentation or representations of any alleged untrue records which relate to H Corp. or its subsidiary West Lake. To the extent that the Corporate Defendants, West Lake and H Corp. share some common directors and officers, namely any of the Three Defendants, the actions and activity taken by any of the Three Defendants were taken outside their respective roles as directors, officers or directing minds of the Corporate Defendants. To the extent any and all alleged misrepresentations were made by Mr. Lam or the Three Defendants they were not within the scope of Mr. Lam's duties to or authority for either Calgary Sino or Long Run and were for personal gain and/or for the collective business gain of the Three Defendants.

- 34. The alleged misrepresentations raised by H Corp. in the Statement of Claim, to the extent they were committed, which is denied, were a part of a larger financial scheme to benefit the Three Defendants personally or their other financial interests, and not to benefit Calgary Sino or Long Run. They are not attributable at law to Calgary Sino or Long Run.
- 35. The Corporate Defendants deny that they bear any responsibility at law for any alleged wrongful acts in relation to any alleged funds of H Corp.
- 36. In any event, given the directing minds, officers and/or directors of H Corp at the material time included Mr. Neu, Mr. Wu and the Three Defendants, H Corp. is time-barred to assert its claim pursuant to the Limitations Act of Alberta, RSA 2000, c.L-12.
- 37. The Corporate Defendants deny that H Corp. is entitled as against the Corporate Defendants to any extraordinary relief, including any Mareva injunction or interlocutory or permanent injunction or attachment orders under the Civil Enforcement Act of Alberta.

Remedy sought:

38. The Corporate Defendants deny that H Corp. is entitled to the relief it seeks. Calgary Sino and Long Run plead that all claims against them should be dismissed with costs on the highest scale that this Honourable Court deems to be just. Exhibit "21"

Shanghai Stock Exchange Decisions 2020 No. 45 and English translation, May-06-20

16 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT " 21 " Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

laros

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 2026

上海证券交易所 纪律处分决定书

[2020] 45 号

关于对长春中天能源股份有限公司 及有关责任人予以纪律处分的决定

当事人:

长春中天能源股份有限公司,A股简称: ST中天,A股证券 代码: 600856;

邓天洲, 长春中天能源股份有限公司实际控制人暨时任董事 长兼总裁;

黄 博,长春中天能源股份有限公司实际控制人暨时任董事 长兼总裁;

陈正钢,长春中天能源股份有限公司时任董事会秘书;

孙永成,长春中天能源股份有限公司时任董事会秘书;
徐天啸,长春中天能源股份有限公司时任董事会秘书;
王海玲,长春中天能源股份有限公司时任总会计师;
穆天玉,长春中天能源股份有限公司时任总会计师。

一、上市公司及相关主体违规情况

经查明,长春中天能源股份有限公司(以下简称 ST 中天或 公司)在信息披露、规范运作方面,有关责任人在职责履行方面, 存在以下违规行为。

(一)公司对外担保未按规定履行审议程序和信息披露义务

2016年-2018年期间,公司在未履行相关审议程序和信息披露义务的情况下,为公司控股股东青岛中天资产管理有限公司 (以下简称中天资产)及其子公司和非关联方的 16 笔借款提供 担保,合计金额 22.91 亿元。具体情况如下:

2016年6月22日,公司为控股股东中天资产及其全资孙公司武汉中能燃气有限公司(以下简称武汉中能)的3份融资租赁合同承担回购义务,合计金额6亿元,占公司2015年度经审计净资产的32.14%。对于上述回购义务,公司直至2019年10月19日才对外公告并称,该回购义务构成对外担保,同时该担保也未履行股东大会审议程序。

2017 年 7 月 5 日与 10 月 27 日,公司为武汉中能与江苏中 能燃气有限公司的 1 亿元与 0.6 亿元借款提供担保,合计金额 1.6 亿元,占公司 2016 年度经审计净资产的 6.92%。对于上述担 -2保事项,公司未及时披露,也未按规定履行股东大会审议程序, 直至 2019 年 10 月 19 日才对外披露。

2017 年 3 月 30 日与 5 月 16 日,公司分别为非关联方北京 中油三环科技发展有限公司与武汉市绿能天然气运输集团有限 公司(以下简称武汉绿能)的 2.4 亿元与 3 亿元借款提供担保, 分别占公司 2016 年度经审计净资产的 10.37%与 12.97%。对于上 述担保事项,公司未及时披露,也未按规定履行股东大会审议程 序,直至 2019 年 10 月 19 日与 8 月 10 日才对外披露。

2018年1月19日-12月11日期间,公司为中天资产及公司 控股子公司青岛中天能源集团股份有限公司(以下简称青岛中 天)合计9.21亿元的7笔借款提供担保,占公司2017年度经审 计净资产的18.71%。对于上述担保事项,公司未按规定履行股 东大会审议程序,直至2019年7月11日与10月19日才对外披 露。

另外,公司为非关联方武汉绿能的 5000 万元借款和新余格 菲投资合伙企业(有限合伙)的 2000 万元借款提供担保,分别 占最近一期净资产的 0.73%与 0.29%。上述担保已经累计达到股 东大会审议的标准,但公司未及时披露,也未按规定履行股东大 会决策程序,直至 2019 年 8 月 3 日与 10 月 19 日对外披露。

因上述违规担保事项,公司股票于 2019 年 8 月 12 日被实施 其他风险警示。

(二)公司未及时披露担保债务到期未予归还情况

自 2018 年 4 月 27 日至 2019 年 5 月 18 日,公司上述担保涉

- 3 -

及债务的借款期限陆续届满(部分债务因被担保方未能按照借款 协议的约定偿还本息加速到期),担保涉及相关债务合计金额 18.11 亿元,占公司 2017 年末净资产的 36.76%,公司可能承担 担保责任。根据相关规定,被担保方未能在借款到期后 15 个交 易日内履行还款义务,或者被担保人出现破产、清算或其他严重 影响其还款能力的情形,公司应当及时披露。但直至债权人提起 诉讼后,公司才在 2019 年 7 月 11 日、8 月 3 日、8 月 10 日、10 月 19 日的涉及诉讼公告中一并予以披露,信息披露不及时。

(三)公司未及时披露诉讼事项

上述 16 笔担保中的债权人已通过诉讼方式,将公司列为共同被告,请求公司承担担保责任。公司已累计收到 14 份应诉通知书,涉诉金额合计 14.15 亿元,占公司 2018 年度经审计净资产的 35.74%,占公司 2018 年度经审计净利润-8.01 亿元绝对值的 176.65%。2019 年 4 月 11 日,公司收到为武汉绿能担保案的应诉通知书,累计诉讼达到披露标准。除于 2019 年 6 月 18 日披露的与平安信托有限公司 3.5 亿元的诉讼外,其他 13 起诉讼公司均未按规定及时披露,直至 2019 年 7 月 11 日、8 月 3 日、8 月 10 日、10 月 19 日才披露对外担保事项及相关诉讼情况。

(四) 对外投资事项未及时披露

根据中国证监会吉林监管局《关于对长春中天能源股份有限 公司及有关责任人采取出具警示函措施的决定》(吉证监决 [2019]9号)查明的事实,公司存在以下2笔对外投资事项未 按规定及时履行信息披露义务。

-4-

2016 年 12 月 19 日,公司控股子公司青岛中天董事会审议 通过了联合荆州市合平能源有限公司通过公司控股孙公司青岛 中天宇恒能源有限公司收购加拿大阿尔伯塔省 Twin Butte Energy Ltd. (以下简称 TBE 项目)的油气资产并增资以增加油 气产能的议案,青岛中天出资 13.95 亿元,占公司 2015 年经审 计净资产的 74.72%。2017 年 2 月 23 日,上述对外投资通过青岛 市发展和改革委员会(以下简称青岛发改委)备案。上述公司对 外投资事项已达到重大资产重组标准,应当履行董事会、股东大 会决策程序。但公司未按规定履行相应的决策程序,也未及时披 露重大资产重组相关信息。另经核实,2017 年 3 月 31 日,上述 对外投资项目进行结构调整,青岛中天对该项目的投资金额调整 为 1000 万元,占公司 2015 年度经审计净资产的 0.54%。

2018年5月11日,公司控股子公司青岛中天董事会审议通 过青岛中天以自有资金收购加拿大阿尔伯塔省 Connacher 0i1 and Gas Ltd.全部资产并增资扩产项目的议案,同意青岛中天通 过青岛天际能源有限公司进行收购,投资总额不超过9亿元。上 述投资金额占公司2017年经审计净资产的18.27%。2018年7月 16日,公司上述对外投资通过青岛发改委备案。2018年11月 12日,青岛中天终止上述项目投资且未实际出资。

二、责任认定和处分决定

(一)责任认定

公司为关联方和非关联方提供多笔担保均未及时披露,未履行股东大会决策程序,未及时披露担保债务到期未及时归还情

- 5 -

况,未及时披露公司涉诉事项,未及时披露并审议重大对外投资 事项,情节严重。公司上述行为严重违反了《上海证券交易所股 票上市规则》(以下简称《股票上市规则》)第2.1条、第2.3条、 第9.3条、第9.11条、第9.15条、第10.2.6条、第11.1.1条 等有关规定。

公司实际控制人暨时任董事长兼总裁邓天洲、黄博作为公司 主要负责人和信息披露第一责任人,同时负责公司和控股股东经 营管理和重大事项决策,二人主导了公司为自己控制的企业违规 提供担保,也未能配合与督促公司就担保债务到期、重大诉讼、 对外投资事项及时履行信息披露义务,对上述违规负有主要责 任。

时任董事会秘书孙永成、陈正钢、徐天啸作为公司信息披露 事务具体负责人,未能勤勉尽责,分别对各自任期内公司相关事 项信息披露违规行为负有相应责任。时任董事会秘书孙永成对其 任期内公司承担回购义务的3份融资租赁合同(涉及金额6亿元) 信息披露违规事项承担责任。时任董事会秘书陈正钢对其任期内 公司违规担保及对外投资等信息披露违规事项承担责任。时任董 事会秘书徐天啸对公司所涉诉讼及部分债务到期未及时披露事 项承担责任。公司时任总会计师王海玲、穆天玉作为公司财务负 责人,对其各自任期内涉及的部分违规事项负有责任。上述人员 未能勤勉尽责,其行为违反了《股票上市规则》第 2.2 条、第 3.1.4条、第 3.1.5条、第 3.2.2条的规定及其在《董事(监事、 高级管理人员)声明及承诺书》中作出的承诺。

- 6 -

(二)当事人异议理由及申辩意见

公司及相关责任人提出如下申辩理由:一是违规担保系实际 控制人个人行为导致,因未向公司报告导致公司无法及时披露。 公司主观上不存在隐瞒的故意,恳请从轻处分。二是时任总会计 师王海玲、穆天玉提出,上述担保未履行决策程序、相关资金也 未进入公司账户,其无法知情,仅应当承担间接责任。对于 2016 年的担保事项,由于经办人员未向其提供承担回购义务的文件, 因此其无法知悉回购义务的存在。穆天玉还称,相关违规事项发 生在其任职前,不应由其承担直接责任。三是时任董事会秘书孙 永成提出,其任期内发生的违规担保事项未经董事会决策程序, 因此其无从知晓。

(三) 纪律处分决定

针对上述异议理由,结合相关材料查明的事实,上海证券交 易所(以下简称本所)认为:一是公司作为违规担保行为的作出 方,未能建立并执行完善的内部控制制度,未能有效防范实际控 制人滥用控制地位、利用上市公司为自己担保的违规行为,以致 面临承担巨额担保责任的重大风险,公司因此被实施其他风险警 示,违规事实清楚明确。公司提出的实际控制人个人行为、无主 观隐瞒故意等异议理由不予采纳。二是实际控制人承认,其作出 违规担保后未及时告知公司及管理层人员。对于违规担保行为的 发生,相关责任人事先确难以知情,也无法督促履行应尽义务, 存在一定的客观履职障碍。时任总会计师王海玲、穆天玉和时任 董事会秘书孙永成仅对任期内部分违规担保事项负责,上述责任

-7-

人提出的相关异议理由可酌情予以考虑。三是经核实,穆天玉自 2017年10月15日起担任公司财务总监职务,而公司在2018年 仍有违规担保事项发生,其所称"违规担保事项均发生在任职前" 的异议理由不能成立。此外,实际控制人能够利用职权便利绕开 公司决策程序作出违规担保行为,反映出公司在印章管理、担保 审议、信息披露等内部控制制度方面存在较大缺陷。上述责任人 作为公司信息披露和财务事项的负责人,未能勤勉尽责,不能以 不知情为由完全免除相关责任。

鉴于上述违规事实和情节,经本所纪律处分委员会审核通 过,根据《股票上市规则》第17.2条、第17.3条、第17.4条 和《上海证券交易所纪律处分和监管措施实施办法》的有关规定, 本所做出如下纪律处分决定:对长春中天能源股份有限公司,公 司实际控制人暨时任董事长兼总裁邓天洲、黄博和时任董事会秘 书陈正钢予以公开谴责,并公开认定邓天洲、黄博5年内不适合 担任上市公司董事、监事和高级管理人员;对时任总会计师王海 玲、穆天玉,时任董事会秘书孙永成、徐天啸予以通报批评。

对于上述纪律处分,本所将通报中国证监会和吉林省人民政府,并记入上市公司诚信档案。公开谴责、公开认定的当事人如 对上述公开谴责、公开认定的纪律处分决定不服,可于15个交 易日内向本所申请复核,复核期间不停止本决定的执行。

公司应当引以为戒,严格按照法律、法规和《股票上市规则》 的规定规范运作,认真履行信息披露义务;上市公司实际控制人 应当严格遵守法律法规和本所业务规则,自觉维护证券市场秩 -8序,认真履行信息披露义务,及时告知公司相关重大事项,积极 配合上市公司做好信息披露工作;董事、监事、高级管理人员应 当履行忠实、勤勉义务,促使公司规范运作,并保证公司及时、 公平、真实、准确和完整地披露所有重大信息。

上海证券交易所

二〇二〇年五月六日

Shanghai Stock Exchange

Disciplinary Decision

[2020] No. 45

(translation of Chinese)

Decision on imposing disciplinary sanctions on Changchun Sinoenergy Corp. and relevant responsible persons

Parties:

Changchun Sinoenergy Corp., A-Share abbreviation: ST Zhongtian, A-Share stock code: 600856;

Deng, Tianzhou, actual controller and then chairman and president of Changchun Sinoenergy Corp;

Huang, Bo, actual controller and then chairman and president of Changchun Sinoenergy Corp.;

Chen, Zhenggang, then Secretary of the Board of Directors of Changchun Sinoenergy Corp.;

Sun, Yongcheng, then Secretary of the Board of Directors of Changchun Sinoenergy Corp.;

Xu, Tianxiao, then secretary of the board of directors of Changchun Sinoenergy Corp.;

Wang, Hailing, then Chief Accountant of Changchun Sinoenergy Corp.;

Mu, Tianyu, then Chief Accountant of Changchun Sinoenergy Corp.

I. Violations by listed companies and related entities

It has been found that Changchun Sinoenergy Corp. (hereinafter referred to as ST Zhongtian or the Company) has committed the following violations in terms of information disclosure, standardized operations, and the performance of duties by relevant responsible persons.

(I) The company failed to comply with the review procedures and information disclosure obligations for external guarantees.

From 2016 to 2018, the Company provided guarantees for 16 loans of the company's controlling shareholder Qingdao Sinoenergy Asset Management Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "Zhongtian Asset") and its subsidiaries and non-related parties without fulfilling the relevant review procedures and information disclosure obligations, with a total amount of 2.291 billion yuan. The specific situation is as follows:

On June 22, 2016, the Company assumed the repurchase obligation for three financial lease contracts of the controlling shareholder Zhongtian Asset and its wholly-owned subsidiary Wuhan Zhongneng Gas Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "Wuhan Zhongneng"), with a total amount of RMB 600 million, accounting for 32.14% of the Company's audited net assets in 2015. The Company did not announce the above repurchase obligation until October 19, 2019, stating that the repurchase obligation constituted an external guarantee, and the guarantee did not comply with the shareholder meeting review procedure.

On July 5 and October 27, 2017, the Company provided guarantees for RMB 100 million and RMB 60 million loans of Wuhan Zhongneng and Jiangsu Zhongneng Gas Co., Ltd., with a total amount of RMB 160 million, accounting for 6.92% of the Company's audited net assets in 2016. The Company did not disclose the above guarantee matters in a timely manner, nor did it follow the shareholders' meeting review procedures as required, and it was not disclosed to the public until October 19, 2019.

On March 30 and May 16, 2017, the Company provided guarantees for loans of RMB 240 million and RMB 300 million to Beijing Zhongyou Sanhuan Technology Development Co., Ltd. and Wuhan Green Energy Natural Gas Transportation Group Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "Wuhan Green Energy"), which were non-related parties, respectively, accounting for 10.37% and 12.97% of the Company's audited net assets in 2016. The company did not disclose the above guarantee matters in a timely manner, nor did it comply with the shareholder meeting review procedures, and did not disclose them to the public until October 19 and August 10, 2019.

From January 19 to December 11, 2018, the Company provided guarantees for seven loans totaling RMB 921 million to Zhongtian Assets and its holding subsidiary Qingdao Sinoenergy Group Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "Qingdao Zhongtian"), accounting for 18.71% of the company's audited net assets in 2017. For the above guarantee matters, the company did not follow the shareholders' meeting review procedures as required, and did not disclose them to the public until July 11 and October 19, 2019.

In addition, the Company provided guarantees for the RMB 50 million loan of Wuhan Green Energy and the RMB 20 million loan of Xinyu Gefei Investment Partnership (Limited Partnership), which accounted for 0.73% and 0.29% of the net assets in the latest period, respectively. The above guarantees have cumulatively reached the standards for review by the shareholders' meeting, but the company did not disclose them in a timely manner, nor did it follow the decision-making procedures of the shareholders' meeting as required, until they were disclosed to the public on August 3 and October 19, 2019. Due to the above-mentioned illegal guarantee matters, the company's stock was subject to other risk warnings on August 12, 2019.

(II) The Company failed to disclose in a timely manner that the secured debts were not repaid when they matured.

From April 27, 2018 to May 18, 2019, the loan terms of the debts involved in the above-mentioned guarantees of the company have expired one after another (some debts have accelerated due to the failure of the guaranteed party to repay the principal and interest in accordance with the loan agreement). The total amount of the related debts involved in the guarantee is 1.811 billion yuan, accounting for 36.76% of the company's net assets at the end of 2017. The Company may bear the guarantee liability. According to relevant regulations, if the guaranteed party fails to fulfill the repayment obligation within 15 trading days after the loan expires, or the guaranteed party goes bankrupt, liquidates or other circumstances that seriously affect its repayment ability, the Company should disclose it in a timely manner. However, it was not until the creditor filed a lawsuit that the Company disclosed it in the lawsuit announcements on July 11, August 3, August 10, and October 19, 2019, and the information disclosure was not timely.

(III) The Company failed to disclose the litigation in a timely manner.

The creditors in the above 16 guarantees have listed the Company as a co-defendant through litigation, requesting the Company to assume the guarantee liability. The Company has received 14 response notices, with a total amount of 1.415 billion yuan involved in the lawsuit, accounting for 35.74% of the Company's audited net assets in 2018 and 176.65% of the absolute value of the company's audited net profit of -801 million yuan in 2018. On April 11, 2019, the Company received a response notice for the Wuhan Green Energy Guarantee Case, and the cumulative litigation reached the disclosure standard. Except for the 350 million yuan lawsuit with Ping An Trust Co., Ltd. disclosed on June 18, 2019, the Company did not disclose the other 13 lawsuits in a timely manner as required, and did not disclose the external guarantee matters and related litigation until July 11, August 3, August 10, and October 19, 2019.

(IV) Failure to disclose outbound investment matters in a timely manner.

According to the facts ascertained by the Jilin Regulatory Bureau of the China Securities Regulatory Commission's "Decision on Issuing a Warning Letter to Changchun Sinoenergy Corp. and Relevant Responsible Persons" (Jilin Securities Regulatory Decision [2019] No. 9), the Company failed to fulfill its information disclosure obligations in a timely manner in accordance with regulations regarding the following two overseas investment matters.

On December 19, 2016, the board of directors of Qingdao Zhongtian, a subsidiary of the Company, reviewed and approved the proposal to join Jingzhou Heping Energy Co. Ltd and jointly acquire the oil and gas assets of Twin Butte Energy Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the "TBE project") in Alberta, Canada through Qingdao Zhongtian Yuheng Energy Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of the Company, and to increase capital to increase oil and gas production capacity. Qingdao Zhongtian invested RMB 1.395 billion, accounting for 74.72% of the Company's audited net assets in 2015. On February 23, 2017, the above-mentioned outbound investment was filed with the Qingdao Development and Reform Commission (hereinafter referred to as the "Qingdao Development and Reform Commission"). The above-mentioned Company's outbound investment has reached the standards for major asset restructuring and should comply with the decision-making procedures of the board of directors and shareholders' meeting. However, the Company did not comply with the relevant decision-making procedures as required, nor did it disclose relevant information on major asset restructuring in a timely manner. It has also been verified that on March 31, 2017, the above-mentioned outbound investment project underwent structural adjustments, and Qingdao Zhongtian's investment in the project was adjusted to RMB 10 million, accounting for 0.54% of the Company's audited net assets in 2015.

On May 11, 2018, the board of directors of Qingdao Zhongtian, a holding subsidiary of the company, reviewed and approved the proposal that Qingdao Zhongtian would use its own funds to acquire all assets of Connacher Oil and Gas Ltd. in Alberta, Canada and increase capital to expand production projects, and agreed that Qingdao Zhongtian would acquire through Qingdao Tianji Energy Co., Ltd., with a total investment of no more than RMB 900 million. The above investment amount accounted for 18.27% of the company's audited net assets in 2017. On July 16, 2018, the Company's above-mentioned foreign investment was filed with the Qingdao Development and Reform Commission. On November 12, 2018, Qingdao Zhongtian terminated the investment in the above-mentioned project and did not actually contribute capital.

- II. Responsibility Determination and Disciplinary Decision
  - 1. Responsibility determination

The Company failed to disclose in a timely manner the multiple guarantees it provided to related parties and non-related parties, failed to comply with the decision-making procedures of the shareholders' meeting, failed to disclose in a timely manner the failure to repay the guaranteed debts when they matured, failed to disclose in a timely manner the Company's litigation matters, and failed to disclose and review major foreign investment matters in a timely manner, which was a serious case. The above-mentioned actions of the company seriously violated relevant provisions of Article 2.1, Article 2.3, Article 9.3, Article 9.11, Article 9.15, Article 10.2.6, Article 11.1.1, etc. of the "Shanghai Stock Exchange Stock Listing Rules" (hereinafter referred to as the "Stock Listing Rules").

Deng, Tianzhou and Huang, Bo, the actual controller of the company and the then chairman and president, were the main persons in charge of the company and the first persons responsible for information disclosure. They were also responsible for the operation and management of the company and the controlling shareholder and for major decision-making. The two led the company to provide illegal guarantees for the enterprises they controlled, and failed to cooperate with and urge the company to fulfill its information disclosure obligations in a timely manner regarding the maturity of guaranteed debts, major litigation, and foreign investment matters. They are primarily responsible for the above-mentioned violations.

[translation omitted on the responsibilities of other responsible persons]

2. The parties' reasons for objection and defense.

The Company and the relevant responsible persons put forward the following reasons for defense: First, the illegal guarantee was caused by the personal behavior of the actual controller, and the Company was unable to disclose it in a timely manner because he did not report it to the Company. The Company did not have the intention to conceal it subjectively, and it pleaded for a lighter punishment. Second, the then chief accountants Wang, Hailing and Mu, Tianyu proposed that the above-mentioned guarantee did not comply with the decision-making procedures, and the relevant funds did not enter the Company's account, so they had no way of knowing and should only bear indirect responsibility. For the guarantee matters in 2016, since the handling personnel did not provide them with the documents for assuming the repurchase obligation, they had no way of knowing the existence of the repurchase obligation. Mu, Tianyu also said that the relevant illegal matters occurred before he took office, and he should not bear direct responsibility. Third, Sun, Yongcheng, the then secretary of the board of directors, proposed that the illegal guarantee matters that occurred during his term of office did not go through the decision-making procedures of the board of directors, so he had no way of knowing.

(III) Disciplinary Decision

In view of the above objection reasons and the facts ascertained in the relevant materials, the Shanghai Stock Exchange (hereinafter referred to as the Exchange) believes that: First, as the party that made the illegal guarantee, the Company failed to establish and implement a sound internal control system and failed to effectively prevent the actual controller from abusing his control position and using the listed company to guarantee for himself, which resulted in the Company facing a major risk of assuming huge guarantee liabilities. As a result, the Company was issued other risk warnings, and the illegal facts were clear and definite. The objection reasons raised by the Company, such as the actual controller's personal behavior and the lack of subjective concealment, were not adopted. Second, the actual controller admitted that he did not inform the Company and management personnel in a timely manner after making the illegal guarantee. It was indeed difficult for the relevant responsible persons to know in advance about the occurrence of the illegal guarantee behavior, and it was impossible to urge them to fulfill their obligations, and there were certain objective obstacles to their performance of duties. The then chief accountant Wang, Hailing, Mu, Tianyu and the then secretary of the board of directors Sun, Yongcheng were only responsible for some illegal guarantee matters during their term of office. The relevant objection reasons raised by the above responsible persons may be considered as appropriate. Third, it has been verified that Mu, Tianyu has served as the Company's chief financial officer since October 15, 2017, and the Company still had illegal guarantees in 2018. His objection that "all illegal guarantees occurred before he took office" is not valid. In addition, the actual controller was able to use his power to bypass the Company's decision-making procedures and make illegal guarantees, which reflects that the Company has major defects in its internal control systems such as seal management, guarantee review, and information disclosure. As the person in charge of the Company's information disclosure and financial matters, the above-mentioned person failed to perform his duties diligently and cannot be completely exempted from relevant responsibilities on the grounds of ignorance.

In view of the above-mentioned facts and circumstances of violation, after review and approval by the Disciplinary Committee of this Exchange, in accordance with Articles 17.2, 17.3, 17.4 of the "Stock Listing Rules" and the relevant provisions of the "Shanghai Stock Exchange Disciplinary and Regulatory Measures Implementation Measures", this Exchange made the following disciplinary decision: to publicly condemn Changchun Sinoenergy Corp., the Company's actual controller and the then chairman and president Deng, Tianzhou, Huang, Bo and the then board secretary Chen Zhenggang, and publicly determine that Deng, Tianzhou and Huang, Bo are not suitable to serve as directors, supervisors and senior management of listed companies within 5 years; to criticize the then chief accountants Wang, Hailing and Mu, Tianyu, and the then board secretaries Sun, Yongcheng and Xu, Tianxiao.

The Exchange will notify the China Securities Regulatory Commission and the Jilin Provincial People's Government of the above disciplinary sanctions, and record them in the credit files of listed companies. If the parties who are publicly condemned or publicly identified are dissatisfied with the above disciplinary sanctions, they may apply to the Exchange for review within 15 trading days. The execution of this decision shall not be suspended during the review period.

The Company should take this as a warning, operate strictly in accordance with the laws, regulations and the "Stock Listing Rules", and conscientiously fulfill its information disclosure obligations; the actual controllers of listed companies should strictly abide by laws, regulations and the business rules of the Exchange, consciously maintain the order of the securities market, conscientiously fulfill their information disclosure obligations, promptly inform the company of relevant major matters, and actively cooperate with listed companies in information disclosure; directors, supervisors and senior management personnel should perform their obligations of loyalty and diligence, promote the company's standardized operation, and ensure that the company discloses all major information in a timely, fair, truthful, accurate and complete manner.

SHANGHAI STOCK EXCHANGE

May 6, 2020

Exhibit "22"

CSRC Beijing Bureau Decision and English Translation, Dec-20-19

8 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "22"

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

anos

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission: Expires May 21, 2026 中国证券监督管理委员会北京监管局行政处罚决定书(中兴天恒能源科技(北京)股份公司、邓天洲、黄博、施清荣、黄杰、孟志宏...

繁體

|    | 中国证券监督CHINA SECURITIES REGUL |        | 北京监管局 | Ì    |      | 请输入关键字 |   |
|----|----------------------------------|--------|-------|------|------|--------|---|
| 首页 | 证监局介绍                            | 辖区监管动态 | 政务信息  | 办事服务 | 辖区数据 | 互动交流   | 专 |

오 当前位置:首页 > 专题专栏 > 信用专栏 > 行政处罚

中国证券监督管理委员会北京监管局行政处罚决定书(中兴天恒能源科技(北京)股份公司、邓天洲、 黄博、施清荣、黄杰、孟志宏、郜治宙、卢申林、程仕军、由海涛、焦祺森、敖宇、林大湑、张涛、秦 丽萍、陈亦昕、甘懋旭、林源、周路、沈宇健、徐天啸、陈瑞年)

日期: 2023-01-05 来源:

【字号: 大中小】

〔2022〕16号

当事人:中兴天恒能源科技(北京)股份公司(以下简称中天能源或公司),住所:北京市东城区。 邓天洲,男,1956年8月出生,时为中天能源实际控制人,时任公司董事长、总裁、常务副总经理,住址:北京市朝阳区。 黄博,男,1970年9月出生,时为中天能源实际控制人,时任公司总裁、董事长、副董事长,住址:北京市东城区。 施清荣,男,1972年9月出生,时任中天能源董事长、联席总经理,住址:福建省厦门市思明区。 黄杰,男,1972年10月出生,时任中天能源董事、总经理,住址:北京市朝阳区。 孟志宏,男,1974年7月出生,时任中天能源财务总监,住址:北京市海淀区。 郜治宙,男,1974年9月出生,时任中天能源董事,住址:北京市海淀区。 卢申林,男,1963年6月出生,美国籍,时任中天能源董事,住址:上海市虹口区。 程仕军,男,1962年10月出生,美国籍,时任中天能源董事,住址:上海市徐汇区。 由海涛,男,1972年10月出生,时任中天能源董事会秘书,住址:北京市丰台区。 焦祺森,男,1981年8月出生,时任中天能源董事,住址:北京市顺义区。 林大湑,男,1951年2月出生,美国籍,时任中天能源董事,住址:上海市长宁区。 敖宇,男,1979年8月出生,时任中天能源董事,住址:上海市浦东新区。 张涛,男,1978年9月出生,时任中天能源董事,住址:郑州市二七区。 秦丽萍,女,1980年1月出生,时任中天能源董事,住址:北京市东城区。 陈亦昕,女,1983年5月出生,时任中天能源董事,住址:北京市通州区。 甘懋旭,男,1966年9月出生,时任中天能源董事,住址:山东省青岛市崂山区。 林源,男,1988年2月出生,时任中天能源监事,住址:河南省郑州市郑东新区。 周路,男,1968年10月出生,时任中天能源监事,住址:北京市海淀区。 沈宇健,男,1973年8月出生,时任中天能源监事,住址:北京市朝阳区。

8/4/24, 11:07 PM 中国证券监督管理委员会北京监管局行政处罚决定书(中兴天恒能源科技(北京)股份公司、邓天洲、黄博、施清荣、黄杰、孟志宏… 徐天啸,男,1986年5月出生,时任中天能源副总经理,住址:北京市朝阳区。

陈瑞年,男,1961年2月出生,时任中天能源副总经理,住址:上海市青浦区。

依据2005年修订的《中华人民共和国证券法》(以下简称2005年《证券法》)及2019年修订的《中华人民共和国证券法》(以下简称 2019年《证券法》)的有关规定,我局对中天能源信息披露违法违规行为进行了立案调查、审理,并依法向当事人告知了作出行政处罚的事 实、理由、依据及当事人依法享有的权利。当事人中天能源、邓天洲、黄博未提出陈述申辩意见、未要求听证;当事人张涛提出陈述申辩 意见,未要求听证;当事人陈亦昕提出陈述申辩意见,放弃听证;当事人施清荣、黄杰、孟志宏、郜治宙、卢申林、程仕军、由海涛、焦祺森、 林大湑、敖宇、秦丽萍、甘懋旭、林源、周路、沈宇健、徐天啸、陈瑞年17人提出陈述申辩意见,要求听证。应当事人施清荣、黄杰等17 人要求,我局举行了听证会,听取了当事人及其代理人的陈述和申辩意见。本案现已调查、审理终结。

经查明,中天能源存在以下违法事实:

一、中天能源披露的2017年至2019年半年报、年报存在重大遗漏

经邓天洲、黄博共同组织、策划、决策、实施,以签署《保证合同》《借款担保函》等方式,未履行公司审议决策程序,中天能源在2017 年6月22日至2018年7月19日期间,累计发生对外担保金额共计6.6亿元,其中,2017年发生对外担保金额2.8亿元,2018年发生对外担保金额 3.8亿元。中天能源未及时披露、亦未在相关定期报告中披露上述担保事项,直至2021年1月19日、2021年4月15日首次对外披露。

根据《上市公司信息披露管理办法》(证监会令第40号,以下简称《信披办法》)第三十条第二款第十七项的规定,中天能源应及时披露 上述对外担保事项。根据《公开发行证券的公司信息披露内容与格式准则第2号——年度报告的内容与格式》(证监会公告〔2017〕17号) 第四十一条第二项、《公开发行证券的公司信息披露内容与格式准则第3号——半年度报告的内容与格式》(证监会公告〔2016〕32号、 证监会公告〔2017〕18号)第三十九条第二项的规定,中天能源应当在相关定期报告中披露上述对外担保事项。中天能源未在2017年至 2019年半年报、年报中披露上述对外担保事项,导致相关定期报告存在重大遗漏。

上述违法事实,有借款合同、担保函、相关公告、有关人员询问笔录、情况说明等证据证明,足以认定。

中天能源《2017年半年度报告》《2017年年度报告》《2018年半年度报告》《2018年年度报告》《2019年半年度报告》《2019年 年度报告》遗漏披露上述对外担保事项,违反2005年《证券法》第六十三条及2019年《证券法》第七十八条第二款规定,构成2005年《证 券法》第一百九十三条第一款、2019年《证券法》第一百九十七条第二款所述的信息披露重大遗漏行为。

二、中天能源虚增2019年、2020年利润,导致2019年、2020年年报存在虚假记载

(一)中天能源少计提担保相关预计负债,致使2019年、2020年年报虚增利润

1.少计提担保相关预计负债,虚增2019年利润0.72亿元。

2019年6月11日,河南省郑州市中级人民法院《民事判决书》一审判决中天能源对原告0.4亿元借款本金及其利息承担连带担保责任。 2019年7月24日,北京市第三中级人民法院《民事判决书》一审判决中天能源对原告0.5亿元款项及有关费用承担连带担保责任。

中天能源未对上述判决提出上诉,判决生效后相关案件的其他被告方均未按判决支付相关款项。根据《企业会计准则第22号—金融工 具确认和计量》(财会〔2017〕7号)第五十九条第四项的规定,中天能源2019年年报少计提上述担保相关预计负债0.72亿元,虚增2019年利 润0.72亿元。

2.少计提担保相关预计负债,虚增2020年利润0.64亿元。

2020年4月7日,广东省广州市中级人民法院《民事判决书》一审判决中天能源对原告0.8亿元款项及其利息承担连带担保责任。2021 年3月22日,广东省高级人民法院《民事判决书》判决驳回中天能源上诉,维持一审原判。判决生效后相关案件的其他被告方均未按判决支 付相关款项。根据《企业会计准则第22号—金融工具确认和计量》(财会〔2017〕7号)第五十九条第四项的规定,中天能源2020年年报少 计提上述担保相关预计负债0.64亿元,虚增2020年利润0.64亿元。

(二)中天能源少计提应收款项减值准备,致使2020年年报虚增利润3.24亿元

自2018年下半年起至2020年年报披露日,湖北九头风天然气有限公司(以下简称九头风)、

CanadianAdvantagePetroleumCorporation(加拿大优势石油有限公司,以下简称加拿大优势)与中天能源子公司青岛中天能源集团股份 有限公司(以下简称青岛中天)的正常业务往来均基本停滞。在九头风、加拿大优势2019年、2020年均未继续供货、未按照承诺解决欠款 问题的情况下,青岛中天向九头风支付的2.64亿元款项、中天能源对加拿大优势债权债务净额3.84亿元款项均不再具有预付账款的性质。 但中天能源未按照《企业会计准则第22号—金融工具确认和计量》(财会〔2017〕7号)第三条第一项、第四十六条第一款第一项、第五十 九条第一项的规定,于2020年度将九头风、加拿大优势的上述相关预付款项调整为其他应收款列报,亦未按规定计提相应坏账准备。中天能 源2020年年报少计提九头风相关坏账准备1.32亿元,虚增2020年利润1.32亿元;少计提加拿大优势相关坏账准备1.92亿元,虚增2020年利润 1.92亿元。

关于案涉相关应收款项减值准备计提事项,审计机构就公司2018年年报出具了保留意见,就公司2019年年报、2020年年报出具了带强 调事项段的无保留意见。2021年11月,中天能源发布会计差错更正公告,对2019年、2020年年报进行会计差错调整。 8/4/24, 11:07 PM 中国证券监督管理委员会北京监管局行政处罚决定书(中兴天恒能源科技(北京)股份公司、邓天洲、黄博、施清荣、黄杰、孟志宏… 上述违法事实,有相关账册资料、承诺、公告、询问笔录、情况说明等证据证明,足以认定。

综上,中天能源《2019年年度报告》虚增利润0.72亿元,占当期披露利润总额(调整前)的1.65%;《2020年年度报告》虚增利润3.88亿元,占当期披露利润总额(调整前)的50.59%。中天能源披露的《2019年年度报告》《2020年年度报告》存在虚假记载,违反2019年《证券法》第七十八条第二款规定,构成2019年《证券法》第一百九十七条第二款所述的信息披露虚假记载行为。

关于中天能源定期报告遗漏披露对外担保事项:

邓天洲时为中天能源实际控制人、时任公司董事、董事长、总裁、常务副总经理,黄博时为中天能源实际控制人、时任公司总裁、董 事、董事长、副董事长,违背公司董事、高级管理人员的法定忠实勤勉义务,组织、策划、决策、实施中天能源上述违规对外担保事项并持 续向公司隐瞒、不告知相关事实。二人在审议《2017年半年度报告》《2017年年度报告》《2018年半年度报告》《2018年年度报告》 时未履行忠实勤勉义务,签字确认相关定期报告,违反了2005年《证券法》第六十八条第三款规定,是中天能源2017年、2018年半年报及年 报重大遗漏信息披露违法行为的直接负责的主管人员。邓天洲、黄博作为中天能源实际控制人,同时构成2005年《证券法》第一百九十三 条第三款所述"发行人、上市公司或者其他信息披露义务人的控股股东、实际控制人指使从事前两款违法行为"的情形。

邓天洲、黄博2019年8月辞去董事、高级管理人员职务后,仍持续对公司隐瞒、不告知二人在任职期间组织、策划、决策、实施的违规对外担保事项,违背公司董事、高级管理人员的法定忠实勤勉义务,直接导致中天能源2019年半年报、2019年年报发生遗漏披露对外担保的信息披露违法行为。依据《信息披露违法行为行政责任认定规则》第十七条的规定,邓天洲、黄博作为董事、监事、高级管理人员之外的其他人员直接导致公司信息披露违法,是中天能源2019年半年报、2019年年报存在重大遗漏信息披露违法行为的其他直接责任人员。

关于中天能源2019年、2020年年报虚增利润事项:

施清荣作为中天能源时任董事长兼联席总经理、黄杰作为时任董事兼总经理,负责公司的全面工作;孟志宏作为时任财务总监,主管公司 的财务工作,负责预计负债、坏账准备计提等会计核算事项。根据2019年《证券法》第八十二条第三款及《信披办法》第五十八条第三款 的规定,施清荣、黄杰、孟志宏是中天能源《2019年年度报告》《2020年年度报告》虚假记载违法行为直接负责的主管人员。

郜治宙、卢申林、程仕军作为时任董事会审计委员会成员,由海涛作为时任董事会秘书,签字确认中天能源《2019年年度报告》 《2020年年度报告》。焦祺森、林大湑作为时任董事,林源、周路作为时任监事,徐天啸、陈瑞年作为时任高级管理人员,签字确认中天能源 《2019年年度报告》《2020年年度报告》。敖宇、秦丽萍作为时任董事,甘懋旭作为时任监事,签字确认中天能源《2019年年度报告》。 张涛、陈亦昕作为时任董事,沈宇健作为时任监事,签字确认中天能源《2020年年度报告》。郜治宙等16人均保证案涉相关财务报告真实、 准确、完整,未勤勉尽责,应当对相关定期报告虚假记载问题承担责任。根据2019年《证券法》第八十二条第三款及《信披办法》第五十八 条第一款的规定,郜治宙等16人是中天能源《2019年年度报告》《2020年年度报告》虚假记载违法行为的其他直接责任人员。

当事人及其代理人在听证和申辩中提出:

1.施清荣、孟志宏、郜治宙、卢申林、程仕军、焦祺森、甘懋旭、林源、周路、徐天啸、陈瑞年、林大湑等人共同提出:其一,中天能 源案涉担保事项按照20%比例计提预计负债符合会计准则规定,不存在虚增利润行为。其二,中天能源2020年年报对九头风、加拿大优势应 收款项的会计处理依据充分、合理合法,不存在虚增利润行为。

2.黄杰、由海涛均提出:其一,会计估计导致的财务报表质量问题区别于财务报表虚假记载,不应被认定为虚增利润行为。其二,北京局已 就本案所涉内容向中天能源出具过责令改正的监管措施,再就此进行处罚,违背"一事不再理"原则。

相关责任人员还提出:

1.黄杰还提出:其一,中天能源、管理层及审计机构已经对预计负债计提、资产减值进行完整、充分的披露,并未对财务报表使用者造成 误导,不影响投资者判断。其二,作为非专业的财务人员也非审计责任人员,不是直接负责的主管人员,已充分履行勤勉尽责义务;配合监管机 构调查,有从轻或减轻处罚的情节。综上,黄杰请求减轻处罚或免于处罚,并取消市场禁入措施。

2.由海涛还提出:其一,作为董事会秘书,职责为信息披露的事务性工作,只涉及信息披露的具体执行,不应被认定为年报虚假记载违法行为 的其他直接责任人员。其二,在担保计提、剥离武汉中能和湖北合能子公司、青岛中天破产重组事项上,已履行勤勉尽责义务。其三,配合证 券监管机构调查,有从轻或减轻处罚的情节。综上,由海涛请求减轻处罚或免于处罚。

3.施清荣还提出:其一,本人无会计、法律等专业背景,不负责财务工作。相关定期报告经会计师事务所审计、由董事会、股东会集体决议通过,有理由相信其会计处理的合法合理性。其二,已多次询问公司内外专业人员意见,推动担保相关诉讼再审,推动九头风、加拿大优势应收款项偿还工作,化解各类风险,做到充分勤勉尽责。综上,施清荣请求免于处罚。

4.孟志宏还提出:其一,已履行勤勉尽责义务,包括关注涉诉案件进展、督促债务人出具承诺还款函、取得预评估报告、完成会计差错更 正等。其二,存在免予处罚的情节或因素,包括不存在主观故意、积极配合会计差错更正工作,及时消除会计差错带来的负面影响,配合检查和 调查。综上,孟志宏请求减轻处罚或免于处罚。

5.郜治宙还提出:其一,在公司无具体分管工作,非财务负责人员,掌握信息有限,未参与案涉事项,不应当就具体财务计提问题承担责任。 其二,已在履职过程中就案涉问题向公司提问,进行沟通核实、参考第三方机构意见,做到勤勉尽责。综上,郜治宙请求免于处罚。 8/4/24, 11:07 PM 中国证券监督管理委员会北京监管局行政处罚决定书(中兴天恒能源科技(北京)股份公司、邓天洲、黄博、施清荣、黄杰、孟志宏… 6.卢申林、程仕军、陈亦昕还提出:其一,作为独立董事,不直接参加公司业务,对案涉事宜了解有限,会计审计问题须依赖和参考公司财务 和专业审计人员意见。专业判断误差与虚假陈述有本质区别,不应以主观判断误差重罚独立董事,唯"签字论"不合理。其二,三人履职能力 有限,已通过向公司提问、参考第三方机构意见、咨询专家友人等方式履行勤勉尽责义务。三人就职后公司年报的信息披露质量已有根本 性改善。审计机构原"保留意见"已改为带强调事项的"无保留意见"。其三,在2021年年报披露后,积极督促公司回复交易所问询,有效履 职。陈亦昕还提出:其任职时间短,在签署2020年年报问题上存在留痕争议。综上,卢申林、程仕军、陈亦昕请求免于处罚。

7.焦祺森还提出:其一,2020年3月末才入职中天能源,对公司事务尚未完全了解。在短时间内已勤勉尽责。其二,无会计、法律等专业背景,有理由相信专业机构判断。已多此询问公司内外专业人员意见,积极推动违规担保寻求法律救济、应收账款回收,已做到勤勉尽责。综上, 焦祺森请求免于处罚。

8.甘懋旭、林源、周路还提出:其一,监事会职权没有保障机制,在整个公司运营过程作用较小,因此监事的勤勉尽责义务范围应相应减小。其二,甘懋旭、林源、周路作为时任监事,未参与相关违法行为;通过参加会议,审阅议案材料、发表意见,保持与公司及相关人员沟通等 方式,已维护公司和投资人利益、履行勤勉尽责义务。其三,本案以签字论,未考虑实际情况,处罚幅度过重。综上,甘懋旭、林源、周路请求 免于处罚。

9.徐天啸还提出:其一,作为时任高级管理人员,不分管与违法行为相关的业务,亦未参与相关违法行为。其二,负责公司迁址事宜,就ABE 资产事宜与公司管理层沟通,再三询问公司管理层及专业审计师相关问题,已履行勤勉尽责义务。综上,徐天啸请求免于处罚。

10.陈瑞年还提出:其一,作为时任高级管理人员,不负责亦未参与相关违法行为。2019年年报披露期间刚入职,经再三询问公司管理层和 专业审计师相关问题后,认可相关处理并签字乃情理之中。其二,就ABE资产事宜与公司管理层沟通,已履行勤勉尽责义务。综上,陈瑞年请求 免于处罚。

11.秦丽萍还提出:其一,作为时任独立董事,以其背景和专业能力,无法判断审计报告是否符合会计准则。任职时间过短,对《2019年年度 报告》虚假记载的违法行为不存在过错。其二,认真审阅公司历次会议材料,多次表达不认同意见,未参与虚假记载事项,任期内已全面履行勤 勉尽责义务。综上,秦丽萍请求免于处罚。

12.林大湑还提出:其一,作为时任董事,对案涉报告进行充分审阅、关注和重点问询,督促公司积极整改,进行差错更正,已充分履行勤勉尽 责义务。其二,不具有财务专业背景,未担任公司财务、审计方面的职务,要求其独立发现案涉问题明显不当,并非其他直接责任人员。综上, 林大湑请求免于处罚。

13.沈宇健还提出:其一,作为时任监事,及时审阅相关定期报告,提出质疑、修改意见,对财务知识履行注意义务,已充分履行勤勉尽责义务。其二,不具备会计相关背景和专业知识,不应对会计差错事项承担责任。我局对其罚款金额过重。综上,沈宇健请求免于处罚。

14.敖宇还提出:其一,作为时任董事,不负责财务工作,未经手预计负债的会计核算事项,已提出充分计提负债,最终应以公司财务负责人和 专业机构意见为准。其二,任职时间短,并未参与历史所有事项,已督促公司积极回复交易所问询,忠实勤勉履行董事职责,我局处罚过重。综 上,敖宇请求免于处罚。

15.张涛还提出:其一,中原信托被动成为上市公司股东,对公司经营情况了解有限。任公司董事时间较短,能了解的事实有限,且非财务专业人士。2020年年报数据由会计师事务所审计,其不应承担相关责任。其二,已就相关事项主动咨询专家意见,履行勤勉尽责义务。综上,张 涛请求免于处罚。

经复核,我局认为:

第一,关于担保未按规定计提预计负债问题。中天能源在未获得预期可收取该合同持有人、债务人或任何其他方相应金额的证据的情况下,仅依据未来胜诉可能性、存在其他债权人、担保方计提20%预计负债,不符合会计准则相关规定。

第二,关于九头风、加拿大优势款项未按规定计提减值准备问题。中天能源虽于2020年12月获得ABE公司股权作为九头风、加拿大优势账款的质押担保,但北京北方亚事资产评估事务所(特殊普通合伙)出具的ABE股权预评估报告,未履行出具正式报告的必要工作程序,预评估报告已声明使用用途受限,中天能源将预评估报告的估值结果作为不计提坏账准备的依据不充分,结论不可靠。

第三,未按照规定进行会计核算导致财务会计报告的数据不真实,属于信息披露虚假记载行为。

第四,责令改正属于监管措施,不是行政处罚亦不能替代行政处罚。就同一违法事实采取监管措施后再予以行政处罚,不属于"一事二 罚"。

第五,《信披办法》第五十八条第一款规定,上市公司董事、监事、高级管理人员应当对公司信息披露的真实性、准确性、完整性、及时性、公平性负责,但有充分证据表明其已经履行勤勉尽责义务的除外。本案责任人员未能提供表明其已履行勤勉尽责义务的充分证据。

第六,作为上市公司的董事、监事和高级管理人员,应当具备与职责相匹配的专业知识和专业水平,还应当了解并持续关注公司的生产经 营情况、财务状况和重大事件及其影响,即使借鉴其他机构或者个人的专业意见,也要独立承担责任。参加相关会议、配合监管机构调查、 督促公司回复交易所问询、进行差错更正等均是董事、监事、高级管理人员的一般性履职行为。不知情、不了解、未参与、任职时间短、 履职能力不足、审计机构未发现、配合调查等均非法定免责事由。 8/4/24, 11:07 PM 中国证券监督管理委员会北京监管局行政处罚决定书(中兴天恒能源科技(北京)股份公司、邓天洲、黄博、施清荣、黄杰、孟志宏… 第七,《上市公司治理准则》第二十八条规定,董事会秘书作为上市公司高级管理人员,负责办理信息披露事务等事宜,为履行职责有权参加相关会议,查阅有关文件,了解公司的财务和经营等情况。

第八,独立董事履职具有独立性、过程性、积极性的特点,应当善意、审慎、合理履行职责。若存在签署留痕争议,应及时通过正当方式 解决。《信披办法》第四十三条第一款规定,监事应当对公司董事、高级管理人员履行信息披露职责的行为进行监督;关注公司信息披露情况,发现信息披露存在违法违规问题的,应当进行调查并提出处理建议。案涉独立董事、监事不能证明已充分履行勤勉尽责义务。

第九,我局在认定人员责任时未采取"签字论"标准,而是要求在年度报告上签字的董事、监事、高级管理人员履行勤勉尽责义务,对公司所披露信息相关的重点内容予以关注。审计机构就中天能源2018年年报出具保留意见的原因后续是否消除、2019年和2020年审计报告 强调事项及与持续经营重大不确定性相关的内容均应当作为董事、监事、高级管理人员履职关注的重点内容。中天能源董事、监事、高级 管理人员均作出了保证公司信息披露真实、准确、完整的承诺,亦不存在《信息披露违法行为行政责任认定规则》第二十一条规定的认定 为不予处罚的情形。相关责任人所称已履行勤勉尽责义务的意见缺乏依据。

第十,我局在认定案涉违法行为、当事人责任及量罚时已结合违法行为的事实、性质、情节和社会危害程度,考虑当事人所任职务、任 职期间部分履行勤勉尽责义务、配合调查等因素,我局对当事人的量罚幅度适当。

综上,我局对当事人的上述申辩意见均不予采纳。

根据当事人违法行为的事实、性质、情节与社会危害程度,依据2005年《证券法》第一百九十三条第三款和2019年《证券法》第一百 九十七条第二款的规定,我局决定:

一、依据2019年《证券法》第一百九十七条第二款的规定,对中兴天恒能源科技(北京)股份公司给予警告,并处以200万元的罚款。

二、对邓天洲、黄博作为实际控制人,依据2005年《证券法》第一百九十三条第三款的规定,给予警告,并分别处以60万元的罚款;作为 直接负责的主管人员、其他直接责任人员,依据2019年《证券法》第一百九十七条第二款的规定,给予警告,并分别处以300万元的罚款。对 邓天洲、黄博给予警告,并合计分别处以360万元的罚款。

三、依据2019年《证券法》第一百九十七条第二款的规定,对施清荣、黄杰、孟志宏给予警告,并分别处以150万元的罚款;对郜治宙、 卢申林、程仕军、由海涛给予警告,并分别处以100万元的罚款;对焦祺森、林大湑、敖宇、张涛、秦丽萍、陈亦昕、甘懋旭、林源、周 路、沈宇健、徐天啸、陈瑞年给予警告,并分别处以50万元的罚款。

上述当事人应自收到本处罚决定书之日起15日内,将罚款汇交中国证券监督管理委员会开户银行:中信银行北京分行营业部,账 号:7111010189800000162,由该行直接上缴国库,并将注有当事人名称的付款凭证复印件送中国证券监督管理委员会行政处罚委员会办公 室和北京证监局备案。当事人如果对本处罚决定不服,可在收到本处罚决定书之日起60日内向中国证券监督管理委员会申请行政复议,也可 在收到本处罚决定书之日起6个月内直接向有管辖权的人民法院提起行政诉讼。复议和诉讼期间,上述决定不停止执行。

中国证监会北京监管局

2022年12月27日

| 链接: 🤷 中国政府网                                                                                | 行业相关网站 |       | 其他链接 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------|-------|------|
| 主办单位:中国证券监督管理委员会 版权所有:中国证券监督管理委员会 网站识别码:bm56000001 京ICP备 05035542号 🥝 京公网安备 11040102700080号 | 联      | 系我们 ; | 法律声明 |

CSRC Decision of December 20, 2019

Decision On Issuing a Warning Letter to Changchun Sinoenergy Corp. and Relevant Responsible Persons

(Translation of Chinese)

To: Changchun Sinoenergy Corp, Tianzhou Deng, Bo Huang:

Upon investigation, your company has the following problems:

1. Failure to disclose external guarantees in a timely manner

From June 22, 2016 to December 11, 2018, your company had multiple illegal external guarantees, with a total external guarantee amount of 2.29137 billion yuan. The above external guarantees were not disclosed in a timely manner, nor did the company's board of directors and shareholders' meeting review procedures be followed. The above actions of your company violated the provisions of Article 2, paragraph 1, and Article 30, paragraph 2, item 17 of the "Regulations on Information Disclosure of Listed Companies" (CSRC Order No. 40), and violated Article 1 of the "Notice on Standardizing External Guarantee Behavior of Listed Companies" (CSRC Announcement No. 120, 2005). Deng Tianzhou, the then chairman and president of your company, and Huang Bo, the then chairman, president and acting secretary of the board of directors, failed to perform their duties faithfully and diligently, and violated the relevant provisions of Article 3 of the "Regulations on Information Disclosure of Listed Companies" (CSRC Order No. 40), and bear the main responsibility for the above actions.

2. Failure to disclose outbound investment.

(1) On December 19, 2016, the board of directors of Qingdao Sinoenergy Energy Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "Qingdao Sinoenergy"), a subsidiary of your company, reviewed and approved the proposal that Qingdao Sinoenergy and Jingzhou Heping Energy Co., Ltd. jointly acquire the oil and gas assets of Twin Butte Energy Ltd. in Alberta, Canada, and increase capital to increase oil and gas production capacity, and agreed that Qingdao Sinoenergy would invest RMB 1.395 billion to jointly acquire the oil and gas assets of Twin Butte Energy Ltd together with Jingzhou Heping Energy Co., Ltd. through Qingdao Zhongtian Yuheng Energy Co., Ltd. Qingdao Sinoenergy holds 77.5% of the shares of Qingdao Zhongtian Yuheng Energy Co., Ltd. On February 23, 2017, the Qingdao Municipal Development and Reform Commission issued the "Notice on the Recording of the Project of Qingdao Sinoenergy Energy Co., Ltd. and Jingzhou Heping Energy Co., Ltd. to Acquire All Assets of Twin Butte Energy Ltd. in Alberta, Canada and Increase Capital and Expand Production" (Qingfa Gai Waijingbei [2017] No. 3).

(2) On May 11, 2018, the board of directors of Qingdao Sinoenergy, a subsidiary of your company, approved the proposal that Qingdao Zhongtian acquire all the assets of Connacher Oil and Gas Ltd. in Alberta, Canada with its own funds and increase capital to expand production projects, and agreed that Qingdao Sinoenergy would acquire the assets through Qingdao Tianji Energy Co., Ltd., with a total investment of no more than RMB 900 million. On July 16, 2018, the Qingdao Municipal Development and Reform Commission issued the "Notice on the Registration of Overseas Investment Projects" (Qingfa Gai Waijingbei [2018] No. 26).

Your company failed to fulfill its information disclosure obligations for the above-mentioned outbound investment, violating the relevant provisions of Article 2, Paragraph 1, Article 30, Paragraph 2, Item 2, and Article 33, Paragraph 1 of the "Administrative Measures for Information Disclosure of Listed Companies" (CSRC Order No. 40). Your company's thenchairman Deng Tianzhou and then-chairman Huang Bo failed to perform their duties faithfully and diligently, violating the relevant provisions of Article 3 of the "Administrative Measures for Information Disclosure of Listed Companies" (CSRC Order No. 40), and bear the main responsibility for the above-mentioned behavior.

In accordance with the relevant provisions of Article 59 of the "Administrative Measures for Information Disclosure of Listed Companies" (CSRC Order No. 40), our bureau has decided to take regulatory measures of issuing a warning letter to your company, Deng, Tianzhou, and Huang, Bo, and will record the above situation in the integrity file in accordance with the relevant provisions of the "Securities and Futures Market Integrity Supervision and Management Measures".

Your company and relevant responsible persons should promptly correct the inaccurate disclosure of relevant information, take effective measures to conduct self-inspection and clean up existing illegal guarantees; urge relevant responsible parties to resolve illegal guarantees as soon as possible to safeguard the interests of listed companies; establish and improve internal control mechanisms to prevent illegal external guarantees and prevent such behavior from happening again. Your company's directors, supervisors, and senior management personnel should strengthen their study of securities laws and regulations, improve their awareness of standardized operations, do a good job in information disclosure, and ensure the quality of information disclosure. Your company should submit a written rectification report to our bureau within 30 days from the date of receipt of this decision.

If you are dissatisfied with this supervision and management measure, your company and the relevant responsible persons may apply for administrative reconsideration to the China

Securities Regulatory Commission within 60 days from the date of receipt of this decision, or file an administrative lawsuit with the People's Court with jurisdiction within 6 months from the date of receipt of this decision. During the review and litigation period, the above-mentioned supervision and management measures shall not be suspended.

Jilin Securities Regulatory Bureau

December 20, 2019

Exhibit "23"

CSRC Jilin Bureau Decision and English Translation, Dec-27-22

8 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "23"

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 2026

攵

中国证券监督管理委员会 CHINA SECURITIES REGULATORY COM 吉林监管局

证券期货监督管理信息公开目录

索 리 号:40000895X/ 发布机构: 吉林局

分类:行政监管措施;上市公司行政监管措施决定 发文日期: 2019年12月20日 称:关于对长春中天能源股份有限公司及有关责任人采取出具警示函措施的决定

¥ 号: 吉证监决[2019]009号

关于对长春中天能源股份有限公司及有关责任人采取出具 警示函措施的决定

主题词:

长春中天能源股份有限公司、邓天洲、黄博:

经查, 你公司存在以下问题:

一、对外担保未及时披露

1.2016年6月22日-2018年12月11日,你公司发生多起违规对外担保事项,对外担保金额合计22. 9137亿元,上述对外担保均未及时披露、也未履行公司董事会和股东大会审议程序。你公司上述行 为违反了《上市公司信息披露管理办法》(证监会令第40号)第二条第一款、第三十条第二款第十 七项规定,违反了《关于规范上市公司对外担保行为的通知》(证监发〔2005〕120号)第一条规 定。你公司时任董事长、总裁邓天洲,时任董事长、总裁、代董事会秘书黄博未能忠实、勤勉地履 行职责,违反了《上市公司信息披露管理办法》(证监会令第40号)第三条相关规定,对上述行为 承担主要责任。

二、对外投资未进行披露

1.2016年12月19日,你公司控股子公司青岛中天能源股份有限公司(以下简称青岛中天)董事 会审议通过青岛中天联合荆州市合平能源有限公司收购加拿大阿尔伯塔省Twin Butte Energy Ltd.的 油气资产并增资以增加油气产能的议案,同意青岛中天出资13.95亿元,联合荆州市合平能源有限 公司通过青岛中天宇恒能源有限公司收购Twin Butte Energy Ltd.的油气资产。青岛中天持有青岛中 天宇恒能源有限公司77.5%股份。2017年2月23日,青岛市发展和改革委员会印发《关于青岛中天能 源股份有限公司联合荆州市合平能源有限公司收购加拿大阿尔伯塔省Twin Butte Energy Ltd.全部资 产并增资扩产项目备案的通知》(青发改外经备[2017]3号)。

2.2018年5月11日,你公司控股子公司青岛中天董事会审议通过青岛中天以自有资金收购加拿 大阿尔伯塔省Connacher Oil and Gas Ltd.全部资产并增资扩产项目的议案,同意青岛中天通过青岛 天际能源有限公司进行收购,投资总额不超过9亿元。2018年7月16日,青岛市发展和改革委员会印 发《境外投资项目备案通知书》(青发改外经备[2018]26号)。

你公司未就上述对外投资行为履行信息披露义务,违反了《上市公司信息披露管理办法》(证 监会令第40号)第二条第一款、第三十条第二款第二项、第三十三条第一款相关规定。你公司时任 董事长邓天洲,时任董事长黄博未能忠实、勤勉地履行职责,违反了《上市公司信息披露管理办 法》(证监会令第40号)第三条相关规定,对上述行为承担主要责任。

按照《上市公司信息披露管理办法》(证监会令第40号)第五十九条的有关规定,我局决定对 你公司、邓天洲、黄博采取出具警示函的监管措施,并根据《证券期货市场诚信监督管理办法》的 有关规定将上述情况记入诚信档案。

你公司及有关责任人应及时改正相关信息披露不准确的情况,采取有效措施对存在的违规担保 事项进行自查清理;督促相关责任主体尽早解决违规担保事项,维护上市公司利益;建立健全防范 违规对外担保的内控机制,杜绝此类行为再次发生。你公司董事、监事、高级管理人员应加强证券 关于对长春中天能源股份有限公司及有关责任人采取出具警示函措施的决定

法律法规学习,提高规范运作意识,做好信息披露工作,保证信息披露质量。你公司应在收到本决 定书之日起30日内向我局报送书面整改报告。

如对本监督管理措施不服,你公司及有关责任人可以在收到本决定书之日起60日内向中国证券 监督管理委员会提出行政复议申请,也可以在收到本决定书之日起6个月内向有管辖权的人民法院 提起行政诉讼。复议与诉讼期间,上述监督管理措施不停止执行。

> 吉林证监局 2019年12月20日

www.csrc.gov.cn/zjhpublicofjl/xzjgcs/201912/t20191224_368198.htm

Administrative Punishment Decision of the Beijing Supervision Bureau of the China Securities Regulatory Commission (ZTE Tianheng Energy Technology (Beijing) Co., Ltd., Deng Tianzhou, Huang Bo, Shi Qingrong, Huang Jie, Meng Zhihong, Gao Zhizhou, Lu Shenlin, Cheng Shijun, You Haitao, Jiao Qisen, Ao Yu, Lin Dasu, Zhang Tao, Qin Liping, Chen Yixin, Gan Maoxu, Lin Yuan, Zhou Lu, Shen Yujian, Xu Tianxiao, Chen Ruinian)

[2022] No. 16

(translation of Chinese)

Parties:

ZTE Tianheng Energy Technology (Beijing) Co., Ltd. (" Sinoenergy" or the "Company"), Office: Beijing, Dongcheng District.

Deng, Tianzhou, Male; born August 1956, actual controller of the Sinoenergy , the Company's Chairman, General Manager, executive deputy general manager at the relevant time. Address: Beijing Chaoyang District

Huang, Bo, Male, 19. Born September 1970, the actual controller of Sinoenergy , Company's President, Chairman, and Vice Chairman. Address: Beijing Dongcheng District.

[translation omitted for the names, age, offices and address of other responsible persons]

Under the relevant provisions of the People's Republic of China Securities Law revised 2005 (hereinafter referred to as "2015 Securities Law") and People's Republic of China Securities Law revised 2019 (Hereinafter referred to as "2019 Securities Law"), our bureau conducted a case investigation and trial on Sinoenergy 's illegal information disclosure, and informed the parties of the facts, reasons, and basis for administrative penalties as well as the rights enjoyed by the parties in accordance with the law. The parties involved including Sinoenergy, Deng, Tianzhou, and Huang Bo did not submit a statement of defense and did not request a hearing; the party named Zhang, Tao submitted a statement of defense but did not request a hearing; the party named Chen, Yixin submitted a statement of defense and gave up hearing; seventeen parties, including Shi Qingrong, Huang Jie, Meng Zhihong, Gao Zhizhou, Lu Shenlin, Cheng Shijun, You Haitao, Jiao Qisen, Lin Damu, Ao Yu, Qin Liping, Gan Maoxu, Lin Yuan, Zhou Lu, Shen Yujian, Xu Tianxiao and Chen Ruinian, submitted statements and defense opinions and requested a hearing.

At the request of 17 parties including Shi Qingrong and Huang Jie, our bureau held a hearing and listened to the statements and defense opinions of the parties and their agents. The investigation and trial of this case have now been concluded. After investigation, Sinoenergy has the following facts of violation of laws:

I. There are material omissions in the semi-annual reports and annual reports from 2017 to 2019 disclosed by Sinoenergy.

Under the joint organizing, planning, decision making and implementation of Deng, Tianzhou and Huang, Bo, Sinoenergy failed to perform the Company's review and decision-making procedures and, from June 22, 2017 to July 19, 2018, incurred a total of 660 million yuan of external guarantees including 280 million yuan of external guarantees in 2017 and 380 million yuan of external guarantees in 2018 by signing guarantee contracts and loan guarantee contracts. Sinoenergy also failed to disclose the above guarantee matters in a timely manner or in relevant periodic reports until January 19, 2021, and April 15, 2021, when it was disclosed for the first time.

According to Article 30 (2) (vii) of the "Measures for the Administration of Information Disclosure of Listed Companies" (CSRC Order No. 40, hereinafter referred to as the "Information Disclosure Measures") of the Regulation, Sinoenergy shall disclose in a timely manner the above-mentioned matters of external guarantee. According to Article 41(2) of the "Standard No. 2 on the Content and Format of Information Disclosure by Companies that Offer Securities to the Public - Content and Format of Annual Reports" (China Securities Regulatory Commission Announcement [2017] No. 17) and Article 39 (2) of "Standard No. 3 on the Content and Format of Information Disclosure by Companies that Offer Securities to the Public - Content and Format of Semi-annual Report" (CSRC Announcement [2016] No. 32, CSRC Announcement [2017] No. 18), Sinoenergy failed to disclose the above mentioned matters of external guarantee in its semi-annual reports and annual reports for 2017 to 2019 resulting in material omissions in the relevant periodic reports.

There are sufficient evidence and proof including loan agreements, letters of guarantee, relevant announcements, and the records of inquiries from relevant personnel and situation descriptions, etc., to find that the above matters of external guarantee were not disclosed in the 2017 semi-annual report, 2017 annual report, 2018 semi-annual report and 2018 annual report of Sinoenergy in violation of Article 63 of the 2015 Securities Law and Article 78 (2) of the 2019 Securities Law , and such omissions constitute material omission of information disclosure as defined in Article 193 (1) of the 2015 Securities Law and Article 197 (2) of 2019 Securities Law.

II. Sincenergy inflated profits in 2019 and 2020, resulting in false records in the 2019 and 2020 annual reports.

- 1. Sincenergy provided for underestimated liabilities related to guarantees resulting in inflated profits in the 2019 and 2020 annual reports.
  - (1) Underestimated liabilities related to guarantees and inflated profits by 72,000,000 yuan in 2019.

On June 11, 2019, the Intermediate People's Court of Zhengzhou City, Henan Province ruled in the Civil Judgment of first instance that Sinoenergy shall have joint and several liabilities of guarantee for the plaintiff's loan principal of RMB 40 million yuan and its interest. On July 24, 2019, the Beijing No. 3 Intermediate People's Court decided in its judgement of the first instance that Sinoenergy shall have the joint and several liabilities of guarantee for plaintiff's loan of $50 million yuan and related expenses.

(2) Sinoenergy provided for underestimated reduction of account receivable resulting in an inflated profit of 324 million yuan in the 2020 annual report.

During the period from the second half of 2018 to the disclosure date for the 2020 annual report, Hubei Jiutoufeng Natural Gas Co., Ltd. (the "Jiutoufeng") and Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corporation ("CAPC") ceased to have any regular business with Sinoenergy's subsidiarie, Qingdao Zhongtian Energy Group Co., Ltd. (the "Qingdao Zhongtian"). In the circumstance when Jiutoufeng and CAPA ceased to supply goods in 2019 and 2020, and did not resolve the arrears as promised, the 264 million yuan paid by Qingdao Zhongtian to Jietoufeng and the net amount of 384 million yuan owed by CAPC to Sinoenergy no longer had the nature of account receivable. However, Sincenergy failed to adjust the above related account receivable into other receivable in its report, nor did it make any provision for bad debts in accordance with regulation all in violation of Articles 3 (1), 46(1) (i), 51(1) of Accounting Standards for Business Enterprises No. 22 - Recognition and Measurement of Financial Instruments" (Cai Kuai [2017] No. 7). Sinoenergy 's 2020 annual report under-provided for bad debt provisions related to Jiutoufeng by 132 million yuan, and inflated its 2020 profits by 132 million yuan; it under-provided for CAPC-related bad debt provisions by 192 million yuan, and inflated its 2020 profits by 192 million yuan.

Regarding the provision for impairment of relevant receivables involved in the case, the audit institution issued a qualified opinion on the Company's 2018 annual report, and an unqualified opinion with a paragraph of emphasis on certain matters on the Company's 2019 annual report and 2020 annual report. In November 2021, Sinoenergy issued an announcement for accounting error correction to adjust the accounting errors in its 2019 and 2020 annual reports.

There are sufficient evidence and proof to verify the above facts of violation of laws including related account information, commitments, announcement, inquiry transcripts, situation descriptions, etc.

In summary, Sinoenergy falsely increased its profits by 72 million yuan in its 2019 Annual Report accounting for 1.65% of the total profit disclosed in the current period (before adjustment); falsely increased its profits by 388 million yuan in its 2020 Annual Report accounting for 50.59% of the total profit disclosed in the current period (before adjustments). There are false records in the 2019 Annual Report and 2020 Annual Report disclosed by Sinoenergy in violation of Article 78(2) of 2019 Securities Law constituting the conduct of making false statement in information disclosure.

Regarding the omission of disclosure of external guarantees in Sinoenergy 's regular reports:

Both Deng, Tianzhou, the actual controller of Sinoenergy, the Company's director, Chairman, President, Executive Deputy General Manager at the relevant time, and Huang, Bo, the actual controller of Sinoenergy and the Company's President, Director, Chairman, Vice Chairman at the relevant time, violated the legal obligations of fiduciaries and diligence of the Company's directors and senior managers, organized, planned, made decisions on, and implemented the above-mentioned external guarantee in violations of regulations and kept concealing and failing to inform the relevant facts to the Company. During their review of the 2017 Semi-Annual Report, 2017 Annual Report, 2018 Semi-Annual Report and 2018 Annual Report, these two persons failed to perform their duties of fiduciaries and diligence by signing and confirming relevant periodic reports in violation of Article 68 (3) of the 2005 Securities Law, and are the responsible personnel who are directly responsible for the violation of regulations in omission of material information disclosure in the 2017 Annual Report, 2018 semi- Annual Report and 2018 Annual Report of Sinoenergy. Both Deng, Tianzhou and Huang, Bo, as the actual controllers of Sinoenergy, also satisfied the requirement for finding that the issuer, controlling shareholders of listed companies or other persons having the obligations of information disclosure, and actual controller commit the conduct of instructing the undertaking of the above two accounts of violations, as provided in Article 3 of the 2005 Securiteis Law.

After resigning as director and senior management in August 2019, both Deng, Tianzhou and Huang, Bo still concealed from the Company and failed to inform the matters of the unlawful external guarantee that they organized, planned, decided on and implemented; breached the statutory duties of fiduciaries and diligence of directors and management of companies, and directly caused the omission of information disclosure on external guarantee in the 2019 semi-annual report and 2019 Annual Report of Sinoenergy.

Under Article 17 of the "Rules for Determining Administrative Liability for Illegal Information Disclosure Acts", both Deng, Tianzhou and Huang, Bo as the personnel other than directors, supervisors, and senior managers directly caused the company's information disclosure to be illegal, and are the other directly responsible persons for the omission of material information disclosure in the 2019 semi-annual report, 2019 Annual Report of Sinoenergy.

Regarding the inflated profits in Sinoenergy's 2019 and 2020 annual reports:

[translation omitted for the discussion of the responsibilities of other management, their defenses and submissions and the responses of the Beijing regulatory bureau]

Based on the facts, nature, circumstances and degree of social harm of the parties' illegal acts, in accordance with Article 193 (3) of the 2005 Securities Law and Article 197 of 2019 Securities Law, this office decides as follows:

A. Under Article 197 (2) of the 2019 Securities Law, Sinoenergy be imposed a penalty of 2 million yuan and a warning.

B. Under Article 193 (3) of the 2005 Securities Law, each of Deng, Tianzhou and Huang, Bo being the actual controllers of the Company be imposed a penalty of 600,000 and a warning; and under Article 197 (2) of the 2019 Securities Law, , each of Deng, Tianzhou and Huang, Bo being persons in charge who are directly responsible for the violations and the other directly responsible persons be imposed a penalty of 3 million yuan and a warning. Each of Deng, Tianzhou and Huang, Bo is individually imposed a warning and an accumulative penalty of 3.6 million yuan.

C. [translation omitted for the penalty for other management of Sinoenergy]

The above-mentioned parties shall, within 15 days from the date of receipt of this penalty decision, remit the fine to the bank where the China Securities Regulatory Commission has an account: the Business Department of China CITIC Bank Beijing Branch, account number: 7111010189800000162, and the bank will directly hand it over to the state treasury, and a copy of the payment voucher with the name of the party concerned shall be sent to the Office of the Administrative Punishment Committee of the China Securities Regulatory Commission and the Beijing Securities Regulatory Bureau for filing. If the party concerned is dissatisfied with this penalty decision, he may apply to the China Securities Regulatory Commission for administrative reconsideration within 60 days from the date of receipt of this penalty decision, or he may directly apply to the competent authority within 6 months from the date of receipt of this penalty decision, initiating an administrative litigation in the competent people's court. During the period of reconsideration and litigation, the execution of the above decisions will not be suspended.

> CHINA SECURITIES REGULATORY COMMISSION BEIJING SUPERVISION BUREAU December 27, 2022.

Exhibit "24"

Reasons for Judgment of Justice Romain. 2021 ABQB 168

20 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "24"

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

ano

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 20 26

Court of Queen's Bench of Alberta

Citation: Henenghaixin Corp v Deng, 2021 ABQB 168

CALCARY, AUTOMA REMEMBER OF A CONTRACT OF A

CLERK OF THE COURT

 $\int_{-\infty}^{\infty} \left\{ \int_{-\infty}^{\infty} \int_{-\infty}^{\infty} \int_{-\infty}^{\infty} \right\}$

MAR 0 3 2021

Docket: 2001 03353 Registry: Calgary

Between:

Henenghaixin Corp.

Plaintiff/ Respondent

- and -

Tianzhou Deng, Xiaobo Deng aka Lake Deng, Michael Lam, Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp., Long Run Exploration Ltd., John Doe and ABC Corporation

Defendants/ Applicants

Reasons for Decision of the Honourable Madam Justice B.E. Romaine

I. Introduction

[1] On April 23, 2020, the Plaintiff, Henenghaixin Corp. (H Corp.) applied ex parte for an attachment order/Mareva injunction/disclosure order against the Defendants Tianzhou Deng, Xiaobo Deng aka Lake Deng, Michael Lam, Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. and Long Run Exploration Ltd. The application was made in accordance with the common law requirements for a Mareva order and the requirements for a pre-judgment attachment order under the Civil Enforcement Act, RSA 2000, c C-15. The order was granted on April 24, 2020.

[2] The Defendants now seek to set the attachment order/Mareva injunction order aside.

II. Applications of Tianzhou Deng, Lake Deng and Michael Lam

[3] Mr. and Ms. Deng submit that the attachment order should be lifted as against them because:

a) the evidence adduced against them at the application did not meet the test for a Mareva injunction;

b) new evidence indicates that H Corp cannot establish a strong prima facie case;

c) H Corp failed in its duty to be candid and give full disclosure; and

d) the application was deficient for other reasons.

[4] Mr. Lam submits that:

a) H Corp has filed to establish a strong prima facie case or a reasonable basis for its claim and failed to make full and frank disclosure of critical facts when it obtained the attachment order;

b) there is no evidence to establish that Mr. Lam received any of the funds transferred out of H Corp or that there is a risk of the dissipation of assets by Mr. Lam;

c) there is no irreparable harm to H Corp;

d) the balance of convenience favours setting aside the attachment order; and

e) H Corp delayed significantly in applying for the relief sought.

[5] H Corp submits that it met, and meets, the appropriate tests and that the pertinent facts considered by the Court in granting the order have not been negated or disproved.

A. Tests for obtaining a Mareva injunction/ attachment order

[6] As I noted in my oral reasons, the six-part test for obtaining a Mareva injunction has been described by the Ontario Court of Appeal in Chitel v Rothbart (1982), 39 O.R. (2d) 513 (Ont. C.A.). This test, with small variations in wording, has been endorsed in many cases since then, including in Alberta: Chu v Twin Cities Power-Canada ULC, 2012 ABCA 47, (Alta C.A.); Athabasca Minerals Inc. v Syncrude Canada Ltd., 2017ABQB 47.

[7] The requirements of the Mareva test are as follows:

i) The applicant must establish that it has a strong prima facie case on the merits by making full and frank disclosure of all material facts within its knowledge, including providing particulars of the claim against the defendant, the grounds of its claim and the amount, and fairly stating the points made against it by the defendant.

ii) The applicant should give some grounds for believing the defendant has assets in the jurisdiction. As much precision as possible regarding those assets is required so that the injunction can be directed towards a specific asset.

iii) The applicant should give some grounds for believing that there is a risk of the assets being removed before the judgement or award is satisfied. The evidence must persuade the Court that the defendant is removing or that there is a real risk that it is about to remove its assets from the jurisdiction to avoid a judgement or that the defendant is otherwise disposing of its assets out of the ordinary course of business, so as to render a future tracing impossible or remote.

Page: 3

iv) The applicant must satisfy the Court that it will suffer irreparable harm if the relief is not granted.

v) The applicant must show that in all circumstances the balance of convenience favours the granting of the injunction pending trial of the issue between the parties.

vi) The applicant must give an undertaking as to damages.

[8] The parties do not disagree about these requirements but disagree about whether they have been met.

[9] In addition, specific requirements apply to an attachment order granted under the Civil Enforcement Act, as set out in section 17 and 18 of the Act.

[10] Subsection 17(2) of the Act states that the Court may grant an attachment order if it is satisfied that a) there is a reasonable likelihood that the applicant's claim will be established; and b) there are reasonable grounds for believing that the defendant is dealing or likely to deal with its exigible property

i) otherwise than for the purpose of meeting the defendant's reasonable and ordinary or living expenses; and

ii) in a manner that would be likely to seriously hinder the claimant in the enforcement of a judgement against the defendant.

[11] Subsections 18 (4) and (6) of the Act stipulate that:

a) the Court, on application on notice to the defendant, may direct an ex parte attachment order remain in effect until terminated in accordance with section 19 or as directed by the Court;

b) the onus of establishing that the order should be continued is on the applicant;

c) the Court shall not continue the attachment order unless circumstances that exist at the time of the application on notice justify the continued existence of the order; and

d) the Court may terminate the order if satisfied that the applicant failed to make full and fair disclosure of material information at the time of the ex-parte application.

B. A strong prima facie case

[12] With respect to the Mareva requirement of a strong prima facie case, and the attachment order requirement of a reasonable likelihood that the applicant's claim will be established, Mr. Deng and Ms. Deng submit that H Corp's claims rest on the untenable assumption that H Corp's directors and officers were "tricked into entirely abrogating their duties as directors and officers". However, this is not H Corp's entire case. The evidence before me, which has not been negated by more recent evidence, is as follows:

1) A translation of the relevant portions of the investment agreements among the general partners of the Chinese entities that funded H Corp, indicate that the scope of the investment is the purchase of assets held by Twin Butte. Mr. Deng and others undertook in the agreements not to impair the investment. One of the agreements provides that any investment decision must be approved by a majority of an investment strategy committee made up of representatives of the various investors. The other requires approval by two-thirds majority of the committee with a veto available to one party.

The investment agreements provide that Mr. Deng and his spouse, another individual and his spouse, and Quingdao Zhangtian Capital Management Co. are subject to certain commitments to purchase the equity interests of the Chinese limited partners that funded the investment in H Corp.

While the agreements provide that they are subject to Chinese law and governed by dispute resolution provisions that may require an arbitration in China, the reference to the scope of investment in this application is not meant to invoke the jurisdiction of this Court in dispute resolution, but to provide context and evidence of investment intent.

2) In 2016, H Corp incorporated a wholly-owned subsidiary, West Lake, for the purpose of acquiring the Twin Butte assets. The Twin Butte assets were eventually acquired from its Receiver for approximately $231,000,000 on March 30th, 2017.

3) Mr. Deng was a Director of H Corp from November 2016 to September 2017 during the period when the Twin Butte transaction was undertaken. He was a Director of West Lake. He is a limited partner of Wuhan LP, one of the Chinese entities that contributed funds to purchase the assets of Twin Butte. He was also a Director of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run Exploration, two of the Defendants, during the relevant period. New evidence indicates that Mr. Deng ceased to be a director of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run on November 18, 2019.

4) Mr. Deng's daughter, Ms. Deng, became a Director of West Lake in April of 2017 and remained a Director until April 2018. She was a Director of Long Run until January 27, 2020, according to new evidence. The Defendant Mr. Lam was described as an associate of and advisor to the Dengs.

Nothing in the new evidence contradicts this, and in fact establishes that Mr. Lam had a great deal to do with the impugned transfer of funds and operations at H Corp and West Lake, despite a lack of formal role.

Ms. Deng confirmed on cross-examination on her affidavit that her father, Mr. Deng, needed someone to provide directions on his behalf in relation to H Corp, West Lake, Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run during the period in issue, and she was that person with respect to the day-to-day business and operations of the company. She also confirmed that, although she resigned as a director of West Lake on April 19, 2018, she continued to attend board meetings on Mr. Deng's behalf and provided directions on his behalf.

While Ms. Deng attempts to minimize her involvement with West Lake, it is apparent from an email to West Lake's lawyers dated April 11, 2017, that she was giving instructions to them.

H Corp alleges that the Dengs and Mr. Lam are the primary actors in an alleged misappropriation and diversion of funds from H Corp and West Lake.

5) In early 2018, the two Chinese investor parties became concerned that Mr. Deng would not be able to fund the acquisition of their equity interests and sent Mr. Zhang and two other representatives to Calgary to investigate West Lake's operations.

6) At a meeting in Calgary in October 2018 with Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam, these representatives were shown West Lake Financial Statements for the period ended December 31st, 2017 purporting to be audited that indicated that the share capital portion of shareholders' equity in West Lake was approximately $345,000,000, and that cash was about $31.5 million. Total current assets were approximately $61,000.000 and non-current assets were approximately $546,000,000. They were also shown bank statements indicating that West Lake had received about $80,000,000 from H Corp.

[13] While Mr. Lam denied knowing anything about the false financial statements and bank statements, he admitted that he provided them to Mr. Zhang and his colleagues. He says in his affidavit that he did not create or review the documents. However, on cross-examination, Mr. Lam admitted that he had received the real audited year-end financial statements of West Lake on April 24, 2018, included in Audit Committee minutes and a board resolution that needed to be signed by Mr. Deng and another director. He sent unaudited quarterly financial statements to Mr. Zhang in a "WeChat" document that were clearly inaccurate in their shareholder equity number. He could not explain the discrepancy, but relied on the fact that the quarterly figures were unaudited.

[14] The Defendants submit that there is insufficient evidence to establish that the financial statements and bank records given to the representatives of the Chinese investors in October, 2018 are false, but Mr. Lam confirmed the accuracy of the audited financial statements and bank records obtained later in January, 2019, thus indirectly confirming that the documents are false.

[15] Mr. Zhang admitted on cross-examination that he received what turned out to be false financial statements from "Mr. Deng's team" on WeChat about two months before the meeting, but only received what turned out to be false bank account statements at the meeting. This does not affect the fact that the statements were false, and that Mr. Zhang had no reason to suspect that until he received the actual financial statements and bank records in January, 2019.

[16] Mr. Lam submits that there is no expert evidence that establishes that the financial statements initially produced by Mr. Deng's team and Mr. Lam were false. However, given that the audited financial statements of West Lake were later produced and verified as accurate by the directors of West Lake and Mr. Lam, it is apparent on their face that the previously produced statements are false and misleading. It is no answer to submit, as Mr. Lam does, that they were signed by two directors of West Lake. They may appear to be signed by these directors, but there is no evidence that these signatures are real.

7) The evidence of H Corp is that it later discovered that both the financial statements and the bank statements were false, that the share capital portion of the shareholders' equity number was materially overstated and that West Lake had not actually received the cash represented in the bank statements. However, at the time it was satisfied with the status of H Corp.

8) The representatives returned to Calgary on January 16th, 2019 and met with two West Lake directors, David Middleton and Steven Neu and West Lake officer, Mr. Steele. At that meeting, they were shown the actual audited financial statements and informed that West Lake had received only about $42,000,000 after the acquisition of the Twin Butte assets.

9) Evidence submitted at the time of the application indicated that actual audited financial statements showed materially lower values for cash, exploration and evaluation and thus, the share capital portion of shareholders' equity was lower than the false financial statements by about $40,000,000. The actual H Corp bank statements obtained from the bank showed lower in-flows of cash from H Corp to West Lake and transfers of cash to other entities, among them later established to be Calgary Sinoenergy.

10) The bank delivered statements to the investigators that revealed that Mr. Lam had approved a number of transfers from H Corp to Calgary Sinoenergy and a company called Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corporation.

[17] These statements indicate that Mr. Neu, a director of H Corp, and the President of West Lake, had also approved some of these transfers. Mr. Zhang's affidavit of November 20, 2019 stated that Mr. Neu admitted to the transfers but advised that Mr. Lam had directed them and advised that Mr. Deng wanted the transfers done. Counsel for H Corp was candid about Mr. Neu's position at the time of the application, specifically referring to the approval of the transfers, and referring to Mr. Neu's position and evidence that tends to corroborate his understanding.

[18] On cross-examination on affidavit, Mr. Lam confirmed that he had approved a number of transfers of funds to Calgary Sinoenergy. He confirmed that he had requested certain of these transfers, and that Mr. Neu had approved them. He also confirmed instructions from Mr. Neu to H Corp's lawyers December 4, 2018 indicating that the lawyers were entitled to continue to rely on instructions received from Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam as "team members" of H Corp until further written notice.

[19] On at least one occasion, money was subsequently transferred by Calgary Sinoenergy to Long Run. The statements also revealed some subsequent transfers of funds from Calgary Sinoenergy to H Corp. but overall, much more money flowed the other way.

[20] Mr. Lam indicated in an affidavit sworn in September, 2020 that the purpose of the transfer was in part to pay back the deposit and to allow Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run to become sufficiently profitable such that they could contribute, along with Mr. Deng and others, to the buyback guarantee set out in the investment agreement with the Chinese investors.

[21] This does not, as submitted by the Defendants, provide a valid business purpose for the funds claimed by H Corp to have been misappropriated, but only evidence of a motive that benefits Mr. Deng with respect to his buy back obligation.

[22] Mr. Lam on cross-examination on his affidavits was evasive about who had directed the transfers. When asked whether Mr. Deng had directed them, he said "not that I am aware of". He then indicated that if Mr. Deng, as a director of H Corp, was in Calgary or "if Mr. Neu would have access to Mr. Deng at that particular time, then I believe we would include Mr. Deng in that particular discussion".

[23] There is nothing in Mr. Lam's evidence that negates the strong prima facie case against Mr. Lam, Mr. Neu's involvement, and how it may affect the validity of the order, is discussed later in this decision.

11) On January 22nd, 2019, the investigators and Mr. Middleton met with Mr. Neu, who Mr. Zhang says disclosed that Mr. Lam had directed the transfers and had advised him that Mr. Deng wanted the transfers done. According to Mr. Zhang's affidavit, Mr. Neu admitted that he had been hired as a consultant for Sinoenergy by Mr. Deng in 2016, and that he had been appointed as a Director of H Corp. and president of West Lake in 2016 at Ms. Deng's direction. He thought Ms. Deng had authority to act as a Canadian representative of her father and knew that Mr. Lam was Mr. Deng's close associate. Therefore, he assumed that Mr. Lam and Ms. Deng had full authority to act for Mr. Deng, even though they had no formal titles at H Corp.

[24] As noted previously, evidence exists to indicate that this understanding was reasonable with respect to Mr. Lam. It was also reasonable with respect to Ms. Deng, as Ms. Deng does not deny that she hired Mr. Neu as a consultant for Calgary Sinoenergy, and was involved in his appointment as president of West Lake. Ms. Deng denies that she told Mr. Neu that Mr. Deng was going to buy Twin Butte, but not that she was very involved in the Twin Butte acquisition "at the request of my father and the two LP's". It is also clear from her affidavit that she was very involved on her father's behalf in West Lake, including setting up bank signing authority for Mr. Neu and Mr. Lam and participating in executive-only meetings.

12) Mr. Middleton advised Mr. Zhang, according to his affidavit, that he was of the impression that Mr. Lam and Ms. Deng had authority to act as representatives of Mr. Déng, that Mr. Deng was the ultimate owner of West Lake or had the authority to conduct business for West Lake on behalf of a group of investors. Mr. Middleton referred to a translation agreement which gives Mr. Lam and Ms. Deng the ability to give instructions on behalf of Mr. Deng and the officers of West Lake, and also gives the officers of West Lake authority to rely on those instructions.

[25] Although Mr. Deng and Mr. Lam submit that the translation agreement only gives them limited authority, it includes the following paragraphs:

AND WHEREAS pursuant to an agreement dated May 1, 2018 (the "Original Agreement") each of Mr. Deng and Mr. Huang appointed Xiaobo (Lake) Deng and Michael Lam (the "Translators") as their due and authorized translators for the purposes of communicating their views, decisions and opinions from time to time in respect of the Corporation to the Corporation's other directors and its officers. employees and other agents in the English language and to receive communications, in the English language, with such persons.

...

By acceptance of this Agreement, [West Lake] and all other directors, officers, employees and other agents of [West Lake] are hereby authorized and entitled to rely on the communications of the Translators as the true and authorized communications (written or oral) of each of Mr. Deng and Mr. Huang, as applicable, without any further act of inquiry or investigation and all of such third parties are hereby authorized to provide any and all communications to the Translators. in the course of any intended communication to either Mr. Deng or Mr. Huang, as applicable, in the English language in the course of any communications required to be given to said directors, in their capacities as directors of the Corporation.

[26] It is therefore apparent that the authority given to Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam by the agreement extends beyond mere translation.

13) Mr. Zhang provided emails to indicate that Ms. Deng was giving instructions to counsel for West Lake in April 2017 on the Twin Butte transaction. Mr. Neu gave Mr. Zhang copies of Mr. Lam's instructions with respect to the transfer of money out of H Corp.

14) Ultimately, H Corp retained PricewaterhouseCoopers to conduct a "forensic" investigation with respect to this matter, supplying it with all of the banking documents, letters, closing documentation and emails that they had gathered in their investigation.

[27] The Defendants object to the characterization of the PricewaterhouseCooper's report as a "forensic" investigation. Mr. Zheng's affidavit states that H Corp's counsel engaged PWC to provide "forensic assistance". The evidence before me at the initial application was not misleading with respect to the nature and limitations of the report: those limitations are clear on its face and counsel for H Corp pointed them out at the ex parte application. My oral decision, when using the term "forensic investigation", does not suggest that the report was less limited than it is.

[28] The report indicates the following: H Corp ultimately received $353,978,331 from entities through which the Chinese investors flowed the funds. From H Corp's bank accounts for the period from December 16th, to December 31st, 2018, PWC identified and quantified payments made to and/or received from entities that could not be associated with the Twin Butte acquisition and capital injections into West Lake.

[29] $276,938,102 was used in connection with the purchase of Twin Butte assets and other operational related purposes.

[30] PWC identified $77,006,491 in net payments from H Corp's bank accounts that were paid to or received from entities unrelated to the above-noted investment purpose. PWC notes that Mr. Zhang advised them that these net payments were made without the knowledge, approval or authorization of the partnership.

[31] The ending balance in H Corp's accounts as at December 31st, 2018 was $33,738.

[32] PW identified the following unrelated entities involved in a number of transactions: Calgary Sinoenergy, Long Run, Alberta Sinoenergy Petroleum Corporation, New Star Energy Ltd., and an unknown entity. [33] I found from evidence before me at the time of the ex-parte application that approximately $44,000,000 remained unaccounted for. H Corp submitted that these funds were diverted without knowledge, approval or authorization and for purposes other than the acquisition of Twin Butte assets and the necessary capitalization of West Lake.

[34] The unrelated entities all share common directors, Mr. Deng and Yongsheng Wu (phonetic). The documentation indicates that Calgary Sinoenergy received net $76,956,491 from H Corp., Long Run received net $150,000 from H Corp and $11.15 million of H Corp funds from Calgary Sinoenergy. Long Run paid $1,462,292 into H Corp for its benefit.

[35] It was on this basis that I found that H Corp had established a strong prima facie case.

[36] Counsel for H Corp was candid and fulsome at the hearing, noting the possible defences the Defendants may have raised on the evidence as it had been presented.

[37] Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam submit that there is new evidence that renders the finding of a strong prima facie case invalid.

[38] These documents consist of a "Shareholders Declaration" made effective as of April 10 2017. The declaration states that it is made by York City Enterprises Ltd. as the holder of all of the shares of H Corp, and it is signed by someone described as a director of York City. York City is one of the vehicles used to funnel the funds from China in order to avoid Chinese currency controls. The declaration states that York City wishes to make a declaration pursuant to section 146 of the Alberta Business Corporations Act, which allows the restriction or amalgamation of the powers of the directors of a corporation by way of a unanimous shareholders agreement.

[39] The declaration is described as relating to an agreement dated April 10, 2017 with respect to a loan in the amount of $58.76 million to Calgary Sinoenergy (described as the "Abrogated Actions"), and states that it relieves all of the directors of H Corp of their duties and liabilities to the fullest extent permitted by the ABCA as it relates to the Abrogated Actions.

[40] The declaration restricts the powers of the directors of H Corp "to the fullest extent permitted by the act and by law as it relates to the Abrogated Actions", and gives such powers to York City "as it relates to the Abrogated Actions". The declaration purports to approve the execution of the loan agreement by York City.

[41] Specifically, Mr. Lam is appointed:

...as a special representative of [H Corp], authorized to handle banking matters and all actions taken by Mr. Lam in such capacity be approved and ratified, and Mr. Lam be specifically directed and authorized to carry out such actions as may be necessary or desirable in furtherance and pursuant of the performance of the transaction under the Loan Agreement.

[42] The loan agreement, which is attached to the declaration, is between Calgary Sinoenergy and York City. The loan is unsecured and bears interest at prime plus 100 bps. It is stated to be repayable on the "Termination Date", which appears to be undefined.

[43] In cross-examination on his affidavits, Mr. Zhang denied that the declaration and loan agreement are valid, and stated "that the current board of directors of H Corp and York City and even the two funds and all the investors think this loan agreement is a fake one". He stated that the first time he and others from H Corp had heard about the loan agreement was from a public notice that Changchun Sinoenergy Energy distributed in China two months prior to Mr. Zhang's cross-examination. When he learned of the declaration, he was "shocked". Mr. Zhang further indicated that the current board of H Corp believes that the loan agreement is fake not only because they had never heard of its existence until recently, but also because, based on H Corp's internal controls, if anyone had signed a document of that nature, the parent companies and the investors would have been notified.

[44] Changchun Sinoenergy is a majority shareholder in Sinoenergy Oil, which in turn holds 100% of the shares of Calgary Sinoenergy. As confirmed by Mr. Lam, Mr. Deng is a "significant shareholder in Changchun Sinoenergy.

[45] Mr. Lam states in an affidavit that Changchun Sinoenergy referred to the existence of the loan agreement in a press release dated June 5, 2020 in response to inquiries made by the Shanghai Stock Exchange with respect to H Corp's claims. The loan agreement was not included in the press release.

[46] Mr. Lam says that the purpose of the loan to Calgary Sinoenergy was to repay Calgary Sinoenergy, Canadian Advantage Petroleum Corporation (a related company) and New Star for their contributions to the deposit that needed to be made to facilitate the purchase of the Twin Butte assets (which appears to be roughly $26 million). Ms. Deng says that the second reason for the loan was to fund a drilling program by Long Run that would allow it to create cash flow, boosting the price of Changchun Sinoenergy, and thereby facilitating the exit strategy of the Chinese investors under the investment agreements. Ms. Deng suggests that the loan was therefore a benefit to H Corp. H Corp disagrees and submits that it only benefits Mr. Deng with respect to his buy-out obligation.

[47] According to Mr. Lam, the Changchun Sinoenergy press release states that over $93 million was transferred from H Corp to Calgary Sinoenergy, despite H Corp not being the lender under the loan agreement, and $92.150 million of that was transferred to Long Run.

[48] The amount of the transfers to Calgary Sinoenergy from H Corp are well in excess of the $58,760,000 loan facility in the purported loan agreement. Although the purported loan agreement states the amount can be increased by York City, there is no evidence that York City ever did so.

[49] According to Mr. Lam's affidavit:

Regarding the net amount owed to H Corp, Changchun Sinoenergy responded that CAD $46,984,593.88 was transferred from Calgary Sinoenergy to H Corp and York City and RMB $49,790,000.00 (approximately CAD $9.96 million) was paid by Long Run and affiliates for interest payments on behalf of York City and affiliates.

[50] The only evidence of this other than Mr. Lam's statement is a Chinese document that Mr. Lam purports to translate. Relying on a series of other untranslated documents attached to his affidavits, relating to other debts and payments involving third parties, Mr. Lam states in his September 11, 2020 affidavit that the amount owing to H Corp is approximately $16.5 million.

[51] In his August 15, 2020 affidavit, he states that the amount owing to H Corp according to a December 6, 2019 analysis done by an employee of one of the Chinese limited partners is approximately $21.66 million. This he supports by reference to untranslated emails among representatives of Calgary Sinoenergy, H Corp and the Chinese investors. Mr. Lam also refers to other untranslated WeChat excerpts that he says suggest that the amount owing is between $17.32 million and $18.8 million. He also alleges that no-one in the WeChat discussion has suggested misappropriation. However, Mr. Lam is not a participant in these exchanges.

[52] Mr. Lam in an affidavit states that, at a meeting on or about April 2017, he advised Mr. Neu and representatives of the Chinese investors of the declaration and loan agreement, and filed a copy in the H Corp minute book.

[53] Mr. Lam submits that the investors must have known about the funds flowing from H Corp to Calgary Sinoenergy because a 2017 PowerPoint presentation to West Lake investors identified "Capital Injection" of $42 million in one of the slides. Mr. Lam argues that since $42 million was approximately half of the $80 million contributed by the Chinese investors in excess of the purchase price of the Twin Butte assets, it should have been clear that not all of the excess funds were being used to fund West Lake. It is not clear who the "investors" were who were given the presentation, and also not as clear from this isolated fact as Mr. Lam suggests that funds were being directed to Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run.

[54] Mr. Lam also refers to H Corp's August 2017 Financial Statements in his affidavit, but again this document is untranslated.

[55] As noted, H Corp and the investors deny knowledge of the documents. This is a matter for trial.

[56] However, given that the transfer of funds from H Corp to Calgary Sinoenergy exceed the amount authorized by the loan agreement, and given the issues relating to the declaration and loan agreement as described herein, the existence of these documents is not sufficient to negate the prima facie case that was established by H Corp at the ex parte application and that continues to be established in this application.

[57] I continue to be satisfied, in accordance with the Mareva requirements set out in Chitel v Rothbart, that there is a serious issue to be tried.

[58] With respect to the attachment order, as recently noted by the Court of Appeal in Bank of Nova Scotia v Five Star Motor Group Ltd., 2020 ABCA 244 at para 17:

The substance of the test for an attachment order is found in s. 17(2) [ of the Civil Enforcement Act] First there must be a "reasonable likelihood" the applicant's claim will be established. The "reasonable likelihood" test under the statute is arguably lower than the test of a "strong prima facie case" that might be needed for a common law Mareva injunction: Cho v. Twin Cities Power-Canada U.L.C., 2012 ABCA 47 (Alta. C.A.) at para. 5, (2012), 522 A.R. 154 (Alta. C.A.). The applicant need not prove the claim on a balance of probabilities, but something more than mere suspicion is required.

[59] H Corp has satisfied the "reasonable likelihood" case, particularly through the evidence of the falsified financial statements and bank records that were produced during the meeting in October, 2018. Sufficient supporting evidence exists to establish such a reasonable likelihood beyond mere belief or speculation. The involvement of Mr. Dang, Mr. Lam and Ms. Deng in the events that give rise to the claim has also been established to a reasonable likelihood.

C. Assets in the Jurisdiction

[60] It is clear from their evidence that Mr. Lam and Ms. Deng have assets in Alberta. Mr. Deng did not file an affidavit. However, as noted by H Corp, he is a significant shareholder in Changchun Sinoenergy which is the majority shareholder in Sinoenergy Oil, which holds 100% of the shares of Calgary Sinoenergy, although, as described later in this decision, his shareholdings in Changchun Sinoenergy may be frozen or diminished. As counsel noted in the ex-parte application, whether Mr. Deng has assets in the jurisdiction is less clear, but he has through Changchun Sinoenergy, and possibly through other entities in the complicated chain of its subsidiaries, an indirect interest in both Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run.

D. Risk of Dissipation

[61] The next part of the Mareva requirements is whether there are grounds for believing that there is a risk of assets being removed before a judgement is satisfied or, in the words of the Civil Enforcement Act, there are "reasonable grounds" that the defendants are likely to deal with their assets out of the ordinary course of business, and in a way that is "likely to seriously hinder the claimant" in recovering its claim.

[62] The fact that the claim is in fraud or other similar misconduct, and if it is "reasonably likely" that the claim will be established under the first part of the tests may support an inference that the defendants are likely to deal with their assets in a way that will satisfy this part of the test: Osman Auction Inc. v Belland, 1998 ABQB 1095 (Alta. Q.B.) at para 28.

[63] While in the Nova Scotia case, the potential inference identified in Osman Auction was not sufficient to overcome the gap in the factual record, this is not a case, as in Nova Scotia, where a receivership order could eliminate risk.

[64] H Corp submits, based on Sibley & Associates LP v Ross, 2011 ONSC 295, that dissipation can be inferred from the circumstances and the course of conduct undertaken by the defendants.

[65] In Sibley, the evidence established that the defendant had made payments from the company to his mother over a period of several years, totaling in excess of $300,000. Strathy, J. found that that the evidence established "a very strong prima facie case" of fraud, but there was no direct evidence of either the former employee or his mother's financial circumstances or that they were dissipating their assets or proposing to remove them from the jurisdiction.

[66] After review with cases dealing with the granting of a Mareva injunction, the Court concluded that where all the circumstances, including the circumstances of the alleged fraud, demonstrate a serious risk that the defendant will attempt to dissipate assets or put them beyond the reach of the plaintiff, the court may infer dissipation and/or removal of assets: para 62.

[67] Mr. Lam is a close associate of Mr. Deng and Ms. Deng is his daughter. They have acted as his representatives with respect to the events given rise to H Corp's claim. It is clear from public notices from Changchun Sinoenergy described later in this decision that Mr. Deng may be subject to significant financial risks. It is clear from the investment agreement that he requires funds to buy-out the limited partners. Mr. Lam has significant investments in properties in Alberta and Ms. Deng is the director of a company incorporated to hold real estate in Alberta. Given their previous conduct on behalf of Mr. Deng, the Osman Auction inference is warranted.

[68] While Mr. Deng may no longer be a director of Calgary Sinoenergy or Long Run, he remains connected to these companies through his involvement with Changchun Sinoenergy, although the extent of his involvement is unclear. Mr. Deng's involvement in Changchun Sinoenergy's subsidiaries is unknown. Given that the claim against Mr. Deng is in fraud, and given the strength of the prima facie against him, the Osman Auction inference is sufficient to satisfy the test in his case.

E. Irreparable Harm

[69] H Corp cites East Guardian SPC v Mazur, 2014 ONSC 6403 at para 41 with respect to the Mareva requirement that the applicant must show that irreparable harm would occur if the order is not granted:

The normal basis for irreparable harm in cases of this kind is that, if the respondent's assets are not secured, there will be no way for the applicant to collect on a money judgement.

[70] This principle was affirmed in OPFFA v Paul Atkinson et al, 2019 ONSC 3877 at para 25.

[71] The Court in Rana v Malik, 2014 ONSC 701, where the defendants had some assets in the jurisdiction and had family and business ties in Pakistan, found irreparable harm in the risk that the defendants may transfer their assets beyond the reach of the plaintiff. The Court found such a risk to be "more than simply mere speculation" because the conduct of the defendants included creating forged documents to hide or misrepresent their fraudulent conversion and because of "their ability and experience to transfer investments quickly in and out of Canada": para 78. While Canadian assets included a house registered in the name of one of the defendants, the Court noted that a related defendant was the one likely in control of the business. The evidence in this case, including the allegations of fraudulent financial statements and ability to transfer funds cross-border despite Chinese currency controls, is also sufficient to indicate a risk of irreparable harm that is more than mere speculation.

[72] These authorities support a finding of irreparable harm with respect to Mr. and Ms. Deng, but Mr. Lam submits that his situation is similar to that of the defendants in HZC Capital Inc v Lee, 2019 ONSC 4622, where the Court found that there was no evidence of off shore assets or businesses or any indication the defendants may move their assets off shore to avoid judgement or that they would not be in a position to pay any judgement ordered.

[73] However, in that case, the Court dismissed the application against most of the defendants on the basis that the applicant had not established a strong prima facie case, there was no evidence of risk of dissipation and it could not be concluded that the defendants would not have assets sufficient to satisfy any judgement in respect of the alleged wrongful conduct. In this case, I have found evidence efficient to establish a strong prima facie case with respect to Mr. Lam and his involvement in the movement of funds into Canada. I have also found substantial evidence of his involvement in a strong prima face case of fraudulent conduct with respect to the provision of misleading financial statements to H Corp's representatives. Given these factors, I find that H Corp has established a more than speculative case of risk of irreparable harm with respect to Mr. Lam.

[74] H Corp has established that there is a real risk that the defendants are able to move funds in and out of Canada. That risk is apparent from the complex means by which funds were moved out of China despite currency controls. That, plus the fact of forged documents, establishes a risk of dissipation, and thus irreparable harm.

F. Balance of Convenience

[75] The balance of convenience test requires the Court to consider whether the harm suffered by the applicant if the order is not made exceeds the harm that will be suffered by the respondent if it is: RJR-MacDonald Inc. v Canada (Attorney General) [1994] 1 S.C.R 311 at para 67.

[76] H Corp submits that the balance of convenience favours granting the order, because, if the order is not granted, the defendants will be able to put their assets beyond reach. H Corp also notes that it has consented to multiple orders amending the order in order to allow Mr. Lam and Ms. Deng to continue to access funds for living expenses and to engage in ordinary business transactions, and that thus any inconvenience to the defendants can be off-set by such orders, given H Corp's demonstrated willingness not to burden the defendants more than necessary to achieve the purpose of which the order was granted.

[77] I find that the balance of inconveniences favours H Corp.

G. Other Issues

A. Delay

[78] The defendants submit that H Corp's delay in seeking the order is fatal to this application. The fact of delay by an applicant, quite apart from any question of prejudice to the defendant, may often indicate that the risk is not significant enough to warrant interlocutory relief: Secure 2013 Group v Tiger Calcium Services Inc., 2017 ABCA 316 at para 126.

[79] Counsel for H Corp addressed the issue of delay at the time of the ex-parte application. He referred to the delay in release of the PWC report, delay caused by Covid-19 (conceding that the pandemic was not the cause of all of the delay) and the delay caused by the fraudulent concealment of the true financial statements and bank statements.

[80] As noted in ICI Americas Inc. v. Ireco Canada Inc. (1985),-7C.P.R. (3d) 1 (Fed. T.D.) at p. 10:

In general it is the effect of delay, not the fact of delay that precludes a party from obtaining an interlocutory injunction. For example, effects which make delay a reason for refusing an interlocutory injunction are: (1) the defendant has prejudiced his position during the time of delay, as for example, through the expenditure of money in developing a business; or (2) delay is evidence that the plaintiff does not consider interdiction of the infringement an urgent or pressing matter. [ emphasis added by the Court].

[81] H Corp refers to O2 Electronics Inc. v Sualim, 2014 ONSC 5050, at paras 89-90 where the Court held:

Similarly, the delay from December 2013 to July 2014 in taking steps to secure its own Mareva injunction is problematic, because a plaintiff's delay in seeking an equitable remedy may justify refusing the remedy. However, in the circumstances of the immediate case, Mrs. Sualim knew the claim was coming, and I do not see how her position has changed detrimentally by the delay in 02 Electronics seeking the Mareva injunction. She remains entitled to apply for modifications to the Order for normal business and living expenses and for legal fees.

[82] In Kingston Technology Co. v. Orr [2001] O.J. No. 2386 (Ont. S.C.J.) Swinton J. noted at paragraph 8:

In my view, it would not be appropriate for me to dismiss the motion for a Mareva injunction despite the lengthy delay in bringing it on for a hearing on the merits. While delay is clearly a factor that courts consider in determining whether a Mareva injunction should be granted, so, too, are the merits of the case and the prejudice to the plaintiff (R.J. Sharpe, Injunctions and Specific Performance, 3d ed. at para. 1.840).

[83] In this case, the merits of the case clearly support the issuance of the Mareva inunction/attachment order. In the circumstances the delay is explicable, and there is no evidence that it has caused prejudice to the defendants. I, therefore, would not dissolve the Mareva injunction on the grounds of delay and want of notice in seeking injunctive relief.

[84] There is no reason to conclude that H Corp should have proceeded with its application on the basis of a "draft" PWC report, as suggested by Mr. Lam.

B. Lack of Candour

[85] The defendants submit that H Corp failed to be candid in its submissions to the Court in support of the ex-parte application. Some of these submissions have been referred to previously. The following are those that have not yet been noted:

a) The defendants suggest that H Corp failed to make full and frank disclosure with respect to Mr. Neu's knowledge and approval of transfers out of H Corp. I cannot agree with this submission: counsel for H Corp advised me of this during the ex parte application, and the materials before me indicated that Mr. Neu had given his approval to many of the transfers. However, Mr. Zhang's affidavit explains that Mr. Neu advised that Mr. Lam told him that Mr. Deng wanted the transfers done, and that he was under the impression that Mr. Deng controlled the funds behind H Corp. The issue of the hearsay nature of this evidence is addressed later in this decision.

b) The defendants allege that Mr. Zhang intended the Court to be misled by media reports about tax evasion and the financial situation of Long Run. The limited value of these reports was apparent on their face, and counsel for H Corp referred to the dated nature of the Long Run information. In my oral decision, I referred to this information as being "contextual" information, and described the dates of the report and the name of the individual who was investigated by the CRA.

c) It is submitted that Mr. Zhang failed to disclose that the parties had been discussing the claim in a WeChat virtual working group in December 2019, including discussions with respect to the correct amount of the claim. The issue is whether the fact that there were discussions and negotiations among the parties with respect to the claim is vital evidence that should have been disclosed to the Court. While it may have been more complete to disclose these discussions at the time of the ex-parte application, I cannot say that they would have changed the outcome, or that they change the outcome of this application. Only a portion of the WeChat discussions have been provided by Mr. Lam, who is not a participant in the discussions, and they have not been properly translated.

d) The defendants allege that Mr. Zhang admitted in cross-examination on his affidavits that he asked the Court to draw an adverse inference against the defendants with respect to the $2 million payment from New Star, even though he could have asked for clarification from Mr. Neu. The transcript of Mr. Zhang's cross-examination does not support this allegation. Mr. Zhang's evidence on this issue is more nuanced than this and not an admission as alleged. At any rate, I did not draw such an adverse inference.

e) The defendants submit that the corporate diagram that Mr. Zhang says was relied upon by Mr. Middleton to support his belief that Mr. Deng was either the ultimate owner of West Lake or, at the least, had authority to conduct West Lake's business on behalf of a group of investors, could not possibly lead anyone to believe that Mr. Deng controlled H Corp. I note first that Mr. Zhang does not say that Mr. Middleton relied upon this corporate diagram, but does say that it is inaccurate. Mr. Lam included a different ownership structure in his affidavit, and noted that the ownership diagram in Mr. Zhang's affidavit was "not entirely wrong", but that there were some intermediate Chinese companies missing from the chart. Therefore, Mr. Zhang was not incorrect when he described the original diagram as inaccurate.

Mr. Lam's diagram discloses that, while Mr. Deng may only be a 5% owner of Wuhan LP, one of the Chinese limited partners, Wuhan owns approximately 53% of Jingzhou Heping Energy Co Ltd. to Jingyin LP's approximately 47%, that Jingzhou owns approximately 99% of Quingdao Sinoenergy Yuheng Co Ltd, which holds 100% of York City Enterprises, a British Virgin Islands company which holds 100% of H Corp, which holds 100% of West Lake.

This indicates a far more complex structure than was indicated in the diagram that Mr. Zhang says was provided to Mr. Middleton by Mr. Lam. Whether or not the incorrect ownership structure that Mr. Middleton provided to Mr. Zhang could support Mr. Middleton's view of Mr. Deng's authority is a matter for trial. However, the submissions on this issue by the defendants do not support a lack of candour or disclosure by H Corp.

f) It is alleged that Mr. Zhang's evidence misrepresents Mr. Lam's role. The evidence of Mr. Lam on this issue does not support any misrepresentation by Mr. Zhang.

[86] In summary, I do not find that H Corp or its counsel failed in their duty to provide full and frank disclosure in the ex-parte application, or that Mr. Zhang misrepresented any facts or information.

C. Other objections

[87] The defendants submit that H Corp's undertaking as to damages is without substance because Mr. Zhang acknowledged that H Corp does not have much cash as it is not an operating company. However, it owns the shares of West Lake, an operating company in Alberta with substantial assets.

[88] The defendants submit that the order is deficient in that it does not stipulate that it expires automatically after 21 days. While subsection 18(2) of the Civil Enforcement Act provides for an expiration date of not more than 21 days, subsection 18(3) provides that, if the court is satisfied that it would be inappropriate for an ex-parte attachment order to expire automatically after 21 days, the order may specify a later expiry date or specify that it remains in force and effect until it terminates in accordance with section 19. The order granted in this case provided for termination as set out in section 19(1).

H. Conclusion on the Application of Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam

[89] The ex parte order is confirmed as it relates to Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam.

[90] The defendants submit, correctly, that some of H Corp's evidence supplied in Mr. Zhang's affidavits is hearsay advice from Mr. Neu and Mr. Middleton, among others. I agree that Mr. Neu and Mr. Middleton's evidence is important and should be provided by them directly. I therefore direct that the order will terminate three months from the date of this decision unless H Corp provides affidavits from Mr. Neu and Mr. Middleton. The order will otherwise terminate as set out in section 19(1), subject to further order of the Court.

III. Application of Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. and Long Run Exploration Ltd.

[91] The defendants Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run submit that the order should be set aside because:

(a) H Corp. failed to show a strong prima facie against Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run;

(b) material information was not disclosed to the Court;

(c) H Corp. failed to demonstrate any urgency that required the order and was guilty of delay in applying for it;

(d) the order should have contained a expiry date;

(e) there were no financial caps in the order commensurate with the alleged amounts in issue included in the order; and

(f) there was no evidence of risk of dissipation or removal of assets as against Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run and thus H Corp. did not show irreparable harm.

[92] Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run provided the following information:

(a) The defendant Tianzhou Deng stopped being a director of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run on November 18, 2019, two days before Mr. Zhang's affidavit of November 20, 2019 was sworn.

It appears that the notification of change of directors was filed on November 19, 2019, the day before the affidavit was sworn. The affidavit stated that Mr. Deng was a director of Calgary Sinoenergy, Long Run and West Lake Energy Corp., a wholly owned subsidiary of the H Corp., which was true before November 18, 2019.

(b) The defendant Lake Deng ceased to be a director of Long Run on or about January 27, 2020. She was a director of Long Run when the affidavit was sworn. She was never a director of Calgary Sinoenergy, but H Corp. does not allege that.

(c) The defendant Michael Lam was removed as the VP Finance of Calgary Sinoenergy "by" January 10, 2020. He was never a director or office of Long Run, but H Corp. did not allege that. Mr. Lam confirmed in his cross-examination of affidavit on September 17, 2020 that he had been VP Finance for Calgary Sinoenergy "from beginning to the end", and also VP Finance for Alberta Sinoenergy "from beginning to the end" and that he was VP Finance for New Star Energy Ltd. and the CEO of New Star Energy. Thus, the November affidavit was not inaccurate with respect to Mr. Lam.

(d) New Star Energy Ltd. was not a subsidiary of Calgary Sinoenergy but of Alberta Sinoenergy Petroleum Corp. The November affidavit disclosed this.

(e) Mr. Lam in his subsequent cross-examination on affidavit reféreed to what is described as a Shareholder Declaration of H Corp. signed by a director of York City Enterprises Ltd. on April 10, 2017, one of the intermediary companies involved in the transfer of funds from H Corp. to West Lake. This declaration has been described previously in this decision

[93] It is correct that, in my reasons for decision, I relied on the information that Mr. Deng was a director of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run, and that Ms. Deng was a director of Long Run in granting the order against the corporate defendants. Given that Mr. Deng and Ms. Deng are no longer directors of these two companies, I must consider if there is sufficient evidence to establish that either of them currently have the ability to move funds in and out of the jurisdiction or to dispose of assets through the corporate defendants Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run, one of the essential requirements of both the test for a Mareva order and the test for an attachment order.

[94] There remains considerable evidence that Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam were involved with Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run during the period of time that H Corp. alleges that it was wrongfully deprived of approximately $44 million. That issue, however, is a matter for trial. The evidence with respect to any current relationship they may have to the corporate defendants is as follows:

a) None of Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng or Mr. Lam are directors or officers of either Calgary Sinoenergy or Long Run.

b) Changchun Sinoenergy Corp is a majority shareholder in Sinoenergy Oil Investment Ltd., which in turn holds 100% of the shares of Calgary Sinoenergy. As Sinoenergy Oil is a British Virgin Islands company, it is not possible for H Corp to determine who its shareholders are, and Sinoenergy Oil has not disclosed this.

c) Mr. Deng is one of the founders of Changchun Sinoenergy, which is publicly traded on the Shanghai stock exchange. Until recently, Mr. Deng was the President of Changchun Sinoenergy.

d) On October 25, 2019, Changchun Sinoenergy issued a public notice advising that, pursuant to a court decision, the shares in Changchun Sinoenergy held by Mr. Deng, Quingdao Capital and another individual had been frozen for a period of three years.

e) On January 2, 2020, Changchun Sinoenergy issued a notice indicating that a portion of Mr. Deng's shares, which had been subject to various pledging and freezing orders by the court, were judicially auctioned, resulting in a significant decrease in Mr. Deng's shares in Changchun Sinoenergy.

f) On January 13, 2020, Changchun Sinoenergy issued a notice, confirming that the portion of Mr. Deng's shares that had been judicially auctioned had been transferred.

g) On January 21, 2020, Changchun Sinoenergy issued a notice that, due to its losses, the company faced being delisted from the Shanghai Stock Exchange.

h) On February 28, 2020, Changchun Sinoenergy issued a "second warning" notice, again warning stakeholders that, as a result of its losses, it may be delisted.

i) On September 9, 2020, Changchun Sinoenergy posted a press release advising that Mr. Deng was subject to a 5-year market ban on being a director or senior executive of companies listed on the Shanghai Stock Exchange.

[95] All of these documents are in the Chinese language, but none of the parties have disputed their accuracy.

[96] While it is possible that Mr. Deng may still be a director or shareholder of an unlisted Changchun Sinoenergy or its subsidiaries despite his and the company's financial difficulty and may still be in a position to exert some control over Calgary Sinoenergy, H Corp has not adduced evidence sufficient to establish its burden of proof on this necessary requirement for an attachment order or Mareva injunction.

[97] Therefore, the pre-trial attachment order against Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run must be set aside.

[98] With respect to the allegations of lack of candour by H Corp, while it would have been prudent to check the corporate registries of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run in the months leading to the application, counsel to H Corp. did not deliberately fail to disclose material information to the Court. As noted, the change of directors took place only a day before the affidavit was sworn with respect to Mr. Zhang, and months afterwards with respect to Ms. Deng. Counsel did not misrepresent the Globe and Mail article of 2018 about Mr. Yang, or misrepresent that date of the 2015 article about the financial condition of Long Run, nor did it misrepresent the time period of Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam's involvement with the companies. My reasons identified the date of the Long Run article and the date Calgary Sinoenergy acquired Long Run, as well as a correct reference to Mr. Yang's involvement, which was not in any event material to my decision.

[99] While information has arisen subsequent to the order that may be material, that evidence was not available to H Corp at the time of the application, or is disputed by H Corp. As noted previously, I was not misled about the nature of the PricewaterhouseCoopers report, which I reviewed before giving my decision.

[100] As I have decided that the attachment order of Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run should be lifted, it is not necessary that I address the other alleged deficiencies in the application referred to by Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run.

Dated at Calgary, Alberta this 3rd day of March, 2021.

B.E. Romaine J.C.Q.B.A.

Appearances:

Andrew Wilson and Erin Baker for the Plaintiff/ Respondent Henenghaixin Corp

Lillian Pan Q.C. and Steven Latos for the Defendants/ Applicants, Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp and Long Run Exploration Ltd.

Steven H. Leitl, Q.C. and Sunny Mann for the Defendants Tianzhou Deng and Lake Deng Exhibit "25"

Court of Appeal of Alberta Decision, Aug-22-22

13 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "25"

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

aro

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 20 26

In the Court of Appeal of Alberta

Citation: Henenghaixin Corp v Deng, 2022 ABCA 271

Date: 20220822 Docket: 2101-0082AC 2101-0084AC Registry: Calgary

Docket: 2101-0082AC

Between:

Henenghaixin Corp.

Respondent

- and -

Michael Lam

Appellant

- and -

Tianzhou Deng, Xiaobo Deng aka Lake Deng, Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp., Long Run Exploration Ltd., John Doe and ABC Corporation

Not Parties to the Appeal

Docket: 2101-0084AC

Between:

Henenghaixin Corp

Respondent

- and -

Tianzhou Deng and Xiaobo Deng, aka Lake Deng

Appellants

Michael Lam, Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp., Long Run Exploration Ltd., John Doe and ABC Corporation

Not Parties to the Appeal

The Court:

The Honourable Justice Marina Paperny The Honourable Justice Peter Martin The Honourable Justice Jo'Anne Strekaf

Memorandum of Judgment

Appeal from the Order by The Honourable Justice B.E. Romaine Dated the 3rd day of March, 2021 Filed on the 21st day of April, 2021 (2021 ABQB 168, Docket: 2001 03353)

Memorandum of Judgment

The Court:

Introduction

[1] These appeals are from an order declining to set aside an ex parte attachment order/Mareva injunction obtained by Henenghaixin Corp (H Corp) against a former director, his daughter, his business associate and various corporations. The underlying action alleges misappropriation of funds provided to enable H Corp's wholly owned subsidiary, West Lake Energy Corporation (West Lake), to acquire the assets of a company out of receivership.

[2] The evidence provided by H Corp on the ex parte application and in opposition to the motion to set it aside contained significant hearsay. H Corp did not provide direct evidence from any of its directors, officers or employees, or any of West Lake's directors, officers or employees. As a result, no representative of H Corp or West Lake with direct knowledge of their operations and access to their business records and financial information was available for cross-examination on the review application.

[3] The chambers judge upheld the ex parte order but concluded that evidence of Steven Neu (the President and a director of H Corp and an officer of West Lake) and David Middleton (a director and former officer of West Lake), which evidence was before her in the form of hearsay, was "important and should be provided by them directly". She directed that the order "will terminate three months from the date of this decision unless H Corp provides affidavits from Mr Neu and Mr Middleton".

[4] Mareva injunctions and attachment orders are extraordinary remedies. Hearsay evidence should be approached cautiously, particularly in the absence of an explanation as to why key available evidence has not been provided by individuals who have personal knowledge of the relevant facts. The acknowledgment by the chambers judge that some of the hearsay evidence was important and should be provided directly implicitly recognized that the order could not be justified on the record before the court.

[5] The appeal is allowed and the attachment order/Mareva injunction is set aside.

Background

[6] H Corp is an Alberta corporation established and funded through a chain of intermediate entities by two Chinese investment funds (referred to as the investment funds or limited partnerships) to acquire the assets of Twin Butte Energy Ltd through H Corp's subsidiary, West Lake.

[7] At the relevant time, the appellant Tianzhou Deng (Mr Deng), was one of four members of the H Corp board of directors and was also a director of West Lake, Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp and Long Run Exploration. His daughter, Xiaobo Deng, aka Lake Deng (Ms Deng) was a director of West Lake and is a director of Long Run. Mr Michael Lam is a business associate of the Dengs.

[8] On February 28, 2020, H Corp commenced an action against the Dengs, Mr Lam, Calgary Sinoenergy, Long Run, John Doe and ABC Corporation. The claim alleges that the investment funds transferred monies to H Corp to acquire the Twin Butte assets. Monies were then transferred among various corporations, leaving a shortfall of $44 million that was wrongfully diverted. The claim alleges the funds were misappropriated from H Corp at the direction of Mr Deng through instructions provided by Mr Lam and Ms Deng, who misrepresented to individuals at H Corp that Mr Deng owned and controlled H Corp and that they had authority to direct its affairs.

[9] On April 23, 2020, H Corp applied for and obtained an ex parte attachment order/Mareva injunction (ex parte order) against Mr Deng, Ms Deng, Mr Lam, Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run.

[10] The chambers judge found the investment funds provided $352.5 million to H Corp to enable West Lake to acquire the assets of Twin Butte from a receiver on March 30, 2017. The acquisition was subject to two investment agreements involving various parties, including the limited partnerships and Mr Deng, which restricted the use of the funds to the acquisition of the Twin Butte assets and related matters.

[11] In May 2018, the investment funds became concerned that Mr Deng would be unable to fund the acquisition contemplated in the investment agreements and sent Gaoyong Zhang and two others to Calgary to investigate West Lake's operations. Mr Zhang and the others met with Ms Deng and Mr Lam in October 2018 and were shown audited West Lake financial statements for the period ended December 31, 2017. Those statements showed shareholder's equity of $345 million and cash of $61 million. Bank statements indicated West Lake had received $80 million from H Corp. In January 2019, Mr Zhang met with two West Lake directors, Mr Neu and Mr Middleton, and an officer, Mr Steele. They reviewed audited financial statements showing shareholder's equity that was lower by $40 million. Mr Zhang was informed that West Lake had received $42 million after the Twin Butte acquisition. On January 21, 2019 the directors of H Corp changed signing authority, removing Mr Lam but retaining Mr Neu. Bank statements indicated that Mr Lam had approved a number of transfers from H Corp to Calgary Sinoenergy.

[12] Price Waterhouse was retained to conduct a forensic investigation. Its report indicated that H Corp received $354 million from the investment funds through various entities, of which $276 million was used in connection with the Twin Butte purchase and other operational related purposes. The report identified $77 million in net payments not related to the Twin Butte assets were made to various unrelated entities, including Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run.

[13] The chambers judge was satisfied that the criteria for an attachment order and Mareva injunction had been met. She found that: H Corp had established a strong prima facie case; its counsel had been candid and fulsome; there was a serious issue to be tried; the evidence, "including the forensic analysis by Price Waterhouse and the evidence of the false financial statements and misleading bank statements indicates that it is likely to be successful at trial"; the defendants had assets in Alberta that were at risk of disposal or dissipation; irreparable harm had been established; and the balance of convenience favoured granting the application.

[14] The only evidence submitted on behalf of H Corp on the ex parte application were three affidavits of Mr Zhang. He was a resident of China and an employee of the general partner of one of the investment funds that indirectly owned H Corp. He was not a director, officer or employee of H Corp or West Lake.

[15] The Dengs and Mr Lam applied to set aside the ex parte order. Both Ms Deng and Mr Lam provided affidavits on the review application, and transcripts from cross-examinations of Mr Zhang, Ms Deng and Mr Lam were filed. H Corp did not file any additional evidence on the review application, continuing to rely on the affidavits of Mr Zhang.

[16] Mr Lam's evidence was that H Corp did not have sufficient funds to pay the deposit to acquire Twin Butte so Calgary Sinoenergy advanced those funds by way of a loan to H Corp and the transfers out of H Corp were authorized by a Shareholder Resolution and Loan Agreement. He said he did not create, review or alter the bank statements or West Lake financial statements that were provided to Mr Zhang in October 2018.

[17] The chambers judge dismissed the review application to set aside the ex parte order: Henenghaixin Corp v Deng, 2021 ABQB 168. That decision is the subject of this appeal.

[18] The chambers judge undertook a thorough analysis of the evidence; her detailed findings are summarized throughout her decision. It is clear that the chambers judge had serious concerns regarding the transfer of funds from H Corp based on the apparent discrepancies in financial statements, the report of Price Waterhouse, and the evidence of Mr Zhang. For the narrow purposes of this appeal, we note the following relevant findings made by the chambers judge.

[19] With respect to the bank statements, the chambers judge noted that they "indicate that Mr. Neu, a director of H Corp, and the President of West Lake, had also approved some of these transfers. Mr. Zhang's affidavit of November 20, 2019 stated that Mr. Neu admitted to the transfers but advised that Mr. Lam had directed them and advised that Mr. Deng wanted the transfers done. Counsel for H Corp was candid about Mr. Neu's position at the time of the application, specifically referring to the approval of the transfers, and referring to Mr. Neu's position and evidence that tends to corroborate his understanding" (para 17).

[20] The chambers judge also found as follows, based on the affidavits of Mr Zhang:

On January 22nd, 2019, the investigators and Mr. Middleton met with Mr. Neu, who Mr. Zhang says disclosed that Mr. Lam had directed the transfers and had advised him that Mr. Deng wanted the transfers done. According to Mr. Zhang's affidavit, Mr. Neu admitted that he had been hired as a consultant for Sinoenergy by Mr. Deng in 2016, and that he had been appointed as a Director of H Corp. and president of West Lake in 2016 at Ms. Deng's direction. He thought Ms. Deng had authority to act as a Canadian representative of her father and knew that Mr. Lam was Mr. Deng's close associate. Therefore, he assumed that Mr. Lam and Ms. Deng had full authority to act for Mr. Deng, even though they had no formal titles at H Corp.

Mr. Middleton advised Mr. Zhang, according to his affidavit, that he was of the impression that Mr. Lam and Ms. Deng had authority to act as representatives of Mr. Deng, that Mr. Deng was the ultimate owner of West Lake or had the authority to conduct business for West Lake on behalf of a group of investors. Mr. Middleton referred to a translation agreement which gives Mr. Lam and Ms. Deng the ability to give instructions on behalf of Mr. Deng and the officers of West Lake, and also gives the officers of West Lake authority to rely on those instructions.

[21] No affidavit from Mr Neu or Mr Middleton was filed on the review application. The evidence with respect to their conversations and assumptions was all contained in the affidavits of Mr Zhang.

[22] The chambers judge found that "PWC identified $77,006,491 in net payments from H Corp's bank accounts that were paid to or received from entities unrelated to the above-noted investment. PWC notes that Mr. Zhang advised them that these net payments were made without the knowledge, approval or authorization of the partnership." (para 30). Based on her review of the evidence, the chambers judge found approximately $44 million of the invested funds remained unaccounted for and noted that H Corp submitted the funds were diverted without knowledge, approval or authorizations, and for purposes other than the acquisition of Twin Butte assets and the necessary capitalization of West Lake. She found the evidence indicated Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run as among the unrelated entities that received funds from H Corp, and that those entities share common directors, including Mr Deng.

[23] The chambers judge rejected the appellants' submission of an alleged Shareholders Declaration and loan to Calgary Sinoenergy, noting that "H Corp and the investors deny knowledge of the documents" and concluding it is a matter for trial.

[24] The chambers judge confirmed the attachment order/Mareva injunction in relation to the Dengs and Mr Lam. She recognized that some of the evidence in Mr Zhang's affidavits is hearsay advice from Mr Neu and Mr Middleton, among others. She agreed that "Mr. Neu and Mr. Middleton's evidence is important and should be provided by them directly". She directed that the order would terminate after three months unless H Corp provided affidavits from Mr Neu and Mr Middleton.

Issues on appeal

[25] The appellants submit that the chambers judge erred:

- (1) in confirming the order based on hearsay evidence on key points in circumstances where direct evidence was available;
- (2) in directing, on her own motion, that the order would terminate three months from the date of her decision unless H Corp provides affidavits from Mr Neu and Mr Middleton; and
- (3) in finding that H Corp's delay in moving for the order was not fatal.

Standard of Review

[26] A chambers judge's decision to grant or maintain a Mareva injunction or attachment order is a discretionary decision afforded considerable appellate deference "unless the judge proceeded arbitrarily, on a wrong principle or failed to consider or properly apply the applicable test in which case the standard is correctness: Peters & Co Limited v Ward, 2015 ABCA 6 at para 10, 588 AR 365; Dreco Energy Services Ltd. v Wenzel, 2008 ABCA 290 at para 10, 440 AR 273.": Secure 2013 Group Inc v Tiger Calcium Services Inc, 2017 ABCA 316 at para 34.

Analysis

[27] Mareva injunctions and attachment orders are extraordinary remedies. They are a form of prejudgment relief often granted ex parte, and thereafter reviewed once they have been served on the defendant.

[28] As the chambers judge correctly noted, the test to be applied on an application to review a Mareva injunction and attachment order includes establishing a "strong prima facie case on the merits" and "a reasonable likelihood that the applicant's claim will be established", respectively.

[29] The focus of this appeal is narrow: whether the chambers judge erred in upholding the ex parte order having regard to the nature of the evidentiary record on the review application. Whether the initial order ought to have been granted on this record is not under appeal. Our analysis is focused on the review application and the record on that application.

Hearsay evidence on Mareva injunctions and attachment orders

[30] It is open to a judge to consider and rely on hearsay evidence on an application for a Mareva injunction or attachment order. Rule 13.18 expressly permits evidence based on information and belief, unless the application will dispose of the claim: Guillevin International Co v Barry, 2022 ABCA 144 at para 55. Indeed, in many instances when such orders are sought there is a need to proceed expeditiously and without notice to protect assets from being transferred out of a jurisdiction. In such circumstances, it may not be possible to obtain direct evidence from all relevant parties.

[31] That said, "a chambers judge should proceed cautiously with hearsay evidence, particularly where the ex parte remedies sought are as prejudicial to the absent defendants as in the case of an Anton Piller order or a summary judgment...or an injunction.": British Columbia (Attorney General) v Malik, 2011 SCC 18 at para 51. This is particularly the case "where better and more complete evidence was available": Fine Gold Resources, Ltd. v. 46205 Yukon Inc., 2016 YKCA 15 at para 24. "It is quite simply that the injunctive relief sought should not...be granted on no more than pure hearsay when it has not been shown that evidence from the original sources is unavailable.": Litchfield v Darwin, (1997) 29 BCLR (3d) 203, 1997 CanLII 3830 at para 4.

[32] The only evidence put forward on behalf of H Corp on the review application were the affidavits of Mr Zhang, an employee of the general partner of one of the limited partnerships, several entities removed from H Corp in the ownership chain. The action has not been framed as a derivative action. The limited partnerships are not parties to the action and their interests and knowledge should not be conflated with that of H Corp.

[33] A key element of H Corp's claim is the allegation that funds were misappropriated and diverted from H Corp through misrepresentations by Ms Deng and Mr Lam that induced individuals at H Corp to authorize the transfers. The statement of claim includes the following allegations:

12. Ms. Deng advised a consultant in her employ that her father, Mr. Deng, was acquiring the assets of Twin Butte out of receivership. She arranged for the consultant to become a director of H Corp. and an officer of West Lake.

13. Mr. Lam represented to individuals at H Corp. that he had full financial authority over the affairs of H Corp., which he described a holding company of "Sinoenergy" (Mr. Deng is the founder and major shareholder of Changchun Sinoenergy Corp., an entity publicly traded on the Shanghai Stock Exchange).

14. In this way, Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam represented that Mr. Deng owned and controlled H Corp., and that they had authority to direct the affairs of H Corp on his behalf.

15. None of this was true.

[34] The "consultant" and "individuals at H Corp" who were not identified in the Statement of Claim were presumably Steven Neu and David Middleton, yet no direct evidence was provided by either of them regarding the alleged recruitment, the alleged representations, or any reliance by them or H Corp on such representations. Nor was any explanation provided for the absence of this evidence.

[35] The chambers judge found that the financial statements provided by Mr Lam to Mr Zhang in October 2018 were "false and misleading. It is no answer to submit, as Mr Lam does, that they were signed by two directors of West Lake. They may appear to be signed by these directors, but there is no evidence that these signatures are real." (para 16). These financial statements were apparently signed by Mr Neu and Mr Middleton, who provided no affidavit evidence indicating what, if any, information they had about the financial statements, or that their signatures were not real.

[36] No direct evidence was provided from any director, officer or employee of H Corp or West Lake, nor was any explanation given as to why such evidence was not available. The appellants therefore had no opportunity to cross-examine anyone from H Corp or West Lake with access to those entities' corporate and financial records concerning the impugned transactions, the allegations of misrepresentation and misappropriation, and the inaccurate financial statements of West Lake, as set out in the pleadings. On the review application, having regard to the conflicting affidavits filed on behalf of the appellants, the absence of such evidence takes on greater prominence.

[37] This Court recently characterized a defendant seeking to set aside a Mareva injunction and attachment order who failed to provide any affidavit evidence denying the alleged fraud as playing "hide and seek", calling for "a strong adverse inference": Guillevin at para 59. A corporate applicant, seeking the extraordinary relief of Mareva injunction and attachment order while failing to provide any direct evidence from a director, officer or employee authorized to speak on its behalf and with access to its records, may be viewed in a similar light absent exceptional circumstances and an explanation why such evidence has not been adduced. We also note that the hearsay evidence filed on the application here is not like the type of information recognized in

Guillevin as not requiring direct evidence; the evidence here does not consist of business records created in the ordinary course of business, nor is it a summary of information known to many people: Guillevin at paras 54 - 58.

[38] On an application to review an ex parte attachment order or Mareva injunction, the onus to establish all elements of the test remains on the party that brought the original application: Tiger Calcium at para 169. In this review application, the onus was on H Corp to demonstrate that there is evidence supporting the key allegations of its claim, establishing a strong prima facie case on the merits and a reasonable likelihood that the claim will succeed.

[39] The chambers judge made numerous findings of fact and rejected much of the evidence put forward by Mr Lam and Ms Deng, as was her prerogative. However, in the absence of direct evidence, she relied heavily on hearsay evidence provided by Mr Zhang with respect to key parts of H Corp's claim. In addition to the allegations of misrepresentation made to Mr Neu and Mr Middleton set out above, we note the following examples.

[40] Paragraph 11 of the Statement of Claim alleges that "H Corp believed that the Investment Funds, less the purchase price for the Twin Butte assets net of adjustments, would be available for West Lake to operate the Twin Butte assets. Those remaining funds were not to be used for any other purpose." There was no evidence provided by anyone from H Corp as to what it "believed".

[41] Paragraphs 19 and 20 allege that there was "no legitimate reason" for the diversion of approximately $44 million and that the "improper diversion ....was unknown, and unknowable to H Corp until January, 2019 at the earliest." Mr Zhang's affidavit explains why the investment funds believed there was no legitimate reason for the diversion and why they may not have known about the "diversion" until January 2019, however, the investment funds are not the plaintiff in this action. There was no direct information from anyone from H Corp regarding its knowledge, information or explanation about the diversion and whether, and if so how, that occurred without its knowledge.

[42] Paragraphs 21 and 22 allege that Mr Deng breached fiduciary duties he owed to H Corp by "either actively arranging for the transfer of the Diverted Funds, or, alternatively, by allowing the Diverted Funds to be transferred as a result of insufficient oversight or insufficient internal controls". There is no evidence from anyone at H Corp with respect to what oversight or internal controls existed at H Corp and their sufficiency.

[43] Paragraphs 28 to 30 allege:

28. The Defendants Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng, and Mr. Lam made representations to officers of H Corp. that they had authority to direct the diversion of funds from H Corp. These representations were made with the intent that directors and officers of H Corp. would rely on them, and the Defendants Mr. Deng, Ms. Deng and Mr. Lam knew or ought to have known that they would in fact be relied upon. These representations were in fact false.

- 29. On the basis of these representations, funds were wrongfully diverted out of H Corp. But for the misrepresentations, the funds would not have been wrongfully diverted.
- 30. As a result of these misrepresentations and H Corp's reliance on them, H Corp. has suffered damage in the amount of $44 million or such other amount as shall be proved at the trial of this action.

[44] There is no direct evidence from anyone at H Corp regarding these alleged representations.

[45] Given the nature of the allegations in the Statement of Claim, it is problematic to maintain the extraordinary relief of an attachment order and Mareva injunction on a review application when the applicant failed to provide any direct evidence from its directors, officers and employees regarding the merits of its claim or explain why such direct evidence was not provided. Instead, the decision rests entirely on third party evidence containing significant hearsay from the applicant's directors, officers and employees. This is of particular concern here because the claim involves allegations of misrepresentations made to H Corp, with no direct evidence as to what the misrepresentations were; when, by whom and to whom they were made; whether, to what extent and by whom they were relied upon; what, if anything, was done as a result of the representations; and what loss or damage was sustained as a result.

Requirement that Steven Neu and David Middleton file affidavits

[46] The reasons on the review application allude to the hearsay nature of the evidence regarding the allegations of misrepresentations made to H Corp in connection with the alleged misappropriation of funds. When discussing the third hand hearsay in Mr Zhang's affidavit, "that Mr. Neu advised that Mr. Lam told him that Mr. Deng wanted the transfers done, and that he was under the impression that Mr. Deng controlled the funds behind H Corp", the chambers judge indicated that "(t)he issue of the hearsay nature of this evidence is addressed later in this decision" (para 85(a)). It was addressed at paragraph 90 in the finding that "Mr. Neu and Mr. Middleton's evidence is important and should be provided by them directly" and the direction that "the order will terminate three months from the date of this decision unless H Corp provides affidavits from Mr. Neu and Mr. Middleton."

[47] This aspect of the order, which was not sought by any of the parties, is fundamentally inconsistent with there being a sufficient evidentiary record on the review application to justify maintaining the ex parte order. The direction that the orders would terminate unless affidavits were provided within three months by individuals whose hearsay advice was "important and should be provided by them directly" cannot be reconciled with the conclusion that the orders were justified on the record before the court.

Conclusion

[48] Whether there is merit to the allegations in the Statement of Claim is a matter that will be determined at the trial of this action. We express no opinion in that regard. This appeal deals only with the nature of the evidence filed on the application to review the ex parte order.

[49] The appeal is allowed and the attachment order/Mareva injunctions granted with respect to the appellants are set aside.

Appeal heard on January 13, 2022

Memorandum filed at Calgary, Alberta this 22nd day of August, 2022

Authorized to sign for:

Paperny J.A.

uthorized to sign for: Aartin J.A.

Strekaf J.A.

Appearances:

A.P. WilsonA. BediE.J. Baker (no appearance) for the Respondent

D.J. Wachowich, Q.C. S. Stokes for the Appellant on 2101-0082AC

S. Mann

for the Appellant, Tianzhou Deng on 2101-0084AC

S.H. Leitl, Q.C.

for the Appellant, Xiaobo Deng (aka Lake Deng) on 2101-0084AC

Exhibit "26"

Court of Appeal of Alberta Decision, Aug-22-22

13 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "26"

Referred to in the Affidavit of

Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

aro

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Excirces May 21, 2026 COURT FILE NUMBER 2001-03353

COURT COURT OF KING'S BENCH OF ALBERTA

JUDICIAL CENTRE CALGARY

PLAINTIFF HENENGHAIXIN CORP.

DEFENDANTS TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG, aka LAKE DENG, MICHAEL LAM, CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP., LONG RUN EXPLORATION LTD., JOHN DOE and ABC CO

THIRD PARTY DEFENDANTS TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG AKA LAKE DENG, 1980264 ALBERTA LTD., SHING TAK LAM AKA MICHAEL LAM, 1838967 ALBERTA LTD., YINGCHUN WU, 1280365 ALBERTA LTD., STEVEN NEU, EILEEN CORPORATION, YORK CITY ENTERPRISES LIMITED BVI, WEST LAKE ENERGY CORP., and QINGDAO ZHONGTIAN YUHEN ENERGY CO. LTD

DOCUMENT

ORDER

ADDRESS FOR SERVICE AND JENSEN SHAWA SOLOMON DUGUID HAWKES LLP CONTACT INFORMATION 800, 304 - 8 Avenue SW OF PARTY FILING THIS Calgary, Alberta T2P 1C2 DOCUMENT Andrew Wilson KC Erin Baker Tel: 403 571 1058

Fax: 403 571 1528 wilsona@jssbarristers.ca bakere@jssbarristers.ca File: 14828-001

| DATE ON WHICH ORDER WAS PRONOUNCED: | April 15, 2024                       |
|-------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| LOCATION OF HEARING OR TRIAL:       | Calgary, Alberta                     |
| NAME OF JUDGE WHO MADE THIS ORDER:  | The Honourable Justice J.R. Ashcroft |

UPON THE APPLICATION of the proposed Third Party Defendants Deshuang Yu (Yu) and Jun Xiong (Xiong) to set aside the Order for Service Ex Juris of the Third Party Claim by the Defendants

Tianzhou Deng and Xiaobo Deng (aka Lake Deng) (Deng TPC), granted September 25, 2021 (Deng Service Ex Juris Order), and service of the Deng TPC pursuant to the Deng Service Ex Juris Order;

AND UPON THE APPLICATION of the proposed Third Party Defendants Yu and Xiong to set aside the Order for Service Ex Juris of the Third Party Claim by the Defendant Michael Lam (Lam TPC), granted October 7, 2021 (Lam Service Ex Juris Order), and service of the Lam TPC pursuant to the Lam Service Ex Juris Order;

AND UPON hearing submissions from counsel for Yu and Xiong, counsel for Michael Lam, and counsel for Tianzhou Deng and Xiaobo Deng (aka Lake Deng);

AND UPON NOTING that the Lam TPC does not establish a good arguable case for contribution or indemnity claims against Yu or Xiong;

AND UPON NOTING that the Deng TPC does not establish a good arguable case for contribution or indemnity claims against Yu or Xiong by Xiaobo Deng (aka Lake Deng);

AND UPON NOTING that the Deng TPC does not establish a good arguable case for contribution or indemnity against Yu or Xiong, excepting only for claims by Tianzhou Deng against Yu and Xiong for contribution or indemnity from Yu or Xiong that arise from the alleged breach of any duty that Yu or Xiong owed to Henenghaixin Corp., or that arise from Yu and Xiong being liable for insufficient oversight or insufficient internal controls at Henenghaixin Corp.;

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

1. The Lam Service Ex Juris Order is set aside;

2. The Deng Service Ex Juris Order permitting Xiaobo Deng (aka Lake Deng) to serve ex juris Yu and Xiong is set aside;

3. The Deng Service Ex Juris Order permitting Tianzhou Deng to serve ex juris Yu and Xiong is varied to allow only service ex juris of those Third Party claims by Tianzhou Deng against Yu and Xiong for contribution or indemnity that arise from alleged breaches of any duties Yu and Xiong owed to Henenghaixin Corp. in their respective roles as directors of Henenghaixin Corp., or that arise from Yu and Xiong being liable for insufficient oversight or insufficient internal controls at Henenghaixin Corp.;

4. Yu and Xiong are awarded the costs of this application against Michael Lam and Xiaobo Deng (aka Lake Deng);

5. Yu and Xiong and Tianzhou Deng shall bear their own costs arising from this application.

Janie aglight.

Justice of the Court of King's Bench of Alberta

JENSEN SHAWA SOLOMON DUGUID HAWKES LLP

ANDREW WILSON, KC / ERIN BAKER Counsel for Plaintiff, Henenghaixin Corp.

Consented as to the Form of Order Granted this 7 day of May, 2024

ROSE LLP

DAVID J. WACHOWICH, KC / SAMANTHA E. STOKES Counsel for Defendant, Shing Tak Lam aka Michael Lam

Consented as to the Form of Order Granted this  $\underline{5th}$  day of May, 2024

NORTON ROSE FULBRIGHT CANADA LLP

STEVEN H. LEITL, KC / SUNNY MANN Counsel for Defendants, Tianzhou Deng and Xiaobo Deng aka Lake Deng Exhibit "27"

Order pronounced by Applications Judge Farrington, May-08-23

2 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "27"

Referred to in the Affidavit of

Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

auce Caros

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 2026 COURT FILE NUMBER 2001-03353

COURT OF KING'S BENCH OF ALBERTA

JUDICIAL CENTRE CALGARY

PLAINTIFF HENENGHAIXIN CORP.

DEFENDANTS TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG aka LAKE DENG, MICHAEL LAM, CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP., LONG RUN EXPLORATION LTD., JOHN DOE, and ABC CORPORATION

THIRD PARTY DEFENDANTS TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG AKA LAKE DENG, 1980264 ALBERTA LTD., SHING TAK LAM AKA MICHAEL LAM, 1838967 ALBERTA LTD., YINGCHUN WU, 1280365 ALBERTA LTD., STEVEN NEU, EILEEN CORPORATION, YORK CITY ENTERPRISES LIMITED BVI, WEST LAKE ENERGY CORP., AND QINGDAO ZHONGTIAN YUHEN ENERGY CO. LTD, CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP., LONG RUN EXPLORATION LTD., DESHUANG YU, JUN XIONG and HAIPENG TU

DOCUMENT

COURT

ORDER

ADDRESS FOR SERVICE AND CONTACT INFORMATION OF PARTY FILING THIS DOCUMENT Andrew Wilson, KC/ Erin J. Baker / Angad Bedi Tel: 403 571 1520 Fax: 403 571 1528

> wilsona@jssbarristers.ca bakere@jssbarristers.ca bedia@jssbarristers.ca File: 14828.001

DATE ON WHICH ORDER WAS PRONOUNCED:

May 8, 2023

LOCATION OF HEARING OR TRIAL:

Calgary, Alberta

NAME OF JUDGE WHO MADE THIS ORDER:

Applications Judge Farrington

UPON NOTING the Application of the Plaintiff, Henenghaixin Corp.; AND UPON READING the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, affirmed April 18, 2023; AND UPON HEARING from counsel for the Applicant and the Respondents:

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

- 1. The Respondents Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. and Long Run Exploration Ltd. (collectively, the Corporate Defendants) shall produce a Supplemental Affidavit of Records on or before June 15, 2023;
- The Corporate Defendants are directed to produce the Corporate Representative for cross-examination on the Corporate Defendants' Affidavit of Records, affirmed April 7, 2022 and the Supplemental Affidavit of Records on or before July 7th, 2023, unless otherwise agreed to by the parties;
- 3. The Corporate Defendants shall pay the Applicant $1,500 costs, forthwith and in any event of the cause.  $( \ )$

Applications Judge of the Court of King's Bench of Alberta

APPROVED AS TO THE FORM OF ORDER GRANTED

JENSEN SHAWA SOLOMON DUGUID HAWKES LLP

ANDREW WILSON KC / ERIN J. BAKER / ANGAD BEDI Counsel for Plaintiff, Henenghaixin Corp.

APPROVED AS TO THE FORM OF ORDER GRANTED

CARON & PARTNERS LLP

AIDAN HENDERSON Counsel for Corporate Defendants, Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. and Long Run Exploration Ltd. Exhibit "28"

Supplemental AOR - Long Run and Calgary Sinoenergy, sworn Jun-15-23

9 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "28"

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 2026

Clerk's stamp:

| COURT FILE NUMBER                                                                                            | 2001-03353                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |  |  |  |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|--|--|
| COURT                                                                                                        | COURT OF KING'S BENCH OF ALBERTA                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |  |  |  |
| JUDICIAL CENTRE                                                                                              | CALGARY                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |  |  |  |
| PLAINTIFF                                                                                                    | HENENGHAIXIN CORP.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |  |  |  |
| DEFENDANTS                                                                                                   | TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG aka LAKE DENG,MICHAEL LAM, CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENTCORP., LONG RUN EXPLORATION LTD., JOHN DOE ANDABC CORPORATION                                                                                                                                                    |  |  |  |
| THIRD PARTY DEFENDANTS                                                                                       | TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG aka LAKE DENG,1980264 ALBERTA LTD., SHING TAK LAM aka MICHAELLAM, 1838967 ALBERTA LTD., YINGCHUN WU, 1280365ALBERTA LTD., STEVEN NEU, EILEEN CORPORATION,YORK CITY ENTERPRISES LIMITED BVI, WEST LAKEENERGY CORP, AND QINGDAO ZHONGTIAN YUHENENERGY CO. LTD. |  |  |  |
| DOCUMENT                                                                                                     | SUPPLEMENTAL AFFIDAVIT OF RECORDS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |  |  |  |
| ADDRESS FOR SERVICE ANDCONTACT INFORMATION OF PARTYFILING THIS DOCUMENT                              | Caron & Partners LLPAttention: Aidan D. Henderson2120, 237 4 th Ave. SW, Calgary, AB T2P 4K3Telephone: (403) 262-3000 Fax: (403) 237-0111Email: ahenderson@caronpartners.comFile: 61664-000                                                                               |  |  |  |
| SUPPLEMENTAL AFFIDAVIT OF RECORDS OFCALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP.and LONG RUN EXPLORATION LTD. |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |  |  |  |

Wendy Barber Sworn by on June 15, 2023

I. Wendy Barber, of the City of Calgary, in the Province of Alberta, have personal knowledge of the following or I am informed and do believe that:

- I am the authorized representative for Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. and Long 1. Run Exploration Ltd. (the "Defendants").
- The records listed in Schedules 1 and 2 are under the control of the Defendants. 2.
- The Defendants object to produce the records listed in Schedule 2 on the grounds of 3. privilege identified in that Schedule.

- 4. The records listed in Schedule 3 were previously under the control of the Defendants but ceased to be so at the time and in the manner stated in Schedule 3.
- 5. Other than the records listed in Schedules 1, 2, and 3, the Defendants do not have and never had any other relevant and material records under their control.

)

))

)

))))

SWORN BEFORE ME at Calgary, Alberta, this / day of June, 2023

issioner for Oaths in and for the Com Province Alberta

Hong J. Feng Barrister and Solicitor A Commissioner for Oaths in and for Alberta

SCHEDULE 1

Relevant and material records under the Defendants' control for which there is no objection to produce:

See attached Schedule 1.

SCHEDULE 2

Relevant and material records under the Defendants' control for which there is an objection to produce:

- (a) without prejudice communications;
- (b) communications and copies of communications between solicitor and client;
- solicitors' work product, including all interoffice memoranda, correspondence, notes, memoranda and other records prepared by the solicitors or their assistants;
- (d) records made or created for the dominant purpose of litigation, existing or anticipated;
- (e) records that fall into 2 or more of the categories described above;

the entire Caron & Partners LLP file, File No. 61664-000.

SCHEDULE 3

Relevant and material records previously under the control of the Defendants:

| No. | Description Of Records                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | When thisrecord ceasedto be under theDefendants'control                                  | Manner inwhich thisrecord ceasedto be under theDefendants'control                                                                     | Presentlocation of therecord                                                                                                                                            |
|-----|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1.  | Originals of correspondencedescribed in Schedule 1 andSchedule 2, sent to theaddressees thereof                                                                                                                                                                                          | On the date ofthe respectivecorrespondence                                                       | By being sent tothe respectiveaddressees                                                                                                          | Unknown                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 2.  | Records lost, misplaced, ordestroyed in the ordinarycourse of business or usage                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Unknown                                                                                                  | Unknown                                                                                                                                                   | Unknown                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 3.  | There is a laptop and cellphone (the " Devices ") thehardware and contents ofwhich the Defendants claimedownership. The devices wereused by Michael Lam up tothe last quarter of 2019, withinwhich time frame he wasactively involved with theDefendants. | Unknown. Theyhave been inpossession ofCounsel forLong Run sinceNovember 29,2021. | It is unknownwhat, if any,modificationswere made tothe deviceswhen they werenot in thepossession ofLong Run'scounsel. | Long Run hasstored theDevices fromNovember 29,2021 with theircounsel withoutaccessing themuntil theircontents couldbe properlypreserved |

NOTICE

The time when the producible records listed in this Affidavit of Records may be inspected is between the hours of 9:00 am to 4:00 pm by prior arrangement.

The place at which the producible records may be inspected is Caron & Partners LLP, 2120 237 4th Avenue SW, Calgary, Alberta T2P 4K3.

| PROD_BEGDOC            | PROD_ENDDOC                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Date                                                                                                           | Document Category                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Document Description                                                                                      | Author/Mail From                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Recipient/Mail To         | Image_Cnt                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| LRE-0001-0001          | LRE-0001-0006                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2016-06-29                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Indemnity Agreement                                                                                       | Long Run Exploration Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Tian Zhou Deng            | 6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| LRE-0002-0001          | LRE-0002-0008                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2016-06-29                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Indemnity Agreement                                                                                       | Long Run Exploration Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Xiaobo Deng               | 8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| LRE-0003-0001          | LRE-0003-0008                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2016-06-29                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Indemnity Agreement                                                                                       | Long Run Exploration Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Yingchun Wu               | 8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Calgary Sinoenergy        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LRE-0004-0001          | LRE-0004-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2016-07-01                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Consulting Agreement                                                                                      | 128365 Alberta Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Contraction of the                                                                                             | Street, Para and a                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Calgary Sinoenergy        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LRE-0005-0001          | LRE-0005-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2016-07-04                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Consulting Agreement                                                                                      | 1980264 Alberta Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Calgary Sinoenergy        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LRE-0006-0001          | LRE-0006-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2016-07-04                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Consulting Agreement                                                                                      | 128365 Alberta Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| · 推动的 · Phare          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | A BASH STOR                                                                                                    | Contraction of the second                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Calgary Sinoenergy        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LRE-0007-0001          | LRE-0007-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2016-07-18                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Consulting Agreement                                                                                      | Eileen Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Calgary Sinoenergy        | and a second                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| LRE-0008-0001          | LRE-0008-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2016-07-18                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Consulting Agreement                                                                                      | 128365 Alberta Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 的复数学校主义                | Section 204-1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | The state of all                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                           | - style sky states a second                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Calgary Sinoenergy        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LRE-0009-0001          | LRE-0009-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2016-08-05                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Consulting Agreement                                                                                      | 128365 Alberta Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                           | a na manana na ang ang ang ang ang ang ang ang                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Calgary Sinoenergy        | and the sector and the sector of the sector sector of the |
| LRE-0010-0001          | LRE-0010-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2016-11-09                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Consulting Agreement                                                                                      | 128365 Alberta Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 1. 建产品的资料              | The state of the state of the                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Service                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                           | Contraction of the second second                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Calgary Sinoenergy        | Hall Market Street                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| LRE-0011-0001          | LRE-0011-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2016-11-09                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Consulting Agreement                                                                                      | 1280365 Alberta Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Shareholder Declaration Attaching                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                           | and the part of the second second second                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| LRE-0012-0001          | LRE-0012-0011                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2017-04-10                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | $51.15 Loan Agreement                                                                                    | York City Enterprises Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Henenghaixin Corp.        | 11                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| The Alexandre A        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | and the second second                                                                                          | See 2 and a set of the set                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Shareholder Declaration Attaching                                                                         | the second s                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LRE-0013-0001          | LRE-0013-0012                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2017-04-10                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | $58.76 Loan Agreement                                                                                    | York City Enterprises Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Henenghaixin Corp.        | 12                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| LRE-0014-0001          | LRE-0014-0008                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2017-11-23                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Indemnity Agreement                                                                                       | Henenghaixin Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Tian Zhou Deng            | 8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Contract of the second |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                           | Alberta Sinoenergy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                           | 19. A. B. C. B. B.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| LRE-0015-0001          | LRE-0015-0008                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2017-12-12                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Indemnity Agreement                                                                                       | Petroluem Corporation                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Michael Lam               | 8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Shareholder Declaration Attaching                                                                         | Calgary Sinoenergy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LRE-0016-0001          | LRE-0016-0003                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2018-11-22                                                                                                     | Agreements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Abrogated Actions as Schedule A                                                                           | Investment Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Long Run Exploration Ltd. | 3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 新闻和新闻的 社会       | See A subject to                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Bank of China (CAD) - Account                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Calgary Sinoenergy        | 的历史的建立的                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| LRE-0017-0001          | LRE-0017-0016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2016-06-30                                                                                                     | Bank Statements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Statement                                                                                                 | Bank of China (CAD)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Investment Corp.          | 16                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| LRE-0018-0001          | LRE-0018-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2017                                                                                                           | Bank Statements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Scotiabank - Account Details                                                                              | Scotiabank                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Long Run Exploration Ltd. | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Calgary Sinoenergy        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LRE-0019-0001          | LRE-0019-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2017-04-30                                                                                                     | Bank Statements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                    | ATB Financial                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Calgary Sinoenergy        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LRE-0020-0001          | LRE-0020-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2017-06-30                                                                                                     | Bank Statements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                    | ATB Financial                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | C. C                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Calgary Sinoenergy        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LRE-0021-0001          | LRE-0021-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2017-07-31                                                                                                     | Bank Statements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                    | ATB Financial                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        | a yang sada Abin Dinawak di Janakak Giribad                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Construction of the second |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | n ander and an and an                                                 | a new processor and a state of the new process and a state of the stat | Calgary Sinoenergy        | and reading the contract of the second                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| LRE-0022-0001          | LRE-0022-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2017-08-31                                                                                                     | Bank Statements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                    | ATB Financial                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        | State State State                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Service Street                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | A STATE PROPERTY OF A STATE OF A STATE                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Calgary Sincenergy        | the set there are a                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| LRE-0023-0001          | LRE-0023-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2017-09-30                                                                                                     | Bank Statements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                    | ATB Financial                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Investment Corp.          | 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                        | and the second se |                                                                                                                | <ul> <li>A second s</li></ul> | a fina – normen nan rakonom na finaker manan dati tangkenak arta dari tang segara sari dari 1935.Alam |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Calgary Sinoenergy        | CONTRACTOR OF A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LRE-0024-0001          | LRE-0024-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2017-10-31                                                                                                     | Bank Statements                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                    | ATB Financial                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Investment Corp.          | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

| PROD_BEGDOC                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | PROD_ENDDOC                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Date         | Document Category  | Document Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Author/Mail From     | Recipient/Mail To                      | Image_Cnt                                               |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|--------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|----------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |              |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     |                                                         |
| LRE-0025-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0025-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2017-11-30   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       | 1999 - Alexandre - A                                    |
| 105 0026 0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 105 0006 0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2017-12-31   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Calgary SinoenergyInvestment Corp. |                                                         |
| LRE-0026-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0026-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2017-12-51   | Dalik Statements   | Arb Fillancial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Arbiniancia          | investment corp.                       |                                                         |
| LRE-0027-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0027-0491                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018         | Bank Statements    | Scotiabank - Account Summary Details                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Scotiabank           | Long Run Exploration Ltd.              | 491                                                     |
| The second distribution of the second s |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |              |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     |                                                         |
| LRE-0028-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0028-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018-01-31   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
| ALL DEPENDENCES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |              |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     |                                                         |
| LRE-0029-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0029-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018-02-28   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 1.05.0000.0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2010 02 21   | Damla Chatana anta | ATD Since sick Connellidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     |                                                         |
| LRE-0030-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0030-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018-03-31   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.Calgary Sinoenergy |                                                         |
| LRE-0031-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0031-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018-04-30   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
| ERE-0031-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LILL COST COOT                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2010 0 7 30  | Junicotatemento    | And Thidheid - consolidated statement.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     | n the substitute of the factor of the                   |
| LRE-0032-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0032-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018-05-31   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 1200         |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | CHERCE AND PROPERTY. | Calgary Sinoenergy                     |                                                         |
| LRE-0033-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0033-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018-06-30   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |              |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     |                                                         |
| LRE-0034-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0034-0006                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018-08-31   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |              |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     |                                                         |
| LRE-0035-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0035-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018-09-30   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
| LRE-0036-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0036-0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018-10-31   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Calgary SinoenergyInvestment Corp. |                                                         |
| LKL-0030-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LKL-0030-0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018-10-31   | Dank Statements    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     |                                                         |
| LRE-0037-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0037-0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018-11-30   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
| And the state of the second seco | <ul> <li>March 1996 Control Contro</li></ul> |              |                    | 2 In the second state was set of a part of a statistical trap from the second state of the back state by the second state of the back state of the second state of the back state of the second state of the back state of the ba |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     |                                                         |
| LRE-0038-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0038-0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2018-12-31   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
| A second to second                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Manager and Andrews                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | LEAST STREET | A PARAMAN STAT     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 1                    | Calgary Sinoenergy                     | Ser States                                              |
| LRE-0039-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0039-0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2019-01-31   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |              |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     |                                                         |
| LRE-0040-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0040-0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2019-02-28   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
| LDE 0041 0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | URE 0041 0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2019-03-31   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Calgary SinoenergyInvestment Corp. |                                                         |
| LRE-0041-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0041-0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2019-05-51   | Dank Statements    | Arb Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     | <ul> <li>Material and Table 2007 (2007) 4-12</li> </ul> |
| LRE-0042-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0042-0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2019-04-30   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |              |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     | 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1                |
| LRE-0043-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0043-0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2019-05-31   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
| Contraction of the second s                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |              |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     |                                                         |
| LRE-0044-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0044-0004                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2019-06-30   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | · 日本市                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |              |                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                      | Calgary Sinoenergy                     | And the state of the                                    |
| LRE-0045-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0045-0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2019-07-31   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       |                                                         |
| LRE-0046-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LRE-0046-0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2010 09 21   | Rank Statements    | ATR Einspeigl Concelidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | ATD Financial        | Calgary Sinoenergy                     |                                                         |
| LNE-0040-0001                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | LINE-0040-0002                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2019-08-31   | Bank Statements    | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ATB Financial        | Investment Corp.                       | 2                                                       |

| PROD_BEGDOC                                                                                                     | PROD_ENDDOC                                                                | Date                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Document Category   | Document Description                                   | Author/Mail From       | Recipient/Mail To                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Image_Cnt                              |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                 |                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                     |                                                        |                        | Calgary Sinoenergy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                        |
| LRE-0047-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0047-0002                                                              | 2019-09-30                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Bank Statements     | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                 | ATB Financial          | Investment Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 2                                      |
|                                                                                                                 |                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                     |                                                        |                        | Calgary Sinoenergy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 2                                      |
| LRE-0048-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0048-0002                                                              | 2019-10-31                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Bank Statements     | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                 | ATB Financial          | Investment Corp.Calgary Sinoenergy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | Z                                      |
| LRE-0049-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0049-0002                                                              | 2019-11-30                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Bank Statements     | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                 | ATB Financial          | Investment Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                        |
| LRE-0050-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0049-0002                                                              | 2019-11-30                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Bank Statements     | Scotiabank - Account Details                           | Scotiabank             | Long Run Exploration Ltd.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 8                                      |
| LINE-0050-0001                                                                                                  |                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                     |                                                        |                        | Calgary Sinoenergy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | AND AND AND A                          |
| LRE-0051-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0051-0002                                                              | 2019-12-31                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Bank Statements     | ATB Financial - Consolidated Statement                 | ATB Financial          | Investment Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 2                                      |
|                                                                                                                 | <ul> <li>Print of many series 1.551 (comparison of contraction)</li> </ul> | a subscription of the state of |                     | Bank of China (CAD) - Account                          |                        | Calgary Sinoenergy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                        |
| LRE-0052-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0052-0001                                                              | 2020-06-30                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Bank Statements     | Statement                                              | Bank of China (CAD)    | Investment Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 1                                      |
| distant de la companya de la company |                                                                            | -15.55                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 12111111111111      | Bank of China (CAD) - Account                          |                        | Alberta Sinoenergy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                        |
| LRE-0053-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0053-0001                                                              | 2021-05-31                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Bank Statements     | Statement                                              | Bank of China (Canada) | Petroleum Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 1                                      |
|                                                                                                                 |                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                     | Bank of China (CAD) - Account                          |                        | Calgary Sinoenergy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                        |
| LRE-0054-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0054-0001                                                              | 2023-03-31                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Bank Statements     | Statement                                              | Bank of China (Canada) | Investment Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 1                                      |
| Martin Providence                                                                                               |                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                     | Bank of China (CAD) - Account                          |                        | Calgary Sinoenergy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                        |
| LRE-0055-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0055-0055                                                              | Various                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Bank Statements     | Statement                                              | Bank of China (CAD)    | Investment Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 55                                     |
| 105 005 0001                                                                                                    | 105 0050 0010                                                              | Variaus                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Donk Statements     | Bank of China (CAD) - Account                          | Deals of Chine (CAD)   | Calgary Sinoenergy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 10                                     |
| LRE-0056-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0056-0016                                                              | Various                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Bank Statements     | StatementBank of China (CAD) - Account             | Bank of China (CAD)    | Investment Corporation                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 16                                     |
| LRE-0057-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0057-0089                                                              | Various                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Bank Statements     | Statement                                              | Bank of China (CAD)    | Calgary SinoenergyInvestment Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 89                                     |
| EKE-0037-0001                                                                                                   | LKE-0037-0085                                                              | various                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                     | Bank of China (CAD) - Account                          | Barre Or China (CAD)   | Calgary Sinoenergy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 03                                     |
| LRE-0058-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0058-0089                                                              | Various                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Bank Statements     | Statement                                              | Bank of China (CAD)    | Investment Corp.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 89                                     |
| The boost boost                                                                                                 |                                                                            | 1. States and a state of                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Sector Contractor   |                                                        |                        | Meng Tang - York City                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                        |
| LRE-0059-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0059-0002                                                              | 2018-11-26                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Corporate Documents | Shareholder Resolution                                 | Henenghaixin Corp.     | Enterprises Limited                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 2                                      |
| Town Sec. Los Participanas do Casonaldor Sec.                                                                   | <ul> <li>Standard Charge and an International Addition Systems</li> </ul>  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                     | Corporate Resolutions Documents                        | Calgary Sinoenergy     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                        |
| LRE-0060-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0060-0002                                                              | 2020-01-10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Corporate Documents | Removing Michael Lam from VP                           | Investment Corp.       | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 2                                      |
| LRE-0061-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0061-0002                                                              | 2017-05-10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Correspondence      | Letter re Consulting Services Invoice                  | Rob Wollman            | Michael Lam                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 2                                      |
|                                                                                                                 |                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                     |                                                        |                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                        |
| LRE-0062-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0062-0001                                                              | 2019-12-12                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Correspondence      | WeChat re Sinoenergy Oil Investment                    | Cherie                 | Lily                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 1                                      |
|                                                                                                                 | ·马利公式2011                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                     | Email re July-Aug 2020 Bank of China                   |                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                        |
| LRE-0063-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0063-0004                                                              | 2020-09-17                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Correspondence      | Transactions                                           | Jean Xue               | Susan Shi (Long Run)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                        |
| LRE-0064-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0064-0002                                                              | 2021-05-04                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Correspondence      | Email re: Bank of China Statement                      | Jean Xue               | Susan Shi (Long Run)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 2                                      |
| LRE-0065-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0065-0002                                                              | 2021-09-16                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Correspondence      | Email re: Bank of China Statement                      | Jean Xue               | Susan Shi (Long Run)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 2                                      |
| 105 0000 0001                                                                                                   |                                                                            | 11/4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Correspondence      | Translated Letter re Ideas SurroundingTB Investors | N/A                    | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                        |
| LRE-0066-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0066-0004                                                              | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Correspondence      | Translated Letter re President of ICBC                 |                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 4Interface of the second           |
| LRE-0067-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0067-0002                                                              | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Correspondence      | and Payment of Interest                                | Michael                | Chairman                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2                                      |
| LUT-0007-000142-2                                                                                               |                                                                            | の「「「ない」の言語を語るに                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Misc. Accounting    | when ayment of interest                                | Calgary Sinoenergy     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 1999 1999 1999 1999 1999 1999 1999 199 |
| LRE-0068-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0068-0001                                                              | 2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Documents           | Related Party Transactions                             | Investment Corp        | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 1                                      |
|                                                                                                                 | - The second second second                                                 | and the state of the                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Misc. Accounting    |                                                        | Calgary Sinoenergy     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Sector Sector                          |
| LRE-0069-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0069-0002                                                              | 2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Documents           | Related Party Transactions                             | Investment Corp        | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 2                                      |
| -                                                                                                               |                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Misc. Accounting    |                                                        | Calgary Sinoenergy     | 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 2012 - 20 |                                        |
| LRE-0070-0001                                                                                                   | LRE-0070-0002                                                              | 2017                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Documents           | Related Party Transactions                             | Investment Corp        | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 2                                      |

,

| PROD BEGDOC     | PROD_ENDDOC           | Date        | Document Category | Document Description                   | Author/Mail From          | Recipient/Mail To  | Image_Cnt |
|-----------------|-----------------------|-------------|-------------------|----------------------------------------|---------------------------|--------------------|-----------|
|                 | Section 2 March 2 and | Will the st | Misc. Accounting  |                                        |                           | Calgary Sinoenergy |           |
| LRE-0071-0001   | LRE-0071-0002         | 2017-03-31  | Documents         | Customer Cheque                        | Bank of China (CAD)       | Investment Corp.   | 2         |
|                 |                       |             | Misc. Accounting  | Invoice for Acquisition Evaluation and |                           |                    |           |
| LRE-0072-0001   | LRE-0072-0002         | 2017-03-31  | Documents         | Advisory                               | 1985181 Alberta Ltd.      | Henenghaixin Corp. | 2         |
| 12.322.231      |                       |             | Misc. Accounting  |                                        |                           |                    |           |
| LRE-0073-0001   | LRE-0073-0002         | 2018        | Documents         | Payment Summary                        | Long Run Exploration Ltd. | N/A                | 2         |
|                 |                       |             | Misc. Accounting  | Debit and Credit Transactions - Sales  |                           |                    |           |
| LRE-0074-0001   | LRE-0074-0003         | 2019        | Documents         | Summary 2019                           | N/A                       | N/A                | 3         |
| 1945 MARCE 2024 |                       |             | Misc. Accounting  |                                        |                           |                    |           |
| LRE-0075-0001   | LRE-0075-0013         | 2017        | Documents         | 2017 Transactions                      | N/A                       | N/A                | 13        |

4

Exhibit "29"

List of Undertakings from Questioning of the CCAA Debtors, Aug-21-23

13 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT "29"

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

uno

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 20 26

Wendy Barber August 21, 2023

|    |                                        | August 21, 2023                     |
|----|----------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
|    |                                        | Page 1                              |
| 1  | COURT FILE NUMBER                      | 2001-03353                          |
| 2  |                                        |                                     |
| 3  | COURT                                  | COURT OF KING'S BENCH OF ALBERTA    |
| 4  |                                        |                                     |
| 5  | JUDICIAL CENTRE                        | CALGARY                             |
| 6  |                                        |                                     |
| 7  | PLAINTIFF                              | HENENGHAIXIN CORP.                  |
| 8  |                                        |                                     |
| 9  | DEFENDANTS                             | TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG aka LAKE |
| 10 |                                        | DENG, MICHAEL LAM AND OTHERS        |
| 11 |                                        |                                     |
| 12 | THIRD PARTY                            | TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG aka LAKE |
| 13 | DEFENDANTS                             | DENG, 1980264 ALBERTA LTD. AND      |
| 14 |                                        | OTHERS                              |
| 15 |                                        |                                     |
| 16 |                                        |                                     |
| 17 |                                        |                                     |
| 18 | DOCUMENT                               | Transcript of Oral Questioning of   |
| 19 |                                        | WENDY BARBER                        |
| 20 |                                        | (on affidavit affirmed April 7,     |
| 21 |                                        | 2022 and affidavit sworn June 15,   |
| 22 |                                        | 2023)                               |
| 23 |                                        |                                     |
| 24 |                                        |                                     |
| 25 |                                        |                                     |
| ι  | ······································ |                                     |

| Wendy Barber    |
|-----------------|
| August 21, 2023 |

|    | August 21, 2023                                             |
|----|-------------------------------------------------------------|
|    | Page 2                                                      |
| 1  | HELD AT Jensen Shawa Solomon Duguid Hawkes                  |
| 2  | LLP,                                                        |
| 3  | Calgary, AB                                                 |
| 4  |                                                             |
| 5  | DATE August 21, 2023                                        |
| 6  |                                                             |
| 7  |                                                             |
| 8  |                                                             |
| 9  | For the Plaintiff                                           |
| 10 | Andrew P. Wilson KC                                         |
| 11 | Angad Bedi                                                  |
| 12 | Jensen Shawa Solomon Duguid Hawkes LLP                      |
| 13 | 800, 304-8 Ave. SW                                          |
| 14 | Calgary, AB T2P 1C2                                         |
| 15 | 403-571-1520                                                |
| 16 |                                                             |
| 17 | For the Defendants - Long Run Exploration Ltd. & Sinoenergy |
| 18 | Investment Corp.                                            |
| 19 | Aiden Henderson                                             |
| 20 | Caron & Patners LLP                                         |
| 21 | 2120, 237-4 Ave. SW                                         |
| 22 | Calgary, AB T2P 4K3                                         |
| 23 | 403-262-3000                                                |
| 24 |                                                             |
| 25 |                                                             |
|    |                                                             |

|    | Page 53                                                    |
|----|------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1  | - I N D E X -                                              |
| 2  | WENDY BARBER                                               |
| 3  | August 21, 2023                                            |
| 4  | The following is a listing of exhibits and undertakings as |
| 5  | interpreted by the Court Reporter.                         |
| 6  | The transcript is the official record, and the index is    |
| 7  | provided as a courtesy only. It is recommended that the    |
| 8  | reader refer to the appropriate transcript pages to ensure |
| 9  | completeness and accuracy.                                 |
| 10 |                                                            |
| 11 | EXHIBITS                                             |
| 12 |                                                            |
| 13 | NONE ENTERED                                               |
| 14 | UNDERTAKINGS REQUESTED                               |
| 15 | UNDERTAKING NO. 1 - to attempt to have the 13              |
| 16 | snencn.cn e-mail system searched for relevant and          |
| 17 | material records. If the request is made and               |
| 18 | that's done, then any relevant and material                |
| 19 | records be produced                                        |
| 20 |                                                            |
| 21 |                                                            |
| 22 |                                                            |
| 23 |                                                            |
| 24 |                                                            |
| 25 |                                                            |
|    |                                                            |

|    | Page 54                                             |
|----|-----------------------------------------------------|
| 1  | UNDERTAKING NO. 2 - to search the 14                |
| 2  | longrunexploration.com e-mail system for relevant   |
| 3  | and material records, and if any relevant and       |
| 4  | material records are discovered through that        |
| 5  | search process that they be disclosed               |
| 6  |                                                     |
| 7  | UNDERTAKING NO. 1 (AMENDED) - to the extent that 15 |
| 8  | the individual defendants have the                  |
| 9  | @longrunexploration.com e-mail address, searches    |
| 10 | of those to be part of the searches                 |
| 11 |                                                     |
| 12 | UNDERTAKING NO. 2 (AMENDED) - to the extent that 15 |
| 13 | the individual defendants have the                  |
| 14 | @longrunexploration.com e-mail address, searches    |
| 15 | of those to be part of the searches                 |
| 16 |                                                     |
| 17 | UNDERTAKING NO. 3 - to provide information as to 16 |
| 18 | how the financial records of Calgary Sino and Long  |
| 19 | Run were searched and describe that process or      |
| 20 | methodology                                         |
| 21 |                                                     |
| 22 |                                                     |
| 23 |                                                     |
| 24 |                                                     |
| 25 |                                                     |

|    | Page                                               | 55 |
|----|----------------------------------------------------|----|
| 1  | UNDERTAKING NO. 4 - in regards to the general      | 17 |
| 2  | ledger review for both Calgary Sino and Long Run,  |    |
| 3  | to the extent the relevant and material            |    |
| 4  | information has been produced, just simply         |    |
| 5  | identify which documents in the AOR arose from     |    |
| 6  | that result, and if the relevant and material      |    |
| 7  | information hasn't been produced, that it be       |    |
| 8  | produced                                           |    |
| 9  |                                                    |    |
| 10 | UNDERTAKING NO. 5 - in regards to the non-redacted | 21 |
| 11 | and therefore relevant entries on CSI-004829, to   |    |
| 12 | do a search for any documents in the possession of |    |
| 13 | either corporate defendant that relate to the      |    |
| 14 | transactions reflected in the statement, and if    |    |
| 15 | those documents or if that search reveals          |    |
| 16 | documents related to those transfers, that those   |    |
| 17 | records be produced. To the extent that a search   |    |
| 18 | be done for any records relating to the transfers  |    |
| 19 | reflected in CSI-004853, and if those records,     |    |
| 20 | including communications as the reason for these   |    |
| 21 | transfers is found, that those be produced         |    |
| 22 |                                                    |    |
| 23 |                                                    |    |
| 24 |                                                    |    |
| 25 |                                                    |    |

|    | 2                                              |
|----|-------------------------------------------------------|
|    | Page 56                                               |
| 1  | UNDERTAKING NO. 6 - in regards to the non-redacted 22 |
| 2  | and therefore relevant entries on transactions        |
| 3  | reflected in CSI-004839 and CSI-004843, to do a       |
| 4  | search for any documents in the possession of         |
| 5  | either corporate defendant that relate to the         |
| 6  | transactions reflected in the statement, and if       |
| 7  | those documents or if that search reveals             |
| 8  | documents related to those transfers, that those      |
| 9  | records be produced. To the extent that a search      |
| 10 | be done for any records relating to the transfers     |
| 11 | reflected in CSI-004839 and CSI-004843, and if        |
| 12 | those records, including communications as the        |
| 13 | reason for these transfers is found, that those be    |
| 14 | produced. To clarify, for some of the relevant,       |
| 15 | in the sense that they're not redacted                |
| 16 | transactions, they're described as customer           |
| 17 | transfer, that would form part of the undertaking     |
| 18 |                                                       |
| 19 | UNDERTAKING NO. 7 - to produce any documents in 24    |
| 20 | the possession of the corporate defendants that       |
| 21 | relate to the York City Enterprises Limited           |
| 22 | transactions reflected in Schedule 'A' of the         |
| 23 | shareholder declaration                               |
| 24 |                                                       |
| 25 |                                                       |
|    |                                                       |

Г

|    | Page                                               | 57 |
|----|----------------------------------------------------|----|
| 1  | UNDERTAKING NO. 8 - to search for any e-mails or   | 25 |
| 2  | other documents that relate to the indemnity       |    |
| 3  | agreement, production LRE-0014, and if those are   |    |
| 4  | discovered and material and relevant, to produce   |    |
| 5  | them in this action, subject to solicitor-client   |    |
| 6  | privilege                                          |    |
| 7  |                                                    |    |
| 8  | UNDERTAKING NO. 9 - to search for any records      | 26 |
| 9  | relating to the shareholder declaration at         |    |
| 10 | LRE-0012, including any e-mails to which it may    |    |
| 11 | have been an attachment, or other documents        |    |
| 12 | related to the shareholder declaration be produced |    |
| 13 |                                                    |    |
| 14 | UNDERTAKING NO. 10 - any records relating to the   | 27 |
| 15 | LRE-0013 document, including non-privileged        |    |
| 16 | e-mails where this document was sent or received,  |    |
| 17 | or other documents in the Long Run or Calgary Sino |    |
| 18 | system that relate to this document LRE-0013, be   |    |
| 19 | produced                                           |    |
| 20 |                                                    |    |
| 21 | UNDERTAKING NO. 11 - in relation to Long Run       | 28 |
| 22 | production documents 0019 to Long Run 0058, that   |    |
| 23 | related documents to the wires in and wires out    |    |
| 24 | that haven't been produced be produced.            |    |
| 25 |                                                    |    |
|    |                                                    |    |

|    | Page                                               | 58 |
|----|----------------------------------------------------|----|
| 1  | UNDERTAKING NO. 12 - to do a search for any        | 29 |
| 2  | documents related to document LRE-0059, subject to |    |
| 3  | privilege, that any relevant and material          |    |
| 4  | documents relating to this document be produced    |    |
| 5  |                                                    |    |
| 6  | UNDERTAKING NO. 13 - to the extent it's not        | 30 |
| 7  | captured by the earlier e-mail search requests, if |    |
| 8  | there are any relevant and material documents      |    |
| 9  | relating to the director resolution, or the        |    |
| 10 | termination of Michael Lam more broadly, that      |    |
| 11 | haven't been produced that they be produced        |    |
| 12 |                                                    |    |
| 13 | UNDERTAKING NO. 13 - (AMENDED) - as part of the    | 30 |
| 14 | search requested, if there was an employment or    |    |
| 15 | employee file for Mr. Lam kept, to produce         |    |
| 16 |                                                    |    |
| 17 | UNDERTAKING NO. 14 - to do a search for any        | 32 |
| 18 | documents relating to the document at LRE-0066,    |    |
| 19 | including any e-mails to which it may be an        |    |
| 20 | attachment. If it resides inside the computer      |    |
| 21 | system in such a way that metadata, for example,   |    |
| 22 | reveals when it was created and by whom that that  |    |
| 23 | be provided                                        |    |
| 24 |                                                    |    |
| 25 |                                                    |    |

|    | Page 59                                            |    |
|----|----------------------------------------------------|----|
| 1  | UNDERTAKING NO. 15 - relating to the original,     | 33 |
| 2  | which is to say the Chinese version, that a search |    |
| 3  | be done for any documents relating to the letter   |    |
| 4  | at LRE-0067, and if there is any metadata that     |    |
| 5  | reflects who created it and when that that also be |    |
| 6  | provided. Including in the related documents to    |    |
| 7  | that letter as if it's an attachment to any        |    |
| 8  | e-mails that those e-mails be produced, subject to |    |
| 9  | privilege                                          |    |
| 10 |                                                    |    |
| 11 | UNDERTAKING NO. 16 - to do a search for all        | 34 |
| 12 | documents related to or that provide the source    |    |
| 13 | information for the document at LRE-0068 and those |    |
| 14 | records be produced, subject to relevance and      |    |
| 15 | materiality                                        |    |
| 16 |                                                    |    |
| 17 | UNDERTAKING NO. 17 - to provide any documents      | 35 |
| 18 | related to transactions under the related party    |    |
| 19 | West Lake and Henenghaixin Corp. or that form the  |    |
| 20 | source information for the creation of LRE-0069    |    |
| 21 | that haven't been produced be produced             |    |
| 22 |                                                    |    |
| 23 |                                                    |    |
| 24 |                                                    |    |
| 25 |                                                    |    |
|    |                                                    |    |

|    | Page 60                                              |   |
|----|------------------------------------------------------|---|
| 1  | UNDERTAKING NO. 18 - any documents related to or 36  | 5 |
| 2  | that form the source information of LRE-0070 that    |   |
| 3  | haven't been produced be produced                    |   |
| 4  |                                                      |   |
| 5  | UNDERTAKING NO. 19 - any documents related to and 36 | 5 |
| 6  | that form the source information for the             |   |
| 7  | transactions reflected in LRE-0073 that haven't      |   |
| 8  | been produced be produced                            |   |
| 9  |                                                      |   |
| 10 | UNDERTAKING NO. 20 - any documents related to the 37 | 7 |
| 11 | non-redacted transactions reflected on LRE-0074,     |   |
| 12 | including the source information for those           |   |
| 13 | transactions, if it's not been produced that it be   |   |
| 14 | produced                                             |   |
| 15 |                                                      |   |
| 16 | UNDERTAKING NO. 21 - if there is a debit and 38      | 3 |
| 17 | credit transaction sales summary for 2017 and        |   |
| 18 | 2018, and if either of those documents contain       |   |
| 19 | relevant and material information, that that         |   |
| 20 | information be produced. If there are relevant       |   |
| 21 | material transactions inside those documents, then   |   |
| 22 | any documents related to those transactions,         |   |
| 23 | including the source documentation for the           |   |
| 24 | transaction also be produced                         |   |
| 25 |                                                      |   |

|    | Page 61                                              |  |
|----|------------------------------------------------------|--|
| 1  | UNDERTAKING NO. 22 - to the extent there are 39      |  |
| 2  | transactions reflected in LRE-0075 that any          |  |
| 3  | related documents for those transactions,            |  |
| 4  | including the source information for those           |  |
| 5  | transactions be disclosed                            |  |
| 6  |                                                      |  |
| 7  | UNDERTAKING NO. 23 - to do a review of the annual 40 |  |
| 8  | and quarterly financial statements for Calgary       |  |
| 9  | Sino from 2017 to the present, and to the extent     |  |
| 10 | that they're relevant and material to this action    |  |
| 11 | they be produced                                     |  |
| 12 |                                                      |  |
| 13 | UNDERTAKING NO. 24 - if the annual and quarterly 41  |  |
| 14 | financial statements for Long Run have been          |  |
| 15 | produced to identify them. If they have not been     |  |
| 16 | produced, to do a review and any relevant and        |  |
| 17 | material documents arising from review of those      |  |
| 18 | quarterly or annual financial statements be          |  |
| 19 | disclosed                                            |  |
| 20 |                                                      |  |
| 21 | UNDERTAKING NO. 25 - to do a review of the MD&A 42   |  |
| 22 | documents from 2017 to present and if they contain   |  |
| 23 | relevant and material information that those be      |  |
| 24 | produced                                             |  |
| 25 |                                                      |  |
|    |                                                      |  |

|    | Page 62                                            |    |
|----|----------------------------------------------------|----|
| 1  | UNDERTAKING NO. 26 - to review the board of        | 44 |
| 2  | director minutes from December 2015 to the         |    |
| 3  | present, and if those minutes contain relevant and |    |
| 4  | material information that they be produced - TAKEN |    |
| 5  | UNDER ADVISEMENT                                   |    |
| 6  |                                                    |    |
| 7  | UNDERTAKING NO. 27 - to do a review for documents  | 46 |
| 8  | related to the transactions described in paragraph |    |
| 9  | 21 of the corporate defendants' statement of       |    |
| 10 | defence and any documents that are relevant and    |    |
| 11 | material be produced                               |    |
| 12 |                                                    |    |
| 13 | UNDERTAKING NO. 28 - to do searches within the     | 48 |
| 14 | Long Run and Calgary Sino system for e-mails to    |    |
| 15 | and from the individual defendants, and the e-mail |    |
| 16 | addresses were listed on the DENG-0001 document,   |    |
| 17 | and if relevant and material e-mails are found to  |    |
| 18 | or from those e-mail addresses that those be       |    |
| 19 | produced. (See transcript for clarification)       |    |
| 20 |                                                    |    |
| 21 |                                                    |    |
| 22 |                                                    |    |
| 23 |                                                    |    |
| 24 |                                                    |    |
| 25 |                                                    |    |
| L  |                                                    |    |

|    | Page 63                                              |  |
|----|------------------------------------------------------|--|
| 1  | UNDERTAKING NO. 29 - to confirm the status of the 50 |  |
| 2  | cell phone and laptop, and if the laptop hard        |  |
| 3  | drive has been imaged, when it was imaged and by     |  |
| 4  | what process and where that image resides - TAKEN    |  |
| 5  | UNDER ADVISEMENT                                     |  |
| 6  |                                                      |  |
| 7  |                                                      |  |
| 8  |                                                      |  |
| 9  |                                                      |  |
| 10 |                                                      |  |
| 11 |                                                      |  |
| 12 |                                                      |  |
| 13 |                                                      |  |
| 14 |                                                      |  |
| 15 |                                                      |  |
| 16 |                                                      |  |
| 17 |                                                      |  |
| 18 |                                                      |  |
| 19 |                                                      |  |
| 20 |                                                      |  |
| 21 |                                                      |  |
| 22 |                                                      |  |
| 23 |                                                      |  |
| 24 |                                                      |  |
| 25 |                                                      |  |
|    |                                                      |  |

Exhibit "30"

Emails, JSS to Caron Partners, Redacted

9 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT " 30 "

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

1102

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 2026 Aidan,

Can you please provide a follow up on the undertaking responses, with a firm date by which they will be delivered?

Thank you,

Andrew

From: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>
Sent: Thursday, March 14, 2024 11:57 AM
To: Aidan Henderson <ahenderson@caronpartners.com>
Subject: RE: H Corp

Aidan,

I hope matters have calmed down for you somewhat. I am just following up on the undertaking responses.

Thank you for the information about the phone and computer. I am still considering what may be possible to address this.

Thank you,

Andrew

From: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>
Sent: Friday, March 1, 2024 8:42 AM
To: Aidan Henderson <ahenderson@caronpartners.com>
Subject: RE: H Corp

Aidan,

Thank you and I am sorry I had to add to your pressures. I will follow up on the substance in due course (and noting your current constraints)

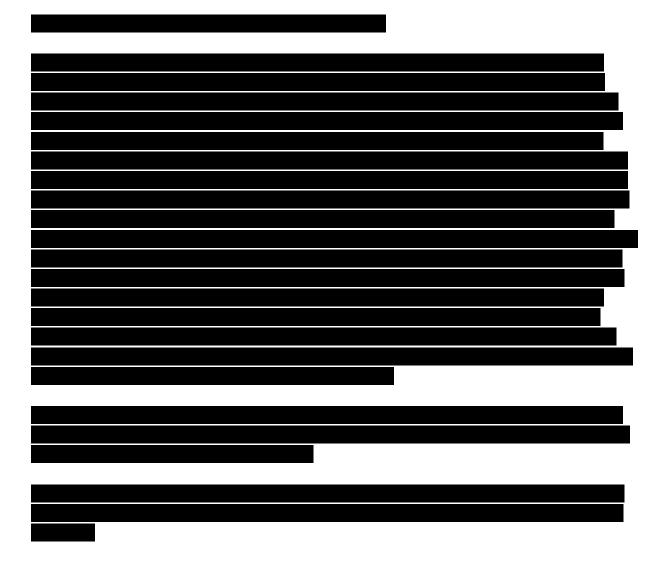

Regards,

Andrew

From: Aidan Henderson <ahenderson@caronpartners.com> Sent: Thursday, February 29, 2024 9:45 AM To: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca> Subject: RE: H Corp Hi Andrew,

You are quite right on this and it's a fair comment.

Unfortunately, we've had some turnover here at the firm and I've inherited large parts of other lawyer's practices, so I have been under the gun on a host of other matters, but I will endeavor to get the Undertakings to you as soon as possible. The delay on this since my last email is solely my own, as it has been on me to finalize the undertaking responses and I haven't been able to do that. I will aim to get it done this weekend however.

In any event, I will attempt to get you the undertaking responses ASAP. If you wish to discuss the computer/phone issue, please let me know.

Thanks, Aidan

Aidan Henderson Barrister & Solicitor Caron & Partners LLP Barristers & Solicitors Fifth Avenue Place – West Tower 2120, 237 – 4th Avenue S.W. Calgary, Alberta T2P 4K3 W: www.caronpartners.com T: 403.262.3000 My contact information: D: 403.260.1578 F: 403.237.0111 E: ahenderson@caronpartners.com

The contents of this message may contain confidential and/or privileged subject matter. If this message has been received in error, please contact the sender and delete all copies. Like other forms of communication, e-mail communications may be vulnerable to interception by unauthorized parties. If you do not wish us to communicate with you by e-mail, please notify us at your earliest convenience. In the absence of such notification, your consent is assumed. Should you choose to allow us to communicate by e-mail, we will not take any additional security measures (such as encryption) unless specifically requested. Any dissemination or copying of this message by anyone other than the addressee is strictly prohibited.

From: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>
Sent: Thursday, February 29, 2024 8:38 AM
To: Aidan Henderson <ahenderson@caronpartners.com>
Subject: RE: H Corp

Aidan,

You have not responded, by my count, to my last three emails on this issue.

Your client has now had more than ample time to produce the records that were undertaken to be produced. As such, please have them provided forthwith.

Please note we reserve the right to present this and earlier emails to the Court to address issues of production and costs.

Thank you,

Andrew

From: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>
Sent: Sunday, February 4, 2024 2:14 PM
To: Aidan Henderson <ahenderson@caronpartners.com>
Subject: RE: H Corp

Aidan,

I am again following up on my emails below. Can you please respond?

Thank you,

Andrew

From: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca> Sent: Thursday, January 18, 2024 9:06 AM To: Aidan Henderson <ahenderson@caronpartners.com> Subject: RE: H Corp

Aidan,

Happy new year. Hopefully you didn't freeze during the cold snap.

I am again following up on the below. I am starting to get significant pressure from my client, and would prefer not to have to file an application to compel. Can you please advise when we will receive the records?

At the same time, attached is the statement of debtor of Lake Deng. Lillian had clearly seen this through the course of the litigation, so I attach it here to save you digging for it. Note it is unsworn. From the file I cannot actually tell if we received a sworn copy at some later point.

Thank you,

Andrew

From: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca> Sent: Wednesday, November 29, 2023 9:23 AM To: Aidan Henderson <ahenderson@caronpartners.com> Subject: RE: H Corp

Aidan,

Thank you for the update.

In terms of the laptop, it was not a specific undertaking, but rather you had advised the relevant and material records from the review would be disclosed. Excerpt below. So that is what I was referring to.

There is also this exchange (page 51):

10 Q. MR. WILSON: And then further to some 11 off-the-record discussions, as I understand it, the 12 images and the process have been reviewed and relevant 13 and material records arising from that review process 14 will be disclosed? 15 MR. HENDERSON: Correct.

In terms of the stat dec, let me look into that. I think it might have earlier been provided to Dentons in which case I can just send it to you, but let me confirm.

Regards,

Andrew

From: Aidan Henderson
Sent: November 28, 2023 1:05 PM
To: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>

Cc: Judy Verrall <jverrall@caronpartners.com> Subject: RE: H Corp

Hi Andrew,

I can advise that my client has forwarded some undertaking responses to me this week, so we are presently working on compiling the responses we do have and hope to have them to you soon.

However, as far as your email below, I am not sure what undertaking request the records from Michael Lam's laptop would fall under, besides generally the requests for emails and potentially the request for metadata. Can you elaborate on which undertaking(s) you believe these records should be produced?

Without Prejudice

Thanks, Aidan

Aidan Henderson

Barrister & Solicitor

Caron & Partners LLP Barristers & Solicitors Fifth Avenue Place – West Tower 2120, 237 – 4th Avenue S.W. Calgary, Alberta T2P 4K3 W: www.caronpartners.com T: 403.262.3000 My contact information: D: 403.260.1578 F: 403.237.0111 E: ahenderson@caronpartners.com

The contents of this message may contain confidential and/or privileged subject matter. If this message has been received in error, please contact the sender and delete all copies. Like other forms of communication, e-mail communications may be vulnerable to interception by unauthorized parties. If you do not wish us to communicate with you by e-mail, please notify us at your earliest convenience. In the absence of such notification, your consent is assumed. Should you choose to allow us to communicate by e-mail, we will not take any additional security measures (such as encryption) unless specifically requested. Any dissemination or copying of this message by anyone other than the addressee is strictly prohibited.

From: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>
Sent: Wednesday, November 8, 2023 5:33 PM
To: Aidan Henderson <ahenderson@caronpartners.com>
Cc: Judy Verrall <jverrall@caronpartners.com>
Subject: RE: H Corp

Aidan,

Thank you for the update.

It occurs to me that, as I understood from our discussions at the questioning, the records from the Michael Lam laptop were in your firm's possession. As such, this should not be impacted by your client's IT issues, I wouldn't think? If you can please produce those records as soon as you are able, that would be helpful in moving this matter along.

Thank you,

Andrew

From: Aidan Henderson
Sent: November 7, 2023 1:35 PM
To: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>
Cc: Judy Verrall <jverrall@caronpartners.com>
Subject: RE: H Corp

Hi Andrew,

Apologies for the delayed response on this and not keeping you updated.

Long Run has been working fairly diligently to try and locate the undertaking responses, however has run into some technical issues with accessing their server. They have terminated their former IT company and hired a new company to come in and attempt to access a lot of the data.

I did ask my client's rep last week to send me what she did have in regards to the undertakings so that we can potentially provide at least a smaller traunch of undertaking responses in the interim. However, she has not yet provided those and I know she is extremely busy having taken over the interim CEO role, as well as a couple others due to turnover there.

I will follow up again today and let you know when/if I hear anything further.

Thanks, Aidan

Aidan Henderson

Barrister & Solicitor

Caron & Partners LLP Barristers & Solicitors Fifth Avenue Place – West Tower 2120, 237 – 4th Avenue S.W. Calgary, Alberta T2P 4K3 W: www.caronpartners.com T: 403.262.3000 My contact information: D: 403.260.1578 F: 403.237.0111 E: ahenderson@caronpartners.com

The contents of this message may contain confidential and/or privileged subject matter. If this message has been received in error, please contact the sender and delete all copies. Like other forms of communication, e-mail communications may be vulnerable to interception by unauthorized parties. If you do not wish us to communicate with you by e-mail, please notify us at your earliest convenience. In the absence of such notification, your consent is assumed. Should you choose to allow us to communicate by e-mail, we will not take any additional security measures (such as encryption) unless specifically requested. Any dissemination or copying of this message by anyone other than the addressee is strictly prohibited.

From: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>
Sent: Thursday, October 26, 2023 10:52 AM
To: Aidan Henderson <ahenderson@caronpartners.com>
Cc: Judy Verrall <jverrall@caronpartners.com>; Judy Verrall <jverrall@caronpartners.com>
Subject: RE: H Corp

Aidan,

I appreciate your email advised you would let me know of any update. However, I have not heard in two weeks and am following up again. As I noted earlier, if there are tranches of responses or records you can provide, that would be appreciated to keep things moving.

Regards,

Andrew

From: Aidan Henderson
Sent: October 12, 2023 6:49 PM
To: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca
Cc: Judy Verrall <jverrall@caronpartners.com; Judy Verrall <jverrall@caronpartners.com
Subject: RE: H Corp

Hi Andrew,

I have written my client for an update and as soon as I know anything further, I will let you know.

Thanks, Aidan

Aidan Henderson

Barrister & Solicitor

Caron & Partners LLP Barristers & Solicitors Fifth Avenue Place – West Tower 2120, 237 – 4th Avenue S.W. Calgary, Alberta T2P 4K3 W: www.caronpartners.com T: 403.262.3000 My contact information: D: 403.260.1578 F: 403.237.0111 E: ahenderson@caronpartners.com

The contents of this message may contain confidential and/or privileged subject matter. If this message has been received in error, please contact the sender and delete all copies. Like other forms of communication, e-mail communications may be vulnerable to interception by unauthorized parties. If you do not wish us to communicate with you by e-mail, please notify us at your earliest convenience. In the absence of such notification, your consent is assumed. Should you choose to allow us to communicate by e-mail, we will not take any additional security measures (such as encryption) unless specifically requested. Any dissemination or copying of this message by anyone other than the addressee is strictly prohibited.

From: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>
Sent: Thursday, October 12, 2023 9:43 AM
To: Aidan Henderson <ahenderson@caronpartners.com>
Cc: Judy Verrall <iverrall@caronpartners.com>; Judy Verrall <iverrall@caronpartners.com>

Subject: RE: H Corp

Aidan,

Can you please provide an update on the undertakings / disclosure from your client?

Thank you,

Andrew

From: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>
Sent: September 29, 2023 12:55 PM
To: Aidan Henderson <ahenderson@caronpartners.com>
Cc: Judy Verrall <jverrall@caronpartners.com>; Judy Verrall <jverrall@caronpartners.com>
Subject: RE: H Corp

Aidan,

No word yet from the Court. I will let you know when they contact us.

At the same time, since my client is bugging me about it, any update you can provide on the disclosure would be appreciated.

Thank you,

Andrew

From: Aidan Henderson
Sent: September 29, 2023 12:53 PM
To: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca</pre>
Cc: Judy Verrall <jverrall@caronpartners.com</pre>
; Judy Verrall <jverrall@caronpartners.com</pre>
Subject: RE: H Corp

Hi Andrew,

Just wanted to inquire if you had heard about a date for a decision from the Justice from the Special that occurred on September 8th. I'm assuming that we would be advised by the court of the date, but I haven't heard anything and wonder if because we did not take a position whether we weren't provided any notice.

If you could let me know when you get a chance, I'd appreciate it.

Thanks, Aidan

Aidan Henderson Barrister & Solicitor

Caron & Partners LLP

My contact information: D: 403.260.1578

Barristers & Solicitors Fifth Avenue Place – West Tower 2120, 237 – 4th Avenue S.W. Calgary, Alberta T2P 4K3 W: www.caronpartners.com T: 403.262.3000

F: 403.237.0111 E: ahenderson@caronpartners.com

The contents of this message may contain confidential and/or privileged subject matter. If this message has been received in error, please contact the sender and delete all copies. Like other forms of communication, e-mail communications may be vulnerable to interception by unauthorized parties. If you do not wish us to communicate with you by e-mail, please notify us at your earliest convenience. In the absence of such notification, your consent is assumed. Should you choose to allow us to communicate by e-mail, we will not take any additional security measures (such as encryption) unless specifically requested. Any dissemination or copying of this message by anyone other than the addressee is strictly prohibited.

From: Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>
Sent: Wednesday, September 20, 2023 3:49 PM
To: Aidan Henderson <ahenderson@caronpartners.com>
Subject: H Corp

Aidan,

I hope you are well.

I am writing to see if you are able to provide a rough estimate of the delivery time for new Long Run / Calgary Sino records. If you can provide them in tranches, that is fine, as opposed to waiting for a complete bundle.

Thank you,

Andrew

Andrew Wilson KC (he / him / his) Firm Chairperson Direct: 403 571 1058 Bio: Andrew Wilson KC

Jensen Shawa Solomon Duguid Hawkes LLP

JSS BARRISTERS

Jensen Shawa Solomon Duguid Hawkes LLP

T 403 571 1520 F 403 571 1528 800, 304 - 8 Avenue SW, Calgary, Alberta T2P 1C2 www.jssbarristers.ca

This email message is privileged, confidential and subject to copyright. Any unauthorized use or disclosure is prohibited. If you have received this email in error, please notify the sender immediately.

Exhibit "31"

Email Andrew Wilson (JSS) to Kelsey Meyer (BJ LLP) Jul-28-24

3 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT " 31 "

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

aros oyce

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 2026

| From:Sent: | Andrew Wilson KC <wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>July 28, 2024 7:03 PM</wilsona@jssbarristers.ca>                                                                                       |
|----------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| то:            | Jeanie Wong; Kelsey Meyer; selnesm@bennettjones.com                                                                                                                                    |
| Cc:            | roger.song@songhowardlaw.com; Erin J. Baker                                                                                                                                            |
| Subject:       | RE: In the Matter of a Plan of Compromise or Arrangement of Long Run Exploration Ltd.and Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp Court File No.: 2401-09247 [BJ-WSLegal.FID6492724] |

Kelsey,

As you know, we are counsel for Henenghaixin Corporation ("H Corp").

H Corp objects to the following relief sought in the Application returnable July 30, 2024:

"approving the terms of a stalking horse subscription agreement between the Debtor, Long Run Exploration Ltd. ("LRE") and Hiking Group Shandong Jinyue Int't Trading Corporation or its nominee (the "Stalking Horse Bidder") dated July 23, 2024 (the "Stalking Horse Bid"), a copy of which is attached as Appendix "B" to the Second Report of the Monitor dated July 23, 2024".

The proposed stalking horse subscription agreement completely ignores the rights of H Corp regarding its claim against Long Run Exploration and its parent company Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. The stalking horse subscription agreement effectively extinguishes the $44million H Corp claim. This is improper.

The H Corp claim specifically alleges fraud against Long Run and Calgary Sino, regarding the transfer of approximately $44 million from H Corp to Long Run and Calgary Sino from April to September, 2017. I note in the H Corp action, Long Run does not deny receipt of the H Corp Diverted Funds, rather the basis of their receipt.

The transfers pre-date the debt claimed by CCB. Furthermore, if the funds were obtained by Long Run and Calgary Sino as a result of fraud, those entities never had title to the funds, and would have held them in trust for the benefit of H Corp, being the defrauded party. This is expressly claimed in the H Corp claim as part of the relief sought:

Judgment, or in the alternative damages, for the fraudulent taking of the Diverted Funds in the amount of $44 million and such further amounts as will be discovered through the oral and documentary discovery process in the within Action and proven at Trial;

An Order declaring that any funds or benefits received by Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run from the Diverted Funds are held in trust for H Corp. and that H Corp. is permitted to trace as follows the Diverted Funds that Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run fraudulently obtained from H Corp. into and through any financial institution accounts or deposit facilities in the names of Calgary Sinoenergy or Long Run and into or through any assets purchased by Calgary Sinoenergy or Long Run or into the hands of any person or entity;

Such relief would give H Corp priority over CCBT of the Diverted Funds or their proceeds.

The nature of the H Corp claim and the relief sought are well known to both Long Run Exploration and also to Hiking Group Shandong Jinyue Int't Trading Corporation, through its principal Mr. Jason Ge. Mr. Ge was an officer of Long Run during the pendency of the H Corp claim, and had discussed the claim specifically with representatives of H Corp. In addition, Long Run and Calgary Sino are aware that one of their related companies, New Star Energy, is itself claiming fraud against Mr. Michael Lam, one of the alleged principals of the H Corp fraud.

I further note CCBT was expressly aware of the H Corp claim, as it is a defined term in the Amended and Restated Credit Agreement from CCBT dated October 27, 2020. CCBT was aware a Mareva injunction was in place at the time. (Affidavit of Mr. Zou, exhibit D).

The effective extinguishment of the H Corp claim, which if proven would rank ahead of the debt of CCT is improper, and would amount to an effective judicial whitewash of fraud. H Corp objects to any relief or process that effectively extinguishes its claim against Long Run and Calgary Sino.

H Corp intends to object to the proposed relief sought at the hearing set for July 30, 2024.

Regards,

Andrew Wilson KC (he / him / his) Firm Chairperson Direct: 403 571 1058 Bio: Andrew Wilson KC

Jensen Shawa Solomon Duguid Hawkes LLP

T 403 571 1520 F 403 571 1528 800, 304 - 8 Avenue SW, Calgary, Alberta T2P 1C2 www.jssbarristers.ca

This email message is privileged, confidential and subject to copyright. Any unauthorized use or disclosure is prohibited. If you have received this email in error, please notify the sender immediately.

From: Jeanie Wong <wongje@bennettjones.com>

Sent: Wednesday, July 24, 2024 11:22 AM

To: bennett.wong@dentons.com; brett.wilson@fticonsulting.com; bryan.walker@nortonrosefulbright.com; christopher.keliher@blakes.com; cms_alberta_notifications@teranet.ca; deryck.helkaa@fticonsulting.com; dm@gocip.com; dustin.olver@fticonsulting.com; eddiezou@ca.ccb.com; george.body@justice.gc.ca; insolvency@aer.ca; jdunne@ppr.ca; jenine.urquhart@nortonrosefulbright.com;

jenna.oreilly@midstreamequipment.com; john.regush@dentons.com; kasydi.mack@justice.gc.ca; KBenders@brikoenergy.com; kelly.bourassa@blakes.com; kristopher.lensink@gov.ab.ca; legal-icengx-ppr@ice.com; legalnotices@pembina.com; maria.lavelle@aer.ca; Kelsey Meyer <MEYERK@bennettjones.com>; pb@gocip.com; rod@perronventures.com; rzahara@mltaikins.com; TBFParalegalServices@gov.ab.ca; tfcb@ca.ccb.com; wbarber@longrunexploration.com; Michael Selnes <SelnesM@bennettjones.com>;

brenda.thibodeau@officemovepro.com; Daniel.zahorchak@officemovepro.com; kristiant@kmsc.ca; ASkeith@rmrf.com; MSwanberg@rmrf.com; hailey.liu@fticonsulting.com; wilsona@jssbarristers.ca; bakere@jssbarristers.ca;

huangc@jssbarristers.ca; kfellowes@stikeman.com; dkearl@kaizenauto.com; pbamberger@summitfleet.com; SarahLi@triumphwells.com; Kenneth.Whitelaw@gov.ab.ca; jcameron@fasken.com; kwong@fasken.com; landcomplianceinquiries@prairiesky.com; james.nixon@prairiesky.com; lamantea@dsavocats.ca; cauch@brownleelaw.com; gplester@brownleelaw.com; sabih.fawad@gov.sk.ca; Candy.Dominique@gov.sk.ca; agentforservice@blakes.com; Taylor@vipondlaw.ca; Kaamil Khalfan <khalfank@bennettjones.com>; Kristos latridis <latridisK@bennettjones.com>; djorgenson@cassels.com; dmarechal@cassels.com; joliver@cassels.com; elow@cassels.com; dkolesar@cassels.com; Jared.Young@Macquarie.com; TSandler@osler.com Subject: In the Matter of a Plan of Compromise or Arrangement of Long Run Exploration Ltd. and Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. - Court File No.: 2401-09247 [BJ-WSLegal.FID6492724]

SERVICE LIST

Further to our email yesterday, please find attached proof of filing.

Thank you,

Jeanie Wong, Litigation Assistant to Kelsey Meyer, Tyler McDonough, and Adam Williams, Bennett Jones SLP T. 403 298 3193 | F. 403 265 7219

The contents of this message may contain confidential and/or privileged subject matter. If this message has been received in error, please contact the sender and delete all copies. If you do not wish to receive future commercial electronic messages from Bennett Jones, you can unsubscribe at the following link: http://www.bennettjones.com/unsubscribe

Exhibit "32"

Letter, Andrew Wilson (JSS) to Justice Little, Jul-30-24

3 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT " 32 "

Referred to in the Affidavit of

Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

eros

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 20 2 6 Direct Line: Email: Assistant - Michelle Rubianto File No: (403)571-1058 wilsona@jssbarristers.ca (403)571-1506 14828.001

BY EMAIL to peggy.lewis@albertacourts.ca

July 30, 2024

The Honourable Justice Little Court of King's Bench of Alberta 1A Sir Winston Churchill Square Edmonton, AB T5J 0R2

My Lord:

Re: In the Matter of a Plan of Compromise or Arrangement of Long Run Exploration Ltd. and Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. Court File No.: 2401-09247

We are counsel to Henenghaixin Corporation ("H Corp"). H Corp is an interested party in this matter.

On July 28, 2024 we provided the below email to counsel for the Monitor. For the ease of the Court's reference, we include it here. This forms the basis of our client's objection to the nature of the relief sought in the Application before you today.

Kelsey,

As you know, we are counsel for Henenghaixin Corporation ("H Corp").

H Corp objects to the following relief sought in the Application returnable July 30, 2024:

"approving the terms of a stalking horse subscription agreement between the Debtor, Long Run Exploration Ltd. ("LRE") and Hiking Group Shandong Jinyue Int't Trading Corporation or its nominee (the "Stalking Horse Bidder") dated July 23, 2024 (the "Stalking Horse Bid"), a copy of which is attached as Appendix "B" to the Second Report of the Monitor dated July 23, 2024".

The proposed stalking horse subscription agreement completely ignores the rights of H Corp regarding its claim against Long Run Exploration and its parent company Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. The stalking horse subscription agreement effectively extinguishes the $44million H Corp claim. This is improper. The H Corp claim specifically alleges fraud against Long Run and Calgary Sino, regarding the transfer of approximately $44 million from H Corp to Long Run and Calgary Sino from April to September, 2017. I note in the H Corp action, Long Run does not deny receipt of the H Corp Diverted Funds, rather the basis of their receipt.

The transfers pre-date the debt claimed by CCB. Furthermore, if the funds were obtained by Long Run and Calgary Sino as a result of fraud, those entities never had title to the funds, and would have held them in trust for the benefit of H Corp, being the defrauded party. This is expressly claimed in the H Corp claim as part of the relief sought:

Judgment, or in the alternative damages, for the fraudulent taking of the Diverted Funds in the amount of $44 million and such further amounts as will be discovered through the oral and documentary discovery process in the within Action and proven at Trial;

An Order declaring that any funds or benefits received by Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run from the Diverted Funds are held in trust for H Corp. and that H Corp. is permitted to trace as follows the Diverted Funds that Calgary Sinoenergy and Long Run fraudulently obtained from H Corp. into and through any financial institution accounts or deposit facilities in the names of Calgary Sinoenergy or Long Run and into or through any assets purchased by Calgary Sinoenergy or Long Run or into the hands of any person or entity;

Such relief would give H Corp priority over CCBT of the Diverted Funds or their proceeds.

The nature of the H Corp claim and the relief sought are well known to both Long Run Exploration and also to Hiking Group Shandong Jinyue Int't Trading Corporation, through its principal Mr. Jason Ge. Mr. Ge was an officer of Long Run during the pendency of the H Corp claim, and had discussed the claim specifically with representatives of H Corp. In addition, Long Run and Calgary Sino are aware that one of their related companies, New Star Energy, is itself claiming fraud against Mr. Michael Lam, one of the alleged principals of the H Corp fraud.

I further note CCBT was expressly aware of the H Corp claim, as it is a defined term in the Amended and Restated Credit Agreement from CCBT dated October 27, 2020. CCBT was aware a Mareva injunction was in place at the time. (Affidavit of Mr. Zou, exhibit D).

The effective extinguishment of the H Corp claim, which if proven would rank ahead of the debt of CCT is improper, and would amount to an effective judicial whitewash of fraud. H Corp objects to any relief or process that effectively extinguishes its claim against Long Run and Calgary Sino. H Corp intends to object to the proposed relief sought at the hearing set for July 30, 2024.

Yours truly, Jensen Shawa Solomon Duguid Hawkes LLP

Enton

For: Andrew Wilson KC Firm Chairperson AW:mr

cc Kelsey Meyer, Bennett Jones (meyerk@bennettjones.com) Michael Selnes, Bennett Jones (selnesm@bennettjones.com) Exhibit "33"

Letter, D. Nishimura (Field) to J. Oliver (Cassels), Sep-12-24

2 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT " 33 "

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

an

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission Expires May 21, 20 26

400-444 7 AVE SW Calgary, AB T2P 0X8 fieldlaw.com

Douglas Nishimura

Partner T 403-260-8548 F 403-264-7084 dnishimura@fieldlaw.com Assistant: Elvina Hussein T 403-232-1797 ehussein@fieldlaw.com

September 12, 2024

VIA EMAIL

Cassels Brock & Blackwell LLP 3810, 888 - 3 Street S.W. Calgary, AB T2P 5C5

Attention: Jeffrey Oliver

Re: In the Matter of a Plan of Compromise and Arrangement of Long Run Exploration Ltd. ("Long Run") and Calgary Sinoenergy Investment Corp. ("Sinoenergy") Court of King's Bench of Alberta File No. 2401 09247 (the "CCAA Proceedings")

As you know, we are co-counsel for Henenghaixin Corp. ("HCorp") along with Mr. Roger Song and Wilson Laycraft LLP. We are all in receipt of your September 11, 2024 letter.

With respect, as an initial point, we note that your letter was directly copied to Bennett Jones. You will remember that Bennett Jones is not permitted to have involvement with matters involving HCorp in these proceedings, pursuant to the Consent Order granted Monday, September 9, 2024.

With respect, we disagree entirely with your assessment of the priorities the HCorp claim. Our client fully intends to prove both the fraud alleged in its Statement of Claim and its claim to a constructive trust over assets of Long Run and Sinoenergy. Further, a claim does not "unjustly deprived other creditors" including secured creditors of their rights. The funds which were wrongfully diverted from HCorp to Long Run were, we believe, directly involved in the acquisition of the assets over which secured creditors and other creditors claim rights. In any event, this is a matter for our client to establish, provided the Court allows it to do so.

The effect of the proposed transaction is clear - it is simply a method by which Long Run is divesting itself of all claims except for certain tax claims and the secured loan, to the detriment of all other creditors. To be clear - no other creditor will receive any compensation for their debts under the proposed transaction. We also note that your client, "Hiking Group", has significant ties to Long Run, particularly with respect to the involvement of Mr. Jason Ge, who has been a longtime director and officer of Long Run and is now a director and officer of Hiking Group. Given the value of the corporation as set out in the Affidavit filed by the secured creditor at the outset of these proceedings, such a sale cannot be justified at this early stage of CCAA proceedings. It is a misuse of the Reverse Vesting Order concept. This appears to be simply a case of a company misusing the CCAA process in an attempt to escape liability for fraud and misuse of funds.

4862-5601-9172.v1

Further, as you know, the CCAA prohibits the compromise of claims of fraud in a plan of arrangement. While we acknowledge that the proposed transaction is not a plan of arrangement, we admit that a party ought not to be able to create a transaction in the midst of a CCAA process, which it is not able to do in a plan of arrangement.

Your letter is a clear threat to the Court and other creditors that, barring a withdrawal by my client of its valid and substantial claim, your client will withdraw its bid. Given that the Reverse Vesting Order transaction appears to be inappropriate under the circumstances and would remove the ability of our client to even advance its claim in a meaningful way, as well as opposing of the claims of all other creditors save for a small handful, it is our view that the Court ought not to be persuaded by such a tactic.

If your client was serious about preserving the proposed transaction it would entertain discussions regarding a way with my client, or at least allow it to prove its claim in an expedited fashion. Indeed, my client has proposals which would allow for this to happen, without risk to your client. We have mentioned this in the past but have received no inquiries from any party. We note that the Subscription Agreement expressly contemplates modifications. The refusal to even discuss possible accommodations and the implied threat to the CCAA Proceedings, is, in our client's view, not in keeping with the spirit and purpose of the CCAA.

We are part that we remain open to further discussions but otherwise will be preparing to oppose the proposed transaction and the proposed Reverse Vesting Order.

Regards,

FIELD LLP

Douglas Nishimura Partner

DSN/eh

Cc: Wilson Laycraft, Attention: Robert Stark Song & Howard Law Office, Attention: Roger Song Dentons LLP, Attention: John Regush Blake Cassels & Graydon LLP, Attention: Kelly Bourassa Bennett Jones LLP, Attention: Kelsey Meyer FTI Consulting Canada Inc., Attention: Deryck Halkaa Page 2

Exhibit "34"

Draft Procedural Order, Sep-13-24

2 pages

THIS IS EXHIBIT " 34 "

Referred to in the Affidavit of Gaoyong Zhang, also known as Frank Zhang Affirmed before me this 13th Day of September, 2024

A Commissioner for Oaths in and for the Province of Alberta

JOYCE STAROSZIK My Commission: Expires May 21, 2026 COURT FILE 2001-03353 NUMBER

COURT COURT OF KING'S BENCH OF ALBERTA

JUDICIAL CALGARY CENTRE

PLAINTIFF HENENGHAIXIN CORP.

DEFENDANTS TIANZHOU DENG, XIAOBO DENG aka LAKE DENG, MICHAEL LAM, CALGARY SINOENERGY INVESTMENT CORP., LONG RUN EXPLORATION LTD.; JOHN DOE AND ABC CORPORATION

DOCUMENT PROCEDURAL ORDER

| ADDRESS FOR | WILSON LAYCRAFT                       |
|-------------|---------------------------------------|
| SERVICE AND | Barristers and Solicitors             |
| CONTACT     | 650, 211 – 11 th Avenue SW |
| INFORMATION | Calgary, AB T2R 0C6                   |
| OF PARTY    |                                       |
| FILING THIS | Attention: Robert J. Stack            |
| DOCUMENT    | Phone: 403-476-0154                   |
|             | Fax: 403-290-0828                     |
|             | File No.: 5-1125 RJS                  |

DATE ON WHICH ORDER WAS PRONOUNCED:

NAME OF APPLICATIONS JUDGE WHO MADE THIS ORDER:

LOCATION OF HEARING: Calgary, Alberta

UPON THE APPLICATION of the Plaintiff; AND UPON noting the consent of counsel for the Defendants;

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT:

- 1. The Defendant Long Run Exploration Ltd. shall provide answers to undertakings given during questioning on affidavit on or before November 1, 2024.
- Questioning by the Plaintiff of the Defendants shall be completed on or before December 15, 2024.

Clerk's Stamp

- 3. Responses to undertakings arising such Questioning shall be provided on or before February 28, 2025.
- 4. All Questioning on undertaking responses shall be completed on or before March 31, 2025.
- 5. Any expert reports of the Plaintiff shall be served on or before May 15, 2025.
- 6. Any expert reports of the Defendants shall be served on or before July 2, 2025.
- 7. Upon completion of the foregoing steps, the parties shall forthwith file a Form 37, provided however that any party shall have leave to apply for a trial date under Rule 8.5 at any time.
- 8. There shall be no costs associated with this Order.

Applications Judge of the Court of King's Bench of Alberta